Western Football Conference coaches, accustomed to scanning their rosters for healthy players, have elevated the search to a science this season.

Each WFC club has physical problems and each will play at least once between Saturday and Tuesday. Calgary Stampeders, Saskatchewan Roughriders and British Columbia Lions are scheduled for two appearances each.

The Stamps play at home Saturday against Edmonton Eskimos and at Winnipeg Tuesday against the Blue Bombers. B.C. visits Toronto Argonauts Sunday and Montreal Alouettes Tuesday in Canadian Football League interlocking games.

The Roughriders, who lead the WFC standings, play Hamilton Tiger-Cats Saturday and at Ottawa Rough Riders Monday.

Calgary plans several changes in its bid to narrow the gap between fourth place and its third - place rivals, Edmonton and Winnipeg.

Coach Jerry Williams said Jerry Keeling will start at quarterback for the second time this season with Pete Liske operating at safety on defence. Willie Wood, who has been back spot, vacated this week by Art Baker, who was picked up on waivers by Toronto.

Linebacker Jerry Campbell, out with a leg injury, may be replaced by Fred Forsberg, a 6ft. 2in. Denver Broncos of the American Football League.

Saskatchewan coach Eagle Keys hopes lineman Dick Schnell and defensive back Dale West will be fit to play. Schnell has knee problems and West has dislocated his shoulder three times this season.

Coach Dave Skrien of the Lions had two doubtful starters —flanker Sonny Homer, complaining of chest pains, and defensive tackle Mike Cecic who has an ankle injury.

Edmonton coach Neill Armstrong reports each major injury —Jim (Tee) Thomas, secondrank ground gainer in the west, who is nursing a charleyhorse, Art Johnson returns from the injured list to work at defensive halfback.

Winnipeg coach Bud Grant reported no new injuries after the 49-0 victory Wednesday over Toronto and said his club is looking forward to a playoff berth.

A victory over Calgary Tuesday would allow Winnipeg to finish at a first-place finish, he said.

Saskatchewan leads the league with Edmonton and Winnipeg tied for second, four points ahead of Calgary. B.C. occupies the WFC basement.

TV-Radio Column
NBC's Daniel Boone Takes Dramatic Licence With Yarn

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—A large number of small children probably went to bed Thursday night thinking the American Revolution was won by a crack shot named Dan'l Boone and his buddy, an Oxford - educated, half - breed Cherokee named Mingo.

NBC's Daniel Boone took considerable dramatic licence with a yarn about the Indian nations being made, at the urging of some British army officers, to drive the settlers out of Kentucky.

This news upset Mingo, who was torn between loyalty to "his people" and to his white brother, Dan'l. He was imprisoned by the Indians for his own good, but a friendly squaw told Daniel about the plot and he freed Mingo. Together, they headed the dastardly scheme, but redcoats retreated in confusion and presumably George Washington was able to get ahead with the revolution.

SON MARRIED

My Three Sons on CBS is a situation comedy that has been around so many seasons that one of the original stars outgrew his role and was married out of the show. Thursday night the writers got around to sending star Fred MacMurray back to the scenes of his boyhood—the little town in which he grew up and the girl whose initials he carved on the pencil post.

The results were thoroughly predictable. The former girl friend turned out to be a shrill nag with a surly husband, inlaws and an untidy house.

A low-budget daytime show called The Newlywed Game moved entirely into ABC's schedule during the summer and has attained such popularity that it is providing all competitors for the game-show ratings champ, Password.

KNOW EACH OTHER

Its formula is simple and familiar. Four couples who have married recently are asked a series of questions designed to show how much each spouse knows about the other's likes and dislikes. Points are won, for instance, by wives who know their husbands' favorite kind of spaghetti and favorite drink is beer.

Husbands win points for knowing their wives would rather get red roses than jewels for a gift. And there's a lot of enthusiastic hugging and kidding when they win points.

But the hidden gimmick of show that perhaps accounts for the growing audience may be the reaction of occasional couples who are losing. One young man in Thursday's show could not conceal his anger at his wife's answers and actually stamped off her on camera. There's nothing like a little conflict for entertainment spice.

APPROVE BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary committee approved a bill Thursday to give legal sanction to the proposed merger of the National and American football leagues. The measure would permit the two professional leagues to proceed with their plans to combine into one. league without fear the merger would subject them to antitrust prosecution.

Flamboyant Captures Harriman

Flamboyant, owned by Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Lloyds of Kings Point, N.Y., was followed by American-owned Pay Dirt and Hickory Blaze.

Drummond R.C. the pre-race second choice among the Canadian horses, finished 11th. Drummond R.C., owned by Real Courtoyer of Trois Rivieres, Que., has earned nearly $20,000 so far this year.

LED AT HALF

Halifax Hanover, Harwood Boy and Drummond R.C. were the leaders in that order at the half-mile pole.

But Halifax Hanover broke stride while leading by two lengths at the 3/4 mark and zoomed into the lead at the three-quarter mark. She withstood the closing drive of Pay Dirt, the 8-to-5 favorite.

Meet Hamilton, Ottawa
Saskys Face Tough Battles

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan Roughriders, first in the Western Football Conference, face the two top Eagles in the Eastern Conference Saturday and Monday and either game could be a Grey Cup preview.

Saskatchewan meets the Tiger-Cats, last year's Grey Cup champions, Saturday night in Hamilton, then moves to Ottawa for a Monday night encounter with the Rough Riders, current leaders in the EFC.

Hamilton coach Ralph Sazio says Saskatchewan has "the best offensive line in Canada. They're big, tough, fast and smart.

"You think Regina's offence is scrambly because quarterback Ron Lancaster moves around so much. We're scrambable all right, but they're slow very soon. Then they have to have something to go and get it."

The Ticats' defence is rated by many as the toughest in the country.

The Hamilton game at 8 p.m. EDT will be televised nationally by the CBC.

Hamilton is relatively healthy and Sazio expects corner linebacker Ted Page, who broke his jaw two weeks ago, will play.

Sunday's game, with the kickoff scheduled at 2 p.m. EDT, will be televised nationally by the CTV and Argos must overcome serious injuries to break their losing habit. Fullback Bob Swift is out for the season with torn ligaments in his right knee. His absence gave rise to speculation that coach Bob Shaw will slam back Art Baker, a former Tiger-Cat cut adrift last week by Calgary Stampeders of the WFC.

Oiler Argo injuries — Larry Ferguson, through for the year with banged up knees and ankles; Bob Good, an injured ankle; Bill Shipp, injured knee; Monk Bailey, injured knee and Norm Stonebraker, injured ankles.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAINE

Saturday is the big day. Ducks, geese, partridge and pheasant had better be on the lookout.

Half the male population of Belleville are taking to the woods and waterways in both Prince Edward and Hastings.

Maccabe Bay, Big Island marsh, East and West Lake, Fish Lake and Bay of Quinte marshes will be the scene of duck blinds. Presqu'ile Park which has around 20 governors and built blinds and many of these on a first come first serve basis will have a line up starting around 5 p.m. Friday. Last year over 200 groups of hunters waited for these blinds.

Friday afternoon members of Bellevillians started out for north country beaver ponds. Many of these will be waiting there in as far as 5 miles to reach the spot of their duck hunt.

Our group will be about off at 3 a.m. Saturday morning for a northern pond where we hope to shoot our quota of ducks.

We have to carry a duck boat and our guns, ammunition and lunches about ¼ mile from the road. Two of our hunters have to use this boat in order to reach the spot they are hunting, while the rest of us can wade with chest high waders, to our blinds.

The ponds we are hunting are filled with natural feed and quite a few ducks are living here. These ducks are mostly mallards with a few blacks, wood ducks and teal.

For shooting in these pot holes we are using 12 ga. shotguns with No. 6 and 7½ size shot. For the type of shooting we will be doing the smaller size shot seems to work best for us. Most of our shooting will be from 25 to 35 yds. from us and we will get a much denser pattern of shot with the ammunition we use.

Partridge hunting should be fair this year. There is plenty of cover with the leaves still on the trees these birds will be very hard for one and a lot harder to shoot. A light load of 7½ or 8 shot will do a good job on these birds. Use one pellet being enough to make a kill.

Pheasant hunting opens the 24th October and runs 30 days. This is a government operated hunting area and a limited number of hunters are allowed at any one time. This weekend, if it is anything like past years, there will be very poor time to go hunting here. A weekday is best as fewer hunters will be there.

If you plan a fishing trip this weekend be very careful where you go. Try and stay away from flocks of decoys and areas where you might see some hunters.

It might be wise to take your shotgun along with you. If the hunters in pot spots you could do a little hunting and bring home some game to eat.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

A recent column pointing out that advice from a lawyer may be less than competent when it strays outside the field of law drew many angry responses from attorneys. The letter below from a practising attorney was milder than many, but it sets the stage, explaining why real estate does not belong to any one specialist.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: It is my opinion that your column relating to an attorney's competence in real estate was neither fair nor based on fact. I write this letter as a friend who has enjoyed your writings and, at times, have found them informative.

Any attorney of reasonable intelligence and a fair amount of common sense has no trouble mastering the real estate principles relating to financing, construction, buying and selling, valuation, etc. Mastering the intricacies of law, however, is another matter and much more difficult.

I practised law for more than 20 years and found that the legal problems constitute much more than the 10 percent you claim. You must have a very special and peculiar computer.

— Mr. P. A.

ANSWER: The above letter, apparently written with great sincerity, indicates that problems in real estate are so enormous. It is a complex field, requiring expertise in many disciplines. Each specialist, I however, thinks that his is most important and the others have only common sense and ordinary intelligence.

To some, real estate is viewed as a branch of law. Another group claims that knowledge of financing is the most important ingredient. Another school alleges that problems are most easily resolved by a knowledge of construction and architecture. Others maintain that real estate brokerage, appraisal or investment analysis are most important.

On balance, all of the above are partially correct, but at the same time, they are all wrong. All are necessary for an understanding of real estate. This is why I quarrel with specialists, be they attorneys, brokers, bankers, builders, appraisers, architects or insurance experts. I have found that the reason laymen find it so difficult to get competent counselling in real estate is because few persons possess the required breath of knowledge. Advice usually comes from persons having only restricted or limited understanding.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Raising five children on $150 per week salary leaves little for savings. The money in the bank totals about $1,000, but I need a $4,000 down payment to buy the house I want.

The only asset I have to convert into cash is my life insurance policy. I could borrow $3,000 on it. My real estate agent suggests I do just that. The family desperately needs a house. Should I take the advice? — Mr. W.

ANSWER: It has been my experience that making a substantial loan on one's life insurance in order to obtain the down payment usually is disastrous. The end result is that one is often forced to make the unpleasant choice between losing the insurance or the house.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: The Bible says, "Man is born unto trouble." In the last year, I've had enough to last a lifetime. First I lost my job as an executive secretary, which I held for 10 years, and then illness took all of my savings. My latest misfortune is a 10-day notice to vacate my apartment.

Because of age, I had difficulty finding a job so I started a mail-order business from the apartment. Now it's beginning to make money, but my heartless landlord wants to put me out on the street. What shall I tell me what to do? — Mrs. N. H.

ANSWER: The letter, at first glance, appears to be such a clear case of a callous landlord taking advantage of a lady in distress, but I must move forward. It vividly illustrates that one should not jump to conclusions before all the facts are known.

Our correspondent signed a lease, specifying that the premises would be used for residential purposes only. This was necessary because the zoning variance granted at the time of construction prohibited any commercial activity.

An envious neighbor notified the municipal authorities of the violation. In spite of urgent pleas by the landlord, the municipal officials insist upon compliance. Therefore, the landlord, reluctantly, was forced to terminate the lease.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My neighbors have been using my yard for a short cut to the back street. I am determined to stop it by putting up a chain link fence. How much will it cost? — Mr. N. S.

ANSWER: First measure the length of fence required, determine the number of gates desired and the corner posts required. Then call at nearby lumber or fence company. With this information they will be able to give you the total cost of the fence installed.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Which is the fastest growing tree in the world? I say it is poplar, my brother says it is the willow. The loser has agreed to donate $10 to charity. — Mr. U. R.

ANSWER: The willow should make a charitable contribution for neither is even close. The fastest growing tree in the world is the tree bamboo of the tropics which has been known to grow more than 24 inches in less than 6 weeks. If any reader knows of a faster growing tree, I'd like to hear from them.

• • •

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into individual correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My basement had oil tank ban sprung a leak. Soon the entire floor area starts I will have to replace it. Nobody I know has ever had such a job in their home so you tell me the approximate cost. — Mr. J.

ANSWER: The typical oil-install basement fuel tank has a capacity of 275 gallons. Cost of such a tank is approximately $75. The installation cost is extra and will depend on how deep the tank is. Most tanks have a 300-gallon capacity. It will cost about $135 and the installation cost will be about $70 provided no special rigging or fittings are required.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I built myself a workbench in the garage. However, whenever I run a motor driven tool the TV reception starts acting up. Since my wife or kids are almost always glued to the TV set, it means I can seldom work in the garage. What do I do to keep peace in the family? — Mr. D. D.

ANSWER: A simple way that often solves interference caused by a motor driven appliance is to plug the radio or radio on circuit different from the one powering the appliance. If this proves not work, a filter is somewhat obtainable at any electrical shop will suppress the disturbance. Make sure the antenna is connected between the motor of the appliance and the house wiring.

• • •

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My fuel bills have been running $20 per month higher than the other day our plant engineer volunteered that the furnace was getting old and the heater was operating inefficiently. He suggested that I have it looked.

How do you test, if a heater is operating operated efficiently? I am considering a friend who is a chemical engineer he probably knows what I know the answer. — Mr. N. S.

ANSWER: When a heater is operating efficiently, about 75 to 80 percent of the fuel is extracted to heat the house. When not properly adjusted, burning efficiencies of 50 to 60 percent are not uncommon. This means that up to 40 percent of your fuel can be wasted.

The test is made by analyzing the temperature and the CO2 (Carbondioxide) content of the flue gases. With gas heat the flue temperature should be 400 to 425 degrees. With oil heat 460 to 600 degrees is proper. If the gases are hotter, it means that too much heat is going up the chimney. With gas heat the CO2 content should be 9 to 9½ percent and with oil heat 10 to 12½ percent. If it is less, it means that the fuel is not being completely burned. A reputable serviceman can make this simple test.

PRICES STILL RISE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department survey of prices in the United States continued last month at the fastest rate in 10 years, boosting living costs another four-tenths of one per cent, the U.S. government said Thursday. That was up 1.3 per cent, used cars up 1.5 per cent and medical care five-tenths of one per cent higher. The labor department's consumer price index climbed to 113.9 from 113.3.

RYLSTONE — Between 40 and 50 friends and neighbors met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Spencer to give the newly married couple, Fred and Peggy, a rousing chivaree. Although dampened somewhat by a sudden thunderstorm, the musicians were no less enthusiastic and music was supplied by all manner of things, including blank shells from a shotgun, Fred's banjo, Peggy's accordion, also favored with bagpipe music. After the serenade those taking part were invited into the house, where they were generously treated with refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray McIlvaine have received word of the safe arrival in Lagos, West Nigeria, of their daughter, Esther, her husband Jack Cheworyb and children, Peter, Wendy and Trevor. The school where they will be teaching has had yet another name given, as the Chesonoyths are getting acquainted with their neighbors and friends in their new home for the next two years.

Late Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Jones were proceeding north on Highway 14, when they sighted a black bear at the Keith Cole farm and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Finch, who passed the spot, a few minutes later, also saw the bear. At this time Brulin had reached the highway but took to his heels when they approached. The spot is less than six miles from Stirling, so no doubt the dry weather has driven him to leave his natural habitat.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson, Mrs. Mary Moran and Mrs. were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Cranston in Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spencer and Cathy, of Peterborough, visited her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stewart.

COMMUNITY SHOWER

A large crowd of relatives and friends in the community were present to a shower at the Orange Hall in Springbrook on Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Perry (formerly Anne Reid) of Niagara Falls.

Wesley Finch was chairman for the occasion. R. Caskey and his son Brian played a musical selection on piano, harmonica and guitar. Eric McInroy gave a piano solo, and the Heath sisters, Johnny and Jerry, gave a piano duet.

Robt. Caskey favored with a piano solo.

The chairman called the guests of honor to the platform and an address was read by Carol Heath. Donna Sere presented them with a gayly decorated box of money.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Wilfred Spencer and Sherry, Mrs. R. Spencer, Mrs. Clarence Thomson, Mrs. Jim Spencer, Mrs. Ellis Jones and the bride, Mrs. Fred Spencer, spent the evening at the home of Mrs. Douglas Doober in Campbellford, where Mrs. Doober had arranged a family shower for Peggy, Mrs. Fred Spencer.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Madam, if your husband were a millionaire he couldn't smoke a better ten-cent cigar!"

Peggy's mother, Mrs. Keith Bailey and her cousin, Miss Carol Beauch, were also guests. Part of the evening was spent in playing games and contests and Peggy opened her gifts.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE

Rylstone United Church held its anniversary service on Sunday evening with a large crowd in attendance.

Rev. W. C. Cox, of the Rawdon Circuit, was guest speaker for the service. The men's choir, made up of men from the three churches of the Springbrook charge, Springbrook, Stanwood and Rylstone, sang two hymns. Denton Mellkjohn presided at the organ.

W. Morton Sr. visited his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson at Burnbrae.

Mrs. Ray Moran of Frankford is visiting her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Reid, for a few days.

Peggy Rose and Glenn Finch of Campbellford, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Finch and boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spencer and his sister, Sherry Spencer of Peterborough visited Mrs. Spencer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Bailey on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton McComb of Peterborough visited their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stewart, Donna and Maureen.

Thomasburg

THOMASBURG — There will be no service in Thomasburg United Church until October 2, as the anniversary services for Eggleston appointment was on Sunday morning, September 18. Rotes anniversary service will be on Sunday, September 25, and on October 2, Moira and Thomasburg congregations will participate in a joint communion service in Moira Church. Thomasburg Church anniversary service will be later in October, with a turkey supper following on November 2. Guest speaker will take place as usual.

Mr. Virgil Earl, minister of Roslin Parish of the Anglican Church, will be ordained a priest of the church on Saturday, September 24, at 10.30 a.m. in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston.

A harvest home and Thanksgiving service will take place in Christ Church, Thomasburg, on Sunday morning, September 25 on the evening of September 25, the Right Rev. R. C. Evans will be present at a combined Thanksgiving and confirmation service in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Roslin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McTaggart of Brighton, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Albert McTaggart of Tweed, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. McTaggart.

Mrs. R. Genova and Shirley of Hockeville, Long Island, New York, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard McTaggart. On Saturday they accompanied Mr. and Mrs. McTaggart to Newburg where they were all dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knight.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Geen enjoyed a motor trip to North Bay and other points in Northern Ontario over the weekend.

Crerar Asserts People Reward Those Who Govern Efficiently

OTTAWA (CP) — Thomas Alexander Crerar cocked his white-thatched head to one side and slowly drawled out the distillation of half a century of active political life.

Much of it he had said before—from public platforms, in the Commons and Senate chambers, or in critical reports as chairman of the Senate finance committee on growing government spending after the Second World War.

But the words fleshed out the bare bones of political jobs that spanned half the years since Confederation, as member of Parliament, party leader, cabinet minister in two world wars and, finally, as senator. He resigned the last post this year at the age of 90.

What had he aimed at as a Liberal cabinet minister?

"When I had a department I was interested in seeing if I could run it more efficiently and economically. I was never interested in trying to use government as an agency for getting votes. There's a place for that but it is not in public administration.

"I don't agree with the philosophy that if you're going to get electoral support you've got to bribe the people widely. In the long run, the people reward those who give honest and efficient government."

LEADS PARTY

He had already been a school teacher, farmer and grain company agent when he joined the Union government of Robert Borden as minister of agriculture in 1917. He quit in 1919 and led the Progressive party, a rural-based movement which he captained until 1922.

Of the Progressives, Mr. Crerar says:

"There was never a greater illusion than that these people were radicals. What the progressives wanted was a change in the tariff structure to eliminate protection as far as possible.

"That was due mainly to the fact that they were farmers, working, producing and selling in competition, but buying almost all they needed under a tariff that increased their costs 20 to 40 per cent.

"If Mackenzie King had had the courage and the vision in 1921 to do what his natural impulses told him was desirable, there would almost certainly have been a merger of the Progressives and the Liberals.

"It would have meant that many of Mr. King's supporters would have left him, but out of that might have come the realignment of political parties."

STUNS COUNTRY

As it was, the Progressives, a small, 35-member group in the Commons when Mr. Crerar headed them in 1918, stunned the country by electing 64 members in 1921, mostly from Ontario and the Prairies.

Thereafter they declined in numbers with each election. But from until 1930 they held the balance of power in a minority parliament.

Looking back on those days, Mr. Crerar now says he doubts the wisdom of third parties. The parliamentary system "functions best when you have one party in government and one in opposition."

"But I do think this, that within the respective parties there should be a good deal more independent judgment exercised. There is a tendency today for MPs to leave everything to a few at the top. That can never mean the effective functioning of the democratic process."

Mr. Crerar resigned his leadership in 1922 to devote more time to his first love—the grain trade—although he remained in Parliament until 1926. He had played a big part in founding the United Grain Growers Ltd., a move by the farmers to break the power of the grain elevator companies and get better prices.

LOSES IN ELECTION

But by 1926, he was back in politics, as a minister in the Mackenzie King government. After only five months in the Commons, he was defeated along with the government in the 1926 general election.

However, he returned to Parliament in 1935 and began a long period as a senior member of various King cabinets—as minister of mines, immigration, colonization and the interior.

He stayed through the Second World War, resigning to go to the Senate in 1945.

Mr. Crerar still holds as true something he first heard as a boy he came to Ottawa during the First World War. A friend told him "the great thing about it is that Parliament has abdicated to the cabinet and the cabinet has abdicated to the civil service."

"There is a natural tendency to the concentration of power. If we value our freedoms we must always guard against centralization of power."

"Probably all MPs come here with excellent intentions but they get caught in the bureaucratic machine and by stealthy trickery lose their independence and their usefulness."

Expect School for Retarded To Be Operating by January

PICTON (Staff) — A new school for Picton and area may soon be in operation. A school for the mentally retarded is expected to open in January of next year. It has been a subject of Prince Edward's Association for the Mentally Retarded organization. The association received its charter about one year ago.

Officials of the association stated this week they have already received tentative approval and promises from town officials and they will formally present a brief at the next meeting of town council. They are seeking council's approval to use one of the two suggested locations for the school. Once the location is settled the next step will be the formation of a special board to operate the school. The board will consist of four members appointed by the council and two by the association.

Financing will be 80 per cent by grants from the province with 20 per cent levied against the various municipalities taking part in the school. So far 14 potential pupils are enrolled, and it was mentioned by a spokesman of the association that this is only a small percentage of the eligible children in the county.

New officers elected by the Association this week are: president, Harry Hotston; 1st vice-president, Mrs. M. Shannon; Wellington; 2nd vice-president, John Sibthorpe, Picton; secretary, Mrs. C. H. May, R.R. 2, Picton; treasurer, Jerry Mitchell, Picton. About 22 attended the meeting held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall.

Annexation Hearing Opens, Both Sides Stating Claims

PICTON — The hearing into Picton's application to annex 770 acres of Hallowell township to the north ofthis town continues today at the old county court house in Picton.

At the Wednesday opening it was estimated that the hearing would last for three days but at the conclusion of Thursday's proceedings there was a feeling it may last into next week.

Chairman of the hearing is Ontario Municipal Board representative H. A. Roberts, assisted by W. T. Shirve.

Picton solicitor R. E. Nourse is appearing for the town. R. W. Cass of Belleville is representing the township of Hallowell and R. L. Graham of Belleville, the Prince Edward County Growers. On behalf of Picton, represents certain residences of the Fawcettville Subdivision, while Lance Neilsen is acting on his own behalf.

Town solicitor R. E. Nourse told the board that Picton in requesting the annexation of 770 acres, was asking the minimum area.

Picton councillor and planning committee chairman, Robert Walmsley, said there was a lack of land in the present town limits for commercial and industrial development and for certain types of residential development.

He said that part of the Prince Edward County Fruit Growers property was already within the town limits and that the co-operative received water and hydro from the public utilities at less cost than it could from the township.

Mr. Nourse reminded the hearing that there was an urgency in the application as their capital programs by thetown's public utilities and by the public school board would be necessary if the annexation was granted and there was greater expansion on the north side of the town.

Mr. Walmsley traced the history of the annexation proceedings. He read correspondence from the Central Prince Edward Planning Board, noting that at the time the board had recommended the annexation of 3,000 acres. The annexation request was reduced to 770 acres on the advice of planning consultants.

Public Utilities Commissioner and former commission chairman, Jack Ward, gave evidence on the utilities' ability to provide water needs within the present town boundaries and within the annexation area.

At the same time he agreed that there remained some areas in the town in which there were no sanitary sewers.

No Room Service, No Bar But 100 Rooms Always Full

TORONTO (CP) — The desk clerk asks if you are a head-ender, a tail-ender or a dead-head.

Its 100 rooms are always jammed. The rooms are so well used that they're often occupied by three different persons in one 24-hour period.

The hotel is the Toronto Railroad YMCA—a three-storey hotel for working railwaymen built by the CNR and run by the YMCA.

The hotel is the showplace of a little-known relationship between the YMCA and the railways.

The partnership began 66 years ago when railways decided men needed some place other than a caboose to sleep and the Y sought to provide train crews with a "wholesome environment" away from home.

"Today that means no drunkenness, no gambling, no rough stuff," explains Don Hensher, who runs the largest of Canada's five railroad Ys as "a special hotel for a special breed of men."

The hotel overlooks the $75,000,000 freight - marshalling yard opened by CNR in February, 1965.

For most of the men who stay at the hotel, home is somewhere in Ontario, such as Sarnia, Belleville, London or Capreol, and during the week they spend as much time at the Toronto Railroad Y as they do with their families.

BEATS CABOOSE

"That's why we call this place Alcatraz," said one crew member.

"We're isolated o u t here. There's nothing to do, nothing to see and it's an hour's bus ride into town."

"Yes, but it's lots better than a caboose," another argued. "Food in the cafeteria's good and there's lots of it . . . the whole place is very clean."

"It's free, so why knock it? I've stayed at worse places and had to pay," said one Belleville railwayman.

Perhaps the best feature of the hotel is that the employed pays for the rooms.

The Toronto Y charges the CNR 85 cents for each guest and clears a slight profit on an annual budget of $140,000.

Guests must pay for cafeteria meals but kitchen ranges are provided so they can cook food brought from home if they wish.

And what are head-enders, tail-enders and deadheads?

Sunday School Lesson

Accent on the Positive

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

"Church canonizes Pontius Pilate." What a shocking announcement this would be. And yet the ancient Coptic church did canonize him because he said of Jesus, "I find no fault in this man." (Luke 23:4 KJV) But what if he did find no fault in Jesus? He still condemned Him to an unjust death. (John 19:16) A man who "had the spirit of an ancient demon" and so far as to ascribe divinity to Jesus. He said, "I know who you are, the Holy One of God." (Luke 4:34 RSV) But he will not stand to give up his unclean spirit. He said, "Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth?" (Luke 4:34 KJV) A rich man once asked Jesus, "What must I do to inherit eternal life?" (Mark 10:17 RSV) Jesus reminded him of the ten commandments. "All these I have observed from my youth," said the man. Jesus then told him to sell his possessions and feed the poor, but this he was unwilling to do. He went away "sorrowful" because he could not bring himself to part with any of his great possessions. (Mark 10:22)

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for September 25: "Christ's New Commandment." Jeremiah 31:31-34; Matthew 3:17-20; John 13:34-35; 15:10-14.

It takes more than negative goodness to make a saint. There are areas where it is import ant to say, "You shall not." (Exodus 20:3-17) But the sacred writers did not stop there. They went on to say, "You shall." "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your might." (Deut. 6:5 RSV) "You shall love your neighbor as yours elf." (Levit. 19:18 RSV) And when Jesus was asked, what He considered to be the greatest commandment, He did not go back to the "shall nots." He went back to these two "You shalls." "There is no other commandment," He said, "greater than these." (Mark 12:31 RSV)

ACCENT ON POSITIVE

Too much religion in the world today is negative religion. Some people think they are good Christians because they don't drink or dance, but they are a millionth part of the positive commandment "You shall love." The rich man who approached Jesus did nothing wrong with his wealth, but he did nothing good with it either, so he failed to be a disciple of Jesus.

Moreover, intellectual assent is not enough to make one a Christian. It takes personal commitment to be a true man of God. Jeremiah, in his day, had said it is not enough to have the ten commandments written on tablets of stone. They must be written in the human heart. (Jer. 31:33) The scribe who questioned Jesus about the greatest commandment, agreed with Him in principle. He said, "You are right, Teacher." (Mark 12: 32 RSV) But he was careful not to commit himself too far. The King James' Version says he answered "discreetly." (Mark 12: 34) Jesus had said "You shall love." (Mark 12:30,31) But when the lawyer responded, he never once said, "my heart," or "my neighbor." It was just "the heart," and "one's neighbor." (Mark 12:33) He was willing to agree intellectually, but there was no evidence that he was willing to let love for God and neighbor become a vital way of life for him. So Jesus said, "You are not far from the kingdom of God." (Mark 12:34 RSV) Not far, but he was not in it. He knew the right answers, but not until he committed his life to them would he be in the divine kingdom.

INDISSOLUBLE UNION

Jesus made it very clear that love for God and love for man are indissolubly tied together. Many people today want to separate them. They want one without the other. There are those who want to love God. Like the rich man who approached Jesus, they want the assurance of eternal life. (Mark 10:17) But they are not so sure they want to love their neighbor, especially if he belongs to a different class or race.

There are others who want to love their neighbor, but see no reason why they should love God. They have a commendable humanism, but they lack a living faith in the goodness of God. They can give their neighbor bread, but no faith in anything beyond himself. They can try to save his plight in this world, which is important, but can give him no hope of anything beyond the grave.

Jesus not only tied love for God and love for man together, He added a new dimension. He summed up much of what He had to say in a "new" commandment: "Love one another," and then added, "as I have loved you." (John 13:34 RSV)

The added phrase makes all the difference in the world. For His was a self-denying love, a love that sought out those who needed love, a love that went all the way to the cross. He came to seek and to save. (John 12:1)

Dalton Camp Puts Political Career on Line in Controversy

TORONTO (CP) — Dalton Camp, the backroom political ideas man who wants an appraisal of the Progressive Conservative party leadership, is a tireless Toronto advertising executive, a one-time Liberal and a self-proclaimed radical.

His countrywide campaign launched this week, to put John Diefenbaker's leadership under tougher scrutiny, has placed his own political career at stake.

But that's the way Mr. Camp, a native of Woodstock, N.B., wants it. He says he is prepared to stake his position in the party on the need for reconfirming the national leadership.

"We're becoming political cannibals and we're eating our young," he said in a speech at Montreal Wednesday night. As for Mr. Diefenbaker, Mr. Camp says it's okay with him if his leader again takes the party into the next election "provided there is a mandate from the party."

Mr. Camp, 46, has been president of the Conservative Party Association since 1964.

LIVED IN CALIFORNIA

Dalton Kingsley Camp was born Sept. 21, 1920. His father, a Baptist minister, moved the family to California where Dalton received his grade school education.

Later, when the family returned to Canada, Mr. Camp attended Acadia University at Wolfville, N.S.

His studies were interrupted by the Second World War when he joined the army. He emerged as a lieutenant.

At the University of New Brunswick, from which he graduated with a bachelor of arts, he became national treasurer of the Young Liberal Federation.

He moved to New York to obtain a master's degree at Columbia University's school of journalism and then went overseas to the London School of Economics on a Beaverbrook scholarship.

Back in Canada again, he became disillusioned with the Liberals.

He took a job as copy writer for a Toronto firm and launched a career in advertising and public relations. That was in 1950. Two years later, he had set up his own agency, Dalton K. Camp and Associates. By this time, too, he was married with five children.

In the meantime, he was broadening his political horizons, taking part in provincial elections campaigns in New Brunswick, 1952, Nova Scotia, 1956, and Prince Edward Island, 1959—all won by the Conservatives.

In 1958, he played a key role in the successful election campaign of Duff Roblin, the Manitoba Tory leader.

In 1963, Mr. Camp was chosen to replace Senator Allister Grosart as chief organizer for the party in Canada.

The year came after Mr. Camp's impressive image-making role for the party in the 1957, '58 and '62 elections which Mr. Diefenbaker won. He is credited with coining the slogan "It's time for a Diefenbaker government" which swept the Tory leader into power in 1957.

When Mr. Camp replaced Mr. Grosart, the Diefenbaker team was badly rent, with several key cabinet resignations over the issue of wether Canada should allow nuclear weapons on her soil.

Mr. Camp was loudest in his public pleas for party loyalty. After a revolt in 1965 when disgruntled Tories demanded openly that Mr. Diefenbaker step down, Mr. Camp urged publicly that Conservatives stop discussing the subject while privately urging the opinions of 100 Tory executives on whether or not a leadership convention should be held.

At a confrontation later with the party caucus, Mr. Diefenbaker got the support he needed to stay in power by a narrow vote.

In the federal election last year, Mr. Camp was defeated in a "battle of the titans" in Toronto Eglinton by Liberal Finance Minister Sharp.

JOINS COUNCIL

OTTAWA (CP) — Frank A. Milligan, 45, assistant secretary to the cabinet since 1963, joins the staff of the Canada Council as an assistant director Dec. 1. It was announced Thursday. He will be in charge of the council's program of assistance to research in the humanities and social sciences. The council this year has an $11,000,000 budget in this field.

Scoharie

SCOHARIE — Steve Wilson, Bay Ridge visited Mrs. Bessie Leavitt. Mrs. Wilson, who had spent the week with her mother returned home with him.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Norton, Linda Marie, and the baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams, Bradley Robert, received the rite of baptism at Bloomfield United Church Sunday morning.

Mrs. L. Marlieb and Garth of Toronto spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hoff. They have gone on to Buffalo for a visit.

Mrs. Don Read and Mrs. McCollan of Georgetown visited Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dolmage and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Foster and girls. On Tuesday they motored to Kingston, accompanied by Mrs. Hattie Foster.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross McEwen and three children of Kingston were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leavitt and sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Karnisky of Rochester, N.Y. visited in the district for the week-end. Mrs. Leona Gerow, who had spent several weeks with her daughter, returned home with them. All were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gerow and Leeann, Amherstview.

Mrs. Leo Gerow was guest at a stork shower for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bruce Tripp of Wellington at the Anglican Church Hall on Thursday evening.

Britain's Young Liberals Shock Old Guard With Radical Set of Proposals

LONDON (CP) — Britain's also-ran Liberal party has been asking itself where it is going in a more rousing style than usual during the last few days.

The party, which holds 12 seats in the 630-seat House of Commons, trotted farther away than ever from an agreed answer to its own question during the annual party conference at Brighton.

But some delegates — especially a clique of Young Liberals—had a great time disagreeing with their leaders. Some of the startling answers to policy questions certainly provoked more widespread attention than the Liberal's managed to stir up six months ago, when they garnered only 8.5 per cent of the votes cast in the March 31 general election.

In three lively days, the Liberals became the only British political party to:

—Propose the devaluation of sterling as a measure against economic troubles, even though the devaluation would be controlled and gradual.

—Reject Britain's continued membership in the 17-year-old North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

—Espouse the use of force against rebellious Rhodesia, albeit limited force such as selective bombing of supply routes.

—Urge the syndicalist line of worker participation in the management of Britain's nationalized industries.

The radical fiat was served up in a swinging-Britain atmosphere of mini-skirted girls and youths with long hair sporting badges with the slogan "make love, not war." A clearly healthy blonde delegate got her picture in the newspapers rehearsing a speech about the employment of women while wearing a bikini on the cold pebbles of Brighton Beach.

The Liberal leadership has seemed dismayed. Commentators are agog at the efficiency of the machine with which the young radicals captured the conference.

Leader Jo Grimond, who has publicly smiled off the events of the last few days as youthful hi-jinks, might yet be moved to a sterner reaction. The party's middle-reading, suburban rank and file might lose dues-paying interest in the party once the full meaning of what has been said in their name at Brighton sinks in.

The Liberal leadership might find it expedient to adopt the Labor party's current attitude towards flaming youth. Labor de-activated its official youth movement two years ago when the young Turks became embarrassingly strident in their demands for a sharp left turn at the top.

Hanoi Rejects U.S. Offer

TOKYO (Reuters) — North Viet Nam has rejected the latest U.S. proposal to negotiate a Viet Nam peace as an attempt to fool public opinion.

The official (Hsinhua) Viet Nam news agency said in a statement today that the offer, in a speech at the United Nations Thursday by U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, was an election dodge.

The U.S. proposal called for a halt of the booming of North Viet Nam in return for "assurance" of "corresponding" steps by the north to end its military action in the South, and to consider a gradual, supervised withdrawal of all "external" military forces from the South.

The agency said the Goldberg speech and the activities of President Johnson and his aides indicated the "U.S. imperialistic" are launching a new peace negotiation campaign in an attempt to deceive public opinion and conceal a rapid expansion of the Viet Nam war in preparation for the U.S. congressional elections in November.

Diefenbaker Says P.M. Acted in Nonman Case As He Did With Sevigny

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—John Diefenbaker was accused Friday by a government-appointed inquiry of mishandling a security case by putting personal judgment ahead of national security.

Mr. Diefenbaker promptly fired back that this was what Prime Minister Pearson had done in an earlier security case.

The accusation against the 71-year - old Conservative leader was made by Mr. Justice Wishart Spence of the Supreme Court of Canada in his report on the 1960 Gerda Munsinger sex-and-security affair.

The judge said Mr. Diefenbaker should have fired his associate defence minister, Pierre Sevigny, because Mr. Sevigny had intimate sexual relations with Mrs. Munsinger, a one-time Soviet espionage agent.

He said this created a security risk and made Mr. Sevigny vulnerable to pressure from foreign agents or the Montreal underworld where the liaison was common knowledge.

Mr. Diefenbaker lashed back in a statement:

"The point I made (by Mr. Justice Spence) that a doubt as to loyalty must be resolved in favor of the accused.

"This was not followed by the present prime minister in the (Herbert) Norman case."

Find Body of Boy, 3½, In Pond Near Bayside

The search for a three-and-a-half-year-old boy reported missing in the Bayside area early last night ended in tragedy about 3.30 this morning with the discovery of his body in a pond.

Searchers found the body of little Bruce Snowdon, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Emmie Snowdon, R.R. 2, Trenton, in about three feet of water in a pond that is part of a drainage system.

The grim discovery was made just west of the Quinte Drive-in Theatre, on Whitty sideroad, north of Highway 2, on Department of National Defence property.

A full scale search of the area, begun after the youngster was reported missing by his distraught parents, was called off this morning about 3.30. Hundreds of volunteers joined 12 officers from the Ontario Provincial Police Detachment at Belleville, and members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment to comb the area. A search and rescue helicopter from Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, its spotlights probing the ground, also assisted in the hunt for the boy. It was planned to resume the search this morning at dawn.

The youngster failed to return home from play last evening about 6.30 Mrs. Snowdon began to look for her son. She met his playmate, four-year-old Brian Doval but could find no sign of Bruce. The OPP Detachment at Belleville was notified and the search began.

Bayside Parents Plan Protest

BAYSIDE — Parents plan to band together and complain formally to the Department of National Defence about inadequate fencing at the south east end of the Trenton Air Station. The section a the air-field drainage ditch where Bruce Snowdon's body was found is open to the walking and driving public. At the same time the residents of the locale will ask the operator of Mobile Village trailer camp to install a high-link fence around an open sanitary pond now enclosed by link snow fence.

U.S. Has 7,000 Atomic Devices In West Europe

ROME (AP)—U.S. Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara told the Atlantic allies Friday the U.S. now has about 7,000 nuclear warheads in western Europe — an increase of more than 100 per cent in the last five years.

He made the disclosure at a meeting of the NATO working group of nuclear planning, where he and defence ministers of four other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization agreed on arrangements to give NATO allies of the U.S. a bigger nuclear role.

Ganglard, Guns Kill Two Men

MIDDLETON, Mass. (AP) — Machine guns in a prize fight action raised their death toll to 22 as a fusillade of bullets from a speeding limousine killed two underworld figures, one a brother of an earlier gangland victim.

Stephen Hughes, 30, of Charlestown, Mass., who survived a gang shooting in March, and Samuel O. Lindenbaum, 56, of Revere, Mass., died in a hail of rifle and rifle fire from a car that overtook them Friday as they drove to their homes.

The site was about 15 miles northeast of Boston and only a few miles from where Hughes' brother Cornelius, 36, was slain in similar fashion May 25.

This is definitely a gangland murder," said Detective James Leary of the state police. "They just happened to catch up with them here."

District Attorney John P. S. Burke of Essex County said the slayings were "definitely tied in with the numbers rackets in Boston and Revere."

Hundreds of police slays were found in a bag in the car, together with a 38-calibre pistol, nested pistol and $1,100 in cash.

Witnesses told police the car used by the rifleman was a "long, black sedan." Police said the intended victims were used to fire at least seven shots into the victims' car before the bullet-car sped away.

The victim's car, rented by Lindenbaum earlier in the day and driven by him, then crashed through a guard rail and plunged down a 10-foot embankment. Both men were dead when witnesses reached the scene.

Munsinger Report Will Play Role in PC Leadership Fight

OTTAWA (CP) — The Munsinger report's scathing criticism of John Diefenbaker could provide fresh ammunition for those inside the Conservative party who have been attempting to remove him from the leadership.

But some observers believe it will supply just as great a sour to the pro-Diefenbaker elements that have rallied to his side in previous challenges.

It almost certainly will set the stage for a new round of political blood-letting when the Commons session resumes Wednesday, Oct. 5.

The latest in a series of challenges to Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership is shaping up for the annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada here Nov. 13-16.

Dalton Camp of Toronto, the association president, Tuesday night suggested that the leadership question be put to a vote by the 1,400 delegates at this meeting. Other prominent members of the party have supported this view.

Supporters of Mr. Diefenbaker, however, have assailed Mr. Camp for timing his attack to coincide closely with the expected release of the Munsinger report. Most political experts had forecast that the report would treat the former prime minister roughly.

Mr. Diefenbaker's argument that the report is an attempt by the Liberals to hasten his removal probably will be the key point in the effort of his backers to muster votes for him at the party meeting.

There likely will be a campaign also to defeat Mr. Camp in his bid for re-election as party president.

Two of the potential contenders for the Conservative leadership, George Hees and Davie Fulton, also were involved in the Munsinger case.

Mr. Hees came off best in the judge's report which said his relationship with Mrs. Munsinger, a reputed Russian agent, was merely a casual one.

Mr. Hees was the transport, defence production and later trade, minister when the Munsinger case occurred.

Mr. Fulton, who as justice minister brought an RCMP report on the Munsinger-Sevigny liaison to Mr. Diefenbaker's attention, came in for some criticism. But this was diluted by a suggestion that he could not properly have ordered further investigations into the security aspects without the prime minister's approval.

'Nothing But Politics'-Gerda

MUNICH, West Germany (Reuters)—Blonde Gerda Munsinger described as ridiculous Friday night the report of an official Canadian government investigation into her association with former associate defence minister Pierre Sevigny.

Mrs. Munsinger, 37, who lived in Montreal from 1955 to 1961, vehemently and repeatedly denied that she had any interest in espionage or politics.

"The whole thing is nothing but politics.

"I have no interest in politics. I knew Pierre as a man. He knew me as a woman. That is all there was to it.

"It is ridiculous to think that I could be connected with espionage. The Russians ruined my life completely. I would not tell them anything."

This was a reference to Mrs. Munsinger's claim that Soviet Troops raped her at Second World War's end after they conquered her East German homeland.

Mrs. Munsinger admitted she knew Sevigny was married when she went out with him but vehemently rejected suggestions that she had enticed, the minister. It was he who called her.

"But it was no secret. We went openly to restaurants and other places. Everyone knew."

Mrs. Munsinger said it appeared the only part of the judicial report by Mr. Justice Wishart Spence which was correct was the finding that her association with former cabinet minister George Hees had been only casual and that nothing improper had taken place.

She said she did not know former Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mrs. Munsinger said that when she first met Sevigny she knew nothing of his government post. She was interested in him, not his position.

Mrs. Munsinger said her only plans now are to marry her fiance, businessman Ernst Wagner. Her honeymoon plans do not include a trip to Canada.

The wedding had been delayed until Monday, she said, because "because we did not want it hanging over our marriage."

She emphasized the case had not made her dislike Canada or Canadians.

"I was never at any time connected with espionage in East or West Germany or Canada," she said in a TV interview filmed in Munich, West Germany.

At another point she said she had been "a victim of espionage." The Spence report accusations are ridiculous.

Asked if she has any regrets about her part in the affair, Mrs. Munsinger said no except that "I am sorry he (Sevigny) became a victim."

Mrs. Munsinger said she had not been the intimate of Sevigny, former associate defence minister in the Conservative government.

"A mistress is a kept woman. I was never kept by Mr. Sevigny at any time."

Douglas Hopes 'Muck-raking' Will Be Ended

VANCOUVER (CP) — T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, said he hopes the Munsinger report will mean an end to political muck-raking.

"I hope the report closes the book on the case and that Canadians will start to get down to more serious problems facing the country," he said in an interview Friday. "We had enough muck-raking."

Mr. Douglas said highlights of the report by Mr. Justice W.F. Spence "really don't say much more" than had been known.

Mexico May Turn Back Train En Route to Starving Indians

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A 10-car mercy train, loaded with food and farm implements for Mexican Indians dying of hunger, clanked across the plains and mountains of West Texas toward El Paso and an uncertain future early today.

The train, dispatched from Lafayette, La., to an Indian vil-

A Southern Pacific Railroad official in El Paso said the general auditor of the Chihuahua and Pacific Railroad was trying to get permission to take the 10 cars across the border. He said if Mexican officials permit the cars to enter Mexico, it may not be before Monday.

But in Mexico, a spokesman for the treasury ministry said the train "will not be permitted to enter Mexico."

Food, foodstuffs and farm implements were donated by Louisiana residents after a Roman Catholic priest of the Jesuit order said at least 200 Tarahumaras Indians, many of them children, were dying of hunger daily.

The Mexican government said that to allow delivery of the goods would imply that Mexico is not able to care for its own people.

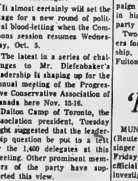
Dallas Long-hairs Sue For Right to Attend School

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A "mod-look" clothier, testifying in a federal court case involving three teen - agers barred from a high school because of their Beatle-length hair, says "a full head of hair balances the look."

The "long - hair style is common among the youth . . . It's part of a new revolution in men's clothes," Jim Burkhoo, the owner and manager of a Dallas shop, testified Friday.



The case involves three teen - agers who claim Principal W. S. Lanham arbitrarily refused to allow them to register for classes unless they "trimmed up a bit."

Stephen Webb, 18, and Paul and Phillip Farrell, both 17 are members of a rock 'n' roll group called Sounds Unlimited. They contend a contract requires them to keep their hair long.

A temporary re training order permits the boys to return to classes pending the outcome of their suit against the school administration.

The group's lawyers have put 16 witnesses on the stand. 10 of them teen-agers whose hair is as long or longer than the rock 'n' rollers. All were allowed to register in their schools without incident.

Lanham said his decision not to admit the trio was taken in the interest of orderly conduct in the school.

School Project Slowed By Strike at Brick Plant

Construction progress on the new Sir John A. Macdonald Public School in the west end of the city has been slowed to a standstill this week as the result of a strike at the cold-frost plant supplying the brick.

Public School Board members were told at their September meeting this week that the general contractor for the school, Wiegle de Jong of Stirling, had met with a number of setbacks, the latest being the brick plant strike. Cement block construction of the wall and other masonry work however is well advanced.

For the management committee, Trustee M. Lovelace reported to the Board that 162 classrooms were in operation at school opening, Sept. 6th, with a total staff of 177 teachers, including supervisors, industrial arts, home economics, band instructors and ten teachers on part-time principals' relief.

Corrected enrollment figures totalled 5,174 as compared with 5,151 at the previous September. Approval was recommended for several staff additions, including Miss Kathleen Fletcher and Miss Ailsa May from Scotland and Miss Pauline Lesley from England.

Letters from pupils, teachers and principals were received regarding the joint project of the Public School Board and the Moira River Conservation Authority to provide nature experience for children at the Grade 6 level in the Belleville Public Schools. Enthusiasm was shown for the services provided and the program in use. Some minor difficulties regarding shelter and weather were reported.

Trustee Wm. Townson, reporting as chairman of the property committee, advised of extensive programs of construction, repair and service during the preceding two months. Portable classrooms in Bridlewood were in service, although some items were as yet incomplete. A new boiler room, and converted boiler were provided for the Sir Mackenzie Bowell School to correct for the very unsatisfactory boiler plant and water conditions. Delay of supply and delivery of essential materials prevented this facility from being ready at the opening of school.

UNION CERTIFIED

Mr. Townson also reported an application from the Canadian Union of Public Employees for certification as bargaining unit of employees of the Belleville Public School Board, except supervisors, persons above the rank of superintendent and Administrative Assistant J. L. Anderson had attended the hearing of the Ontario Labor Relations Board in Toronto, August 25. (Certification was dated September 21, 1966, and received by the Belleville Public School Board September 23, 1966.) The personnel committee and the by-laws and policy committees, including trustees Mrs. Smith, W. Townson, W. VanThunel, G. Bowman, G. Joyce, M. Graham, R. Laughton, with Superintendent Kalk and Administrative Assistant Anderson were directed to take necessary action to implement progress reports to the Board.

A major part of the meeting was spent in receiving and discussing the report of Board Chairman Macdonald Smith, who is acting as chairman of the steering committee for integration and formation of a larger educational administrative area in the Quinte district.

PARDON?

The world is full of wonderful sounds. And full of people who miss them rather than admit that they've heard of hearing. They won't realize that they make their problem far more obvious by NOT wearing a hearing aid than by wearing one. Modern hearing aids can be made so tiny and so inconspicuous that no one need ever notice them.

If you suspect that you may need professional advice — please don't wait. Your hearing is far too precious. We'll be happy to arrange an appointment for you any time and (should it be necessary) to show you a wide selection of modern hearing aids and modern, trouble-free batteries to power them.

Wide Variety Offered on City Market

The popular price for most varieties of apples displayed at Belleville market this morning was 75 cents per six-quart basket. Bartlett and Flemish Beauties pears brought $1 for a six-quart basket.

Pumpkins ranged in price from 10 cents to 50 cents each, depending on the size, while watermelons sold for 35 and 75 cents. Grapes were on sale for $1 per six-quart basket.

Small cucumbers for pickling brought $1.25 per six-quart and the price for large cucumbers was 5 cents each. Large cauliflower went for 25 cents each while carrots and beets were 15 cents per bunch, two for 25 cents. Asking price for corn was 50 cents per dozen; Spanish onions were two for 25 cents; tomatoes and potatoes, 75 cents per six-quart basket; celery, 25 cents; peppers, three for 25 cents and parsley, 10 cents a bunch.

Four sizes of eggs were offered. Small eggs were 50 cents per dozen; medium, 60 cents; large, 65 cents and extra-large, 70 cents.

Three Injured In Car-Truck Collision

A car-truck collision last evening sept. three Belleville residents to hospital as well as causing extensive damage to the two vehicles involved.

The driver of the car, 60-year-old Otto Shindell of 161 Lingham Street in the city was taken to Belleville General Hospital suffering chest injuries, while his wife Leola, 57, was admitted to the hospital's Intensive Care Unit with a fractured wrist and jaw. Both are reported to be in satisfactory condition.

Elmer Kellar, 43, of 187 Stanley Ave., the driver of the truck, was treated at hospital for minor injuries and released.

The accident, which occurred around five o'clock yesterday evening at the junction of Highways 14 and 62, was investigated by the Belleville detachment of the O.P.P.

Northern Electric Raises 2 United Appeal Balloons

The first two of what is hoped will be several United Appeal balloons were raised Friday above the Northern Electric Adam St. location and the main plant on Cannifton Rd.

The bright red, three-foot weather balloons, signifying that employees in the plant have pledged at least 80 per cent participation in the United Appeal campaign this year, were launched by Neil Davidson, plant manager, Northern Electric, and Harry Fast, Rideau Area manager, CNR, and industrial division chairman for the United Appeal plant.

The balloons, filled with helium and bobbing approximately 300 feet in the air, can be seen for a great distance. For example, the balloon over the Adam St. plant in the Hillcrest area, can be seen from the Sidney St. bridge.

"The red, RCAF weather balloons have been raised to indicate that in excess of 80 per cent of Northern Electric employees here have participated in this year's United Appeal," said Mr. Davidson.

"Those are the first balloons in the district, and undoubtedly there will be many more.

"The United Appeal organizers, the in-plant committees and the employees are to be congratulated on this achievement."

Helium for the balloons was supplied by Foley Foundry.

Children's Aid Society Well Within Its Budget

With two-thirds of the year gone, the Children's Aid Society is operating well within its budget, directors were told at the monthly meeting. President Bernard Burley presided.

Mr. Bruce Kerr, the local director, received 140 children in the care of the Society. He said three members of the staff had left the agency since the last meeting in June, Mrs. P. G. M. deGroot, on a leave of absence to study at the University of Saskatchewan, Miss Eileen Studd to take post-graduate work at McGill University and Miss Janice Latimer to go to her home community of Ottawa where she will be employed with the Ottawa CAS. Replacing them are Mrs. Marion Castelling, MSW, who will head up the Unmarried Parent Department; Miss Mary Smaill, to the Child Care Department and Mrs. Evelyn Payton in the Family Service Department in Belleville.

Mr. Paul Zakos, who worked with the Society during the summer months has returned to the Ryerson Polytechnical Institute at Toronto where he will take the second year of a specialized welfare course. He too will return to the Society in the spring of 1967.

The society will commence school attendance services for the Belleville Separate School Board just as soon as the final appointments have been made. The society already provides such services for the Belleville Public School Board and the Bay of Quinte District High School Board.

Mr. Kerr said members of the staff in the protection and family service field had requested permission to work in the evening, with colresponding time off during the day. They complained that they found it difficult to arrange interviews with all members of the family present and that more often than not they did not see the father at all, unless he was contacted at his place of employment. Various members of the Board expressed pleasure at the deep interest of the staff in the work of the society and the matter was referred to the personnel committee to work out the details. The Board moved to renew the lease on the Trenton office for another year.

The Board then proceeded to visit the various properties under its administration. The members first trailed at the recently opened home for group living by teen-age girls at 151 Victoria avenue. This house, which provides accommodation for a maximum of six girls, is situated at legal elementary and secondary schools, is under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. E. McCormick. They next visited the Society's administration offices at 61 Moira street west, where particular interest was expressed in the recent renovations whereby former garages were converted into office space.

Said Mr. Burley, "We now have the new offices and space for one additional clerical worker, thus relieving the serious overcrowding we experienced for some months. This will serve us well until the new Health and Welfare Centre is built."

The last stop was at 73 Highland avenue, the location of the Society's Receiving Home and Observation Centre. Opened in the early spring of 1966, hundreds of local children have passed through its doors. The supervisor is Miss Della Potter. Miss Potter has worked with the Society for many years and has been in charge of the Receiving Home for the past six years. It is to the Receiving Home that all children are admitted on the final admission to the care of the Society, and to it they return if, for any reason, their subsequent foster home placement breaks down. Go many children it is the only real home they have ever known and so one child put it, "It is always there".

Got Blowout So Endeavored To Steal Tire

TRENTON — A young airman with an "exemplary" record, was fined $25 for attempting to steal a tire and wheel from a car parked in the Red Lion lot on Sept. 17 in magistrate's court at Trenton yesterday.

William O'Rourke pleaded guilty to the charge but said he had been drinking.

A former Carrying Place resident, William VanAllyn, also pleaded guilty to the charge and to a further charge of the theft of head light rims from another car in the lot.

VanAllyn said he and O'Rourke had been driving to Toronto when they had a blowout, and had decided to substitute the stolen wheel and tire for their own.

"Stealing the wheel might be taken as a necessity," said Magistrate R. C. Jackson, "But the headlight rims were a sheer luxury."

VanAllyn was remanded until Oct. 14, when he thinks he will have enough money to pay a fine.

Thought Chair Was Discarded

TRENTON — Robert George Jones, who recently moved to Trenton from Toronto, pleaded guilty in magistrate's court at Trenton on Friday to the theft of a rocking chair, valued at $5.

Jones explained however, that the chair, owned by George Condelle of Dufferin Ave. had been sitting on a verandah with only a dilapidated looking mattress, and he thought the two items had been discarded by the householder. He said he had tried knocking on the door of the house, but that no one knew of the house across the street, with no answers.

"Well," said Magistrate R. C. Jackson in levying a $5 fine, "you certainly aren't the usual sort of thief that was arrested sneaking around about it, considering you conducted your activity in broad daylight."

Police Radar Won Argument

TRENTON — Russell A. Davidson of 1454 Laird Drive, Trenton, was fined $10 and ordered to pay $7.50 in court costs in Trenton court yesterday when he was found guilty by Magistrate R. C. Jackson of driving at 60 mph in a 30 mph zone.

The magistrate was forced to choose between sworn testimony given by the accused and Constable Harold Kastner that he had clocked Davidson travelling at 40 mph and that testimony given by the accused and Mrs. Davidson that the constable was not in the cruiser at the time, and couldn't possibly have seen the reading.

"This is a responsible police officer," said the magistrate, who has acquired the radar for a number of years and that is a scientific machine."

JAMES SMITH PICKERING

A resident of this city for the past five years, Mr. James Smith Pickering of 92 Southview Ave. died Friday after-noon in Belleville General Hospital. He was in his 80th year.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Pickering, he was born at Springbrook and had worked as an electrical contractor, including 20 years with Gwynn and Loucks Ltd. of Peterborough. He was a member of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill Anglican Church.

Predeceased by his wife, the former Louise Cooper, Mr. Pickering is survived by one son, Percy Belleville; one brother, Ernest Pickering of Picton, and one grandchild.

Resting at the John R. Bush Funeral Home, from where the funeral will be held on Monday afternoon, with interment in Glenwood Cemetery, Picton.

Youth Fined $100 For Drinking

TRENTON — Percy Brunton, 18, charged with consuming liquor under age, told Magistrate R. C. Jackson in Trenton yesterday he didn't think he had any particular problem, when the magistrate remarked that this was Brunton's fifth conviction under the Liquor Control Act.

"Well, I think you have," said the magistrate, "Obviously you're on your way to becoming an alcoholic."

Brunton was fined $100 to be paid forthwith.

On the Way Up

TRENTON — A local pop group, the King Bees, have completed tapes that will be heard on their way to recording releases in the U.S., Canada and Europe, according to their manager, Ted Kinsella.

The Mannings, Bill, John and Bruce, Gene Laidlaw and soloist Gary Knight, have been approached by an American recording agent with a view to international release.

Will Continue Support to Diefenbaker

MONTREAL (CP)— Egan Chambers, former national president of the Progressive Conservative party said Friday findings of the Special Commission lead him to support John Diefenbaker as party leader.

"I'm really in favor of having a younger man, but I wouldn't want to withdraw my support from Mr. Diefenbaker now," Mr. Chambers said in a statement. "I would look as if I were agreeing with the Liberals and their commission."

He thought that the Conservative leader would "walk into our national convention and get a standing ovation."

FORTY-SIX SILVER DOLLARS—Symbolic of 46 years of service with the Belleville Fire Department, were presented to Captain Stan Pomeroy last night at a dinner held in his honor at the Club Canara. Captain Pomeroy will be retiring at the end of the month.

Capt. S. Pomeroy of Fire Dept. Is Retiring After 46 Years

In 1920, one of the principal chores to be performed by Belleville's 12-man fire department was the grooming and care of the horses used to pull the fire-fighting equipment. The horses have long since disappeared from the fire-fighting scene, but one of the men who had groomed them is still a member of the Belleville Fire Department.

Captain Stan Pomeroy will be retiring at the end of September after serving the city as a fireman for the past 46 years. Last evening at the Club Canara his friends, fellow-firemen joined to pay tribute to him at a retirement dinner. On hand with her husband of 36 years was Mrs. Pomeroy, the former Evelyn Cameron.

A plaque embossed with 46 silver dollars spelling out the numerals 46 was presented to Captain Pomeroy by members of the Belleville Fire Department. A word of thanks on the city's behalf was said by Alderman J. Russell Scott.

Speaking of the time when he first became a fireman, Captain Pomeroy says: "All things considered, we did as good a job then fighting fires as we do now." "It still boils down to the use of water. We didn't have as many fires then as we do now. If we answered about 40 calls a year, that would be something."

JOINED IN 1920

Captain Pomeroy joined the local fire department in 1920, some six years after he arrived in this country from his birthplace, the Channel Islands off the coast of France.

The veteran fireman says that one of the reasons he joined the fire department was because he liked to be around horses. A year later, however, the horses were replaced by mechanized vehicles on all but the ladder wagon, and this vehicle too became horse-powered, rather than horse-drawn, soon thereafter.

It was largely due to the coaxing of the late William Brown that he joined the fire department, says Captain Pomeroy. The former fire chief later died as a result of a fall at the scene of a fire at the old Springer Lock premises.

"Fire-fighting is a good profession now," says the Captain. "If you had asked me that question 35 years ago, I'd have said no. But with modern equipment, you don't have to take such a beating from smoke. In my early days, we had no such things as smoke masks or fresh air packs.

"Fire-fighting is more than just putting a uniform on. It sometimes sets you back, just knowing that someone died and you couldn't do anything about it. It's not an easy job."

LOOKING BACK — Captain Stan Pomeroy, retiring this month after 46 years of service on the Belleville Fire Department, relaxes for a moment at Number 1 Fire Station.

DELAY SPARKS STRIKE

TOKYO (AP)—Tokyo's 350,000 commuters were without public transportation for three hours Saturday as the city's Transportation Workers Union struck, protested delays in payment of monthly allowances. City officials said financial difficulties, brought on by rejection of Tokyo's fare - increase plans by the Assembly, made it impossible to pay 16,000 transportation bureau workers on schedule the previous Saturday.

Poppy Fund Committee Holds Meeting

On Wednesday evening Sept. 21 a meeting of The Belleville Poppy Fund committee and workers for the 1960 campaign was held at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall on Pinnacle street. The campaign will get under way October 1.

The sale of poppies on the streets of Belleville and area will take place on Nov. 4 and Nov. 5 until 1.00 p.m. The poppy and wreath sale has been approved by the United Community Services of Belleville and their approval passed on to Mayor Jack Ellis and City Council. Permission was granted by City Council to hold this sale.

The following organizations had representatives present at the meeting: Belleville Branch 99, Royal Canadian Legion; Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Association, Unit 201; Royal Canadian Air Force Association, Wing 418; Ladies' Auxiliary to Branch 99 Canadian Legion; Phay Wills Branch 397, Royal Canadian Legion (Ex-Service Women's Branch); and Ladies' Auxiliary to the Army, Navy and Air Force Association.

The new poppy was displayed and the committee feels that it will meet with the approval of all. It was announced to the meeting that the usual donation of poppies will be given to the public schools, separate schools, Ontario School for the Deaf and the Retarded Children's school. These poppies are given out to every child free of charge at the annual School Remembrance Day service that is held the day previous to "Remembrance Day, Nov. 11th. The high schools and Nicholson College are provided with poppies and are also given out at the "Remembrance Day" service and has been the usual custom, a collection is taken up and later turned over to the Poppy Committee.

This distribution of poppies has been taking place for a great many years. It is estimated that nearly 12,000 blood red poppies will be distributed at the schools this year!

All business, including stores, offices, unions, educational institutions, fraternal societies, clubs and private citizens, as well as industrial plants will be contacted in the wreath emblem sale.

The committee feels sure that the response will be as generous as it has been in the past.

The profits raised through this campaign in the city and across Canada are used for emergent welfare for deserving veterans and their families in this area and elsewhere.

Their name lives for-evermore, let us remember them".

Mr. Everett H. Liddle, chairman of the Belleville Poppy Fund Committee presided at the meeting.

Militant Breed

One of the things most noticeable in this year's unusually widespread and militant labor discontent is the emergence of a new generation of younger workers, impatient for gains and scornful of established procedures for obtaining them.

The new breed is less concerned with security than with having immediate extra cash in the pocket. Its members have not known economic distress particularly, as have the older union members who lived through the depression.

They have enjoyed relatively good times, steady pay raises, shorter hours and longer vacations, not to mention the implementation of state and private pension plans.

Perhaps the ease with which these things have been achieved for them has fostered the belief that they have but to demand more and money will come magically. Greater productivity, higher efficiency and improved skills to create economic conditions which make further pay raises possible are not even a consideration to them.

William Mahoney, national director of United Steelworkers of America, wrote recently of his younger men: "They do not believe anyone is doing them a favor by hiring them. They know they would not be hired unless their employer can make a profit out of them."

Basically, their view is correct, but they should realize that unless a business makes a profit it will do no hiring at all.

It is becoming the thing to do for the younger union members to reject settlements negotiated and recommended by able and experienced union leaders. Take the Hamilton steel strike as a prime example.

Inflationary pressures in Canada are fast reaching panic proportions. It is a time for responsibility, not a time to bleed the stone for everything possible. One must realize that if things are stretched too far, and the bubble bursts, there will be nothing left for anyone.

Who Is the Expert?

In Belleville police court this week a man, acting in his own defence on a speeding charge, asked the magistrate what right it was not a person's "basic right" to be allowed to see the reading on the police radar device which would be used in court to convict him.

Replied the magistrate: "When it comes to this business of radar and civil rights, try that in the newspapers — they're much better experts at it."

Does the magistrate believe this to be a fact? If there so, would be a grievious thing. Basic and civil rights ought to be the court's primary concern. Their preservation is the objective of all good laws.

If, on the other hand, the magistrate's remark is an ironic one, the inference must be that newspaper reports in general, and newspaper reports of court proceedings in particular, are written as judgments of persons or situations.

Facts are the essence of newspaper court coverage, as in all reports, with commentary reserved for the editorial page. Newspapers can only report court judgments, they cannot make them.

Why do newspapers provide court coverage? The Manchester Guardian recently noted: "Newspapers report crime because it is in the public interest. Publicity is one of the law's most powerful weapons in its fight against crime. For, if the public is uninformed, there can be no public pressure to combat crime. To suppress news about crime doesn't suppress crime."

To suggest that newspaper court reports pass judgments is to read between lines where there is nothing but blank space.

Bad and Good Taste

There is no substitute for good taste.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, the wife of the U.S. president and the noted advocate of national beautification, has been visiting Los Angeles.

They chanted: "Hey, hey, LBJ! How many kids did you kill today?"

Even the hitterest critic of Johnson's Viet Nam policy ought to be ready to admit that that doggerel is cruelly unfair.

Beautiful, beautiful.

Fair Offer

Senator Philip Hart, Democrat from Michigan, suggests that the United States ought to share in the cost of the expansion of Canada's Welland canal, in order that it may have a voice in determining the tolls for the canal.

This is awfully white of him!

Maybe he would like to pay part of the salaries of our members of Parliament, so that the United States could have a share — or should we say a greater share? — in determining how we run the rest of our affairs, too.

To Your Good Health

Hardening of Arteries Can Make Feet Burn

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes heat in the legs and soles of feet? At the moment my husband has a cold towel on his feet. The right one is bearable, his face is extremely hot on both sides. Our doctor has tried pills for a circulatory condition, nervous disorders and allergies, but nothing seems to help. — M.S.

Burning of the feet alone may result from faulty circulation due to hardening of the arteries. Medication for other measures to increase circulation) is the best course.

There are other causes which may be looked for — toxic neuritis (including toxicity from alcohol or tobacco); or inflammation of the arteries of the legs, either polyarteritis, or inflammation of the order of Buerger's disease, which is believed to be incited by tobacco.

The diffuse heat in your husband's face suggests a condition known as erythrocythemia. The cause of this is not known but it is thought to be a disturbance of the nerves or brain, or the part of it which controls blood vessel tone. We have little to offer for this in the way of treatment but the trouble is aggravated by warmth.

In addition to the measures your doctor has already attempted (and which succeed in many cases) I would look for some toxic condition, and would learn whether the patient uses either tobacco or alcohol, or both. In some instances, the real answer is so close that we do not see it. As a last resort surgery may be advised — either cutting of the sympathetic nerves, or repair of the arteries.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: What could cause a year-old baby to have bronchitis? How can attacks be treated? — Mrs. L. S.

At this age the cause often is allergy, although chronic sinus infection may be a factor. Treatment depends on what is found to be responsible—that for allergy is quite different from that for infection.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Perhaps this is ridiculous but my family suddenly refuses to eat any vegetables or salads which we have always doted on. This is the result of talks held by a friend who says she was hospitalized because of a large worm found growing in her intestines.

According to her it enters the body from eggs found on fresh vegetables. It is supposed to grow to a length of three feet in 48 hours and must be carefully removed because if will multiply quickly if left in the body, probably causing death. Is there any truth in this? — Mrs. H.B.

You'll have to write off nearly all of what you were told as an old wives' tale. Of course vegetables should be washed, but this is to remove insecticides or other harmful material. Any worms present would also be washed off.

There are parasites such as tapeworms of various types, but they are transmitted by eggs in the meat of animals or fish, which have become infested, so attributing the trouble to vegetables is far afield from the facts.

Some tapeworms can grow too fantastic lengths, but they are not deadly, such as you were told. It is also important to remove the worm completely because the head attaches itself to the intestine. If the rest is removed but the head remains, the worm will keep on growing.

Modern sanitation and proper cooking of meat and fish are the best preventives of tapeworm. If a person does acquire such a worm, various medications are effective in destroying it.

Sharp Wins His Point

Ottawa Journal

What is the lesson in Finance Minister Sharp's success in slicing down Stelco take-over? Is it that the increases announced in the price of some steel products?

The first is that the Government has a reservoir of authority which can be used effectively in the public interest if there is the courage and leadership to do it.

Economist said that the Steel Co. of Canada had an air-tight case for boosting its prices. There had been only two increases in six past ten years and the company had just signed a two-year contract with employees which made them the highest - priced steelmen in North America.

Mr. Sharp countered with his view that increases in productivity should offset rising costs in appealing to the company to "reconsider and rescind."

Steel's capitulation — other companies which planned similar increases have also changed their minds — is a powerful psychological weapon in the fight against inflation. Mr. Sharp took a calculated risk in putting his prestige on the line. Had steel brazened out its decision, the inflation psychology would have gathered strength.

The success in rolling back the steel increases further dramatizes the weakness of the Government in handing recent wage disputes when they settled at the cost of building up inflationary pressures.

Steel has given an example for other manufacturers in rebowing responsible corporate citizenship. Its action demolishes the argument of some labor leaders — and the NDP — that large corporations are mainly responsible for the wage - price spiral. Blame has to be shared by both labor and management.

Mr. Sharp has convinced a basic industry to accept its responsibility. The same vigor should now go into preventing unreasonable and unjustified wage increases.

Aztecs Ate Algae

Montreal Star

Having in mind the possible increase of population to a point which would permit few if any finicky notions about what was good to eat, certain people are considering such sources of nourishment as yeast and algae. It is mighty interesting to note that, in circumstances which are predicted for our descendants, a variety of algae was used for food by some of the inhabitants of Mexico when the Spaniards invaded their country. Dr. W. V. Farrar, of the University of Manchester, mixed the writings of the early explorers for a description of it. It was described by one as having the flavor of cheese.

The Aztec capital was built on an island in a lake whose waters at a certain time of the year grew thick with a substance which the people then scooped up, dried and ate, either as it was or cooked. Descriptions strongly suggest that the substance was a blue-green algae.

Dr. Farrar notes that the Aztecs, although not starving, were pressing hard on the limits of their food resources. They grew beans, maize, dog, and sometimes the human victims of ritual sacrifice.

The knowledge is unfortunately of historical interest only. The strain of blue-green algae the Aztecs fed on evidently died out. No strains known now are palatable and some are poisonous.

Newspaper Not Boring

Atlanta Journal

It is good to read remarks of a Kansas teacher concerning the instructive values of newspapers. The teacher is Mrs. Verne Shackleford of Wichita, who reported her ninth-grade pupils grow bored with textbooks and so does she. So she gives them the papers to study in her English classes and they find it much easier to analyze the language (in fact, the several varieties of the language, including that of sports writers).

We are flattered by her observations. We know of our shortcomings, grammatical and otherwise, and we believe they seem because we work so fast and in such a hurry. But it is this immediacy which gives the newspapers their life, and which makes them so much more interesting than embalmed texts.

We're delighted to find more newspapers in class rooms of this country, if only as examples of how not to write. At least we're topical and the problems we bring to our readers are alive, current, momentous and should keep them awake.

Ottawa Offbeat

Ottawa Shrugs Off Belief That Charity Begins at Home

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The Commons, racing through the afternoon of Friday, September 9, for a weekend adjournment and the start of another four-week holiday, had heard Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp tell how he was trimming Federal spending sails to better weather the hot winds of inflation.

And as the minutes ticked by, a young Manitoba Conservative MP sat there impatiently with notes for a speech which time, running out, didn't allow him to make.

Too bad, that.

It ran something like this:

So we're cutting back on health services.

Cutting back on education.

Cutting back on research.

Cutting back on finances for new housing.

Cutting back on forestry and other resources development programs.

Cutting back on other things that the Finance Minister himself has described as "beneficial and desirable."

Bit doing all this cutting back at home while spending more abroad.

There was more, much more; but that was the general idea.

NOT FOR US

For nearly four years now, the Federal government has been promising, first the taxpaying voters and then the government, some 10,000 university scholarships for deserving students.

But now the scholarships are off.

But not, of course, abroad.

For while as taxpayers we're not supposed to be able to afford those 10,000 scholarships for our own sons and daughters, there will apparently be enough up something approaching $7,000,000 to bring in and help pay the cost of 2,000 foreign students through our schools and universities.

The External Aid Office which handles this type of program for the External Affairs department, Mr. Sharp has given a free hand, it will have expanded the scholarships plan within three years to cover 5,300 foreign students.

At that rate, it will be costing something over $14,000,000.

And it started, just a very few years ago, at an initially modest annual $250,000.

But that is the way things build, simplewise, in these affluent days.

Right now, although we have one-tenth the population and but a fraction of the wealth, we've got twice as many student aid programs going as the United States.

Abroad, that is, not here at home.

That kind of luxury is supposed to be too rich for our blood, but just what our Foreign Aid physicians prescribe for the educational well-being of students from overseas.

Those 2,600 scholarships for foreign students are but they drops in the big bucket of Foreign Aid.

Currently that bucket holds better than $400,000,000—more than enough to cover a year's now - suspended Medicare — more than enough to put the Old Age Pension above not just the promised $100-a-month but over $200.

What are some of the things people who should be in the know about Foreign Aid have been saying?

Ontario Economics Minister Stanley Randall says it is used by emerging tyrants and despots "to erect monuments to their vanities and colossal stupidities."

He was talking particularly about the $3,000,000 Canada had pumped into Ghana before tinpot dictator Kwame Nkrumah looted the treasury and flew off to enjoy fugitive retirement in Europe.

"A racket," New Democratic MP Harold Winch of Vancouver has said of Foreign Aid which his Party supports, but which he says is a form of hypocrisy, being squandered.

"Another front for corruption in high places," Carleton University Professor of Economics Douglas Anglin said a couple of years ago after an African tour, "rotten with fat salaries, kickbacks, big houses and luxury limousines."

Think of it: 2,600 scholarships for foreign students; $400,000,000 for Foreign Aid . . . and taxes, up in July, to be raised again next month by Finance Minister Sharp in his cut-back anti-inflationary Baby Budget.

Breed Tough Bacteria

New York Times

The "Silent Spring" dispute over agricultural use of pesticides is being matched by a somewhat similar controversy over the practice of routinely including antibiotics in animal feed.

If the conclusion suggested by a growing volume of medical evidence is generally accepted it may gravely reduce the effectiveness of the antibiotics on which physicians rely so heavily in treating infectious diseases in humans.

The warning of this possibility, sounded in The New England Journal of Medicine, deserves the serious attention of the nation's public health authorities.

* * *

That bacteria can develop resistance to antibiotics has long been known.

In the past this condition was attributed to genetic factors, to mutations that gave some bacteria immunity to a particular antibiotic and therefore enabled them to survive its application.

Physicians often treat disease by using several antibiotics simultaneously in the recurring preference to newer drugs against which immunity might as yet have had time to develop.

Observations made in Japan in 1959 and since confirmed in the Philippines and elsewhere now shown that there is a second and more rapid source of resistance.

Antibiotics, it has been found that bacteria can "catch" resistance. The available evidence suggests that the development of such hardy microbes is greatly facilitated by the feeding of antibiotics to cattle or other animals.

It also indicates that bacteria that become resistant to livestock can then invade human beings.

Put bluntly, people may be paying for cheaper and better meat by exposing themselves and their families to disease.

There would be serious economic consequences if antibiotics were eliminated from livestock feed—some study of the meat industry has been organized to take advantage of the better animal health these medicines have made possible.

The makers and users of these feeds are certain to react as strongly to any proposal ban as the makers and users of pesticides reacted to Rachel Carson's assertions. But if the researchers are correct, the problem is real and will grow in seriousness with the passage of time.

The officials charged with protection of the national health must begin an immediate inquiry into the dire possibilities presented by these newer developments.

Some Trees Pollute Air

Brantford Expositor

Scientists keep destroying our most cherished illusions. A botanist from the University of Nevada maintains that some trees contribute 10 per cent more pollution than all man-made emissions!

According to Prof. Fritz Went, these trees send molecular substances known as terpenes and esters into the air, stimulating a chemical reaction similar to that caused by man-made pollutions. Nature, he says, has impurities with rain and snow, but, the botanist says, that just passes along the dirt.

We can't of course, do without trees even if they are smog agents producing a summer haze. We must leave it to science to come up with an answer. There is no reason either why we should wantonly continue to assist nature in adding to pollution problems. We can at least do something about that.

Lines on Life

Contrast in Outlook

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

Two news items appeared in the newspaper practically side by side in the same issue, just some time ago. The first concerns a Montana State prison riot.

"I knew I would never get out alive but I thought I might be able to save some of the other hostages."

"This was the thinking of 36 year old Walter Jones, who pictured in an agonizing 36 hour attempting to keep the confidence of dope-addled leaders of the illfated Montana prison riot.

"Jones, white and trembling, came through the big compound door that separated the c onvict authority on the one side and state authority on the other.

"They are desperate and have threatened to burn or hang their hostages if the prison is rushed," he reported.

"I know they mean it, too."

"He told the newsmen why he were about to enter the prison for their interview with the convicts:

"I'm gone. I'll never get out of this alive."

"He added that if he did not go back as promised, it might mean the end of the other hostages. He had no hope of a protracted slight minutes, and was a spent briefing the newsmen and emotionally prepared friends on the outside — then he went back into the prison."

And this is the second news item.

"The British are concerned over the large number of suicides in universities, especially the older institutions, C a m b ridge and Oxford.

"Comparison of suicide figures at the universities of b oth men aged 20 to 24 in the general population of England and Wales, showed that the rate per 100,000 living is 21.8 for Cambridge and 20.5 for Oxford compared with 7.8 only 8.1 for the general popula-tion."

Then two news stories juxtaposed in the same city's newspaper invite discussion. For the students at the English universities stir symbolize one of the frightful problems of our time — the disillusioned, morbid, despairing, mat — who h a s everything to live for, but who sees no meaning in life. On the other hand, that story of Walter Jones in Montana summons up in our minds an admiration for those few in our midst who are capable of giving up their lives for a cause. Fortunately, for Mr. Jones, he is still alive. But the point of the story is c lear, nevertheless. He was prepared to die because he had a sense of commitment for the lives of other people.

Unhappily, many who have themselves been blessed with freedom remain blase-ignorant because their own lives are unrelated to the world. They often mistake private hurts for cosmic pain; instead of helping the world, they run away from it, in despair.

Alas, many of our intellectuals need to be reminded that life is larger than their tiny c lassrooms, bigger than their own little definitions, wider t h an their narrow, if large-sounding, words. Minds that are free to be sure, but also closed to the world, but instead, are attached to the private and dark indoors, die in the dark.

Oddly, even a man behind bars is freer than these as long as his hopes are linked to another hope.

No man is an island. He who

A Lift for Living

Optimism, Pessimism: Wise---And Otherwise

By Rev. Harold E. Kohn

There are countless kinds of optimism and pessimism. They range from the ridiculous to the wise, from pagan to devoutly religious.

Some anonymous wag has described a silly sort of optimism:

And as he passed each window he shouted, 'All right so far!'"

Pessimism, too, has its foolish representatives, like the Maine farmer who was complimented on his fine harvest. He replied, "And good crops like those are sure to be hard on the soil!" Another pessimist grumbled to a neighbor, "Pop hen hatched out 12 chicks, and all of them have died but 11!" Such a one could see no silver lining. He summed up by the pessimist's prayer, "Give us this day our daily dread."

Pessimism and optimism come in many sizes, shapes and shades. Here are a few descriptions and definitions of pessimists and optimists. (Not all of them are original with this writer):

A pessimist remembers the lily belongs to the onion family, while an optimist recalls that the onion belongs to the lily family.

A pessimist grumbles because raspberry bushes have thorns. The optimist rejoices because some thorny bushes have raspberries.

A pessimist is a fellow who once loaned money to an optimist. But many an optimist has made a fortune by buying out a crestfallen pessimist.

A pessimist sees the dark side of everyone's joys, especially his own. An optimist is a fellow who always sees the bright side of other people's troubles.

The pessimist makes a difficulty out of every opportunity, while the optimist makes an opportunity out of every difficulty.

The pessimist, when troubled, says grumpily, "I'm always getting into hot water." The optimist admits, "I often get into hot water. But a person is like tea: he must get into hot water before he reveals his real flavor and strength."

The pessimist says, "If I don't try, I can't fail," while the optimist declares, "If I don't try, I can't win."

BOTH CAN BE WRONG

Both realist, dark pessimism, and fanatical, bright optimism, are wrong. Pessimism is so preoccupied with evil that it misses the good, and optimism is so dazzled by life's glory that it cannot see evil. Pessimism is freely to refuse to fight evil because "it is just so me." And optimism may not attempt a struggle with evil either, because the presence of evil is ignored, or because "everything will come out all right, anyway."

Clearly, vital Christianity was not preoccupied with looking at the "bright side" or the "gloomy side" of events, but sought to see all sides of every issue — especially God's side.

They knew about crucifixions and resurrections, but they also knew that the crucifixion was temporary and the resurrection was eternal. So instead of mournfully pointing to the awful cross and wailing, "What is the world coming to?" they pointed to the victorious Christ and exclaimed in gladness, "Just see what has come to the world!"

Christian optimism is the faith that, although Christ rec ified the good He represents may suffer temporary defeat, Christ and Christlike goodness are certain to survive and triumph at last.

RECEPTION LINE WORRIES

Dear Susanna: I am to be in the reception line at my son's wedding and since this is my first experience of this kind I am wondering what I should say to strangers, and to relatives of the bride whom I have not met. — Mrs. J. W. T.

Cheer up, you don't have a worry in the world.

In the reception line you will be standing next to the bride's father, and when your friends come up, you introduce them to him. He'll do the same for you with his friends.

If unknowns arrive, they will tell you who they are.

You don't really have to say a thing except "Thank you", because the guests will tell you how nice the wedding was, how beautiful the bride and how handsome the groom! You can agree wholeheartedly, I'm sure.

A wedding should be a joyful occasion for everybody, even the mothers of the bride and groom, so have a wonderful day, relax, and enjoy yourself.

Thank you so much for your letter and hint. — SUSANNA

LAWN CARE

Dear Susanna: For those of us who are re-doing our lawns this fall, with fresh loam and fertilizer, here is a neat way to smooth out the rough spots.

Fasten three strands of rope along one side of a wooden ladder (the two ends and the middle,) and then, holding the ropes evenly in your hands, drag the ladder sideways over the ground. — Jim. B. L.

V.O.N. Board Hears Reports

After a summer recess, the Board of the Victorian Order of Nurses met at the YMCA for its regular monthly meeting. The president, Mrs. R.L. Smith, was in charge.

The United Appeal Campaign was discussed and most members will be assisting.

The members of the V.O.N. staff will assist the newly formed County Health Unit by continuing to give service to two Thurlow township schools, as they have done in the past.

The nursing report showed that activities in this area had slightly decreased during the summer months. This was disussed by Miss Dorothy Conner, nurse-in-charge.

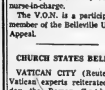
CHURCH STATES BELIEF



VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Vatican experts reiterated Friday the Roman Catholic Church's belief that conscientious objectors to fighting in wars should take on alternative non-military service. They were commenting on a decision by Sir Albert Wolff, West Australian chief justice, that the biblical command, "thou shalt not kill," does not apply to military operations.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT C. BUSH

Bush — Wood

THOMASBURG — Rev. H. Kennedy, assisted by Mr. A. P. Smith performed the ceremony in Thomasburg United Church on September 17, 1966 at 2.30 p.m. when vows were united in marriage Doris Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wood of Thomasburg, and Robert Carl Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Bush of Tweed. Mr. Fred Porter of Thomasburg played the wedding music and Mr. Kenneth Brenton of Tweed was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white silk organza gown with Empire waistline, round neckline and short, scalloped edged trumpet sleeves. Her gown featured a flowing Chantilly lace train and a matching lace mantilla fell to her shoulders from a jewelled headdress. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. W. Lang of Brantford, sister of the bride, was matron of honour. She wore a floor-length powder blue dress of Empire style with an overlay lace bodice and trumpet sleeves. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Augus Farrell of Tweed, cousin of the bride, and Miss Brenda Lightle of Cobourg and Judy Jeffrey of Tweed, both classmates of the bride at Belleville General Hospital, were gowned similarly to the matron of honour. All carried bouquets of blue-tinted and white baby 'mums.

Mr. John Ross Hodges of Tweed attended the bridegroom and the ushers were Mr. Gary Owens of Tweed and Mr. John Thornsbys of Whitby.

At the reception, held at Hall, the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a deep red dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. To assist the bride's mother were a linked dress of variegated gold shades, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

For her wedding trip to eastern points, the bride chose a two-piece navy ensemble with white hat, black accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

On their return, the couple will live on Colborne Street, Tweed.

Establish "Hope Fund" For Paralysed Youngster

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP) — Pennies in a store jar and children's pop bottle donations have established a "hope fund" for a little boy who was paralysed two years ago just before his first birthday.

So far, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Joyes of Woodstock have received nearly $1,500 in donations from neighbors and strangers, a collection jar in a local store, from children's gifts of pop bottle returns, dances and a euchre party.

The money is being used to help pay costs in trying to cure Cheryl, their son Gary Robert. Treatment includes trips to Philadelphia's Institute for the Advancement of Human Potential.

Gary was stricken with meningitis two days before his first birthday in September, 1964. The disease left him unable to walk or talk even baby talk.

For two years Mr. and Mrs. Joyes hoped that he would return to normal health on his own but there was no improvement. Mrs. Joyes read about the Philadelphia institute and wrote for an appointment.

An appointment, made for June, 1966, seemed "so far off," Mrs. Joyes said recently. We became desperate and decided to go there unannounced at the end of May."

GAINED MIRACLE

At the hard-pressed institute the Joyes achieved what one secretary termed a "major miracle" by having Gary examined immediately by Dr. Eugene Spits a noted neurosurgeon.

Intensive tests were carried out in June and an appointment made for July for a decision on possible further treatment. The date was reset to August because of the birth of Gary's brother Steven Shawn, the Joyes' second child, on July 4.

Dr. Spitz now reports that medication be ordered in June has reduced the "seizure pattern" by 50 per cent. Gary now is to start home therapy with exercises to encourage him to crawl.

For this he has to wear a special suit designed by a neurosurgeon clinic at Media, Pa. The suit keeps him face down and is equipped with a rod that prevents him from rolling over.

Further medication has been ordered and Dr. Spitz will see Gary again on Nov. 6.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shaw of Belleville announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Ann, to William Gordon Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones of Belleville. The marriage will take place at St. Thomas Church, Belleville, on October 22, 1966, at 2.00 p.m.

Honesty Should Be Encouraged by Rewards

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell a couple of dislocated teen-agers who can a person trust anymore.

My friend and I were walking to town. I saw an 8-transistor radio lying on a curb lawn. It looked nearly new and I'm a good shape so I picked it up. We decided to ring the doorbell and ask if the radio belonged to anyone in the house.

A lady who answered the bell said the radio was not hers but perhaps it belonged next door. We tried next door and the woman there said the radio belonged to her son who was always losing things.

When I got home I told my mother what we had done. She said, "You certainly behaved like fools. Anybody would have claimed the radio whether it was theirs or not. That's human nature."

Please don't get the idea my mother is a crook. She's really a very nice person but I felt awfully let down after she made that remark. Is this the way people really are? — DISAPPOINTED.

DEAR DIS: Some people are like that, unfortunately, but obviously you aren't and there are millions of other decent, honorable folks.

It would have been nice if the lady who claimed the radio had given you and your friend a couple of dollars for your trouble." However, you should be encouraged by rewarding those who really believe in it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 23, married for two years and have a little girl. Both my husband and I work. We each drive our own car. I don't know if the trouble is me, my folks or my car, Anyway, it's getting me down and I need help.

Because I am working I don't have time to do my housework and marketing and many things most women do. My mother helps me a lot. My sister babysits whenever I need her. We are a very close family.

Almost every evening my mother or sister phones and asks me to drive one of them somewhere. I usually have to take them home, too. My husband is getting annoyed with these calls and has told me to say no the next time I get one and should not be expected to drive them around at night. I want to please my husband but I also feel I should help out my family since they help me. What is your advice? — MRS. U?

DEAR MRS.: So long as you accept favors you are obliged to repay them. My advice is to hire help or stay home and do your own work and let your relatives walk alone. Then you can say no without feeling guilty, and you will also be able to keep the peace with your husband, which should be your major concern.

Medical Officer of Health Speaks at W.H.A. Meeting

The Women's Hospital Auxiliary of the Belleville General Hospital held its regular monthly meeting at Education Hall on Tuesday, September 20th with an excellent attendance.

Mrs. W. G. Harvey presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. Dallas. Reports regarding the many activities carried on by the auxiliary were heard.

Mrs. F. H. Bowler, convener of the Opportunity Shop reported that the shop had reopened on September 8th with record sales which depleted the supply of merchandise. Children's clothes are especially needed. Members and friends are requested to make donations of any articles which can be sold. Coat hangers are still in demand.

Mrs. W. D. Leslie, convener of the holiday project, told the corner reported that there are lovely knitted baby clothes for sale in the gift corner of the Opportunity Shop.' These articles make suitable gifts for the new baby. She also has quantities of wool on hand for those who wish to knit at home.

CRADLE PICTURES

The cradle pictures which are a recent service to new mothers at the hospital has made favorable progress. The convener Mrs. A. Duffy stated that this service had been carried on both during the summer by Miss Lorraine Brown.

These pictures of the newly born babies are taken at the hospital and can be purchased by the parents if they wish. A percentage of the sales goes to the auxiliary for offering this service.

Mrs. W. G. Harvey is the general convener of the Annual Fashion Show which will be held in the Belleville Collegiate Auditorium on October 19. This annual event has been a project of the auxiliary for a quarter of a century. The theme of the show this year will be "Holiday in Austria."

Miss Roslyn Robertson, Mezzo soprano will be the guest soloist and Miss Barbara Bayley will be in charge of the music throughout the evening.

Miss Theresa Hurley, newly appointed Director of Nursing Services at the Belleville General Hospital was introduced to the members and welcomed to the staff.

Mrs. J. E. Buchan, director of Hospital Volunteer Services asked for volunteers for the various services which are being carried on at the hospital.

GUEST SPEAKER

Doctor C. R. Lenk, the Medical Health Officer for the newly formed Hastings County Health Unit was the guest speaker. He was introduced by Mrs. B. E. Burley who stated that Dr. Lenk was born in Cracow, Poland of Swedish parents.

He attended Cracow State school and graduated from the University of Cracow in 1938 and became a British subject in 1946 and served as medical officer for the British Colonial Service in Northern Rhodesia. In 1950 he served as registrar of Siracahro Hospital in Johannesburg, South Africa for two years.

Coming to Canada in 1962 he interned at Grey Nuns' Hospital, Saskatchewan and then became medical officer of Indian Health Services at the Indian Hospital at Fort Qu'Appelle.

Dr. Lenk received his specialists' certificate in public health from the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada in 1958 and became a Canadian citizen in 1959. He served as Medical Officer of Health for the government of Saskatchewan prior to coming to Belleville.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Dr. Lenk stated that there are two branches of medical services, the curative branch and the preventive branch. The Health Unit has to deal with the preventive branch which is the much less dramatic of the two.

He also stated that the work of the health unit is to encourage parents to give early inoculations to their children in order to curb epidemics of all contagious diseases. The service of the unit also includes pre-natal and post-natal care of mothers and babies, prevention of infectious diseases and laboratory inspections. These services are somewhat curtailed at present due to the shortage of nurses and trained personnel.

In the large centres these services are carried on by an organized health unit while in small communities this work is done by the family physician who is also the Medical Health officer for that area. In this case the doctor is often too busy with the curative branch of medicine to have time for the preventive one.

EDUCATE PUBLIC

In summary EATONHERDL

In summing up his address, Dr. Lenk stated that the work of the Health Unit is to educate the public to the need of an organized unit to control the many phases of the work. The object of the unit is to make the services available to rich and poor, young and old and thus promote better health for all.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. M. F. L. Jones, The meeting adjourned and a social hour was enjoyed.

Responsible Citizenship Means Proper Community Involvement

DEAR DORIS: With regard to your letter ...ool cruelty to children and the responsi...ility to citizens, I concur 90 per cent.

The problem for child ...re agencies is to be in a ...osition to take the appropriate action. Courts require proof, and this safeguards ...ewry, even though the unkindly process of law may cause temporary hardship. Courts exist for the purpose of protecting the innocent as well as punishing the guilty.

DORIS CLARK

The offering of proper testimony is essential. If we allow ourselves to fall prey to false pity and rumor, and this in itself becomes evidence, then our whole system of justice will fall apart at the seams.

The citizen's obligation that they wish action to be taken but do not wish to become involved, they are in so many words asking the impossible. Good citizenship carries with it a responsibility to follow through on one's convictions, and not merely pass the buck to others and then stand back and criticize. — JACK FINLAY, Managing Director, Children's Aid Society of Hamilton, Canada.

DEAR JACK: So to be a good Joe a witness to cruelty must, rather, stand up and testify!

* * *

DEAR DORIS: I read the letter by M.Y.G. I am 15. My parents have silly ideas too so I know how she feels.

My father always says I don't know what life is either but I really think she (M.Y.G.) is exaggerating when she says she'd rather learn the hard way. Because I don't think any girl would like to go through life with that kind of a reputation behind her.

I only partly agree when she says we have been trampled, beaten and clouted to bits. Maybe we have, but not that much, or have we?

I fully agree with her when she asks when we can live like humans and walk down the streets without having our parents' beady eyes staring at us, telling us to do this, that, are not children any more. And I think we should be allowed to have a little fun now while we can still enjoy it. — A.M.Y.G. (Another Member of the Younger Generation.)

DEAR ANOTHER: Is walking the streets your favorite kind of fun? You may get seriously trampled on if you keep that up!

From where I sit the chief sin of the older generation is in failing to provide a home base for socializing. Too often teens are pals with their parents and their friends are welcomed in their own front room, the M.Y.G.'s don't write me desperate letters.

LET'-ER:

In June I wrote you asking if you had the recipe for Mission Dry Babies. On June 30th you kindly sent me four different cookie recipe — none of which was the one we were looking for but we enjoyed them and I have filed them for future use. I thank you for your trouble. All summer I have kept asking every chance I found and the other day my efforts paid off. I had been at a shower and after going the rounds as usual inquiring about that elusive cookie recipe my neighbor said she remembered having it. Sure enough she called me soon after as she had a chance to bust it up. Just to prove to you that there is such a thing as "Mission Dry Babies" I am enclosing a'copy. Norena D.

ANSWER:

They are lovely. I have just finished making a batch and have (had!) 9 dozen 2" cookies. "Had" because three of us ate a dozen fresh from the oven with our afternoon tea.

Church Groups

C.W.L. PARISH COUNCIL

Msgr. J. A. Carley, celebrated Mass Monday evening to open the new term of the Parish Council when a meeting was held by St. Joseph's C. W. L. Immediately after, a potluck supper was held at the parish hall.

The highlight of the meeting which followed was a talk by Mrs. Herbert Brown, first vice-president of the Diocesan Council. Mrs. Brown chose as her topic, "Christian Women in an Organization", she spoke on each convenership, making quite clear the work to be covered by all. Too, she outlined manner, together with her strong personal convictions did so in such a way each person a sense of their own duty. Mrs. Cliff Murphy introduced the speaker and Miss Vince Muldoon expressed thanks.

Mrs. Dominic conducted a short business session. She expressed her thanks to the Council for making it possible for her to attend the Provincial convention in Toronto. Mrs. Clint Murphy, citizenship convener, asked for members to write to the United Appeal. A rummage sale will be held this Saturday and the regional meeting will be held in Madoc, Oct. 30th. Bazaar convenors urged members to support the various booths. Mrs. Belrne reminded members of the Marathon bridge. All bridge players are invited to join.

ST. MARGARET'S EVENING GUILD

The initial meeting of the fall season of the Evening Guild of St. Margaret's Church was held on Monday evening in the Parish Hall. Mrs. W. Black opened the meeting and welcomed one new member.

It was decided to sell Christmas cards again this year, and the plans for the bazaar to be held in November were discussed.

The members were asked to help at the "Y's" Treasure House Sale which will be held at the "Y" on the 28th, 29th and 30th of September.

Mrs. Ryan, Directors of Nurses for the County Health Unit, gave an informative talk on the work of the Health Unit.

After the closing prayer, the meeting was adjourned and lunch was served by Mrs. R. Maki and group.

Club Activities

FRANKFORD TRIMETTES

FRANKFORD — Frankford Trimettes Club met on Monday evening in the Frankford Community Hall.

The president, Mrs. Fern Downs was in charge.

The weigh-in showed a loss of 20 pounds. Twelve members were in attendance. Mrs. Mary Zelenak and Mrs. Fern Downs tied in the highest loss of weight for the week, three pounds each. Physical instructress, Miss Vicki Plevak conducted routine exercises.

Plans were made for the Frankford members to attend the Trenton Trimettes graduation.

Church Women Meet to Plan Quinte Crusade

Despite a heavy downpour of rain, close to 100 women from local churches met in the Christian Missionary Alliance Church Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the Quinte Crusade for Christ which is to be held October 7th to 16th.

Rev. Edith Mahaffy chaired the meeting, and the guest speaker was Mrs. Gloria Akin, executive secretary of the Scripture Press Foundation of Canada at Alax, Ontario. Mrs. Akin told of the great benefits, beyond one's imagination, which can be and are being effected by the Barry Moore Evangelistic Team which was in Oshawa last May. She urged those present to exert faith and action in preparing for the local meetings.

Others taking part in the afternoon service were Capt. June Dwyer who led the singing, Mrs. Diane Leslie, pianist, and Miss Evelyn Bowers, Mrs. Wm. Lamb, Mrs. G. Woodcock, Miss Marjory Lamb, Mrs. J. McKnight, and Mrs. Brig. Hawkes, the organist was Mrs. Marion Foster and the pianist, Mrs. L. Broadhurst. Ushers were Mrs. J. Harnden, Mrs. H. McLaughlin, Mrs. R. Smith, Mrs. R. U.C.W Meetings

ELMBROOK U.C.W.

Mrs. Herbert Lister had charge of the program. Her Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Arnold Ackerman.

It was decided to postpone the next meeting a week (to October 19), owing to the proximity of the annual tea supper, and the amount of work entailed in its preparations. Mrs. Ackerman will be the hostess for this meeting, with Mrs. Arthur Stone having the program, and Mrs. Lister the cooks.

Fourteen sick calls were reported.

A reading was given by Mrs. Reg Moore.

A thought - provoking story of modern life in some house was the topic of a temperance reading by Mrs. Patrick Rogers.

CENTRE STREET U.C.W.

The United Church Women of Centre Street Church held its meeting on Thursday with the president, Mrs. E. Elliott, in the chair.

Mrs. L. Longhurst read the Scripture and Mrs. D. Hudgins was in charge of the devotional. Mrs. L. Collins played the piano for hymns.

Arrangements were made for the fall bazaar to be held on Wednesday, October 26.

The next general meeting will be held on December 8 in the form of a Christmas party.

Fine Porcelain Was Made In Many German Factories

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

A German Cocktaion of porcelain was made by Johann Jacob Louis 'of the Ludwigsburg factory about 1765. This privileged label once belonged to the royal family of Wurtemberg.

(Metropolitan Museum Art, Gift of Thornton Wilson in memory of Florence Ellsworth Wilson.)

Meissen and German porcelain mean the same thing to many collectors. It is true that many of the finest porcel a in s did originate at the Meissen factory. There were many other German factories that made superb porcelain.

The Ludwigsburg factory was another one of the seven great German factories of the 18th century. The firm worked from 1758 to 1824. Most of the pieces made at the factory were marked with two interlaced "c's" under a crown. A modern firm, the Wurttemberg Porcelain Co. 1 a Manufaktur, has used the same marks but with the letters "WPM" below the "c" and crown.

Q. Where can I find the signature on my Tiffany lamp? Will it be on the shade or the base? Should it just have initials or a name and will that be engraved or raised?

A. A genuine Tiffany lamp is marked in several places. The name Tiffany base has the monogram "Tiffany Glass and Decorating Company" from 1892 to 1902 and the name impressed "Tiffa ny Studios, New York" after 1900. The glass shades were marked using many pieces of glass set in metal or the characteristic lead-edged, gold-rim glassware. The name often appears on the metal of the rim. The other glassware of Tiffany was marked with the light etching of the letters "L.C.T." or "L. C. Tiffany" or "Favrile".

Beware. The etched marks can easily be forged, some today are quite new and can be removed with scouring powder.

Q. We dug up an old silver spoon while remodeling our home. We have been told that it is an antique and very valuable. It has the inscription "Pat. Jan. 1868 Oxford Silver Plate Co."

A. Your spoon is a silver-plated piece made in 1868. The date is the patent date for the design, January 14, 1868. The patent was issued to William Jameson of Niagara Falls, N.Y. We have no information about the Oxford Silver Plate Co. Wm. A. P o p e r did use the name Oxford as part of their marks in the past 50 years.

Q. I collect black milk glass and other black dishes. In my collection I have a square black bottle made to look like a log cabin. It has "Drakes 1860 Plantation x bitters, Patented 1862" impressed in the glass.

A. You own a bitters bottle used during the 1860's. A paper label was pasted on the clear rectangle at the bottom. The pattern of the logs changed slightly when different factories made the bottle. About four types of these bottles were made in many colors. Amber is the most common. They were also made in golden olive, green, citron yellow, and dark green. Any other colors are considered rare. The so called "black" bottles are usually a dark purple.

"American Bird Decoys" by William Mackey Jr. (D u t on $10) is another new book about old decoys. H is well illustrated and interesting to read.

Home and School News

MARMORA — An instructive address by principal Kenneth Gillies on some of the new methods of teaching mathematics and reading was given Wednesday evening to members of Marmora Home and School Association.

Mr. Gillies was thanked by Mrs. Yon Neal.

The meeting held in the East Prentice School was presided over by the president, Mrs. Murray Walker, who welcomed new members.

Attendance banners were won by Mrs. Shirley Prindle, kindergarten, and Miss Gayle Eckington, grade 4.

A letter was read from Marmora Recreation Committee for paint for the docks at Legion Park provided by the Home and School Association.

An expressive poem "Plant a Garden of Good Resolutions" was read by Mrs. Clarence McCoy.

A motion was passed that the sum of $19.67 be forwarded to the Home and School Federation for their National Centennial projects — one called "silloons" meaning friendship, to help the Indians and the other "place a book in your child's hands" to promote reading.

FIJI ISLAND FUN

"Everything has a beginning and an end, but it is the way the time in between is spent which brings the ultimate reward." — from SS Chusan's Good Morning sheet.

* * *

Imagine going from Belleville as did one Belleville resident recently, on a three month cruise, boarding an English (P and O Line) ocean liner named the Chusan at Florida, then while enroute stopping at Panama, Acapulco, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Vancouver, Hawaii, down to the Fiji Islands, over to New Zealand, Australia, Singapore, Hong Kong and home again via Hawaii and Vancouver back to Florida.

"Whatever were the Fiji Islands like?" we wanted to know.

"Wait — here's a letter I wrote to my sister describing our time there." Here are some excerpts for our readers:

"At Suva yesterday, (Suva is the metropolis of the South Pacific and capital of Fiji, population over 45,000), we had a grand day. I had always imagined the Fijians were a wild lot but was so surprised. It's quite modern; stores and buildings.

"At one point we were greeted as ordinary dock in the morning and the chicken, all kinds of cold a police band came on the meat, salads, etc. The hotel boat in the evening and gave served and handled 360 of our the best band concert I've ever passengers. The grounds were heard. It was so varied as they lovely gardens with swimming sang also. pool and rooms with balconies.

"Their uniforms were pretty FIJI ISLAND FUN with white pants over the knee with notched scallops, navy blue shirts, red belts. They have dark but not black, smooth skins.

"The Fiji men wear a skirt as a lady's wrap around, often of kaki and a good tailored shirt, while the Indian (the number of Indians from India is shown as large as all other races combined) seemed to wear saris, all light pastel colors and so clean. The Fiji girls wear long black dresses with a white hunk knee length. So in spite of the heat they dress to protect themselves.

"Royal Poinciana trees were in bloom, making some streets all red and then jajcaranda in yellow and mauve.

"There are very few flowers but shrubs and trees were all abloom.

"We sat in a modern stadium and saw the native dances with a running commentary explaining everything.

"Then we were off to the botanical gardens where we saw fireworks walker over hot stones. It's quite a religious fete.

"Then to the Grand Pacific Hotel for a buffet lunch, beautifully served rice, curry are spread over a hundred thousand square miles of the Pacific. Suva is on the largest island, called Viti Levu and has an area of 4,000 square miles.

"Tomorrow we will spend at Nuku, Alofa. That's the city to which we sailed to a part of the Samoan Islands.

"Our boat the Chusan carries a total passenger list of 1,000. It has a compliment of 650 crew members. Service personnel are Goanese, natives of the Island of Goa, off the coast of India, traditionally employed by the P and O Lines r 126 years. They wear their native dress with red turbans and sashes and look as though they have just stepped out of the Arabian Nights or a P and O Ga Night.

"The 48 Asian Engine Room Crew are Muslims and recruited from a village near the famous Khyber Pass. Their leader is the Serang who is responsible for their being there from their native village. As Muslims they take their prayer mats on to the open deck and always face towards Mecca, a direction they never fail to know despite the position of the ship. This they do five times a day.

"Many of us a life time service to the Company before retiring back to their little village as comparatively wealthy persons."

INDIANS LOOK BACK

WINNIPEG (CP)—The first Indian workshop for studying North American society from early tribal life to today's big city drew 30 young Indians from seven provinces to the University of Manitoba for a six-week course. It was conducted by Prof. Robert Rieta, director of the American Indian Centre at Chicago.

CBC Director Hit by Friend Of Sevigny

TORONTO (CP)—A CBC television news team was involved in a fracas with companions of former associate defence minister Pierre Sevigny Friday as Mr. Sevigny left a midtown Montreal restaurant.

CBC film of the incident, shown on an early-evening newscast, showed Mr. Sevigny and companions—among them a man identified by CBC as Marcel Gagnon, former public relations officer for the Union Nationale — meeting the news team outside the Colony Club on Drummond Street.

A CBC spokesman in Montreal said earlier that "one of his (Mr. Sevigny's) companions rushed up to the cameraman and kicked him. He then turned on the film director and struck him, breaking his glasses."

Analysts Fear Stock Prices Are Headed for Another Drop

By LARRY DWORKIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The inability of Canada's stock markets to put together two successive weeks of gains has analysts worried that stocks are headed for another period of drought.

Imar Martens, an analyst with R. A. Daly, said he expects prices will adjust to lower levels because there hasn't been any news to justify a rally.

He said the markets can expect the occasional rally in the next six to nine months, but that these will be temporary until prices adjust to better price-earnings ratios.

Another analyst said that last week's rally was just a "break and that the market hasn't hit bottom yet.

Others were not so gloomy and predicted the time was ripe to buy at bargain prices.

At Toronto, the industrial index, an indicator of key stock movements, dropped 2.47 to 145.06.

The only break in the decline came Thursday on news of a conditional peace feeler by the United States towards settling the Viet Nam conflict.

However, the bubble burst Friday when the Soviet Union and North Viet Nam rejected the proposal.

In the main list, Massey-Ferguson slid 2 to 24¼. The stock has been as high as 37 earlier in the year. B.C. Telephone was off 1¼ to a low of 58¾, Bell Telephone 1¼ to 48¼ after touching a low of 48 and Alcan 1¼ to 39¼.

Chrysler dropped 1¼ to 46¼ on reports of strong government pressure to narrow the price gap between Canadian and U.S. autos. However, Ford of Canada gained 2 to 122.

Western oils were the only major group to advance on the week and the oil index climbed .98 to 104.54.

Analysts attribute the interest in oils to the upcoming Oct. 25 sales of petroleum and natural gas leases in the Rainbow and Zama Lake region of northwestern Alberta.

Canadian Superior gained 1 to 22¾ and Dome ½ to 23¾. Canadian Homestead jumped 45 cents to 2.70 in speculative oils.

Hudson Bay Mining paced a lower base metal market, falling 1¼ to 69¾. Inco and Cominco fell 1 each to 83¼ and 35¾.

Osisko highlighted speculative activity this week, jumping 36 to 79 cents on 1,436,500 shares. However, Area and Frober, two recent favorites, ran into heavy profit taking. Area fell 57 cents to 2.48 and Frobex 40 cents to 2.50.

Golds were not too active as Dome Mines declined 1 to 44½.

On index, golds were down 12.53 to 167.20, base metals .44 to 87.72 and the TSE 2.16 to 138.78. Volume was 19,059,985 shares compared with 19,186,320 last week.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A book store specializing in Communist literature will get the bulk of the estate of George Victor Spencer, named in a judicial inquiry report as a man who spied for the Russians and whose case caused a parliamentary furore.

Spencer, who died here in early April just before a judicial inquiry into his dismissal from his postal clerk's job, left an estate of $11,012. Documents filed at the courthouse Thursday showed that the Co-operative Book Store—named in Soviet publications as one where Communist literature may be obtained — gets $7,000 of the money, at the discretion of Spencer's lawyer, Harry Rankin.

Mr. Rankin is a former director of the book store and made the bequest as executor of Spencer's estate.

Hungry Hippo Grabs Youth, Training Robs It of Meal

The 1½-ton hippo, Harry, plunged headlong into a pool with the youth firmly held in its massive jaws.

He owes his life to Harry's early training as a performer in a circus. This is what happened:

As McCormack started to clean Harry's pen, the eight-year-old hippo charged, grasped him round the torso and dived into the water.

REMEMBERED TRAINING

Said headkeeper John Voce, who went into the pen with McCormack:

"I remembered that Harry had once been in a circus and obeyed words of command. I shouted 'open, open.'

"Immediately Harry opened his jaws and the boy fell out."

McCormack, semi - conscious, crawled to safety.

A zoo spokesman said Harry had always been treated as a tame animal but was temperamental because of toothache.

Diefenbaker

Norman was a Canadian born in Japan who attended university in New York in the mid-1920s. He joined the external affairs department in 1939 and was an expert on Far Eastern affairs.

In 1940, an RCMP secret agent in Toronto reported a source had informed him that a Professor Herbert Norman was a member of the Communist party of Canada.

In October, 1950 the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation asked for any information available on Norman. The RCMP dispatched its 1940 report to the FBI, then conducted its own investigation and informed the FBI six weeks later that the original 1940 report was a case of mistaken identity or unfounded rumor from an unidentified sub-source.

Shortly before this, the Canadian government had got wind of the subcommittee investigation involving Norman and called him home from Tokyo, where he was serving in the Canadian embassy, for a security check.

PASSED CHECK

The external affairs department announced Aug. 29, 1951, that the security check had given Norman "a clean bill of health and he, therefore, remains a trusted and valuable official of the department."

Mr. Pearson was then external affairs minister and accepted responsibility for keeping Norman in the department.

March 14, 1957, the subcommittee again branded Norman as a Communist. Three years later Norman, 47, committed suicide by jumping from the top of a seven-story building in Cairo, where he was Canadian ambassador.

Eight days later, Mr. Diefenbaker challenged Mr. Pearson in the Commons to state that Norman had never been a Communist.

Mr. Pearson said Norman had had certain Communist associations as a university student in New York in the 1920s.

But he declined a direct reply to Mr. Diefenbaker's point-blank demand to say Norman had never been a Communist.

ABANDONED COMMUNISM

Later, after Parliament was dissolved in 1957, Mr. Pearson said Norman in the 1930s had held ideologies "close to some brand of communism" but had regretted and voluntarily abandoned them by the time he joined the external affairs department.

He said Norman had been a member of Communist study groups while a youth in college but "are we to condemn a young Canadian all his life because of this?"

Mr. Diefenbaker said at that time that Parliament had been deceived because it had not been given full information.

Friday, Mr. Diefenbaker quoted Mr. Pearson as saying in the Commons April 12, 1957: "It has always been a principle, and, I think, a correct principle of our security investigation, that we would not deal publicly in connection with a security inquiry with the details of any allegations made, for the reason that the details of a man's private life should not be the subject of accusation and rebuttal in public."

Mr. Diefenbaker added: That was the principle in 1957."

Norman's suicide in 1957 was followed by official Canadian protests to Washington about the actions of Congressional committees.

MINI - SKIRTS DENOUNCED

The outraged women politicians called on the government to consider introducing legislation outlawing the fashion if persuasion failed.

RAPID PROGRESS is being made by Mastercraft Engineering and Construction Company of Ottawa, general contractors for the new four-lane College Street bridge. It's a fact. A dime's worth of electricity will make three months worth of bacon and egg breakfasts for two people. That's the kind of bargain you get with electricity.

Low-cost electricity has hundreds more uses today than it had back in 1906 when hydro first began. Yet, surprisingly enough, it costs less now than it did then. As a matter of fact, you pay less for electrical power here in Ontario than you would almost anywhere else in the world. Any way you figure it, electricity is the biggest bargain in your family budget.

The above example is based on the average cost to Ontario Municipal residential customers of 1.13¢ net per kilowatt-hour.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Down in Benny's Hideaway, Faoni Street's most popular waiting-room, feeling is divided as to what club will place the world series goulaon on the mantel this year.

King Arthur Feaver, who heads the knights of the round table, feels that the successors to his former favorite Bums of Ebbet's Field fame will devote the burning in champagne or possibly a flagon of George "Magee's" tequla and call it a year.

"There's sumpin' wrong with those Bums," he says, "They haven't won a world series since last October."

Pat "The Hat" O'Meara shakes a sorrowful head and through tear-glinted eyes murmurs, "It's too bad the American League is not turned upside down. My Yankees would win it in a walk."

Ask Scotty Johnson, the only nads purveyor in the world who ladies off excess brew with a large tablespoon, who will take the series and he'll settle a homely heiland mug and counter-question, "Who's playin', laddie, Celtic and Rangers or two of those dam Sassenach sniffin'?"

Up here in the vicinity of the sports hull-pen, mourning Yankee baffs are wearing black armbands. A Dodger fan laughs in derision and yelps, "That's the longest time a corpse has ever been held upside before interment."

A Pirates' baff in the outer confines of the composing room who most be a descendant of Captain Kidd, refused to say "uncle!"

"We haven't walked the plank yet," he bravely announces, "Look what Captain Morgan (the pirate, not the sugar-cane juice) did once when his ship was sinking. He ordered a bank of deck, fired a final salve and sunk the enemy in a last-ditch stand."

Giants' baffs are trying to maintain a brave face. Even with their favorites in the intensive care department, they refuse to toss in the towel. "We'll be in there" they say with forced bravado. "We'll sever let the old flag fall into the hands of those damned Dodgers or those of the robber barons from Pittsburgh." Wanna bet?

The resurgence of Don Drysdale has Dodger fans reaching into their pockets for world series tickets money plans more to bet the expatriate "Bums" will sophomore the world series pennant.

Drysale, who is a heiress 1st better pitcher than a movie or television actor, has come up with a honey-stretch reconstruction that may well be a big factor in the Dodgers nailing the flag to the Chaves Ravine flagstaff.

Handy Sandy Koufax has gone a long way helping boost the Dodgers home in winning 25 games for two years in succession. Koufax actually won 26 last year but it was Drysdale's terrific season and that sensational 14 of 15 streak the Dodgers staged in the stretch that took the bonting.

Drysdale reached the peak of perfection in the club's dramatic drive to the wire, winning three of them with two shutouts and allowing six, five and three hits in those games. Koufax won three of his four starts. But that was expected of him.

The result was that more or less spectacular "movies-baseball" holdout staged by the twin flingers.

But money and muscle didn't mix too well with the handsome Drysdale. He couldn't heist a kindergarten freshman squad at the start of the season but since June has picked up a 7-6 record. His record now stands at 11-16.

The pitchers who have thrown the life-belts to the Dodgers have been Claude Osieen; Phil Regan (13-1) and a last-year's weak spot Don Sutton.

The Pirates know what last minute drives can do, as the Dodgers did last year. The Dodgers should take it — but — there's that old sports cliche again — "The game's not over until the last man is out."

Los Angeles Dodgers have a 2½-game lead in the race for the National League pennant and Dick Schofield is the mailman for reason.

The Dodgers were in second place, one half a game behind, when the veteran utility player was purchased two weeks ago from New York Yankees of the American League.

The speedy infielder stroked four hits, drove in three runs and scored three as Los Angeles scored a 4-3, 4-3 sweep over Chicago Cubs in a doubleheader Friday. Pittsburgh Pirates beat Atlanta Braves 3-0 on Bob Veale's four - hitter but lost a half-game to the Dodgers despite the victory.

In other games, Cincinnati Reds blanked New York Mets 7-0 and Philadelphia Phillies edged St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 in 12 innings.

Schofield, purchased by the Yankees from San Francisco Giants in May, was a Pirate utility man in 1960, Dick Groat broke his wrist during the stretch run and Schofield took over at shortstop to help Pittsburgh win the pennant.

He was hitless Friday gave Schofield 13-for 42 as a Dodger. A .286 pace that is 34 points higher than his lifetime major league average.

"I know I can't play in the World Series," Schofield said "but I hope I can help them enough in the next nine games to get them into the Series."

In the first game Friday he singled twice, driving in one run and scoring twice as Don Drysdale pitched an eight-hitter.

In the nightcap, he drove in the first two Dodger runs with singles and then was hit by a pitch in the ninth inning just before John Roseboro walloped a tie - breaking two-run homer. Willie Stargell hit his 32nd homer with a man on the first and Donn Clendenon hit his 26th with the bases empty on the sixth for all the Pirate runs.

The Reds scored six runs in the final inning against the Mets, and it was more than enough for Jim Maloney, who won his 11th.

Tonight In Hamilton

Saskys, Cats Poised For Toughie

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan Roughriders have a chance to nail but down first place in the Western Football Conference this weekend when they play the two top clubs in the East, but neither Ottawa Rough Riders nor Hamilton Tiger - Cats can afford to be generous hosts.

Saskatchewan plays the second - place Ticats tonight in Hamilton and travels to Ottawa Monday night to tangle with Ottawa, four points ahead of the Ticats.

Victories in both games would give Saskatchewan nine victories against just two defeats and could leave them as much as eight points ahead of the rest of the WFC.

The Ticats, with all but ex-linebacker Ted Page relatively healthy, aren't accustomed to trailing anybody by four points in the third week of play. Loss to Saskatchewan would be too risky to suit coach Ralph Sazio's nerves since Ottawa would then have a chance to pad its lead to six points.

Page, a defensive end, starting at 8 p.m. EDT and televised nationally by the CTV, is expected to produce plenty of fireworks since Saskatchewan's offence is regarded as the most potent in the Canadian football league while Hamilton is conceded to have the strongest defence.

It's another story, however, concerning Sunday's game in Toronto between British Columbia Lions of the WFC and the Argonauts, their last - place counterparts in the East.

About all the Lions, 2-6, and the Argos, 1-7, are expected to prove is which club is really Canada's worst.

Complicating matters for both clubs are injuries. Most serious Argo injury is to fullback Bob Swift, through for the year after surgery to ligaments in his right knee.

Coach Bob Shaw hasn't decided if he'll start Jeff Avery Baker, a former Tiger-Cat cast last week by Calgary Stampeders of the WFC. Baker is on a five-day trial with Toronto. But the Argos Friday announced they have added guard John Erickson, a Canadian, to the lineup for Sunday's game which starts at 2 p.m. and will be televised on the CTV national network. The game will be Toronto's third in eight days.

Sazio holds Saskatchewan's offensive line is high regard but the Roughies', passing attack could give the Ticats trouble. Ron Lancaster has completed 62 per cent of his passes, 30 of them for touchdowns. The Ticats will be banking on the fact that so far 13 of Lancaster's passes have been intercepted.

Important To Both

Stamps, Esks Clash Tonight

CALGARY (CP)—Two clubs struggling to establish a ground game despite injuries to key personnel meet here tonight in an important Western Football Conference game.

Edmonton Eskimos visit Calgary Stampeders in one of two Saturday games. Saskatchewan Roughriders open a two-game eastern tour today against Hamilton Tiger-Cats and follow with a game against Ottawa Rough Riders Monday in Ottawa.

Stampeders are attempting to reach the playoffs after a slow start and Eskimos are forced to attempt to hold at least third place despite a severe injury to horse that has sidelined brilliant halfback Jim Thomas.

Edmonton is tied with Winnipeg Blue Bombers for second place, four points ahead of fourth-place Calgary.

Thomas' spot will be occupied by Lu Rahn, a former Stampeder, with Trent Walters at the other halfback position. Joe Hernandez will play flanker in place of Jim LeFebvre and LeFebvre will fill in at split end to allow Tommy-Joe Coffey to play tight end.

RELY ON PASSING

Without Thomas, one of the fastest men in Canada, quarterback Randy Kerbow will be forced to rely on passing to control the ball and ease the strain on a defensive brigade that has surrendered 82 points in successive losses to Toronto Argonauts and Ottawa.

Jerry Keeling will start his second game of the season at quarterback for Calgary, shunted for Pete Liske to Keeling's old spot at safety. Willie Rose will see action at fullback since Calgary released Art Baker after a trial at that spot.

Thomas' absence has crippled the Edmonton running game. But his loss is no more damaging than the absence of Lovell Coye and Ted Woods, Calgary's starting running backs.

The Saskatchewan running game also has been hampered slightly by the absence of Ed Buchanan, who underwent knee surgery earlier. However, George Reed has taken over as the league's leading ground gainer and helps provide variety for an offense based on passes from Ron Lancaster to Hugh Campbell.

Fires 64 To Set Record

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — Towing aces more than records were only made to be broken, Dean Refram charged down the 4,125 - yard Everett golf and Country Club course Friday in 64 to knock one more stroke off the course mark set Thursday by Bob Goalby.

Two other tourists pros notched Goalby's first-day effort in the Seattle-Everett golf tournament and one of them—Shorty Blancas — took over first place with a two-day total of 131. Jacky Cupit also knocked a 65 that gave him second place. Blancas had equalled the record of 66 in his opening round. Don Bies of Seattle, carding a 68 Friday, moved into third place at 135.

Al Balding of Toronto had 72-71—143 and was tied with six others.

Refram's great round managed only to pull him into a tie for sixth with five other players.

Bobby Orr Impressive In Pro Debut

Bruins Tie Leafs

By JIM CREAR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Bobby Orr, highly - touted bonus baby, has played only one game with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League and already he's paying dividends.

Orr slipped a pass to PH Marlin mid-way through the third period Friday night in London, Ont., to give the Bruins a 3-3 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs in the first pre - season game of the year. The goal was only a lead Jim Pappin gave the Leafs in the first period before a sellout crowd of 5,495.

Chicago Black Hawks, meanwhile, received another setback when defenceman Elmer Vasko made it emphatic he doesn't intend to play this year.

Vasko, a 220 - pounds veteran of 10 years in the NHL, joined Hawk goaltender Glenn Hall in the retired ranks. Vasko said simply he had enough after taking his wife's advice and tryin his hand at the team's practice sessions in Chicago for a couple of days. That was enough to convince him he was better off at his St. Catharines, Ont., home.

He added he had several plans for the future, "but none of them involve hockey."

TIRED OF HOCKEY

Hall announced earlier this week from his farm near Delmonton that he is quitting because he's tired of hockey.

Montreal Canadiens, defending Stanley Cup champions, opened drills in Montreal and Hull, Que., Friday but most of the activity concerned manager Sam Pollock, who was busy signing players.

Pollock signed defenceman Ted Harris two days ago, then Friday added forwards Dave Balon, Dick Duff, Ralph Backstrom, Leon Rochefort and defenceman Terry Harper.

"You might say I'm pretty well satisfied," he said. "I didn't have one of them support this year with a sort problem."

ALIBI STICKS

Plager was fined $200 earlier this week for reporting to camp two days late. But he sought leniency on the grounds he had to appear as a witness in a court case in his home town of Kapuskasing, Ont.

Francis rubbished after learning that the defencemen assisted police in making an arrest. The magistrate fine.

"Maybe we'll have to give him a medal," he said.

Detroit Red Wings, where the Red Wings are working out, Ray Colins, 25 - year - old centre from Regina, and Bert Langlois, broke his right hand behind the knuckles in a player collision that will cost three weeks.

In exhibition play tonight, the Rangers take on Omaha of the Central Professional League at Kingston while the Bruins tackle Montreal Canadiens at the CPHL in Oshawa. Toronto plays Rochester Americans of the American League Sunday at Peterborough.

Surprising Rams Tangle With Packers

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

This is the weekend Los Angeles Rams and St. Louis Cardinals try to step out of the shadows as true contenders in the National Football League.

The Rams, picked as an also-ran in the Western Conference, take a 2-0 record to Green Bay Sunday to meet the unbeaten Packers, defending NFL champions and Coastal favorites.

The Packers have managed only one triumph—6-3 in Milwaukee last season—and one against the Rams in the last four encounters.

Fresh from victories over Atlanta Falcons and Chicago Bears, the Rams will rely on a stubborn front four on defense and an offense led by Roman Gabriel and Tommy McDonald, the league's leading passer and receiver.

St. Louis, picked third at best in the Eastern Conference, has a 2-0 record Sunday in Cleveland, where the Cardinals have not lost to the Browns in their last five visits—two victories and a tie.

Quarterback Charley Johnson has led the Cardinals past Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Red Skins.

COWBOYS MEET VIKINGS

Dallas Cowboys, 1-0, are hoping that their defence can stop high scoring Minnesota Vikings, 2-0-1 when they meet Norm Hayne and Co. take care of the scoring Sunday.

Baltimore Colts, 1-1, host San Francisco 49ers, 0-0-1, Sunday with Ray Berry needing only 58 yards in the second half, the mark for most yards gained by pass receptions in a career.

Chicago Bears, 0-2, host at the Sunday alake has substitute Ron Smith quarterbacking Pitts. burgh Steelers, 1-1, and host Washington, 0-2, in Pittsburgh; North Sweed, Tim Brown and Ernie Wheelwright lead Eagles of Philadelphia, 1-1, entertaining Detroit Lions, 0-1-1, and Atlanta, 0-2, looking for their victory against Detroit Lions, 1-1-1, in Detroit.

The weekend features, with Miami Dolphins resting, also has a full complement of games featured by the West Coast rivalry between San Diego Chargers, 1-1, and Oakland Raiders, 1-1.

Defending champion Buffalo Bills will be home to Houston Oilers, 2-1, while New York Jets, 2-0, will play Denver Broncos, 0-2, in Denver.

Brother Impresses Abel

Faulkner Tries Comeback With Wings

DETROIT (CP)—Coach Sid Abel of Detroit Red Wings looked over the rookies in camp and reluctantly drew a pencil through the names of 14 amateurs.

But he made certain he didn't break up the Faulkner brothers from Bishop's Falls, Nfld.

Alex is the light, fast centre trying a comeback in the National Hockey League. Jack is his huskier kid brother who claims he is a left winger but who has been impressing Abel as a centre.

"When Alex called me and said he wanted to try a comeback, I was all for it," Abel said.

"Look at it this way—he has experience and that is something invaluable. We have players trying to enter pro ranks. Alex can show them a few tricks.

"He's a worker and that never hurt any fellows in the game condition. He looks big enough to take care of himself and when I made the first cut of 14 amateurs, I was sure that Jack Faulkner was a real hockey player. Jack is also huskier kid brother who claims he is a left winger but who has been impressing Abel as a centre.

"When Alex called me and said he wanted to try a comeback, I was all for it," Abel said.

"Look at it this way—he has experience and that is something invaluable. We have players trying to enter pro ranks. Alex can show them a few tricks.

"He's a worker and that never hurt any fellows in the game condition. He looks big enough to take care of himself and when I made the first cut of 14 amateurs, I was sure that Jack Faulkner was a real hockey player. I like both of them, but it is too early to tell where they will be assigned in the organization. But I want to do my best to keep both of them in our system."

SAM APPROVES

"It's great to be back and it can't be two seasons that of Jack Faulkner. I don't feel like two years older."

Alex was 30 last May. He had a full campaign with the Wings in the 1952-53 season and sparkled in Stanley Cup playoffs.

HAD MOVED AROUND

The next winter he decided he wanted to stay put in the city after seeing service with the Wings, Pittsburgh Hornets of the AHL and Cincinnati of the Central Professional League.

So he went back to playing with Conception Bays, Bees, where older brother George was coach.

Then this summer Alex began thinking of the NHL again.

He brought along brother Jack, five-foot-11 and 170 pounds, who has been playing in the Eastern Amateur League. Jack is the property of New Haven.

Alex says there has been no recurrence of the knee and arm injuries that plagued him in the past.

"I've honestly felt good and a little better than expected. I played goal and soccer when I was a kid, Alex said that could have helped."

Whatever did, Alex has his scoring eye back—he has banged in four goals during workouts and has shown Abel a deft touch around the net.

Picton Bats Shoot Down Cats

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

PICTON — Kinsmen bats continued to rack Bobcat pitching almost at will Friday night, whipping the clawless Cats 13-6, for a 2-0 lead in the Belleville and District Softball League finals.

Third game in the four-of-seven set will be played at Alemite Park tonight, at 8:00, with the fourth game here next Tuesday.

Picton, first-game winners by a 16-9 score, snapped a 2-2 tie with four runs in the third inning. Eight batters later added another big four in the sixth for an 11-2 lead at that point. Carl Stacey slugged a long triple to earn the pitching victory, tiring in the late frames when he gave up half of the losers' eight hits. Stacey struck out five and walked six.

Clair Leahy absorbed his second consecutive setback as the Bobcat starter. He gave up seven of the Kinsmen's 12 hits, fanned three and walked four, before Bob Lott took over in the fourth. Lott whiffed two and passed two. Five costly runners failed to assist the losers' cause.

Leahy lined a two-run single to give the Bobcats a brief 2-1 lead in the top of the second inning. A walk and Carmen Infidoli hit helped Picton tie it in the third.

An error opened the door and the county bats took it from there in the third. Weese singled and Ostrander also scored a pair. M. Stacey singled home another, then a hit batter and Carson's double made it 6-3.

Two passes and Wesley's hit and run sacks with none out and brought in Lott in the fourth. He got out with only one run scoring, on Ostrander's ground out.

Lott fell victim to the attack in the sixth after C. Stacey opened with a double. Weese singled, followed by an error, a walk, Lockwood's two-run double and a ground out for the 11-2 score.

Hits by Meraw and Whyte, plus two walks, plated two for the 'Cats in the seventh while another walk, Latchford's single and Weese's hit in the eighth saw made the score a little more respectable in the eighth.

Ron Weese turned in his two-game hit total to seven with three Picton singles. Warren Ostrander had a double and a single, Marve Stacey and Jim Gunnell two singles each, Keith Stacey, Dave Lockwood and Eldon Carson a double each.

Jim Whyte, with a double and single and Paul Meraw, with two one-bagger were the stars for Belleville. Clair Leahy, Bill Latchford, Don LeSage and Terry LeSage added base knocks.

The winners' Keith Stacey got the heave-ho from his bench by umpire Ed Tebworth in the eighth but he had taken himself out of the lineup an inning earlier.

Quinte Bombs Trenton

By ROBERT SNEFJELLA

The Quinte Saints won the Bay of Quinte senior football crown last year, and appear favorites to repeat again this year, after their impressive opening performance yesterday. The Saints bombed Trenton 40-0 at Trenton.

Quinte's power-packed offence was too much for Trenton to handle, as every member of its backfield scored at least once. The Saints defensive squad also shared the spotlight as they backed up the offence with many key efforts.

Three quick touchdowns in the first 13 minutes of the game set Stacey visitors to an early 20-0 lead. Paul Whalen, Quinte quarterback, threw a 35-yard touchdown pass to halfback Terry Walkesley, for the first major. John Chandler of Quinte recovered a Trenton fumble later in the quarter, deep in Trenton territory, and Whalen raced around end for the T.D. a few plays later. Late in the first quarter, Grant Vandervoort scrambled 20 yards to put Quinte in easy scoring range, and Whalen hit Vandervoort with an end zone pass for the second, next play.

Eric Emerson raced 90 yards for a touchdown late in the first major, as blockers paved a road for him down the sidelines.

Grant Vandervoort scored again in the second half, this time on a 50-yard run, and Whalen led 33-3. Harold Tyson send completed the demolition late in the game with a five-yard touchdown burst.

Vic Wittal of Trenton was the lone light in the Trenton line, as he handled most of their offensive chores, and punt and kickoff returns.

Bret Hanover Can Set World Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bret Hanover, the richest, fastest and most expensive pacing horse of all time, could lose and still set an all-time harness racing record in the $50,000 Harness Tracks of America pace championship at Liberty Bell Park tonight.

The four-year-old horse needs only second money—$12,500—to top Su Mac Lad's record purse-winning total of $893,095. Sumbe, now retired, is 12 years old.

Should Bret score his 61st victory in 67 starts, his earnings would soar to $877,615 to $897,615. Bret's main challenge is expected to come from Adios Vic, now said to be in the sharpest form of his career. Three of four losses suffered by Bret in his career were to Adios Vic.

East York Wins Sixth

OAKVILLE (CP)—East York Argonauts posted their sixth straight victory Friday night by overwhelming Oakville Black Knights 38-4 in a Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union game.

Gerry McGeough, Gerry Williams, John Atley, John Groves and Bob Smith each scored a touchdown for the winners.

Tall Texan

Seeks Second Grand Prix

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP)—Jim Hall, a tall Texan who drives so fast he needs a gadget to keep his car from taking off, wants back his title he won last today seeking his second successive Canadian Grand Prix for sports cars.

Hall, a 30-year-old car designer and builder from Midland, Texas, was the man to beat after he tore two seconds off his own lap record in Friday's qualifying trials. He pushed his Chev-powered Chaparral around the 2.5-mile circuit in one minute 56.2 seconds—an average of 206.7 miles an hour.

Hall won the Canadian Grand Prix last year, he made it 3—in 1:34.8, a record which figures to last another year but set in actual competition.

Hall, one of the few racing drivers to use a parachute for transmission, has his Chaparral equipped with a "spoiler" which hangs into the air like a parasol. It helps keep his car on the ground when he tears better and the back straight at better than 160 mhp...

The race, which starts at 2:30 p.m. EDT, will take a field of 25 cars around the track for 85 laps, or about 212 miles.

Hall's latest competition is likely to come from another car designer and builder, Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, who finished second last year by only a fraction of a second.

Other threats still in action are John Surtees of England, 1964 world champion, who is driving a Chev-powered Lola and Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., in a Chev-powered Chaparral.

SUGGESTS UNITY MOVE

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation says portability of education standards and requirements between provinces would strengthen Canadian unity. J. L. Alphonse Ouimet told the Canadian Education Association Friday young people should be able to move from province to province without encountering serious differences in educational systems, either of teachers and courses offered.

Bauery Boys Get Rest; Birds Lose 2-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

And manager Hank Bauer, unwilling to crowd his luck, yanked him at the start of the sixth inning before the Orioles lost 2-0 to California Angels on rookie Charlie Vinson's two-run double in the seventh against reliever Frank Bertaina.

Elsewhere in the American League, Lee Stange pitched a two-hitter as Boston Red Sox edged New York Yankees 3-1; Don Mincher hit a grand-slam homer in Minnesota Twins' 4-2 romp over Detroit Tigers; John Odom's four - hitter pushed Kansas City Athletics past Cleveland Indians 5-0 and Washington Senators downed Chicago White Sox 5-4 on rookie Hank Allen's three-run homer.

Barber plagued by arm trouble, was cocking his first victory since July 6. He struck out six and walked three. Bertaina, who has been in relief since May 8, suffered his sixth loss in seven decisions.

Boston's Jerry Adair, Rico Petrocelli, Brooks Robinson, Boog Powell, Lula Aparicio and Andy Etchebarren, Dave Johnson and two of the Orioles' hits off winner Marcelino Lopez and Curt Blefary struck out the third—a wasted triple in the sixth.

Tony Conigliaro's two - run homer in the first inning off Stange, who allowed only one hit after the first inning. The loss, pitched by Jim Lonborg, 16th of the season, tumbled New York deeper into last place.

A crowd of only 1,400 saw the Yankees lose their 46th home game, one more than they had ever dropped in one season at Yankee Stadium since the park opened in 1923.

Mincher hit his bases-loaded homer in the first inning against loser Lonborg after Petrocelli had singled and Johnny Orsino had hit into a force play.

Allen, older brother of Philadelphia Phillies' Rich Allen, bit his first major league homer off loser Tommy John in the third inning after a single by Jeff Brinkman and Ken McMullen. Pete Richert picked up his 14th victory but needed relief help after Tommie Agee homered for the White Sox in the eighth.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Why did a successful movie director like Richard Quine, The World of Suzie Wong, Sex and the Single Girl) become a television producer?

"Jean Arthur," he answers simply. "All they did was drop that name in front of me and I fell in my knees. I had never known anybody that didn't love her on the screen, and I was a sucker for anyone who loved her."

"Also, television presented a challenge. Like a lot of people, I have been stupified by what I saw on the home screen. I felt compelled to see if I could do any better."

The results on the Jean Arthur Show are not in yet. The reviews are what you might call mixed, some critics applauding the actress's return, some reporting that the vehicle was not up to her talents.

UNDERSTANDS REACTION

"I can understand how some of them feel. If I had been merely watching the show at home I might have been of the same opinion," said Quine. "But they were comparing her with the Jean Arthur who appeared opposite Gary Cooper, James Stewart and Ronald Coleman."

Quine is a former MGM juvenile who still looks youthful in his mid-40s despite a recession of his blonde locks. He retains a boyish charm for his work and but he admits that he didn't know what he was getting into when he talked television.

"It is a terrifying kind of involvement," he says. "It takes me a year to make a movie, from the start of the script to the final cutting and scoring. But in television we have 25 minutes and 30 seconds of entertainment every week.

"I think we've done rather well. You can't accomplish what you can in features, but we have tried to maintain a standard. The only way to do it is by total dedication, and that is an exhausting process of belaboring the writers to get them to provide the material we need."

HORSE TRIALS OPEN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Valerie Johnson of Saskatoon led 20 other riders as the Canadian championship horse trials opened Friday. David Sonshine of Winnipeg was in second place, second among riders from Ontario to British Columbia. Aster Hedgetrimmed's entry Kindhamar, was third.

George Royal Win Said Spectacular

TORONTO (CP) — George Royal, Canada's Horse of the Year in 1965 and runner-up to Northern Dancer in the all-time money-winning standings, Friday gave 6,141 racing fans one of the most spectacular performances ever witnessed at Woodbine race track.

The son of Dark Hawk, owned by Ernie Hammond and Bob Hall of Vancouver, won the seven - furlong Fort Hunter purse, over seven furlongs, after once trailing by close to a sixteenth-of-a-mile.

An odds-on favorite, he paid $2.80, $2.30 and $2.10.

SALES HIGHER

Department store sales during the week ended Sept. 10 were higher than in the corresponding week of 1965, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported in Ottawa Friday. The advance in Ontario was 2.3 per cent.

BENSON MAKES PROMISE

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Premier Minister E. J. Benson said Friday night a federal government cutback in capital expenditures as an anti-inflationary measure will not affect the Atlantic provinces. Speaking at a press conference, Mr. Benson said areas of high unemployment or where conditions are not up to the rest of Canada will also be unaffected.

EMPLOYMENT NEWS

By J. R. STAVELEY, NES EMPLOYER RELATIONS OFFICER

During the first week of autumn, the local employment trend was dominated by the labor demands from the construction and agricultural fields. Experienced construction labourers were in strong demand to meet increased requirements on highway and rail transportation jobs. This type of worker is currently at a premium not only locally but in other areas of short labor supply.

This year's apple crop is now ready for harvesting. It is imperative that the local Macintosh apple crop be harvested within the next two or three weeks in order to avoid unnecessary crop wastage which adversely affects growers and consumers alike.

It is worthwhile noting that, in the Bay of Quinte area, it is a common custom for city people, over the years, to enjoy a few days each autumn, picking or assisting in picking the local orchards. This has been particularly true of the Belleville-Trenton area. It is suggested that this is a possible source of fund raising for service clubs and with the active co - operation of their members who may enjoy a day or two in the local orchards for this purpose. Anyone interested and capable of apple picking, having the ability to work from the short orchard ladders, is asked to contact the NES Office as soon as possible.

MANY JOBS OPEN

Besides the apple opportunities represent only a few of those now available at the NES Office, there are many others. there is an opening for a mature woman to work in an industrial plant in a clerical capacity on a regular part-time basis, averaging twenty in twenty-five hours per week. A knowledge of typing is required, together with a Grade 12 education. Another employment opportunity calls for an experienced compotometer operator. Also required is a steady male who is experienced in selling ladies' dresses, suits and coats. This position is for full time employment. In constant demand are experienced waitresses for either part-time or full-time work. Other requirements call for domestic help on a live-in or out basis.

In the male division locally openings exist for licenced A and B class motor vehicle mechanics. Sheet metal apprentices are required. This work offers any young man a well motivated toward this type of job the opportunity of learning the trade. At present, there are four excellent career openings for young men possessing Grade 13 education, in the accounting work as manager trainees. In demand are construction, plant and maintenance workers. Applicants in this field will be expected to last until late autumn. Difficulty is being experienced in filling the demand for experienced building and plant maintenance workers. At present there are two openings for older men, one to operate a tractor and the other to work for a truck driver-helper.

Any person interested in any of these positions or seeking employment, anywhere locally or elsewhere, should contact the National Employment Service Office, at 251 Church Street, Belleville, Ont.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Decision to Keep Big Home Needs Some Serious Thought

By THOMAS COLLINS

"People with a $43,000 home and with $80,000 in savings have a retirement problem, too.

"My husband and I have all three. And here is the problem:

"He says it is unsound for us to keep a $43,000 house after he retires next year. He says the money tied up in the house could be invested for $1,800 per year income. Then he cites our taxes of $920, insurance of $130, utilities of $340, and maintenance of $250, for another $1,640. Or a total of about $300 a month the house is costing us.

"I don't dispute his figures, but I like this house. I don't think we have to sell it. Our retirement income will run about $7,000 a year, with his pensions, and interest on our $30,-000 savings. That's about $585 a month, and I think we can manage. Because that $1,000 a year we could make on the house money is not a cost. The actual costs of $1,640 are less than $150 a month, which would leave us over $400 a month for all other expenses.

"I claim it would be smart even if costs are out over $30,-000 savings if necessary to hold to our home and that's what the next few years of adjustment to retirement. . ."

This couple no doubt can afford to keep their home, what with their fat income. And the financial advantages of selling aren't quite as great as the husband claims. A $43,000 home usually nets the seller about $38,000. Then comes the matter of new housing. A couple with $80,000 in savings usually it's like a shack in the slums. If they wanted, say, an apartment befitting their station in life they would pay maybe $250 a month for it.

Finally, if they got their money out of the house and invested it, and even if it came to $1,-800 a year, what would they do with it? Leave it to heirs who would then buy themselves a $43,000 house?

PART OF STORY

But this is only part of the story. Many friends are still going to be around and that fine entertaining will keep floating along. And the kids will come. Old friends drift away after an important man retires. Much of the pleasure is in the having, and finally, its allure.

When a wife and her husband have been under a fine home after retirement for social reasons, they usually wind up with disenchantment if they want to maintain it because it is why they themselves enjoy what they can be self-sufficient and happy in if no friends ever call again, there there's a future to it.

Of course, a $43,000 home for retirement — while not ridiculous, leans in that direction. Surely comfort and protection from rain can be had for less. Surely somewhere, in some different preoccupation, there is more meaning to the retirement years than a love affair with a $43,000 pile of stone and two by-fours.

So, if you can afford a fine home for retirement — as this couple can — and you want it, then have it. There's no law against it — yet. But it's not to be money or station or status that pays off in retirement. It's you and how you used and talents in the "second chance" of achievement life has offered.

Your Car Helpful Spark Plug Pointers

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

If you like to tinker with your car — or know what's going on under the hood — these spark plug pointers are for you.

Plugs ignite the compressed fuel mixture which drives the pistons. So, there's one for each cylinder. This ignition is the result of an electrical spark produced when high tension voltage arcs from the centre to the side electrode of the plug.

The gap between electrodes is critical . . . too narrow or too wide will hurt performance and economy. That's why the manufacturer's gap specifications must be followed, and adjustments made in grade by bending the side electrode.

Dirt, carbon, oil, and sludge deposits usually prevent an old plug firing ends, but they can be cleaned off. Gaps can be reset, too. Eventually, however, electrodes wear and erode and plugs must be replaced.

The best plug to be recommended on how your car is driven: speeds, distances, engine heat, engine, ignition and carburetor.

From P.A.: "On a recent trip, I had the front wheel brake lining replaced because "they were greasy and caused a dangerous brake grab. How does grease get on the linings?"

From the front wheel bearings, Usually, it's because too much grease is applied when bearings are repacked, and some seeps past the grease retainers.

Why not the regulator? Regulator points may be dirty, misaligned or poorly gapped. If not, check for a bad connection or grounds.

N.S. asks: "Is it true that 1967 cars must have dual brake systems?"

No. But Washington has indicated that on all cars bought for Government use in '67, dual braking systems will be required.

QUESTION: Could you please tell me something about Mount Royal Park in Montreal. — Miss W., Belleville.

ANSWER: Mount Royal Park is on the summit of Mount Royal, which rises to a height of 764 feet in the centre of the city. The immense highland area is the magnificent estate Maisonneuve's fulfillment in January, 1643, of his promise to erect a cross on the mountain if the colony were spared from the flood of December 26, 1642.

The park is the scene of sports in winter and weekly concerts and plays in summer. Only horse-drawn vehicles are allowed on the upper part of the mountain. Beaver Lake, within the park, is an artificial lake originally formed by beavers. A miniature train runs from Beaver Lake to the lookout, from which there is a magnificent view of Montreal, the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers, the Adirondacks in New York State and the Green Mountains of Vermont. The train runs daily 10 to sunset, mid-May to mid-September and on weekends only in early spring and late fall. Rides are 15 cents each. Parking is available is a 50 minute train ride for 50 cents.

QUESTION: Do you have any statistics on what happens to car and driver if he should hit a tree at 50 miles an hour. I would like, if possible, the exact details from crash to impact to climax of crash, interested Teenager, Belleville.

ANSWER: This is not a pleasant story.

SEVEN TENTHS OF A SECOND

Photographed at 1,000 frames a second, motion pictures were made of a car striking head-on a tree at 55 miles an hour, a speed most motorists consider "safe".

It's the kind of a crash that could happen to anyone. It's the kind of crash that can be prevented.

Read it aloud for best effect. One-tenth of a second, the front bumper and chrome fronting of grille collapse. Steel alloy penetrate tree one-and-a-half inches.

Two-tenths of a second — hood complies, rises, crashing into windshield. Spinning rear wheels leave the ground. Six-tenths of a second — Fenders come into contact with the tree, forcing parts to splay out over the test dummy. Driver's body continues to move forward with a force of 20 times that of gravity. His body now weighs 3,200 pounds. His legs, held straight out, snap at the knees.

Four-tenths of a second — cars front to the inches is completely demolished but the rear end is still travelling at 35 miles per hour. The mid-tee motor block crunches into the tree. Rear of the car, like a bucking horse, rises high enough to scrape bark off lower branches.

Six-tenths of a second — driver's feet are ripped out of laced shoes. The brake pedal wears off at the floor. Thumb bends in the middle. The driver's head smashes into the windshield. Rear of the car begins falling.

Seven-tenths of a second — its entire body of the car is forced out of shape Hinges tear, doors spring open, seat backs collapse, planing driver against steering shaft.

He is dead.

Bethel Zion

BETHEL-ZION — Members of the Bethel-Zion softball team and their friends were guests of the community at a dinner held in their honor in the Bethel-Zion Hall on Friday evening. The team was congratulated on its success and the coach, Mr. Ted Bay, was presented with a walnut plaque on which the players' names were inscribed.

The hall and tables were decorated by Mrs. Ted Bay, Mrs. Fred Benton with flowers and ribbon in the blue and white colors of the team.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ketchenson and Mr. and Mrs. Earle Ketchenson, sister and brother, Mr. Chris Pleisler left last week to attend Queen's University.

Miss Hazel Ketcheson was hostess at a shower in honor of Miss Beth Plane, a bride-to-be.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Ray entertained the Holloway softball team and their wives.

Stirling

STIRLING — Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Rowe of Tweed, Arthur Mr. F. Frayvogle, entertained 33 guests to an-Italian dinner at the Bush picnic area, Trent River, before they returned to their home in Pennsylvania after a holiday in this area.

Mrs. Floyd Armstrong and Mrs. Lewis Weese were judges of the flowers at Marmora Fall Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Bateman spent a week holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Horton, Barrhead, New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Wilson and children spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Montgomery, Carrying Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Tucker and family attended the golden wedding anniversary of her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wiley, in Belleville.

Mrs. Clara Wright, Mill St., Stirling was honored at a birthday dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wright, Wellington town line on the occassion of her 90th birthday.

Mrs. Louis Rodgers, West Hill spkent a couple of weeks with relatives and friends in the Stirling area.

The staff of the Rivers Construction Company held a picnic presentation in honor of Angus Johnston who is to be married this month.

Mrs. Dennis Armstrong is attending a hairdressers' course in Toronto.

Mrs. J. Ulman spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ulman at Shalloway, R. R. 2.

Mrs. Roy Tucker will be hostess for the October meeting of the Women's Institute on October 6. At this meeting a report of the Travel Valley Area convention held at Peterborough will be given.

Mrs. Ivan Bateman and Mary Short are patients in the Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Faulkner have purchased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Whiteman, Wellington Road.

Terrance Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Armstrong of Stirling succeeded in passing his examination following a hairdressing course in Toronto. He has now accepted a position with a beauty salon in Belleville.

The funeral of a former Stirling resident Mrs. Erie Lovell of Allister area was held last Monday. She was the former Molly Welsh, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Welsh.

Student Accident Insurance

The BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL is pleased to announce it has again arranged for Student Accident Insurance. This insurance will be offered to the Students during the month of September.

Many parents now have insurance through their Group Medical Plans but this Student Insurance covers many types of accidents not normally found on regular Group Plans. The premiums are very attractive and as the Secondary and Public School students participate in this insurance offering.

Some of the benefits pay for loss of life, loss of eyes, hands, feet, fingers, arms and legs. The policy pays double indemnity for loss of life while riding school busses. It also covers dental expenses and blanket medical expenses.

The premiums are $1.00, $3.00 or $5.00 depending on which choice you require. Or, you may decline the insurance. Each letter to the parents will explain in detail the coverages, the exclusions and the premiums. There will also be an enrollment form which is to be completed and returned to the school for attention of the Council Representative.

The BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL presents this insurance as a service to the students and their parents and does not benefit in any way from this offering of insurance. The Lorne McDougall Insurance Agencies Ltd. are the Agents servicing this insurance and claims are handled directly by this Agency.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For September 25

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Be cautious where new contacts are concerned. Now you could cultivate persons who cause trouble. Take care not to confide in just anyone. Be discreet — and conservative. Think!

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Not wise to push too hard. If considerate, you get better results. Otherwise, what appears favorable could boomerang. Check facts, figures. Study Aries message. Attend church of choice.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Fine for exchange of ideas, but don't promote controversy. Avoid unnecessary expense due to journey. Realize what you seek is within. If you know this, you won't run off on wild goose chase.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Key is proper pacing. Avoid extremes . . . both in finance, personal activities. Bert to do more listening than talking. Fellow worker or associate could make unusual request.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): You may not agree with what lives . . . but turn on charm and win. Means the way you present ideas is of utmost importance. Remember past experience in public relations, expression.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Don't invite trouble. Be gracious, warm and understanding. Others tend to be envious, perhaps irritable. If you maintain sense of humor . . . all is well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Be wary of unusual extravagance. Desire for fun, recreation now accented. But don't go over board. Finish necessary tasks. Then you can relax. Be fair with friends, associations.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): No time to delay duties. Applies especially to chores around the house. Check with family members. Obtain cooperation of key personnel. Plan for talk with spiritual counselor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): If urged to undertake, necessary . . . postpone it. Commit ties with relations. Accent affect, consideration. Be a good listener. One you admire wants to confide vital fact. Listen.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Keep watchful eye on personal sessions. Budget considerations accented. Day features opportunities, social activity. Key is to avoid fatigue. Get sufficient rest.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Cycle continues high. But certain amount of caution is essential. Stress now on marriage, partnership. Tendency to argue prevails. Best to count ten before giving in to impulse.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Others tend to invade your privacy. Maintain sense of dignity. You can gain ill respect. Means play cards close to chest . . . do not tell all you know. Then others respect you.

* * *

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . you tend to be moody, sensitive. But have great sense of justice and fight when the cause is right.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Aquarius, Pisces, Aries. Special word to Libra: Romance is highlighted — but so is tendency to misunderstand loved ones.

For September 26

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Take care in dealing with friends, associates. Don't take people for granted. Evening favors privacy. You can be analytical without being moody. Think ahead — not backward.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): You could be distracted from major purpose. Know this — take preventive measures. Cope creatively. Sir Versaille will not being giddy. Means set sights — follow through to completion.

Gemini (May 21 to June 20): Business needs attention. Trace special cars with what you put on paper. Gain indicated from reading, research. Study your newspaper for vital information, special hint.

Cancer (June 21 to July 22): Review of financial picture has special effect to future plans. Bring desires into line with reality. Then you make progress. Study Taurus message.

Leo (July 23 to Aug. 22): You may be involved in clandestine activity. Means you should be cautious and discreet. You can now cement family relations. Concentrate on harmony . . . make concession to loved one.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22): Improve relations with mate, partner. Unwise to insist upon perfection. Leave room for human frailties. Then you find others make extra effort to please.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Hold your ground, adhere to principles in face of opposition. Others may attempt to talk you into wrong moves. If wise . . . you will be tactful but firm.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Some restrictions may be lifted. But best to proceed with caution. Guard health. Recall earlier promises. If you take care of yourself . . . special projects succeed.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You can progress with added confidence. This is likely due to message or call. You gain allies. Others express greater understanding. Tonight fine for romance.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19): Promises made today not apt to be binding. Necessary assets may be forthcoming. Know this and plan accordingly. Best to adopt wait-and-see attitude.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18): If you are indiscriminate in spending . . . you may be sorry. Means pull in financial reins. Realize future plans require conservation of assets. You can experiment later.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20): Highlight personal interests. Cycle high . . . Make contacts. Stress independence of thought, action. Be original . . . display special abilities. Be ready for pleasant surprises.

If today is your birthday . . . you are perceptive, able to discover trends — would be success in world of finances.

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (Reuters) — An eel, probably thinking it had found a mate, was blamed Thursday for the breakdown of the submarine cable linking Guyana and Barbados. Officials said the cable looked as if it had been bitten by the "amorous" eel.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Reed

"Of course I'm all right . . . What inning is it?"

Bruce Poste, 22, Makes Living Crawling Through Watermains

Anyone for unusual occupations?

One of the most unusual jobs in the city must be that of 22-year-old Bruce Poste of Jackson Ave., who as inspector for the Belleville Public Utilities makes a living crawling through underground watermains.

With construction this year of a new watermain in the north end of the city just now nearing completion, Bruce is getting his share of underground work.

The new watermain is a 36-inch line running just south of, and parallel to, College Street, from Sidney Street to the Moira River — a distance of some 6,230 feet.

After the watermain is laid and covered over, Bruce pushes himself through the pipe to check the joints and unions for possible leaks.

RIDES ON CRAWLER

To make the underground check Bruce has a small wheel-fitted crawler on which he rides through the watermain, pushing himself along with his heels. He wears a gas mask as protection against any possible fumes and lights his way with a small hand electric torch.

Some sections of the College Street main which Bruce has inspected are as much as 16 feet underground. One section of the College Street pipe which he has inspected runs for nearly 2,000 feet without a manhole.

Public Utilities manager R. L. Burnham says the College Street watermain extension is another phase of a new main being constructed to serve the north and northeast sections of the city.

WILL CROSS RIVER

The main is now almost to the Moira River and plans have been prepared for its extension across the river and on into the Hillcrest area.

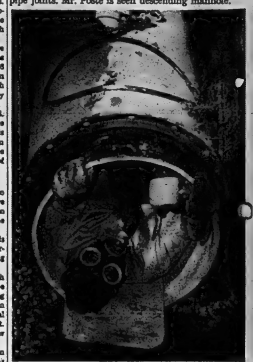
At Sidney Street, just north of the railway overpass, the trench is still open, awaiting delivery of some watermain valves. Yesterday the general contractors were at work on St. Charles Street tying in the new main with existing services.



After the big pipe has been completed, the watermain has to be sterilized and cleaned before it is put into service.

The Belleville Utilities Commission had a watermain inspector before Mr. Poste came on the job early this summer.

Asked what happened to the previous inspector, Bruce replied, "He had a nervous breakdown."

IN HE GOES — Watermain Inspector Bruce Poste shows the four-wheeled crawler on which he pushes himself through underground main to inspect pipe joints. Mr. Poste is seen descending manhole.

OUT HE COMES — After pushing his way through watermain on inspection trip Mr. Poste shows how he emerges from the other end. Gas mask is precaution to guard against fumes.

Nurses Resume Negotiations

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiations between 22 nurses and the Halton County public health unit resumed here Friday night, 11 days after the nurses left their jobs.

A spokesman said Friday's meeting, between the nurses and a warden's committee set up to discuss the situation, was a preliminary one and not designed to settle the dispute immediately.

Ottawa Bishop Picked by Pope For Haiti Post

OTTAWA (CP) — Most Rev. Marie-Joseph Lemieux, Roman Catholic archbishop of Ottawa since 1953, has been named by Pope Paul VI as apostolic nuncio in Haiti, the Apostolic Delegation announced here today.

Archbishop Lemieux, 64, will succeed Archbishop Giovanni Ferrofino. There was no announcement on his successor here.

Company Would Sell Bombsights To Anybody, Witness Testifies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The warehouse manager for a Rochester firm testified Friday that any one who wished could buy bombsights from the company.

Jerome Bachman of Morris Diamond Associates of Rochester made his statement in the third day of a trial of three men accused of conspiring to export 20 B-26 attack bombers to Portugal without U.S. government permission.

The prosecutors have claimed that seven of the planes went to Portugal between May and September, 1965, with refuelling stops at St. John's, Nfld.

Previous testimony indicated that Kent E. Grigsers, an aircraft mechanic from Jamestown, Calif., stopped at the Diamond firm to buy gunsights, gunmounts, ammunition boxes, and a long-range fuel tank for one of the planes.

Bachman said persons commonly buy bombsights for the parts. "They strip them down and take the parts out," he explained to a defence lawyer. He said his firm even sold bombsights to the U.S. air force.

Raymond J. Miller, an employee of Page Airways Inc. of Rochester, which installed the fuel tank in the bomb bay of the B-26 at the Rochester-Monroe county airport in May, 1965, said he had a casual conversation with John R. Hawke, 28, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., a former RAF pilot accused of ferrying seven of the planes to Portugal.

ASKED ABOUT BOMBER

"I asked what they (Hawke and Griggers) were doing with the B-26," Miller said. "He said they were taking it to Montreal to have it converted into an executive aircraft."

Hawke has maintained that the flights were made with the secret approval of the Central Intelligence Agency and that the planes were for eventual use against rebels in the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique. The government has denied the claim.

On trial with Hawke are Count Henri de Montmarin, 58, a Paris business man now of New York, and Woodrow W. Roderick, 47, a Winnipeg businessman now living in Tucson, Ariz.

Griggers also was indicted, but charges against him were dropped shortly before the trial began.

Son Dies in Prison, Father Charges Neglect

HAMILTON (CP)—A Hamilton father has demanded an inquiry into his son's death while the youth was serving a nine-month sentence in Guelph Reformatory.

"It was neglect on the part of the prison authorities," said Stephen Lazar Sr. "Sheer neglect — there's no two ways about it."

A reformatory spokesman said Stephen Lazar Jr. 19, died in a Guelph hospital Thursday after he was discovered hanging in his cell in noon Wednesday.

The spokesman said Lazar, in jail for the first time on a car-theft conviction, was alone in the cell. He said the people had been checked only minutes earlier.

The spokesman added that the cause of death had not been determined and that an autopsy and inquest had been ordered.

Mr. Lazar Sr. said neither doctors at the hospital nor police would give him any information and the only prison official to speak to him was the chaplain who saw him briefly at the hospital.

He said he had heard rumors that his son had been beaten in the hospital and that when he saw him at the hospital he appeared to have a black eye. The prison spokesman denied there had been any assault on the youth.

Mr. Lazar said he was appalled to learn that his son had been left alone in a cell at the reformatory after a doctor at the hospital mentioned to him that the youth had three times previously attempted to commit suicide.

The youth had served three months of his nine-month sentence.

Siamese Twin Doing Better Than Hoped

TORONTO (CP) — Crystal Ann, the surviving NeGes siamese twin, is progressing "better than doctors even hoped she would," the Hospital for Sick Children said Friday.

Crystal Ann changed her bandages and found the wound caused by the separation from her sister, Sherri Lee, is healing well, the hospital said in a statement.

Commission Will Control All Pollution

TORONTO (CP) — A provincial commission to control all types of pollution and enforce anti-pollution measures was recommended Friday by D. E. Kelrick, soil scientist from the University of Guelph.

Prof. Kelrick told a pollution control conference sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Labor that a provincial environmental resources commission is needed because of the interrelationship between air, water and soil pollution.

"The problem of pollution is that the utmost urgency because many of its effects on our environment may be irreversible or, at least, may take generations to correct, even if we start right now," he said.

"As the earth becomes more crowded, there is no longer an 'away' in throwing things. One person's trash basket becomes another's living space."

Resolve Status Of Leadership Ask PEI PCs

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Dalton Camp, president of the national Progressive Conservative Association, has reiterated his call for a reappraisal of the party leadership and said Canadians want to see a greater reflection of their views in politics.

"If we want to make this union great we have little time to lose," Mr Camp said. "The people ought to know who is leading and where they are going."

Mr. Camp was in the Prince Edward Island capital for the annual meeting of the P.E.I. Progressive Conservative Association. He spoke to an open meeting.

Mr. Camp said there is need for a reassessment of leadership.

"If we want to renew our politics, we have to renew our party. We need the help of more and more Canadians if the party is to be more democratic.

"We must be frank with one another within the party. The art of politics is the art of keeping up with the things of tomorrow. You must do what you believe is right and that's what I was elected for."

DOESN'T PRODUCE TEST

The Charlottetown meeting had been billed as a possible trial of strength among party brass after Mr. Camp's call for a re-appraisal of the party leadership, but the principals, other than the national president, failed to perform as expected.

Wallace Nesbitt, member of Parliament for the Ontario riding of Oxford and recognized as pro - Diefenbaker, attended but did not speak. Walter Shaw, the 75-year-old former premier and Opposition leader in P.E.I., introduced Mr. Camp and also spoke but did not mention the leadership issue.

However, the P.E.I. association did pass a resolution during afternoon sessions backing John Diefenbaker as leader of the federal Opposition but calling for a resolution of the leadership issue in the best interests of the party and country.

The resolution said that:

"In as much as Rt. Hon. G. Diefenbaker has served this country, and especially this province well in the past, being prime minister of Canada and leader of the Opposition . . . and in as much as the leadership matter now is the subject of discussion . . . this association expresses appreciation for his work done in our interests by Mr. Diefenbaker, and our support in the continued efforts on our behalf. . . .

MUST BE RESOLVED

"And be it resolved that, in the best interests of party unity, the matter of leadership be resolved in the way in which the best interests of the Progressive Conservative Party and Indeed the best interests of Can-

Klansman On Trial For Killing

By REX THOMAS

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Klansman Eugene Thomas, already under a 10-year federal prison sentence, faces trial in state court today for the killing of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a civil rights worker.

But the call of the docket in Hayneville's courthouse, notified the state seeking to dismiss an assault charge against a special deputy sheriff accused of wounding another civil rights worker in rural Lowndes County.

Attorney - General Richmond Flowers, in personal command of both prosecutions, notified Circuit Judge Werth Thagard that he would ask to nolle prosse (dismiss without prejudice) the indictment against Thomas L. Coleman of Hayneville.

WANTS STRINGER CHARGE

Flowers has said repeatedly he feels the part-time officer should have been indicted on a more serious charge than assault and battery, which carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $500 fine. Dismissal of the lesser indictment would leave the way open for a later grand jury to charge Coleman with a more serious offence.

Father Morrisroe, 38, was critically wounded and a companion, seminarian Jonathan Daniels of Keene, N.H., was slain by Coleman Aug. 20, while the two were registering voters in Lowndes County helping Negroes in a voter registration drive.

Coleman admitted a shooting both men but claimed self-defence.

State and defence counsel said in advance they would be ready for Thomas' trial. The 45-year-old Bessemer, Ala., steel company employee could get the death penalty if convicted.

Another Klan member, Collie Leroy Wilkins, was tried in the same courtroom a year ago and acquitted of killing the white Detroit housewife.

Mrs. Liuzzo, the wife of Teamsters union official Anthony Liuzzo, was slain by gunshots from a passing car March 25, 1965, after the Selma - to -

PC Chief Silent On Report

OTTAWA (CP)—A spokesman for Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said today the Conservative chief has no further comment at this time on the report on the Gerda Munsinger case.

Mr. Diefenbaker apparently wants to assess public reaction to the report, issued Friday, before replying in detail to criticism by Mr. Justice Wishart Spence of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The judge said in his report that Mr. Diefenbaker should have ordered a fuller investigation and dismissed Pierre Sevigny as associate defence minister when he learned as prime minister in 1960 that the minister was associating with Mrs. Munsinger, a prostitute once targeted in espionage.

His 1,200-word initial comment Friday, issued by his office here as a "preliminary" statement, called the inquiry a political hatchet job aimed at removing him from the Conservative leadership.

Mr. Diefenbaker was in the Boston area at the time on a two-day private visit with his wife. He returned to Ottawa late Saturday night.

An aide said he spent Sunday at home reading a backlog of mail and newspapers. But the copy of Mr. Justice Wishart Spence's 50,000-word report on the Munsinger case delivered to his office Friday remained unopened on his desk.

Mr. Diefenbaker was besieged several times by reporters Friday and Saturday but declined to go beyond his original preliminary statement, except in stress that he had no intention of resigning because of the judge's criticisms.

Common Nuclear Defence For NATO Close Says Rusk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defence Secretary Robert McNamara says the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is close to establishing a permanent group to supervise a common nuclear defence.

Arriving here early today from a meeting in Rome with defence ministers of four NATO nations, McNamara said more progress has been made toward sharing nuclear defence responsibility in the last five months than in the last five years. But he added:

"I think the non-nuclear powers should wait for and propose more active roles in nuclear defence."

The ministers Friday completed arrangements to give the 14 non-NATO allies of the United States more responsibility in the nuclear defence of Western Europe.

The arrangements were not disclosed, but were said to encompass a proposed chain of commands across Europe to control the nuclear arsenal made available by the United States.

The plans will be submitted to NATO's 15-member special committee for consideration prior to the annual ministerial meeting in December.

The Rome meeting brought McNamara, together with defence ministers Denis Healey of Britain, Roberto Tremelloni of Italy, Kai-Uwe von Hassell of West Germany and Ahmet Topaloglu of Turkey.

Expect Malaysia to Urge Asian Peace in Viet Nam

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Malaysia's deputy prime minister expected to appeal in the UN General Assembly today for an Asian settlement of the war in Viet Nam.

Tun Abdul Razak, speaking in the assembly's general debate, also was expected to welcome Indonesia's abandonment of her war in Malaysia and declare a new Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos of the Philippines last month of 17 Asian countries to make a joint appeal to the warring forces in Viet Nam for a peaceful and honorable settlement reached at an Asian conference. South Viet Nam endorsed the peace move, North Viet Nam and China rejected it.

President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines, speaking in the assembly last Wednesday, asked the Soviet Union repeat its peacemaking in the Kashmir war a year ago and call "a new Tashkent for Southeast Asia . . . to end this brutal war."

Commenting today on recent U.S. peace overtures at the UN, North Viet Nam's official newspaper, Nhan Dan, accused the United States of refusing "to give up their aggressive design against South Viet Nam and their plan to turn South Viet Nam into an American colony for perpetuating the division of Viet Nam."

The Hanoi organ repeated North Viet Nam's conditions for an end to the war: Withdrawal of U.S. forces, recognition of the Viet Cong "as the only genuine representative of the South Vietnamese people, and let the South Vietnamese people decide their own affairs by themselves."

Committee work for the assembly's 21st session also got under way today. The trusteeship committee scheduled a morning meeting to organize the first of the seven working committees to get down to business.

Besides some committee work, this week's program is called for continuation of the general debate in the assembly each morning and special assembly debate on Southwest Africa each afternoon.

African and Asian nations are preparing a resolution to have the assembly end South Africa's mandate for the territory's administration and put it under a UN authority to prepare it for independence. South Africa probably would refuse to comply.

Katangan Mutineers Routed

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP) Government troops have routed Katangan mutineers and taken control of Kisangani, Kisangani Stanleyville, reports from that city indicated today.

Most of the mutineers have fled to the bush, but mopping up operations are continuing in the outskirts of the town, the reports said. No casualty figures have been released for either side.

The mutiny in Katanga came amid anti - Portuguese demonstrations in Kinshasa. The government of President Joseph Mobutu has charged that Portugal is assisting in a plot to bring Tshombe back to power.

The Portuguese embassy was burned and several Portuguese diplomats manhandled in a mob attack on the embassy Saturday. About 1,000 persons staged a non-violent demonstration outside the blackened embassy Sunday.

The Congo has complained to the UN Security Council that Portugal is flowing mercenaries, seeking the return of former premier Moise Tshombe, to set up camps in the Portuguese colony of Angola. Portugal has filed a counter-complaint about the burning of the embassy. The council is expected to take the issues up this week.

THE TEMPERATURES

Synopsis: Sunny skies forecast for the area today should allow temperatures to climb a few degrees higher than Sunday. Similar weather conditions are likely to continue Tuesday. Cloud will reach Lake Erie into Tuesday and rain should spread into southwestern Ontario Tuesday evening or Tuesday night.

Typhoons Slaughter Hundreds

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japan declared 36 cities, towns and villages disaster areas today as the death toll from a pair of weekend typhoons reached an official 251.

The declaration came from the welfare ministry while cabinet members met in emergency session to set up a disaster headquarters to organize relief work.

Troops, police and firemen were already searching for 103 persons still missing in the devastation left by typhoon Ida, which swept through central Honshu Island, and by the less deadly typhoon Helen, which hit further south.

Police reported 813 were injured and 25,462 people driven out of their battered homes because of destruction or flooding. It was the country's worst typhoon disaster in seven years.

It was the highest typhoon casualty toll since 5,041 died in Nagoya Bay in 1959.

Today some railway lines, many roads and electric power lines still were down. In some areas rescuers fought mud and huge boulders in the hope of finding survivors in the remote Mount Fuji villages buried by a huge landslide.

A third big typhoon, June, was churning in the Pacific and could approach Japan Thursday.

IDA HIT HARDEST

The typhoons, particularly Ida, caused $300,000,000 damage, including 60 per cent of the pear and grape crops in Yamanashi prefecture, site of Mount Fuji. Damage to 1,000 houses alone was estimated at $6,000,000.

Heavy rain carried by the typhoon also did widespread damage to harvests.

Ida hardest hit the most violent winds ever recorded by Japanese weathermen — 200 - mile-an-hour gusts—at the top of Mount Fuji. Gusts of 25 miles an hour were the third strongest on record.

Yamanashi prefecture bore the brunt of the strike, as many villagers were caught in their sleep by the landslide.

The mudslide avalanche destroyed Ashiwada and Saiko villages on the north shire of Mount Fuji, leaving 39 dead, 31 missing and 94 injured.

Police said 9,300 houses were completely or partly de-stroyed by the typhoons, which caused 686 landslides.

Thousands of acres of rice, 46,321 houses and 67,789 persons were listed as homeless.

Mudslides also washed away 166 bridges.

REPLACE DEAD ELMS

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An experiment in replanting vacant lots hit by the Dutch elm disease is under way near here. L. C. Seales, Stratford man forester, says the diseased elms are chemically killed and all new species and Canadian redwood planted in their places.

Farmers May Call Strike

GUELPH (CP)—The Ontario Farmers' Union will call a strike vote among its estimated 40,000 members in November if current negotiations for a price increase in farm produce are not satisfactorily resolved.

The decision was reached Saturday at a closed, seven-hour meeting of OFU directors. After the meeting, OFU Secretary Walter Miller of Tara, Ont., said every effort will be made to reach a peaceful settlement.

But if problems are not solved, strike action will be taken, he said. Union members are seeking a government guarantee of at least $4.25 a hundredweight for milk delivered at the factory.

Mr. Miller said a strike would not be confined to dairy farmers but would also include beef and cash crop producers.

"We're going to demand a program stabilizing all parts of the industry," he said. "There is a threat of a strike right across the board. Farmers are in real trouble."

STRIKE VOTE POSSIBLE

The OFU secretary said if differences with the federal and provincial governments are not satisfactorily settled, a strike vote will be placed before the union's annual conference at Belleville in November.

Last week the Ontario and Quebec government agreed to pay a 35-cents-a-hundredweight subsidy for six months beginning Oct. 1. The two governments also agreed to ask the federal government to increase its subsidy in two stages to guarantee farmers $4.25 a hundredweight at the factory.

Agriculture Minister Greene had been expected to reply to the provinces' proposal last Wednesday, but decided to wait until it had cabinet reviewed it.

The directors also drafted a letter to Mr. Greene, saying the Canadian butter in Canada would be a breach of trust with Canadian farmers.

The telegram was in response to reports that proposals have been made to import large quantities of butter to meet a shortage of domestic butter.

GARDENS CATCH ON

WINNIPEG (CP) — Residents of the Burrows-Keewatin low-rental housing development have made to report large start a gardening competition in order to brighten up the neighbourhood. Since then, participation has risen to 60 from 20 per cent, divided into three classes, with merchandise and a plaque as prizes.

Indians' Plight No Worse Than Usual, But 8 of 10 Children Die Before 5

The Tarahumara Indians of Mexico are the centre of controversy. Louisiana residents have sent relief supplies to them, based on reports the Indians are starving. The Mexican government says the reports are exaggerated, and has refused entry to 19 carloads of supplies. A reporter for the El Paso (Tex.) Times visited some of the Indians. Here is his story.

By BRUCE BISSONETTE

CREEL, Mexico (AP)—Indians are suffering from starvation in Mexico's Chihuahua state. A child or two dies each day.

With a show-me attitude about the Mexican government denials of starvation among the Tarahumara Indians of Chihuahua, we flew Sunday into the vast stretches of the Barranca del Cobre canyons of the Sierra Madre Mountains.

We visited with the Jesuit priests who devote their lives to the betterment of these Indians.

Among them is Father Luis G. Verplancken—at whose request Louisiana residents de-sailed 19 railway carloads of food, tools, medical supplies and agricultural equipment for the Indians.

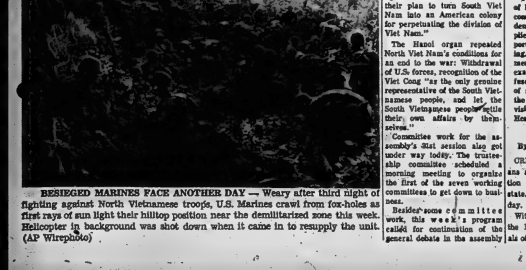
But the Mexican government has refused to grant permission for the shipment to enter Mexico from El Paso, Tex., where the cars have been sitting on a siding since Saturday.

Father Verplancken was emphatic in his denial of reports that 100 to 200 Indians a day are dying of starvation.

He was just as emphatic, however, in declaring that a "terrible situation exists" among 30,000 Indians who live in the rugged wilderness.

"Eighty per cent of all Tarahumara Indian children die before they reach the age of five," the priest said.

"This is the way it has always been with these primitive people who subsist mostly on berbs, lizards and what little corn and beans they raise," he said.



He said the current situation is "no different than it has been in other years." Whenever a drought occurs the Indians are hard pressed for seed the following year and also are short of food, Father Verplanckan said.

During a tour of a clinic at Creel we saw infants, nine and 12 months old, who weighed a mere eight to 10 pounds. Their bellies were swollen from malnutrition and their bodies nothing more than a skeleton with loose, flabby skin.

"We have treated more than 70 children since we opened the clinic last December," said the priest who has spent 14 of his 40 years with the Tarahumaras. "We have one child, a five-year-old boy, who came to us less than a month ago, and who had never walked. "He, like most of the children, not only suffered from severe malnutrition but was loaded with worms," the Roman Catholic priest said.

Liver, stomach, kidney and lung diseases are rampant with these undernourished children, who seem to be perfectly healthy as long as they are breast-fed.

Most of the Indians live in cave-like dwellings. The caves are about 6 feet in diameter and about the same height, but without a roof.

Youth Section Of NDP Elects Officers

TRENTON — The founding meeting of the New Democratic Youth party for the Quinte riding was held in Belleville on Saturday.

President, Kathy Graham and Vice-president Sandy Clarke are both Moira Secondary School students. They will be delegates to the Ontario N.D.P. youth convention in the Park Plaza Hotel, this coming weekend. Others in the Belleville group will attend as observers.

Secretary-treasurer is Cheryl Wing and Bill Graham and Paul Finnegan will head up a membership campaign.

The new group will meet on the first Tuesday of each month.

The association has decided itself to (1) conducting a membership drive and making local youth aware of New Democratic Party aims and objectives; (2) planning debates and panel discussions at which all parties would be represented; (3) attempting to organize N.D.P. clubs in Trenton and Belleville high schools.

Impact Drill Stolen From Site of Prison

BRIGHTON — In the past week officers of the Ontario Provincial Police, Brighton Detachment investigated 12 motor vehicle accidents in which one person was injured and laid one charge in connection. During the week 57 vehicles were checked, 19 charges laid under the Highway Traffic Act, one charge for no insurance, one charge under the Liquor Control Act and 35 warnings issued for faulty equipment. Officers responded to 35 complaints all of which were of a minor nature. Corporal R. Gordon is investigating the theft of an impact drill valued at $200. from Mitchell Construction Co. This theft occurred September 20, 1966 at the preliminary construction site in Brighton Township.

Baptiste Lake Lodge Scene Of Meeting

Under the leadership of Conference Chairman, Harry J. Fast, 30 members of the Board of Directors, committees and key leaders of the Belleville Family Y.M.C.A. met over the weekend at Birch Cliff Lodge, Baptiste, in a Key Person's Conference on Y.M.C.A. matters. The chief items for study on the agenda were the Belleville "Y" membership and structure. The "Y" program and services, the problem of the operating finances and how to balance the budget, the enrollment of members, plans for the financial campaign to be held to retire the mortgage and to complete the building, and to make more of the key "Y" people better acquainted with the "Y" and its affairs.

Among those who addressed the conference or gave leadership in other ways were Chairman Harry J. Fast, "Y" President Hugh Watson, Judge J. C. Anderson, Flight Lieutenant R. B. Walker, Mrs. Freeman Burrows, Alderman Don Williams, Mrs. Ellis Walker, Mrs. Percy Wood, Jim Driscoll, Mrs. J. L. Acton.

Bill Skinner, of the staff of the National Council of YMCA's was the speaker at the banquet once "mechanics" and was of considerable assistance as resource leader. There was a closing statement making a number of recommendations for action by Conference and the "Y" committees, staff and the Board of Directors will have a great deal of work to do to put them as a result of this study conference. "Y" staff members Gerald Secretary, Boys' Secretary and Program Secretaries Meta Kitchen and Glen Manthorne were active in the conference and as resource leaders.

In keeping with Y.M.C.A. practice all delegates to the conference not only gave of their time and talents, but study and plan affairs of the "Y" but each paid his or her own conference attendance expenses.

Stomach Cancer Common Among Potato Eaters

TOKYO (Reuters) — Stomach cancer is rare among people who eat corn but common among potato eaters, says a report by the World Congress of Gastro-Enterology.

The congress's research committee reported that a carcinogen — cancer-causing substance in food is the most likely cause of stomach cancer.

Rene Gutmann of France said slight but definite signs of eccentric cancer could be detected radiographically at an early stage. He blamed general, doctors, radiologists and surgeons for allowing this form of cancer to develop.

Victims did not go to their doctors in time and when they did they rejected advice to have surgery, he said.

Physicians usually did not advise radiography (x-rays) soon enough and when radiological treatment had been tried and failed they continued it far too long, he added.

Firemen Assist In Search for Drowned Boy

The Belleville Fire Department answered a call to a residence on Coleman Street last night after someone apparently put fire to some rubbish that had been left out for garbage collection today.

The incident, which occurred around 10 p.m. Sunday, resulted in some damage being done to a parking meter situated in front of a residence at 282 Coleman Street.

Aside from their routine weekend duties, a number of city firemen volunteered their services Friday night and early Saturday morning to take part in the search for the body of the missing three-and-a-half-year-old Brian Snowden. Fireman Jack Bailey, who was on the scene of the drowning at Consecon Lake, Thursday afternoon, said the search was conducted by Mr. Snowden, Bill Cheryl and Brent.

HILL — In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Hill who passed away Sept. 26th, 1964.
Sadly missed by daughter Ann.
And sister on hour she is to rest
With God above.

A link to our family chain is broken now,
But memories live forever.
For on he has not gone far away,
Just to the traveled fair.
Where we all must journey home,
Each one day.
—Ever remembered by sister Florence.

ANAF News

There will be plenty of amusement and activity for the members this coming weekend. On Friday evening, there will be a big dance with the music supplied by the versatile Jaypegs. There will be door and spot prizes and members and their guests are assured of an enjoyable evening.

On Saturday morning a number of sports minded members, with high hopes in their hearts, will journey to the scenic city of the 48th O.C.A. Club as their destination. There are a very few vacancies left in the line of cars and some seats yet on the bus, so if you plan to go, it would be advisable to get your names in as soon as possible. One fine thing is, that win, lose or draw, the hospitality of the club extended to members that everyone will be treated right royally. For those who do not go, there will be a regular Saturday night social evening at the club with members and their guests always welcome.

Cdr. Fred Carmichael has been confined to the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Dunn Ave., Toronto and hopes to be discharged in a few days time. Hank Boyle is in Room 443-2 at Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto undergoing a series of tests and examinations. It was learned with regret that Cdr. J. Ross Mackay is ill and the very few charter members still with the club, is seriously ill in the Belleville hospital. We are now but will try to have further information at a later date. Reports indicate that Ross is progressing favorably at present.

That congenial maestro of the taps, Roy to you, celebrates his umpteenth birthday on the twenty-fifth and all his many friends join in wishing him many happy returns of the day.

Dominion President Jack Lundberg joins in with President Jack Boyle in hoping that the membership drive in Toronto will be ready to donate their blood when the national O.C.A./ANAF Blood Clinic week starts in the near future. It only takes a few minutes of your time and it may be that you might be your own or someone dear to you. So let us all get behind this most worthy cause.

The fund for the Centennial project is growing slowly and Cdr. Bert Bowen, the club's chairman, is organizing several events to take place on Saturday, May 27th, 1967 at the Trenton entrance fee. There will be good prizes for the winners and a good time will be had by all to swell the fund. Spend a pleasant afternoon with your comrades and enjoy yourselves to help out the project at the same time.

The donations to the Pipe Band Uniform Fund have come in fairly well and if you have not yet contributed, it is not would be appreciated if you would drop into the Club and leave any donations with the stewards. Band Manager R. Burns will have a statement after the Remembrance Day parade and express the Band and his appreciation of the great support and interest by the members in assisting them to grow bigger and better.

Membership Chairman H. Herrington and Entertainment Chairman J. Fitzgerald are cooperating in putting on a combined initiation and stag evening in the near future. The initiation will be held in the auditorium and after the ceremonies are over, the members will move down to the lounge where good entertainment has been arranged and refreshments will be served. This should be a great evening so plan to attend and watch the news for the date.

Four Killed When Train, Car Collide

VAL ALAIN, Que. (CP)—Four persons, including two members of one family, were killed Sunday night when a Canadian National Railways train collided with their car on a level crossing here, 40 miles southwest of Quebec City.

Police identified the victims as Arthur Cote, 49, his daughter, Lucille, 17, Mrs. Geralda Labonte, 34, and Dennis Turgeon, 17, all of Joly, Que., seven miles north of here.

The train was the east-bound freight and passenger service from Montreal and Maritime points.

Wanted Man Will Return To Canada

LONDON (CP) — An Irishborn Canadian wanted in Ottawa on charges of armed robbery and parole violation has lost an appeal against extradition and will be flown to Ottawa Thursday.

The case has raised public questions here about a loophole in Britain's Commonwealth Immigrants Act that enabled the wanted Canadian to enter England by way of Ireland.

Patrick Gerald MacEachen, 45, is charged with holding up teller Astrid Norgard in the Sparks Street branch of Canada Permanent Trust in Ottawa last Oct. 3 and taking $1,326. He pleaded not guilty at an extradition hearing here Aug. 30, but was ordered sent to Canada. He lost an appeal against the order last week.

MacEachen, who moved to Canada from Ireland as a boy of 16, was sentenced to life imprisonment for manslaughter in 1954, paroled in 1962, sent back to Kingston penitentiary, then paroled again in 1965.

McCombe said MacEachen was traced to Montreal, Quebec City and to Sackville and then to Dublin since last October.

"We were unable to locate him in Ireland because Ireland has no Fugitives Offenders Act and we have no extradition treaty with the Irish Republic," he said.

MacEachen was arrested here three months ago while working as a carter for Ace Transport, an Irish airline. He had entered Ireland on an Irish passport.

Britain's 1962 Commonwealth Immigrants Act, controlling previously-free entry to Britain by Commonwealth countries, forbids the admission of Commonwealth citizens with criminal records. Citizens of the Commonwealth Ireland were not covered in the 1962 act.

The matter was first raised in the House of Commons after Parliament reassembles Oct. 18.

Jap's Satellite Goes Into Spin Instead of Orbit

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japan's bid to enter the world's rocket-five space club failed today after its rocket-borne satellite went into a spin instead of an orbit.

Japanese scientists were hoping their country would join the United States, Russia and France in launching a satellite on a domestically developed rocket.

The four-stage, solid-fuel Lambda rocket with a 25-pound payload was lifted off its pad this morning at Uchinoura on the Pacific Coast of Japan.

It raced across a sky cleared by the radar of typhoon which passed over southern Japan Sunday. The payload was scheduled to go into orbit seven minutes and 30 seconds later.

But a computer registered a different story line than five minutes later and after 30 minutes scientists of the University of Tokyo's Institute of Space and Aeronautical Science were analyzing causes for failure.

Officially, however, the scientists never gave up hope altogether than a 30-per-cent chance of putting the nose cone into orbit.

A computer at the Kashima radar tracking station 50 miles south of Tokyo showed that four minutes and 10 seconds after the fourth stage separated it began to dip.

The launching was primarily designed to test attitude control as part of a series of experiments before the launching of a 150-pound satellite by the 100-foot-stage rocket probably in 1968.

The 75-foot-long Mu will have a thrust of 200 tons. This is 40 tons less than the U.S. Titan II which put Gemini II into orbit.

Lambda was 55 feet long and weighed 8.5 tons.

Japan launched its first rocket 11 years ago.

Local Firm Gets Contract For Building

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario yesterday approved the award of a $153,418 contract to Hugh Murray Ltd., 75 Colings Street West, Belleville for the construction of a combined Area Office and Service Building at Frankford.

The single-storey structure, which is expected to be ready for occupancy in Dec. 1967, will be located at the southern limits of the village of Frankford on the north side of Highway 33. Its site is directly across the road from that of the Hydro Generating Station for Frankford.

Built to replace the present rented facilities in the village, the new block-construction building will provide facilities for accommodating both Hydro office staff and equipment.

A Hydro spokesman said this morning that the new building contains more than 12$ feet by 61 feet, be fully air-conditioned, and of course, be electrically heated.

Cases Not Comparable Says Coldwell

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Opposition Leader Hazen Argue's comparison of the Munsinger investigation with the 1951 Herron-Boyer case was not a described Saturday as "most reprehensible" by M. J. Coldwell, leader of the CCF national party.

Prime Minister Pearson, then external affairs minister, accepted the resignation of Escott Reid, deputy minister, and Herbert Norman, Mr. Coldwell said. "They are not comparable."

Mr. Coldwell was in Woodstock as guest speaker at a dinner given by the Oxford New Democratic Party.

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Calling for royal commission to "save government this country ever had," the Progressive Conservative party's annual meeting Saturday urged Elgin County PCs to pick a candidate now for the next election.

Dr. James Johnston of Ottawa, guest speaker at a meeting of the Elgin County Progressive Conservative Association, described the Munsinger investigation as "a witch-hunt to destroy the Conservative party; one big waste of time." He said it was a "great injustice" that the Supreme Court of Canada was involved.

COAST GUARD GROWS

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Transport Minister Pickersgill said Saturday the Canadian Coast Guard service with a total of more than 200 ships now is almost as large as the Canadian navy. Mr. Pickersgill was attending the official opening of the Canadian Coast Guard college at Point Edward at the mouth of Sydney harbor.

South Africa Delays Ban On Multi-Racial Parties

From AP-Reuters

CAPE TOWN (CP) — South Africa's all-white government backed away today from one of the most sweeping pieces of apartheid (race segregation) legislation proposed by the ruling white nationalists since they gained power in 1948.

The government, through its Interior Minister Jan Roux, told Parliament it was not going ahead with a bill which would in effect have prevented all political discussion and contact across the color line.

The new measure, one of the most controversial proposed in the history of the country's apartheid laws, raised a storm of protest on the grounds that its sweeping provisions were aimed at the banning of all multi-racial parties or groups whose activities impinged in any way on multi-racial politics.

It would have meant the end of such parties as author Alan Paton's Liberal party of which he is the leader.

Roux said the government probably also the Progressive party would have had indicated it planned carrying out despite the proposed restrictions.

Earlier however, Le Roux moved that the measure should be referred to a select committee, which he said might be converted to an inquiry commission if required. This is parliamentary procedure for at least postponing the bill until all its implications can be studied and reconsidered.

Four-Nation Blocking Force Is Advocated

DONG HA, South Viet Nam (AP) — American officers believe a four - nation blocking force is the best way to stop North Vietnamese troop infiltration across the demilitarized zone into South Viet Nam.

U.S. sources say the idea is being considered on the highest American levels but the three other governments must also approve.

The force would include Korean and Australian troops as well as South Vietnamese units and U.S. marines already deployed in the northern part of South Viet Nam.

Communist infiltration across the demilitarized zone has become a major problem and military sources indicate an effective blocking force would need to total at least three regiments and possibly four—between 30,000 and 40,000 men.

The American, Korean and Australian units would not cross into the buffer zone which flanks the river that is the actual dividing line between North and South Viet Nam. But Communist intrusions into the zone would give the South Vietnamese an excuse for occasional sweeps along the south side of the river.

High military sources also favor large - scale defoliation of dense jungle areas along the zone to permit close aerial scrutiny of infiltration routes.

Silence Guns Guarding Rail Link to China

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. bombers pilots reported silencing 30 anti-aircraft gun positions in North Viet Nam Sunday along a main rail line to China.

During 127 bombing raids in the north, U.S. flyers also attacked four surface-to-air missile (SAM) sites including one only nine miles northeast of Hanoi. Navy attack bombers reported destroying a North Vietnamese patrol torpedo boat 30 miles northeast of Haiphong in the Tonkin Gulf.

Ground fighting in South Viet Nam gwindled to small and scattered actions after a weekend in which U.S., South Vietnamese and Korean forces reported more than 350 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed and 176 captured.

The Korean also reported small actions with Viet Cong near the coastal city of Qui Nhon. South Vietnamese troops sprang a surprise attack on a Viet Cong company headquarters 164 miles southwest of Saigon and reported killing 36 of the enemy.

During the raids over the north, a U.S. Air Force F-105 Thunderchief was shot down and the pilot is missing. It was the 365th reported lost in the war over North Viet Nam.

The anti-aircraft sites knocked out by air force Thunderchiefs were part of a chain protecting the northeast rail line from Hanoi to China. The raids were doited along the rail artery 30 to 55 miles northeast of the North Vietnamese capital, a U.S. spokesman said.

Man Seems Doomed to Stay Aboard Boat

PERTH, Australia (Reuters) A man without a country, seemingly doomed to spend the rest of his life at sea, has been allowed a brief stay on land here, it was learned today.

Immigration officials put him into the quarantine station here because he can roam its lawns and grounds at will until he sails again on his ship, the English freighter Oakbank, from Perth's port of Fremantle next month.

The man—known only as Pedro who is in his 30s—cut himself adrift from the landed world two years ago when he stowed away on the freighter at Buenos Aires without identity papers.

The Oakbank's captain and owners tried to discharge Pedro at almost every port the ship docked. But because he has no documents to prove his identity and national origin, Pedro always was classed as an illegal immigrant.

China's Students Will Have To Work More, Study Less

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—School's out in China and the students are pronouncing the university president, humiliating the teachers and pillorying nonconformists.

Chinese education, which over the centuries has produced a flood of gifted scholars and writers, is in disarray.

Since June, the boys and girls have been on a six-month holiday while Mao Tse-tung and his new chief lieutenant, Lin Piao, shake up the education system.

From now on it's less study and more work. When school starts again, liberal art students will spend only one or two years rather than four in the university. The rest of the time they will get dirt on their hands in the countryside, the factories and the army.

All this means that more youths will be educated in a shorter time. But their education will be short on book learning and long on Communist experience — and the thought of Mao in particular.

SWITCH TO WORK-STUDY

Work - study programs have been in effect in some schools since 1958. This year they become the rule.

While school is out, the students are whooping it up as Communists. In the summer it was taken up as another course of study. College, this is another type of course, and a concentrated skill, and may be taught in a class that changes two evenings a week, in approximately 100 lessons.

Conversational French is very much enjoyed by those participating in it. It is a course that this course has been offered. It is taught by a gentleman who is a native of Quebec, who graduated in Belleville to work in a local industry after receiving French courses from O.B.C. Although it is completely a conversational course, and a written examination is held at the end of the course, a set of certificate awarded to successful students. Regular class attendance are invited to attend these classes, and anyone who does not take advantage this opportunity to become bilingual.

Business Administration was a new venture last year. Since this is now a recognized subject in the high schools, it is also being offered to the public as an evening course. The evening class is taught by a gentleman who is a graduate of C.A., R.I.A., and A.C.I.S. It is a most interesting course for those who might now be holding, or might be seeking employment in the future of holding a position of responsibility. Supervisors, managers or executives, or those who may be interested in the field will find useful and interesting.

Classes were under way, and some students attending on Wednesday September 21st, are in Shorthand, Typewriting, Bookkeeping and Accounting, Monday and Wednesday evenings for Grade 12 Keypunch Training, and Thursday evening. September 22nd for Business Administration and Conversational French. New students may be enrolled between now and October 5th and 6th, for any of these classes.

EVENING CLASSES in Bookkeeping, Accounting, Shorthand, Typewriting, Conversational French, Business Administration and IBM Keypunch Training, are beginning again at Ontario Business College.

Shorthand and Typewriting are offered to the beginning, or advanced student and also to stenographers who are taking courses by Correspondence often come for personal assistance when they require it. Since the student is encouraged to work at his own top speed, those taking these courses are in may different levels, and each student is fitted into the place where he belongs.

IBM Keypunch Training Started at O.B.C. in the summer of 1965, and many graduates have been placed in local day or evening basis. The minimum speed is 8,000 strokes per hour, but every graduate has accomplished this speed, and as high as 17,000 strokes per hour. IBM Keypunch Training is a skilled occupation and information is broadcasted by instructors on the use of the related processes. In 1965, when this was started, it was taught by Business Machines Training Institute of Belleville, but also leads to advanced Automatic procedures and computer courses. In summer it was taken up as another course at O.B.C. College. This is another type of course, and a concentrated skill, and may be taught in a class that changes two evenings a week, in approximately 100 lessons.

Pravda Critical Of China's Revolution

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Today's cultural revolution is leading to China's isolation and will harm its development, Pravda said today.

"What is now taking place in China under the slogan of the 'great proletarian cultural revolution' has nothing in common with the actual processes which go on under a socialist cultural revolution," the Soviet Communist party newspaper said.

"Young hooligans mocking at intellectuals, burning books and destroying the wonderful classical spiritual values of the great Chinese people—what has this to do with culture?"

Pravda ridiculed attempts by the Red Guards to destroy old "bourgeois" or European forms of culture, such as books and music by internationally-known writers and composers.

A real cultural revolution, the newspaper said, "does not consist of rejecting the culture of the old society, but of making critical use of it and taking it over."

No Real Surprises

The Munsinger case report by Mr. Justice Wishard Spence has been made public.

Politicians will be busy for weeks making the most of it — or the best of it, according to circumstances.

It seems to us, though, that the report has little to offer the thinking man.

Nobody ought to be surprised if people who could see no security risk in the relations between Pierre Sevigny and Gerda Munsinger before the Spence report are similarly unable to discern any risk after the report.

On the other hand, there will be many who will find nothing startling in Mr. Justice Spence's conclusions that this is not the type of thing to enhance national security.

There may, however, be some of both schools of thought who will overlook the importance of Mr. Justice Spence's declaration that he found "no scintilla of evidence or any indication that there was any disloyalty involved in any of the circumstances" he investigated.

This is a vital point — and equally important is the fact that no person of any public stature appears to have ever suggested that any disloyalty had occurred.

It was not what did occur, but what might have occurred which was the point at issue.

There does not have to be an accident for a man to have been guilty of careless driving.

Too Fancy for Good Service

The Intelligencer has been running pictures of the new cars, what every well-transported family will drive in the year ahead.

They are admirably designed to make even the most stubborn pocketbook open as wide as a morning glory on a June day.

But there is another side to the pictures. We also need another set of photographs, (not, unfortunately, identified as to source), which provides us with close-ups of some of the more impressive front grilles and tail-light assemblies of recent years.

"This is a bumper?" asks one caption. "Complete replacement costs $300." "Cost of this sleek but vulnerable grille has gone up 300 per cent in the last five years" announces another caption, "this stuff is 10 mph," we are told of another grille, "and repair bill will be at least $500." And: "Repairs would cost 20 per cent less if cars had bumpers that could absorb 10 mph collisions, Triple A chairman says." Finally: "Louvers, contours, combination lights have doubled costs on small bumpers in five years, raising insurance prices."

The unsigned single sheet seems obviously produced by some car insurance interests, bent on fighting the high cost of claims. We think insurance companies do well to be concerned about this. Perhaps, they could simply refuse to compensate a car owner for damage to what is commonly called the "trim" of a car. That would make car bodies twice their present weight, more "swank" and this, in turn, would tend to make auto manufacturers produce plain, but sturdy, cars.

But the car insurance fiasco are not blameless for the trend toward higher claims. Four summers ago our small chariot climbed a roadside stump on the Lower Faraday Road and came down with a thump, fender bent but still rarin' to run. The insurance man was called. He called a body-shop man. The body-shop man came up with an estimate which made it evident the fender must be made of platinum. When it was protested (by the car owner, not by the insurance company), the body man explained a new grille was necessary. Why? There was a dent in it. Where? A pencil-sized depression was pointed out to the owner. He said "Bah."

The insurance company man said: "But you are entitled to a new grille; it won't cost you anything." The owner still said "Bah."

Most car owners will think he was a dumb sheep, which is why careful drivers are made the helpless goats of high insurance costs resulting from a combination of paper-thin grilles, reckless drivers and the "it-doesn't-cost-you-anything" philosophy in dealing with insured losses.

Seat Belts Effective

Studies have shown that it is definitely safer to wear seat belts than not to.

In a brief by the Dominion Automobile Association, research showed the chance of injury or death in an auto crash is multiplied several times when a passenger is thrown out of the vehicle.

Statistics show the rate of fatalities as a result of ejection from a vehicle is approximately 10 per cent, while the rate for other vehicle hazards, e.g. steering wheel, instrument panel and windshield, show a fatality rate of about four per cent in accidents covered by the brief.

Findings of this nature have resulted in an increasing acceptance of seat belts and the installation by auto manufacturers of open-proof door latches on vehicles.

There is no doubt seat belts aid safety. The only doubt is whether people have enough sense to use them.

Stroke Victim Finds Loneliness Big Worry

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Within the last year, I had two strokes a month apart. I recovered quickly from the first. With the second I was not so lucky.

This one affected my speech and my left side. I think I could cope with it if I could only talk.

When you can't talk, people have a tendency to treat you as if you were simple-minded. I am so lonesome. I feel like I am making progress. I am 39.

Mrs. B. J.

What needless pain we sometimes cause our fellow creatures!

People of us do not know; and some of us forget, what a stroke usually does. An arm or a leg or face may be paralyzed, depending on which part of the brain is affected by the stroke. Or it limes muscles of the eye and throat may be paralyzed so that speech becomes impossible.

As a rule a stroke does not affect hearing, vision or intelligence.

A paralyzed leg or arm we can understand. But when the power of speech is lost, for some reason we jump to the false conclusion that the patient cannot hear or cannot understand, and the consequence is unnecessary cruelty.

I have seen stroke patients become annoyed and upset at their inability to express in words what they want, how they feel, or where they may be uncomfortable. It is painful to watch their struggles to express themselves. How much worse for them and how much still worse when, as with Mrs. B. J., the situation is completely misunderstood and the patient is condemned to loneliness.

In most rehabilitation centres there are speech therapists trained to help stroke patients recover some degree of self-expression if the paralysis is not too extreme.

There are also cases in which patients can speak, but because of some cross-circuiting of the motor control system, they try to say a certain word but a quite different one is spoken, to their utter frustration.

Yet the patients hear and understand.

People should remember not to condemn such sufferers to a cell of lonely ostracism.

Dear Dr. Molner: I work until 11 p.m. five days a week. When I get home I can't sleep and I stay up until 3 or 4 a.m. Is this harmful?

J. P.

If you get adequate sleep (that's a bonus for most of us) it doesn't matter. What is reasonable that you would want in relax a few hours before going to sleep?

Dear Dr. Molner: My 19-year-old daughter has a growth on her foot. The doctor says it is a plantar wart. She is taking X-ray treatments. I have never heard of this. Can you explain?

Mrs. M. O.

Plantar means it's a wart that grows on the plantar or sole portion of the foot. Such warts can be quite stubborn and, because of their location, painful.

Treatment varies sharply among medical people. Some doctors prefer to pare them down; other prefer X-ray.

The warts are believed to be caused by a virus, so the patient should wear slippers or clogs around the house, and not go barefoot over rugs or bathroom floors. This will prevent the risk of passing the virus on to others.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions in incorporated in his columns whenever possible.

$50 Fine Too Small

Ottawa Journal

How much should it cost to punch a policeman?

A young man was fined $30 and costs in Hull this week when he pleaded guilty to assaulting a constable. No matter how many extenuating circumstances there might be as a case like this, $30 is not enough. The dollar isn't what it used to be in buying power, and the public's attitude toward its policemen doesn't seem to be what it used to be either — the modern-day policeman apparently can't expect much help from bystanders when he is attacked. He should get more help from the courts, which can levy sentences up to two years in jail for assaulting an officer.

The number of "second offenders" among policemen-punchers is said to be low, so it could be argued that stiffer sentences would "benefit" those convicted. The answer is that fewer people would lose control of their senses long enough to attack a policeman if they knew in advance how hard they might be hit for the offence.

Not all policemen are paragons for tougher sentences, for first offenders, at any rate. By good-use of "psychology" a policeman, they point out, can pacify rather than antagonize many of the offenders he must deal with. But quiet psychology doesn't always work. The courts should stand ready with a tougher brand of psychology.

The Ontario legislature won't be the same when Farquhar Oliver retires at the next election. He has represented Grey South since 1926 first as a UFO member and then as a Liberal. In all that time no one ever has been able to defeat him.

He was a member of the Hepburn cabinet and, briefly leader of the Liberal party. He wasn't at any great success as leader but perhaps no one could have had that party to victory after its collapse at the end of the Hepburn regime.

He has been, however, a respected and popular member of the House and a very useful one. His service has been characterized by common sense and lack of extreme partisanship.

He has been one of the legislature's most able debaters. Few men could pack more into a short speech and, with his booming voice, everyone heard what he said.

If anyone casts aspersions on politicians, he should think of men such as Mr. Oliver and recognize that most are entitled to respect and appreciation.

What Use Is This Fact?

Kansas City Star

After working more than a year with 34 caged cats, a psychologist at Penn State announces that nine are right-handed, eight are left-handed and 17 don't care.

At Cambridge, Mass., meanwhile, another researcher has come up with a dee scription of they type of person least likely to suffer the circulatory disease of atherosclerosis: An unemployed, hypersensitive, bicycle-riding, non-smoking female coward, living in a crowded room on the island of Crete before 1925 and eating only uncooked cereals, safflower oil and water.

No one would deny for a moment that science is the key alone of this fantastic age. True, these particular studies may lead to nothing more practical than, say, the incidence of atherosclerosis in left-handed cats.

But the ways of pure research are sometimes wondrously circuitous. Who could have said, a few years ago, that knowledge of the sex habits of the fruit fly would be so instrumental in protecting the multi-million-dollar citrus industry in this country?

Sweden Cuts Unemployment

Regina Leader-Post

In the current extreme managements — labor turmoil, Canadians look on Sweden with envy. From 1954 to 1963, the number of days lost annually per 100 persons employed in that country never exceeded 5.5 and twice it dropped to 1. The low figure in Canada was 13.6 in 1960, with days lost ranging up to an extreme of 57.5.

This enviable record has not been achieved through resort to powers of compulsion. The compulsory arbitration device has been used sparingly, only twice in 15 years in disputes involving hospitals and police. Actually, agreement was reached in each case before public mediatory action was completed.

Sweden's success stems largely from the willingness of employers and employees alike to accept and be bound by the present labor laws and practices. Strictly Personal

Common Sense Unreliable

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Since the response to my recent discussion of "faith", and the ways in which this term is abused, was so gratifyingly encouraging, I'd like to examine another phase in the same category: "common sense."

"Common sense" is usually opposed to "intellectualism", in the same way that "practical" is opposed to "theoretical". People (and this includes most of us) tend to put everything to reasoning like to believe that "common sense" is all anyone needs to solve difficult problems of living.

Elsewhere in the world, "intellectual" is a word of approval and admiration; in our society, it is a cross between an insult and a joke. Despite the fact that "intellectual" men have been the source of all our most important advances, every new demand made upon us to go beyond the obvious, the particular, the immediate.

Our attitude is absurdly inconsistent. On the one hand, we have a tremendous faith in college; we revere diplomas and degrees more than any other nation; and a formal education has almost become mandatory for success.

On the other hand, we deride professors (and underpaying is a form of contempt for them); we resent the use of Latin or strange words: we suspect anyone who knows more than we do of being arrogant; and we punish the intellectual for being "different", as a means of allaying our own feelings of inadequacy and doubt.

To have genuine "common sense" means to know how far "common sense" will take you—and where it will break down.

It means understanding that some questions cannot be answered simply, that some problems require patient training and acute attitudes, that some opinions are worthless if they are merely based on the narrow sheet of personal experience.

This kind of common sense is exceedingly rare. What most people really mean when they apply the phrase to themselves is their ability to solve problems like old problems, their fear of painful thinking, their unwillingness to face a complex changing and mysterious universe, and their dread of giving their most cherished illusions.

"Common sense" for long enough in any given period was flat, that men could never fly, that democracy could not work, that slaves were irreducible.

It was the abstracter, the intellectualizer, who defied and transformed the common sense of the common man a modern concern. It is the basest ingratitude to forget this fact of history.

Nurses Look to Future

London Free Press Editorial

The symptoms of unrest are not confined to the trade unions of Canada these days, although it is to where they are most in evidence.

Groups outside the labor movement are experiencing some of the same problems — and professional nurses are a striking example.

They are concerned with their incomes, their working conditions and with their relationship to education. In Ontario, their dissatisfaction has been reflected by a move toward collective bargaining by professional nurses — particularly — especially at provincial mental hospitals — and even threats of strikes.

In the past, nurses have been reluctant to act aggressively because of the dedication and feeling that they would be sacrificing professional ethics and the patient-nurse relationship. Sympathy if they pressed too forcefully for their rights.

The starting salary of Canadian nurses is now $300-$350-a-month. They feel neither the money nor working conditions are enough to attract and keep nurses, especially in the demand for them is aggravated by a nationwide medicare program.

Indeed, the need to ensure an adequate supply of trained health personnel for such a program is one of the key problems airing maintains the country should approach medicare cautiously and with proper planning of priorities.

The provincial government would like to see steps taken to set up more hospital and personnel resources may not be available to meet the increased demand for services that will inevitably result.

Higher Wages For Money

Windsor Star

It is now an accepted economic principle that light money, resulting in higher interest rates, tends to disinvestment. And so in theory it should be, with the higher interest rates the greater the deterrent to borrowing and spending of borrowed money.

Some there are who have their misgivings, including former President Harry S. Truman who suggests high interest rates could cause a serious depression. President Lyndon B. Johnson, while not greeting with this appraisal, does express some concern about the effect of the higher rates on capital investment.

In good times people perhaps can afford to pay high interest rates, spreading the cost of paying over their ears in debt. But what happens in event of layoffs or unemployment? Then they could be in very serious trouble indeed, if called upon to reliable a mortgage at 6 per cent or eight per-cent interest.

There is another angle to this which bothers laymen, it is seemingly that wage increases for workers are inflationary in boom times. But what about the wage increases for money? Interest is what money earns, and it means higher incomes for those who lend the money at the higher rates. It's a thought-provoking question.

Five starlings in 1932; seven in 1934; 6,000 in 1935; 14,000 in 1937; 40,000 in 1941; 80,000 in 1943; 118,000 in 1944; 300,000 in 1945; and 500,000 in January of 1946.

By late summer it is estimated that one million starlings will have wing d their way down the Fraser River.

Parliamentary Notebook

OTTAWA (CP)—A letter addressed simply, "Gregoire, Ottawa," was delivered on Parliament Hill Thursday. It said: "Resign immediately."

Gilles Gregoire, the separatist-minded Independent MP, is chuckled as he showed the letter to a reporter.

Although he favors the banishment from Quebec of the post office and all other federal agencies, Mr. Gregoire praised the postal workers for their efficiency.

The blunt note in French was mailed Wednesday at Arvida, the aluminum centre in Mr. Gregoire's riding of Lapointe, and was unsigned.

It was among unusual replies to a questionnaire the MP sent to all 13,234 households in the riding, asking his constituents whether they feel he should "complete my mandate"

Out of 204 replies received to date, 140 said Mr. Gregoire should stay on until the next election and 56 called for his resignation.

MIGHT STEP DOWN

The 40-year-old MP, who was elected president of a Quebec separatist party in August, said in an interview he will seriously consider resigning if 55 per cent or more of the replies favor it. He thought this possibility remote.

Although the letters urging Mr. Gregoire to resign are in the minority so far, they are outspoken. One said, "You're finished, Gilles."

Another note in French told him where he could go and ended with the words, "vive la Reine" (long live the Queen).

A third voter, noting press reports about Mr. Gregoire's luxury yacht purchased in Toronto, said the MP soon will have lots of time for boating.

Opinion is nearly evenly divided on a second question in the questionnaire. The question reads: "Do you approve my stand as a Creditiste who favors the independence of Quebec?"

So far, 118 constituents have replies yes and 86 no.

While he still calls himself a Creditiste, he was expelled by the party caucus last month. Creditiste Leader Caouette said his party strongly opposes separatism.

Claims Trial And Remand Were Illegal

OAKVILLE (CP)—Peter McWilliams, Halton County Crown attorney, has asked for a transcript of an alleged secret juvenile court hearing of a charge of indecent exposure against Donald F. Lankin, 43-year-old former NOAF pilot who is the beneficiary of a $100,000 legacy.

"This man's trial and remand to Ontario Hospital for 30 days' observation were unquestionably illegal," Mr. McWilliams said in an interview Friday.

"Family court has no jurisdiction to try offences under the Criminal Code."

Mr. Lankin was remanded for observation following testimony by police and other witnesses. He is being held indefinitely for Detention Act, was told by psychiatrists certified him as mentally ill.

Mr. McWilliams said he does not question the hospital's findings, but is concerned with the "unlawful" trial and loss of the man's freedom.

Private Rail Line Practically Closed by Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A strike of non-operating employees that has virtually tied down the Pacific Great Eastern Railway began early today.

Union representatives of some 400 non-operating employees rejected a last-minute offer by the provincially - owned line that came from North Vancouver to Fort St. John.

A 14-day strike against the railway last year cost the PGE about $1,000,000 in lost revenue.

About 2,000 PGE employees are affected by the strike.

A prolonged strike against the 790-mile line would seriously affect business activity in sections of the interior and most of the north, dependent on the PGE to carry supplies and ship out forest products and other goods.

The Federation of PGE employees wants a 50-cent-an-hour increase in wages plus certain fringe benefits. Just before the strike began the union rejected a PGE offer to guarantee that employees would get whatever national railway employees receive, or a minimum of 70 cents for tradesmen and 47 for non-tradesmen.

J. S. Broadbent, general manager of the line, said no further talks are scheduled.

Textile Workers to Make Major Issue of Tilco Strike

TORONTO (CP)—The Textile Workers' Union of America said today it plans to make a major issue of the Tilco Plastics strike in Peterborough at a national conference called by the Canadian Labor Congress for Sept. 27-29 at Ottawa to deal with the use of court injunctions in labor disputes.

Jacques Watson, Canadian director of the union, announced the action as he blasted as "a complete travesty of justice" the Ontario Labor Relations Board's refusal to allow the TWUA to prosecute Tilco for failure to bargain in good faith.

The OLRB, in a split decision conveyed to the Canadian Press the weekend, held the union had presented insufficient evidence to justify a court prosecution against Tilco, whose 35 TWUA members have been on strike since December.

The strike has brought mass demonstrations and jail sentences for 26 union men for contempt of court in violating a picket-limiting superior court injunction. The convictions are under appeal.

ARGUMENTS RAISED

Key point in the labor board's majority report was the fact that last May 15 the company offered to re-employ five of the strikers. The union's decision held that re-employment of five and refusal to consider others of the remainder raised "an arguable question of law" as to whether the company was bargaining fairly.

Ed Boyer, a former union official who wrote the dissenting opinion, said he would have granted permission to prosecute.

The majority decision was signed by J. H. Brown, chairman, and Herbert Irwin, management official before joining the board.

Mr. Watson said it was "inconceivable in the light of evidence we presented, coupled with statements made by legislator by Labor Minister Rowntree, that the board should deny the TWUA the right even to initiate prosecution proceedings against the union-busting Tilco Plastics.

CLC FACES ISSUE

"The TWUA intends to make the whole Tilco situation including the OLRB decision a major issue at the CLC's national conference," Mr Watson said in a statement.

"All the evidence to date points to the fact that the right to collective bargaining and the right to effectively picket during a legal and lawful strike are being circumvented by the actions of the judiciary and the Conservative government of Ontario.

"The court decision to incarcerate peaceful demonstrators coupled with this latest denial of basic rights by the labor board, tears a serious gap in the fabric of Canadian democracy."

Corporate Cash Tax Puts $56 Million in Deep Freeze

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Sharp's refundable five-per-cent tax on corporate cash on hand has put $56,000,000 into a treasury deep freeze in the first four months of the tax in effect.

A finance department treasury statement released Friday showed that $18,400,000 was collected in April, August, down from July's $19,100,000 and the $19,300,000 collected in May and June together.

First payments of the tax were due May 31. It is to be collected every month for 18 months and then repaid with interest to the corporations in the subsequent 18 to 36 months, depending on the economic situation prevailing then.

Federal authorities said there were difficulties getting the initial tax collections. Regulations had to be drafted and new tax forms drawn up in accompanied field of corporate accounting.

The tax applies not only to net profits after expenses are met, but to the cash a company has on hand after adding back into its profits the depreciation charges it normally is allowed as a tax-free business expense. But the $56,000,000 collected in four months appeared to be falling short of the $80,000,000 Mr. Sharp said in his budget speech last March 29 he expected the unusual tax to yield in a full 12 months. Mr. Sharp promised to explain no one knew precisely what the tax would yield.

MOVED AGAINST INFLATION

It was one of three moves in the March budget to curb inflationary pressures by having companies stretch out their expansion plans. At that time, the ban was inflationary pressures were in the construction industry, hard pressed to keep up with the demand for new factories, buildings, and major capital works.

The other budget moves were to reduce the amount of depreciation companies could charge as a business expense, and to remove the controversial 11-per-cent sales tax on production machinery and equipment in two stages over the next two years. The hope was that all three moves would prompt businessmen to postpone expansion projects.

Regulations governing the refundable tax left it to the corporations to estimate what their cash flows would be, and then pay the five-per-cent tax on them by monthly instalments.

Because of narrowing profit expectations in many businesses during recent months, it is believed here that corporate treasurers are scaling down their estimates of cash flow, and consequently their monthly instalment payments of the tax.

If they underestimate their tax liability, however, they will face a day of reckoning at the end of the corporation tax year. Deficiencies will have to be paid within, three months, and interest will be charged by the government on late or deficient payments.

Canadian Reporter in Saigon Learns Old Lesson Hard Way

By Ed Reed

When a friend has a minor misfortune, you sympathize with him, perhaps thinking you'd never let a thing like that happen to you. Then it happens. This story by Canadian Press reporter Douglas Amaron is for anyone ever caught in such an embarrassing predicament.

By DOUGLAS AMARON

SAIGON (CP) — The Viet Nam election is old hat now but this is a warning to anyone planning to observe the next one in 1967: Stay on the sidelines.

It was almost election eve and a giant rally was held in the market square in downtown Saigon. As rallies go it was a bit of a flop with probably not more than 2,000 of this city's 2,500,000 population on hand, but the square is small and they were packed elbow to elbow.

Loudspeakers boomed from every corner, music from one, speeches from another, making it almost impossible to distinguish what was coming from where. Bands, including one whose tallest member was a 10-year-old drummer, added to the cacophony.

At least half the crowd consisted of teen-agers and children, including many breast-feeding Asian mothers. Banners and multi - colored posters splashed color across the scene and balloon vendors did a roaring business.

Everywhere there were flaming torches—two - foot-long bamboo poles dipped in oil cans scattered about the square and lighted and relighted as the oil burned off. Most of them were carried by children.

POPCORN FOR A DIME

Popcorn sellers—or whatever their equivalent is in Viet Nam — moved through the crowd offering their wares at about 10 cents a bag.

Some marches blared in the background and children screamed to their parents to lift them up to see what was going on. A trio of attractive girl singers—the only entertainers to receive applause—sang Vietnamese folk-songs, then spoiled it by adding When the Saints Come Marching In and Shoo, Shoo Little Girl in English.

An electric guitar twanged a western tune and then a Beatles record drowned out everything. All this from people complaining that their culture is not appreciated by Westerners.

There were no fireworks on the official program, but at 9 p.m., one hour after the demonstrations began, loud explosions came from the southern outskirts of the city. Illumination flares drifted almost nonchalantly across the night and tracer bullets from unplanned color to the festivities.

This was the Viet Cong's contribution to the evening—bombs being dropped on what was later officially described as a school's graduation exercises.

You know the rally was propaganda, but how could you keep out of it when a bright-eyed eight-year-old grabbed your arm and pulled you through the crowd to see something new. You lifted him on your shoulders up he could get a better look at the dragon, held his torch while he pobbled up a cake bought with your 10 piastres.

Then a mother feeding her two-year-old from a bottle pointed to the baby, then to your shoulders and you got the message. So up went the baby, and you hoped his pants stayed dry.

And so it went for three hours, and the shooting died down in the suburbs and the flares went out one by one. You lowered the eight-year-old for the last time, returned the two-year-old to his mother and made your way back to your hotel.

Is that hour? You looked at your watch and looked again. There was no watch. The thief had just happened to your friends but couldn't happen to you had happened. Probably the two - year - old. They learn fast here.

So you went back to your hotel and your room.

The Viet nam election is old hat now but this is a warning to anyone planning to observe the next one in 1967: Stay on the sidelines.

Marguerite Monty Has Spent Two Years in Planning Centennial

Anglican Women Plan Changes in Their Auxiliary

Mrs. C. F. MacRae, Dominion chairman of the Education Department of the Anglican Woman's Auxiliary, was the speaker at the Diocesan meeting held in Tamworth.

Whether the organization continues to call itself the Woman's Auxiliary, or whether it is changed to Anglican Church Women, its purpose remains the same, she said. The Auxiliary's purpose is "to unite women in a fellowship of worship, study and offering which will deepen and strengthen their own spiritual lives and will lead them into Christian service".

Mrs. S. G. Jackson of Brockville told the members that the constitution would be discussed at the Deanery meetings to be held during October. She asked all members to be prepared to take part in the discussion of the new situation.

For two years she's helped plan the trails and trailers that will cross the country during 1967, carrying displays of Canada's history since the Ice age.

When the trails pulls out of Victoria next January, Marguerite will be looking for something else to do. A tall, slim 30-year-old with big brown eyes and a short Sassoon cut, she's already worked as a secretary in Europe and for the CBC in Montreal, where she graduated from university.

In her job with the centennial commission, she's travelled in Canada from the Yukon to the Maritimes, researching the history and character of each region.

She did her research in English and French. Her French-Canadian father was a Canadian trade commissioner abroad, and the family lived in Norway, Greece, Portugal and Belgium, where Marguerite studied to be a book illustrator.

DISPLAYS REALISTIC

In the centennial commission home office in Ottawa, she worked with designers to plan the historical displays, which range from still pictures and historical documents to a mock-up of the hold of an early immigrant ship, complete with sound effects of crying babies and a realistic open-sea rocking motion.

The train, with six exhibition coaches, will take a full year to cross the country, finishing up in Sydney, N.S., in December. The caravans, fleets of eight 70-foot trailers, will tour towns off the railroad lines.

Each region—Maritimes, British Columbia and so on—will have its own caravan. Their displays will be identical, but a special display set up outside the trailers will tell the story of the particular region the caravan is touring.

Some of the most interesting people Marguerite met in her research travels were a group of ex-scoundrels in the Yukon. "Most of them were about 35, and some of them didn't even know how old they were, but they all said they wished they were still out on the trail with their dogs."

She'd like to write her research into a Story of Canada book. "Another thing I'd like to do is a directory of restaurants across the country."

Delivery Business Too Brisk

TORONTO (CP) — Bruce Fraser is in his delivery business, but some days business as a little too good for comfort.

The 29-year-old truck driver Thursday delivered a six-pound baby when his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Raymond, found themselves in premature difficulties.

It was the sixth child he has delivered in 12 years.

"I'm just lucky, I guess", he said.

He first got into the baby business in 1954, making a delivery at the scene of an accident. He was only 17.

A year later he was a helper in a Canadian Army ambulance at Camp Petawawa, near Pembroke, when the second emergency arose.

In 1957, in the same ambulance, he delivered a third child, and then twins.

Mr. Raymond was less collected than Mr. Fraser Thursday night.

"I even went to the wrong hospital," sighed the father. "I thought my wife was in Humber Memorial, but they had taken her to Northwestern."

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Goodness, what happened to that wonderful sense of humor you had when we were first married?"

DOUBLE CRUST PEACH PIE

A perfect way to distract oneself while momentarily awaiting news of the arrival of a seventh grandchild is to make a peach pie with the help of 6 year-old sitter, Jennifer.

You see, this little baby Hilary seemed to be very small before her birth and did weigh only 3¼ lbs. on her arrival but is healthy and active and thriving.

Instead of pacing the floor I did what came naturally, I baked. It was a joy to teach Jennifer how to roll out the bottom crust. She slipped the skin from the blanched peaches, sprinkled the sugar-tapioca mixture over them in the pastry-lined pie plate and brushed the glaze on the top crust with the sugar-milk mixture. It is baking as I write this and she stands guard at the oven door calling to me, "Grandma, come and look at our pie". She is a cooking grandmother's dream come true.

2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
2/3 cup best quality shortening
3 tbsps. butter
1 tsp. salt
4 tbsps. cold water

Filling:
10 or 11 ripe medium-sized peaches blanched in boiling water 30 seconds
2/3 cup sugar
2 tbsps. min. tapioca
shake of salt
¼ tsp. almond extract

Make the pastry by cutting the shortening and butter into the flour and salt with pastry blender until size of peas. Sprinkle cold water over, 1 tbsp. at a time, tossing with fork just until mixture is dampened. Press into ball between palms. Divide in half. Roll out one-half on lightly floured board to fit 9" deep pie plate. Roll out remaining half of dough and cut "geshes" at centre.

Slip skin from blanched peaches and slice half of them into pastry-lined pie plate. Mix together sugar, tapioca and almond extract and sprinkle half over sliced peaches. Slice remaining peaches over and sprinkle with remaining sugar-tapioca mixture. Moisten edges of bottom crust, seal on top crust and crimp edges very firmly. Brush top with mixture of 1 tbsp. each sugar and milk. Bake at 425° deg. Fahr. for 10 min. then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. for another 50 min. The peaches require this long baking.

My son Pete said it was my best yet 1966 pie.

Successful Living

Wife Angry Because Husband Too Busy

DEAR DORIS: My husband never seems to have any spare time for me. Not even an hour in the evening. Does this seem selfish? He is a very active person and this is good too, but I crave his companionship as well as other people's friendship.

I tried to help him with the gardening, as we have a big yard, but according to him I don't do it right. I'm not a complete imbecile, so I don't do it any more.

He can't even sit out on the lawn for a half hour and talk; this seems to bore him. The things I like to do both him (dancing, listening to music, going for walks, playing with the children.)

DORIS CLARK

I don't expect him to be overly romantic; I just want his company. — BEING SELFISH.

DEAR BEING: Not selfish; normal. But some people have to be doing something every minute. Twenty years later they drop dead. Or if they are lucky they come to and begin wondering what all the rush is about, in time to save themselves.

What doesn't bore him? Would he show you how he wants his gardening done? Try again to tune in with one of his numerous activities; this will give you a huge point from which to introduce him to his children as well as to his wife.

* * *

DEAR DORIS: My husband has started a hobby of collecting unusual pieces of driftwood. These are hand finished and mounted and are such beautiful pieces of art in their shape, form and color that I feel he could market them.

He would like to turn his hobby into a business. How would he go about finding a dealer who would be interested in handling these items? — ARTISTIC.

DEAR ARTISTIC: Driftwood which has been selected and worked on with an eye to beauty of line and color is saleable. It is used in flower arrangements, lamp bases and centrepieces.

Ask the shops which sell them are usually to be found in the larger centres. Look in the yellow pages of the telephone book for wholesalers and retailers of "Gift Wares."

* * *

DEAR DORIS: A couple of weeks ago, Daf, my best friend, and I came home from the lake. We met this one boy called Bing. It seemed that he could talk to Daf more easily than to me. This situation has happened many times.

Daf and I are the same size, only my friends tell me I have a better personality and am cuter. Could you please tell me why boys cannot talk to me easily? — CUTER BUT.

DEAR CUTER: Does it occur to you that size and cuteness are not even remotely related to being easy to talk to? But since I know neither of you, Daf's secret eludes me.

Could it be Daf's:
(1) Friendliness?
(2) Interest in them, instead of in her own cuteness, or lack of?
(3) Understanding of people?
As to their dis-ease with you, could it be your:
(1) Self-consciousness about cuteness?
(2) Feelings of strangeness with boys?
(3) Lack of habit of making conversation?
You'll improve with practice. I'm sending you my Tips on Talking (which is available to girls in a similar fix for ten cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

MR. AND MRS. KERRY SODEN

Soden – Casey

Right Rev. James F. Sullivan officiated at the wedding ceremony in the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, Belleville on Saturday, September 17, 1960 at 12 noon, when Sheila Margaret Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Casey, Belleville was united in marriage to Kerry John Soden, Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Soden, Belleville.

Wedding music was rendered by Miss Dorothy Grant who also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Adrian Vogt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length bridal gown of white crepe styled on classic lines featuring an Alencon lace bead and elbow length sleeves. The chiffon skirt was also enhanced with appliques of Alencon lace with scallops of matching lace encircling the hemline. A full length veil of tulle illusion extended from a lace wedding ring headdress. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gardenias, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Mary Lee Casey, sister of the bride as maid of honor wore a floor length pelican pink chiffon over taffeta. Empire styled gown with matching velvet ribbon outlining the high neckline, from which flowed a graceful panel. She carried a nosegay of Sweetheart roses.

The bridesmaids Miss Rosemary Soden of Toronto, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Joanne Griffiths, Toronto and Miss Gail Sullivan also of Toronto were gowned identically to the maid of honor but in turquoise shade. They were nosegaye velvet headdresses and carried matching nosegays.

Mr. Casey Soden of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom was the groomsman, while Mr. Lawrence Soden of Toronto, Mr. James O'Brien of Ottawa and Mr. Peter Stone of Kingston were the ushers.

For the wedding reception in the Pinnacle Room, Hotel Quinte, the bride's mother greeted the guests wearing a burgundy chiffon dress with matching hat and other accessories and an orchid corsage. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who wore a lilac wool ensemble with matching hat, turban and accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Leaving on a honeymoon trip the bride donned a plum colored wool ensemble, matching accessories and a corsage of dusty rose glamelias.

Mr. and Mrs. Soden will reside at 2 Park Vista, Toronto, where the bridegroom is with the Price Waterhouse Company and the bride is on the staff of the Notre Dame High School.

Ann Landers

Travelling With Boss Often Unbusinesslike

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 18 years old and going to secretarial school. I want to become an expert in shorthand and typing so that I can be a first-class secretary and travel with my boss.

When I tell my friends that this is my ambition in life, their jaws drop and their eyebrows shoot up about six inches. The general impression seems to be that a secretary who travels with her boss is more than just a secretary — if you get what I mean. Maybe I am terribly naive, but is this the way it is? — FLEDGLING.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR FLEDGE: Well, honey, that's the way it is sometimes — but of course there are exceptions.

Apparently you are a girl who enjoys secretarial work and also wants to travel. I suggest you weigh these two ambitions and make a choice — become either a secretary or an airline stewardess.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a woman, 48, with a fine husband and three wonderful children who are all doing well in college.

Would you believe that my problem is my parents? My father is a drunk and my mother is the long-suffering type who enjoys her role.

As a child we often had boiled potatoes and beans for dinner and our clothes came from resale shops, but dad always drove an expensive car and had plenty of money for liquor. Mother worked nights, cleaning office buildings.

The problem is that at least once a week my mother phones me at any hour of the night to come and help her get dad out of jail, or pull him out of a tavern, or help drag him from the vestibule to the second floor bedroom.

I have told my mother repeatedly not to involve me in the messes but she always cries on the phone and says she needs me. My husband used to go along but he got fed up a few years ago and told me I was on my own with my nutty family.

In your column you have frequently said if a person speaks up against being used, that will end the problem, but it hasn't worked for me. I've told my mother to leave me alone dozens of times but she keeps calling. What can I do? — USED UP.

* * *

DEAR UP: You recognize the martyr complex in your mother but don't recognize it in yourself.

Your mother has helped your dad stay on the home and you've backed her in the role of abused wife. When you get smart and knock it off, your mother may get smart, too.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can you settle a disagreement? I attended a luncheon recently and met some interesting people. Since I am a newcomer to this city I am on the alert for women I'd like to know better.

Mrs. V. seemed very friendly and eager to introduce me around. She brought over a stunning woman who was exquisitely dressed and said with great pride, "This is my sister." At that moment another woman stepped up and greeted Mrs. V. She was shabbily dressed, plain in appearance but her smile was warm and I liked her at once. Mrs. V. said: "This is my half-sister." We had the same mother but not the same father." I felt it was unnecessary for her to make the distinction. My mother did not agree with me. What do you think? — UNDECIDED.

* * *

DEAR UNDECIDED: The "distinction" was unspeakably rude. Nobody expects to be cited in on blood lines during a casual introduction.

Youth Sought For Questioning In Slaying

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP)—A 18-year-old youth was sought for questioning in the Valerie Percy slaying today as police beefed up their forces for a long investigation.

Kenilworth Police Chief Robert M. Daley said state troopers had joined his 31-man force trying to track down the slayer of the 21-year-old Miss Percy, daughter of Charles H. Percy, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate from Illinois.

Police sought for questioning a youth about 19 who spoke to Valerie and her twin sister, Sharon, some 30 hours before she was killed.

Police said the girls sat near the youth in an elevated train car as they returned home from their father's Chicago campaign headquarters. They quoted Sharon as saying her sister introduced the youth by his first name only.

Sharon told police the conversation then ended. She said the youth transferred trains with them and got off to their stop, walked behind them a short distance and then took another path.

Police said Sharon's description of the youth matched sketchy descriptions of Valerie's killer. They did not disclose his name.

Miss Percy was beaten and stabbed repeatedly Sept. 18 in the Percy home. Daley said more than 120 persons have been questioned since the brutal murder.

Soviet Union Appears Out To Make It Anti-American Year in General Assembly

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The Soviet Union appears to be out to make this anti-American year in the General Assembly. The Soviet-bloc attack got under way the first week of the session that started Tuesday.

But the United States is turning the other cheek. It has not objected to assembly debate on five anti-U.S. items proposed by the Soviet bloc and three anti-U.S. resolutions proposed by the Soviet Union.

It has even offered to co-sponsor one of the resolutions, against "actions hampering the conclusion of an agreement on the non-proliferation of nuclear weapons."

Such co-sponsorship tends to make the resolution seem not to be what it actually is—a slap at the arrangements the United States is promoting to share fire - control over its nuclear weapons with West Germany and others while retaining an ultimate veto.

Czechoslovakia foreshadowed the onslaught on the eve of the session. It asked that the assembly debate an item titled:

"Is strict observance of the prohibition of the threat or use of force in international relations and of the right of peoples to self-determination."

Czechoslovakia did not name any names. But on opening day, the Communist countries unveiled their villain—the United States.

Ten of them asked that the assembly talk about getting U.S. troops out of South Korea.

The assembly's general debate began Thursday and on the second day Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko moved to turn it into a mass denunciation of U.S. military aid to South Viet Nam.

HIT THREE AREAS

Gromyko announced requests for debate on three new items with resolutions attached:

1. "Status of the implementation of the (assembly's 1965) declaration on the inadmissibility of intervention in the domestic affairs of states. . . .

2. "Renunciation by states of actions hampering the conclusion of an agreement on the discontinuation of nuclear weapons.

3. "Elimination of foreign military bases in the countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America."

Gromyko also said the U.S., in Geneva negotiations on a treaty against the spread of nuclear weapons, was trying to leave loopholes that would allow access to nuclear weapons to non - nuclear countries in the Western alliance, "particularly West Germany."

The assembly Saturday put all five Communist items on its agenda, took the Czechoslovak no-use-of-force item to debate itself and sent the other four to the main political committee.

That means that after the general debate ends about Oct. 21, the Communists can go on talking about the Viet item in the assembly while discussing the Czechoslovak item. Then they can bid the U.S. again and again in the political committee, where their items make up one-third of the agenda.

First Negro Family Accepted In Exclusive Neighborhood

By GENE SCHROEDER

Inside, Mrs. Wright prepared dinner in the modern kitchen of the two-story red brick colonial home.

Two other children—Joyce, 7, and Cheryl, 9 — were in a nearby grammar school.

The father, A. Gordon Wright, 36, prepared to wind up a busy day at the office so he could join his family in their new $40,000 home at Grosse Pointe Woods, a plush Detroit suburb.

It was a typical family pattern, repeated in thousands of communities — except for one thing:

The Wrights are the first Negro family to live in the neighborhood.

FOUND HOSTILITY

When they moved in about two months ago, they were the targets of hostility and harassment.

There were strains going up and down the street—walking, driving, shouting. "Nigger, get out," said Wright, a regional director of the federal economic development administration and the son of a Cleveland Methodist minister. "I just couldn't conceive of running into this sort of thing in 1966."

All is serene now, Wright said.

"We're being treated with friendliness and courtesy, and our two girls have had no problems," he said. "There have been no further incidents."

Other residents of Grosse Pointe Woods agree.

"The Wrights seem to have been accepted as just another new family in the neighborhood," said Circuit Judge Blair Moody Jr., chairman of the Grosse Pointe Human Relations Council.

"I'm not suggesting, though, that the problem has been completely resolved," said Moody, who lives about six blocks from the Wrights.

The problem is the fear of some homeowners that property values automatically drop when Negroes move into a neighborhood.

This theory has been challenged by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, which distributed a letter to Grosse Pointe Woods clergymen and civic leaders when the Wrights moved in.

"Numerous studies conducted by economists and appraisers have established that property values remain constant or even increase under these circumstances (Negroes moving into a neighborhood).

"The only exception is a temporary depression if a great number of property owners in the same neighborhood panic and put their property up for sale at the same time.

"If this happens, it is often because of an unscrupulous real estate broker who attempts to exploit community fears and tension."

Hilary Whittaker, chairman of the Human Relations Council's membership committee, said that within two weeks after the Wrights moved in there were 36 applications for membership.

Hanover Wins 29 In 1:59

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bret Hanover registered the 39th victory of his career under the two-minute barrier when he led all the way to a 1:59 clocking in the $20,000 Harness Tracks of America championship pace at Liberty Bell Park Harness Track Saturday night.

The victory made Bret Hanover the top money - winning pacer in the history of harness racing, with total winnings of $807,025 in his three years of racing. This topped the previous high of $805,006 rung up by the now-retired trotter Su Mac Lad in nine years of racing.

Driven by Frank Ervin, the winner paid $2.20, $2.20 and $2.20, causing the biggest mixed pool in the track's history. A total of $32,200.06 had to be made up by the track.

Bret Hanover, leading all the way, was clocked in 30:45 seconds at the quarter, 1:00:46 at the half and 1:30 at the three-quarter pole. He was never seriously threatened. Adios Marchez and Adios Vic, who finished second and third, respectively, s p u r t l e d in the stretch.

Will Relieve Peace Force In Cyprus

NICOSIA (Reuters) — Thousands of troops from eight countries will move in and out of Cyprus during the next three weeks as contingents of the United Nations peace force on the island are relieved.

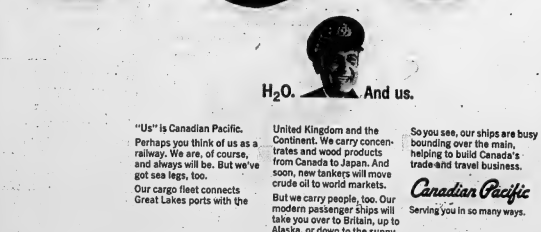
In addition, Turkey Wednesday will replace half its 600-man battalion stationed near Nicosia under the 1960 Treaty of Alliance.

- The Cyprus government has denounced the treaty under which Greece and Turkey station troops in Cyprus. But President Makarios has acceded to an appeal from UN Secretary-General U Thant not to oppose the Turkish troops replacement to avoid renewed communal troubles.

Finland's 6th battalion and an Austrian field hospital unit are flying home this week. They will be followed shortly by Canada's 2nd Black Watch, Britain's Royal Welsh Fusiliers, the Swedish 34th battalion and the Irish 8th infantry group.

Denmark will replace a battalion in November. Britain will replace the Welsh battalion with a Black Watch Regiment.

Man Set Afire By Juveniles Dies of Burns



NEW YORK (AP)—Leonard Reston Jr., a sedated minister whose life had drifted onto the Bowery, died Sunday of burns suffered last week when teen-agers doused him with kerosene and set him afire.

The 51-year-old derelict, one of three men similarly attacked in the space of a week, was taken to hospital last Monday from an oil - Bowery doorway where he had been sleeping on a pad of cardboard cartons when attacked.

He was burned over 75 per cent of his body. Five youngsters, ranging in age from 12 to 16, were arrested the next day in connection with the incident and charged as juvenile delinquents.

Both of the other burn victims are reported recuperating.

What do the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Great Lakes have in common?

H2O. And us.

"Us" is Canadian Pacific.

Perhaps you think of us as a railway. We are, of course, and always will be. But we've got sea legs, too.

Our cargo fleet connects Great Lakes ports with the United Kingdom and the Continent. We carry concentrates and wood products from Canada to Japan. And soon, new tankers will move crude oil to world markets.

But we carry people, too. Our modern passenger ships will take you over to Britain, up to Alaska, or down to the sunny Caribbean. And we'll take good care of you.

Student Accident Insurance

THE BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL is pleased to announce it has again arranged for Student Accident Insurance. This insurance will be offered to the Students during the month of September.

Many parents now have insurance through their Group Medical Plans but this Student Insurance covers many types of accidents not normally found on regular Group Plans. The premiums are very attractive since both the Secondary and Public School students participate in this Insurance offering.

Some of the benefits pay for loss of life, loss of eyes, hands, feet, fingers, arms and legs. The policy pays double indemnity for loss of life while in school busses. It also covers dental expenses and blanket medical expenses.

The premiums are $1.00, $3.00 or $5.00 depending on which choice you require. Or, you may decline the insurance. Each letter to the parents will explain in detail the coverages, the exclusions and the premiums. There will also be an enrollment card which should be completed and returned to the school for attention of the Council Representative.

The BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL presents this insurance as a service to the students and their parents and does not benefit in any way from this offering of insurance. The Lorne-McDougall Insurance Agencies Ltd. are the Agents servicing this insurance and claims are handled directly by this Agency.

Australia's Chinese Trade Draws Increasing Criticism

By VINCENT MATTHEWS
Canadian Press Correspondent

MELBOURNE (CP)—As Australia's involvement in the Viet Nam war increases, the critics of Australia's trade with Communist China become more vociferous.

Since February, 1951, Australia has sold China 477,600,000 bushels of wheat and last year China bought 44 per cent of Australia's wheat exports.

When Australian Prime Minister Menzies returned from a recent visit to the U.S. he was asked about his remark in Washington about going "all the way with LBJ." He was asked if there was any aspect of Australian foreign policy which differed from that of the U.S.

"Yes," Holt replied. "Our trade with Communist China, for instance."

This seemed to be an effective illustration of independence, but it also drew attention to an ambiguity in policy that at times causes government ministers embarrassment.

On the one side is the official policy that China is a threat to Southeast Asia and ultimately to Australia; that Peking is the real evil force behind the Viet Nam war; that communism (that is, China) must be contained. Hence the sending of Australian troops to Viet Nam and enthusiastic support for U.S. actions there.

TRADE IS BRISK

On the other side is a policy that permits extensive trade with China, particularly in wheat. Since 1950 — years in which Australia's political attitudes towards China have hardened — the trade has increased dramatically. In 1960-61, Australia bought from China goods worth $8,000,000 (about $9,980,000 Canadian) and sold goods worth $80,000,000.

By 1964-65, Australian exports to China were worth $136,000,000 and imports from China $33,000,000.

Of the exports, wheat accounted for $116,000,000 and wool $14,000,000. Other exports included iron and steel plate and chemicals. Most of the imports from China are textiles. The value of textile imports rose from $2,000,000 in 1960-61 to $13,000,000 in 1964-65.

A leading Australian importer of Chinese textiles said he recently bought more than 1,000,000 yards of textiles in a deal in Canton.

The Australian Clothing Manufacturers' Council has called Chinese imports "a serious threat" because "Australian industry cannot compete with Chinese prices." A Chinese - made dressing gown, for example, costs $2 retail against $6 for an almost identical Australia-made gown. Women's summer frocks from China are one - third the price of the Australian - made frocks.

PAY AS YOU ADVANCE

This substantial trade has gone on with a country whose government is not recognized by Australia. The wheat deals are negotiated in Hong Kong by Australian wheat board delegations led by the wheat board chairman, Dr. A. R. Callaghan, who said: "We never have any difficulty over payment for the shipments. In fact, the Chinese have even paid in advance, although they have 12 months' credit."

The trade has been welcomed, of course, by Australia's farmers who have been able to turn over more of their land to wheat with a gilt-edged assurance of a market. A record 30,000,000 bushels had been planted with wheat by the end of July and by Christmas a record 400,000,000-bushel harvest is expected.

If the farmers are happy at this Australian government's deal rule of China, so are the government's economists who have seen the huge wheat deals make all the difference between balancing Australia's international trade books and finishing with a deficit. The China sales are particularly valuable because Peking pays in convertible currency.

But the embarrassment for the government comes on the political side. As criticism from the extreme right - wing of its own Liberal party and from the minority Democratic Labor party. Their fears of China are so real that they believe it almost treachery to trade with Peking. A Democratic Labor senator accused the government of "trading with the enemy."

Trade Minister John McEwen replied that trade was a matter of private business.

The feelings of the critical right - wingers were pacified two months ago when it was announced that Australia would send an ambassador to Formosa. Although Australia had recognized the Nationalist Chinese government, it had never raised its diplomatic mission in Taipei to full embassy status.

Two Student Pilots Killed Near Markham

MARKHAM, Ont. (CP)—Two student pilots, Heinrich Otten of Keswick, Ont., and Brian Goodfellow of West Hill, Ont., were killed Sunday when their planes collided over the Toronto-Markham Airport.

Police said two single - seat aircraft were making a final approach for landing when they collided at an altitude of 75 feet.

Keith Bacon of Toronto, a pilot who witnessed the crash, said Mr. Otten was above Mr. Goodfellow and making a shallow turn.

He said the propeller of Mr. Goodfellow's plane hit Mr. Otten's plane and "cut it in half." He said Mr. Goodfellow's plane was not badly damaged but the pilot seemed to lose control.

Eichmann Aide Goes on Trial After Appeal

VIENNA (Reuters) — Franz Novak, former SS 53 (elite guard) captain and an alleged accomplice of Adolf Eichmann, went on trial here today charged with organizing the transportation of thousands of Jews to concentration camps during the Second World War.

Novak, 53, was sentenced in 1964 to eight years' imprisonment for "actions and commissions which endangered the lives of Jews sent to the death camps." He appealed and the Supreme Court ordered a retrial.

Eichmann, captured in Argentine by Israeli agents in 1960, was hanged in Israel for crimes against humanity two years later.

Good Used Cars Can Be Traded Even for New Ones

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND (CP) — Shortage of cars in a highly-motorized country is causing strange anomalies in New Zealand.

Some models of cars up to two years old are worth more than new ones. Car dealers are less interested in customers than in owners of year-old cars.

The trouble arises because New Zealand has no car manufacturing industry of its own—the market is too small to support one. Cars are assembled in New Zealand, but basic parts must be imported. Yet New Zealand has one of the highest levels of car ownership in the world.

Shortage of foreign exchange has brought strict import quotas on cars. For years after the war the backlog was so great, and waiting lists so long, that many rackets in car sales flourished.

The present government has taken many steps to overcome rackets. One of them is the introduction of a ban on the import of cars less than one year old, except in special circumstances. Also it eased the pressure by permitting larger car imports.

But greater stringency on foreign exchange has compelled a new clamp on import quotas this year and already anomalies are appearing.

Prices of new cars are strictly controlled, but price control on second-hand vehicles has proved impracticable. Today some two-year-old cars in popular makes are bringing more than the new price.

Car dealers have long waiting lists of clients for new cars and can sell their entire quota without lifting a finger. Some seek to make a greater profit by demanding a trade-in and paying a poor price for it. A racket is hard to prove, as the dealer can always point to essential work necessary on a used car.

Since used cars can bring a better profit than a new one, some dealers seek out owners of cars of popular makes which have been driven for a year, and are therefore free of the restriction on resale. They offer to swap a new car for the used one, which they can then sell at higher than new car price.

No Arrangements for Special Observance on Pope's Birthday

By BENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul marks his 69th birthday today with a normal work schedule and no arrangements for any special observance.

A normal workday for the Pope means a day stretching to 18 hours. It starts with mass said privately by Pope Paul before 7 a.m. with his personal secretary, Bt. Rev. Pasquale Macchi, assisting as he serves.

The pontiff's light breakfast is invariably accompanied with a quick reading of several Italian newspapers. Then he plunges into consultations with prelates entrusted with urgent matters, pre-arranged audiences with diplomats assigned to the Vatican, ministers of foreign governments coming through Rome, and special Catholic groups of pilgrimage or holding a convention.

Part of each day must be devoted to studying documents going over drafts of brief speeches to be read by the Pope before certain groups in upcoming audiences, and reworking work on major papal pronouncements still many days away.

Barely is there time for such detailed work before dinner. After he has eaten the Pope rests, reads again from the breviary, then works in his studio for four straight hours until his evening meal at 8:30 p.m.

Pope Paul visits his private chapel after supper, returning to his studio to continue working at the desk until midnight. Often he listens to stereo recording of classics — preferably Beethoven, Bach and Chopin—during the late evening period of work.

PISTOL-PACKING MAMA — That sidearm is not an ornament. Mrs. Betty Floud, who has been constable of the Town of Half Moon, N.Y., for 12 years, says she can handle a pistol and a rifle as well as any man. She is holding Crybaby, one of her three raccoons. (Ap Wirephoto) ade itself will most beneficially be served."

Resolve

It was learned that Mr. Camp took this resolution to be a fair reflection of his own views. He did not attend the session at which it was passed.

Mr. Camp said in his address: "We must agree to allow a democratic expression of views, openly sought and fully given, on the major issues confronting party-leadership.

"We must, having had free expression of view, adopt the democratic principle that the will of the majority must enjoy the unanimous support of all concerned.

"We must agree, since the party is the sovereign power in all these fundamental questions, that means should be established whereby there is an understanding.

"I believe the nation needs a new agenda. . . . We need to reform our political party system. We ought as well to reform Parliament. . . ."

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's top Conservatives have stepped gingerly into the national party leadership issue with a decision to back national President Dalton Camp's right to call for a leadership vote this fall.

In a carefully-worded statement that came Saturday after five hours of debate among 30 Conservative policy makers here, they said:

"The members of the federal executive committee of the Progressive Conservative party of B.C. affirm the right of their national president to direct the attention of the party to its right under article 21 of the constitution of the party to elect the leader of the Progressive Conservative party of Canada and to call any convention for that purpose."

Their statement also noted that the question of calling a leadership convention should be decided by secret ballot at the national convention in Ottawa in November.

Davis Fulton, considered a contender for the national party leadership, would not elaborate on the statement.

Stuart Fleming, the party's B.C. president and acting leader, said: "We're not sure Mr. Camp has called for a leadership convention. Therefore we asked for a vote on the matter at the national meeting."

LANDS IN PLAYGROUND

TORONTO (CP) — A United States pilot made an emergency landing on a grass strip beside a deserted lakeshore area playground Saturday. Dr. Donald Eugene Shultz, 35, of St. Joseph, Mich., escaped unscathed. His single engined Mooney Super 21 received $8,000 damage.

Montgomery civil rights march. She had joined others in the march and was driving Negroes back to Selma.

Still another Klansman, William Orville Eaton, died of a heart attack before he could be tried on the murder indictment in state court. However, he and the other two KKK members were convicted on a federal civil rights conspiracy charge growing out of the slaying and each sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Those convictions are on appeal in the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Negroes dominated the panel of 75 prospective jurors drawn for this week's trials. There were 42 Negroes on the venire and 33 white. The jury list was revised earlier this year under a federal court order to cease discrimination against Negroes.

ASKS NUCLEAR BAN

YORK, England (Reuters)—The Archbishop of York sent out Sunday night a world call from an ancient English battlefield for a ban on nuclear weapons. Dr. Donald Coggan, one of England's most powerful churchmen, spoke at a 900th anniversary ceremony to commemorate the Battle of Stamford Bridge, where Saxon armies slaughtered invading Vikings. He said every Christian must help to bring mounting pressure on governments to outlaw all nuclear warfare.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

So you would like to be Golf's Golden Boy; a links luminary with a Midas touch; a leader of the loot parade and your favorite bank manager's most popular customer.

All you have to do is jettison any excess cargo of lard; develop an amiable disposition; give onetenth of the loot to the church; work up an allergy to fumes and smoke-filled air; eat nothing but buffalo steak, bear pot roast, figs, honey and herbs — and above all learn to play golf.

That's what Billy Casper did and Marco Casper at present is the owner of a bank roll that would not only choke the proverbial horse but make an oversize hippopotamus breathe through its nose.

In days of yore to you Casper had a disposition like a frustrated wildcat, looked like an expectant elephant and was an also-ran in the gallop to his personal Fort Knox behind the favorites Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

Two years ago Casper smashed over fairway and green like a worn-out plow horse, lugging 265 pounds of blubber on weary hooves. He snapped, crackled and popped at everyone within sight including his own family. His kids, he says, used to wince when they asked for a bike in their stockings.

"By the time I got to the first tee," he recalls, "all I wanted to do was sleep. I was fat, flabby and failing. Everything on the course bothered me. I was tossing down aspirins like they were jelly beans."

He decided to slim down. On his doctor's advice he changed his daily fat-producing intake to a diet that looked like the menu in Daniel Boone's first Kentucky log-cabin restaurant.

He switched from fried chicken to buffalo steak; from lamb chops and eggs to bear pot-roasts; from eggs, wheat, cirrus and milk products to figs, honey and herbs.

He doggedly stuck to the new diet and perseverance soon showed results. In what seemed a little time he heaved off 90 pounds while Mrs. Casper who dieted with him found herself shy seven pounds.

Casper shed his toddlers' athletic equipment for golf clubs when he was five years of age. He caught on quickly and during a service stint taught golf at naval installations.

He caught the eye of sponsors and turned pro to and entered the tour. That was in 1964 and in his first tournament finished thirtieth to lay his first egg ($35.33) in a golden goal nest. That was it. He went onward and upward to become one of the tours leading golfers.

His crowning achievement, he says, was winning his second Open title against Arnold Palmer in this year's tournament at San Francisco. You'll recall Casper was trailing Arnie by seven in the final nine. He caught him when Palmer was concentrating on more records and beat the faltering general by four shots in the playoff.

Casper is not a popular favorite with the golfers. He lacks the color and flamboyancy of a Palmer, the solid but fruitful play of a Nicklaus and the carefree attitude of a banana-eating Player. As one fan remarked "He's a colorless but competent clod."

Casper attributes the greater part of his success to his religion. Years ago he became acquainted with the Mormon faith. He studied it and last year's New Year's Day he with his family were baptized into the Mormon Church. He says he has a purpose in life now, has dropped out of the "rat race for the dollar. My life has a meaning."

This was exemplified in his action in passing up the British Open this year to play in a local Mormon tournament free gratis. As all Mormons do, Casper donates ten per cent of his earnings to the church.

Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham, Ont., defeated the Dodgers 4-0 on four hits Saturday, while Ken Holtzman cut their lead by two games, pitching a two-hit 2-0 victory Sunday as Chicago Cubs swept both weekend games.

Atlanta Braves kept Pittsburgh from moving within a game of the Dodgers by defeating the Pirates 8-2 Sunday while third-place San Francisco Giants remained four games off the pace after dropping a 5-4 decision to Houston Astros.

"Somebody shouted to me in the eighth inning that I had a no-hitter going, and I was actually shaking out there in the ninth," Holtzman said after getting Willie Davis to line into a game-ending double play.

Dick Schofield got the only Los Angeles hit.

In other games, Philadelphia Phillies edged St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in 13 innings and New York Mets downed Cincinnati Reds 5-4 in the first game of a doubleheader. Rain washed out the second game.

PIRATES DEFEAT BRAVES

In Saturday's action, Pittsburgh defeated Atlanta 8-6, San Francisco downed Houston 9-5, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 5-4, and Cincinnati defeated New York 4-3.

Woody Woodfox, now 25-9, gave up just four hits and only one in the first inning when the Cubs touched off their runs. Don Kessinger walked and scored on Glenn Beckert's triple. Beckert scored when second baseman Jim Lefebvre dropped Ernie Banks' two-out pop fly.

Hank Aaron hit two homers, giving him 42 for the season, and Mack Jones added his 21st as the Braves increased the Dodgers' rates from moving up.

Willie Mays and Willie McCovey gave Houston three unearned runs in the first two innings, but the Astros needed singles by Aaron Pointer, Bill Heath and Bob Aspromonte for the winning run in the sixth.

Philadelphia's Rich Allen hit his 40th homer in the fourth inning, singled home the tying run in the ninth and signalled scored the winning run in the 10th against St. Louis.

The Mets clinched ninth place by beating Cincinnati. Cleon Jones drove in two New York runs while Ron Swoboda and Greg Goossen knocked in two each.

Howe, Stanley, Nevin Out

Injury Jinx Hits NHL Squads

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

National Hockey League clubs are heading into their second week of training and some of the veterans are developing into weak-kneed onlookers.

Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, Allan Stanley of Toronto Maple Leafs and Bobby Nevin of New York Rangers are all out of action with knee injuries.

Stanley will be absent from drills four or five days because of a sore right knee. He had fluid removed Friday in Toronto and missed his club's 5-4 victory over Rochester Americans Sunday night at the Leafs' training base in Peterborough, Ont.

Nevin will be in hospital several days at the Rangers' Kingston, Ont. training quarters after tearing knee ligaments in a collision with Don Blackburn of Omaha Knights of the Central Professional Hockey League. The mishap occurred Saturday night as the Knights and Rangers tied 4-4.

In the only other weekend exhibition encounter, Boston Bruins registered a 6-4 victory over Oklahoma City Blazers of the CPHL in Oshawa Saturday.

Wayne Carleton paced Toronto with two goals while Dave Keon, Barry Watson and Frank Mahovlich scored one each. Larry Jeffrey, Jim Pappin, Mike Walton and Don Cherry scored for Rochester.

Orland Kurtenbach, acquired from Toronto in an off-season trade, scored twice for Omaha with the remaining goals going to Max Mestinsek and Bryan Campbell. Ranger marksmen were Phil Goyette, Rod Gilbert, Harry Howell and Vic Hadfield. Ron Stewart and Murray Oliver each scored twice for Boston. Bobby Orr and Ed Westfall got one each. Norm Ullman's goals were counted by Bill Heindl, Bob Hessey, Wayne Connelly and Bob Leiter.

Montreal Canadiens, last spring's Stanley Cup champions, didn't play but signed the last three members of last season's club—defencemen J. C. Tremblay and Noel Price and right winger Claude Larose.

The Bruins, meanwhile, announced they have signed seven holdovers—Stewart, Johnny Bucyk, Fit Martin, Johnny McKenzie, Gilles Marotte, Bob Woytowich and goaltender Bernie Parent.

There are no exhibition games tonight. The Leafs and Rochester resume their rivalry Tuesday night in Oshawa.

As regular as clockwork!

Choose any day. If you have the time, we have the flight to Britain ...

We fly there more often than anyone else at this time of year because we think there's more for you to enjoy. More front-row views of historic pageantry. More starsplashed West End premieres. More time for cosy chats in quaint old inns and pubs. In fact, about the only thing you won't find more of, is rush! So prepare to relax, and right through winter choose from 16 BOAC and Air Canada flights a week from Toronto to London. Incidentally, the average mid-winter temperature in London is some 16 degrees above Toronto's. Quite warm, really. So is the welcome you'll find aboard your BOAC jet.

OASA Junior "C" Finals

Pointers Lose To Whitechurch

Blanked without a base hit until the eighth inning, the Point Anne Cementmen dropped a 3-1 decision to Whitechurch in the opening game of the OASA Junior "C" finals, in Wingham, Saturday night.

Second game in the two-of-three championship set will be played at Point Anne Saturday afternoon: Game time is 4:00 p.m.

The Cementmen finally broke through for their only run in the eighth. MacDonald led off with a walk and Gerry Maher singled for his club's initial hit. Mike Coady's ball chased Maher home the lead man and a walk kept the rally alive — but that was it.

Point Anne's only other hit was a ninth-inning single by Rick Rosebush.

McDowell hurled Whitechurch's two-hit victory. He struck out 10 in a strong performance, handing out five free passes.

Ron Maracle allowed only five hits in a tough loss, four of them coming in the first three frames. He struck out seven and walked three.

Robinson singled to start the second and after a sit-around and foo-late fielder's choice, Maracle's control faltered. He walked the next three batters to force in two runs.

Maracle settled away from there, giving up only a third-inning single to McDowell and a seventh-frame safety by Johnston.

Point Anne's David Akey was ejected from the game in the fourth inning for remarks to one of the Whitechurch players. Team officials and others who made the bus trip with Point Anne felt that the umpiring of the husband and wife team of Sade and Wilda Schwarger left much to be desired.

The Cementmen play the fourth game of the Commercial League finals, against Stewart Warner, at Alemite Park tonight at 7:30.

Softball Games Re-scheduled

Saturday night's rainfall has caused a change in the schedling of the Belleville and District Softball League finals, according to Bobcat manager Ron Pralick.

Saturday's game at the Alemite was washed out. The Bobcats were scheduled to play in Picton tomorrow (Tuesday) but that game will be played here, at the Alemite, at 8:00 p.m.

Pralick says he expects the fourth game will be played in Picton Wednesday night, at 8:00. Picton leads the four-of-seven set 2-0.

Meanwhile, Point Anne and Stewart Warner play the fourth game of the Commercial League championships at the Alemite tonight, at 7:30. Stewart Warner leads 3-0 and can capture the crown with a victory.

Brabham Takes Alba Grand Prix

Brabham's triumph capped a remarkable season for the 40-year-old Australian, who recently recaptured the formula 1 world drivers championship.

His own cars, powered with Japanese Honda engines, have dominated formula 2 racing. Sunday's race was the sixth and last of a series in France under the title Grands Prix de France and Brabham-Hondas have won them all.

WINS TOURNEY

NEWCASTLE, England (CP) — Cobie Legrange, 33-year-old South African, won the Senior Service golf tournament Saturday, beating Claude Harmon of Virginia Beach, Va., by two strokes. He finished with 67-66-70-68—272 to pick up the first prize of $7,000.

Britons Probe Charge

LONDON (AP)—British boxing chiefs are studying a charge by American heavyweight Billy Daniels that he was offered £300 ($900) to lie down in a fight with Britain's Billy Walker.

"It would seem as if we will have to have a very full and exhaustive inquiry," said J. Onslow Fane, president of the British Boxing Board of Control.

Daniels made the allegation in an affidavit presented to the BBBC by a London Sunday newspaper, The People.

The newspaper also handed over what it called the transcript of a telephone conversation between Daniels and British fight manager Jim Wicks.

Wicks, manager of British heavyweight champion Henry Cooper, hired Daniels as a sparring partner in training for Cooper's fight with Floyd Patterson here last Tuesday.

Walker, once known as the Golden Boy of British boxing, had been scheduled to fight Daniels on the same bill. But instead, Walker fought Germany's Horst Benedens, stopping him in the first round.

Zuger Stars

Joe Zuger threw two touchdown passes against Saskatchewan Roughriders Saturday night in leading Hamilton Tiger-Cats to a 29-7 victory in the first of two weekend Canadian Football League interlocking games.

Toronto Argonauts recorded their second victory of the season Sunday with a come-from-behind 29-27 decision over British Columbia Lions.

Saskatchewan, Western Conference leaders, play Ottawa Rough Riders, ok top in the Eastern Conference, tonight in Ottawa at 8 p.m. EDT. The game will not be televised.

The win boosted Hamilton within two points of Ottawa but the Ticats may have done their EFC rivals a favor by making a doubtful starter out of Saskatchewan's hard-charging fullback, George Reed.

Reed, hobbling on injured legs all last week, picked up a charley horse in his right thigh and watched most of the game from the bench.

ZUGER WAS BUSY

A Hamilton crowd of 26,057 watched Zuger throw a seven-yard touchdown pass to Gerry McDougall and a 5-yarder to Bobby Kuntz. He also set up Hamilton's first touchdown late in the first quarter by joining Kuntz in a 33-yard pass-and-run play. Zuger then handed off to Ted Collier who passed 46 yards to Willie Bethea for the score.

Hamilton's remaining touchdown came on a blocked punt at the Saskatchewan 24 which Ralph Cline picked up and ran 10 and carried in. Don Sutherin kicked four converts and a single on a 35-yard field goal attempt that went wide.

Reed carried five times for 33 yards in the first quarter, but after he was injured Lancaster was forced to pass. He had trouble finding receivers and Hugh Campbell, WFC scoring leader with 84 points and normally Lancaster's favorite target, caught only two passes.

The Argos gambled on third down late in the fourth quarter for their win Sunday before 18,928, smallest crowd of the season in Toronto. The win Argonaut's second against seven losses, moved them within two points of third - place Montreal Alouettes. The loss left the Lions with a 2-7 record and undisputed possession of last place in the West.

Toronto touchdowns went to Dave Thelen, Bobby Taylor, Billy Martin and Jim Roumeliotes. John Villapiano kicked a pair of converts and a single and Dave Mann two singles. Larry Elmes scored two touchdowns for the Lions with Bill Munsey and Sonny Homer each counting one. Bill Mitchell kicked three converts.

Crash Record Set

Donahue Captures Canadian Grand Prix

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP)—Mark Donahue of Stoney Brook, N.Y., leaders for most of the race. But as drivers such as worked his way along 212 miles of crash-dotted track Saturday to win the Canadian Grand Prix for sports cars and an advantage in the Canadian-American Challenge Cup series.

Donahue, 28, hung well behind He covered 83 laps of the 2.5-mile road track in two hours, 23 minutes, 9.2 seconds in a Chev-powered Lola T70 with an average speed of 103.1 miles an hour.

The victory brought him more than $6,000 in prize money and nine points for a total of 11 in the $300,000 six-race Can-Am series, placing him one point ahead of leaders Gurney and John Surtees of England.

The only racing record broken was the lap mark when Gurney, in a Ford-powered Lola T70, flashed around in 1:23 seconds, bettering the mark of 1:24.9 set a year ago by Hall in a Chaparral.

But the number of wrecked and disabled cars was a new mark for the Grand Prix, held yearly since 1961. Only 11 of the starting field of 31 finished.

As the starting flag dropped, the field barreled through No. 1 corner and ended in a jumble of skidding, rearing cars. When the dust cleared four were damaged too badly to continue, including the Lola T70 driven by Surtees, 1964 world champion.

The race was restarted 30 minutes later.

Second place went to Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., whose Chaparral was two laps behind Donahue. Chuck Parsons of Carmel, Calif. finished third in a Chev-powered McLaren.

McLaren dropped out on the 41st lap with suspension trouble after a brush with another car. Gurney stopped dead on the course with rear-end trouble on the 79th lap.

Second game in the best-of-three series will be played next Sunday.

US College Football

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new teen-ager battery at Notre Dame and a couple of architects of the "big bomb" at UCLAhhave entered what was predicted to be a private war between Alabama and Michigan State for U.S. college football's top honors.

UCLA have entered what was burgh the week before, tayed Saturday, 31-12, with a Syracuse team rated the best in the East and 20 pounds heavier to the man. Junior quarterback Gary Beban, a deadly passer, found an ideal target in Buzz Busby, a speedy 19-year-old sophomore.

At South Bend, Ind., Notre Dame discovered another combination in Terry Hanratty, 18-year-old quarterback, and Jim Seymour, 18-year-old receiver, who clicked and passes of 64, 39 and seven yards in beating Purdue 34-14.

Both top - ranked Michigan State and fourth-rated Alabama, with UCLA sandwiched between in last week's poll, won convincingly, the Spartans against weaker opposition.

Michigan State's Spartans defeated Pitt State 42-8 and Alabama national champion the Ibis two years, trampled Louisiana Tech 34-14.

Closing Field Day

Pinder Nosed Out Ling

Gordon Pinder nosed out Roger Ling on a back-nine score to take low gross honors at the men's closing field day at the Bay of Quinte Country Club Saturday.

An all-time record of 110 golfers teed off for the tournament only to drop out from the original entry list.

It was good football weather with a brisk wind creating sweeping the course, which the majority of players said, was in near-perfect condition.

Games captain Everett Fairman and his committee of Johnny Gee, Jack Hatfield, Jack McCabe and Jim Bibby did an excellent job handling the tournament scores.

Presentations were made to tournament winners and the seasonal champions both men and women by Mr. Fairman, women's president Phyl Doyle, Betty Walmsley and Lois Gill at the post-tournament dinner.

In the "A" flight Saturday Ivan Holborne took second low gross followed by John Woodcroft and Bill Philp. Behind Ling's low net were Bob Meldrum, Ernie Pugh, and Fred Fisher.

"B" Flight low gross lead-ers were Stan Reston, Bill Follwell, Milan Dorski and S. Keogh. Low net winners were K. Lake, Rod Chipps, Ron Cass and Ralph Stevenson.

Ed. Shier won "C" low gross with Bessy Reid, George Haggas and A. Whitbeck. Low net winners were J. Ritchie, S. D. Stanton, G. Haggerty and J. O'Connor.

"D" Flight low gross went to Stan Wiggins followed by J. Garven, A. Dyble and A. Nobes. Low net winners were Don Bishop, W. Lessels, R. Knight and Jimmie Gill.

Seasonal champions were honored when Judy Woodcroft (runner-up Terry McCabe) winning the club championship and teaming with Art McCallum to take the Men's Two - Ball tourney. B. Bridge won the consolation with A. Hoddinott taking the Graham Handicap.

B. Messecar won the Morgan Trophy with Ron Cass taking the Tip Top Trophy.

The Belvedere Cup went to Marge Cowley and Bill Townson with A. Bridge and Betty Ingram winning the National Golf Week.

Flights ringer tops were "A" Dave Jones, "B" Glen Cowie-rookie, contributed three hits and Jim King smacked a two-run homer.

California snapped rookie Tom Phoebus' two - game shutout streak in the first inning and went on to whip the Orioles behind Dean Chance's six-hit homer by rookie Charlie Vinson.

The Indians scored three runs in the ninth, overtaking Kansas City after being checked for eight innings by rookie Jim Nash. Nash was yanked after walking the first man he faced in the ninth and the Athletics' bullpen broke down as Max Alvis and Chico Salmon stroked two scoring singles around Vic Davalillo's sacrifice fly.

Tony Oliva's 26th homer, a lead - off shot in the ninth, lifted Minnesota past the Tigers, breaking up a pitching duel between Jim Kaat, 25-11, and Detroit's Earl Wilson.

Retains Lead

Chelsea Whips Arsenal 3-1

LONDON (AP)—Bobby Tambling rammed home two goals Saturday to help Chelsea crush Arsenal 3-1 and keep its one-point lead at the top of the English Soccer League.

Tambling brought his goals tally to seven in two games. He scored five against Aston Villa a week earlier.

Chelsea's victory gave it 34 points from nine games.

Tottenham Hotspur and Stoke, both winners, held second place jointly with 13 points. Leicester and Manchester United were next with 12 points.

A crowd of 48,000 watched the Chelsea fight back. Colin Addison had scored for Arsenal in the second minute. Peter Osgood evaded the Arsenal defenders and shot the equalizer in the 36th minute. After that Chelsea gradually wore Arsenal down.

Tambling got his first goal in the final minute of the first half when he headed home a cross from Barry Bridges. Arsenal was in fine form for Tottenham, which defeated Nottingham Forest 2-1. Alan Mullery scored Spurs' first goal in the fourth minute, a fierce shot after dashing through the Nottingham defence was stopped twice by goal-keeper Peter Grummitt before nipping in to make it 2-0 in the 15th minute.

Frank Wignall counted for Nottingham in the 36th minute. Spurs were under pressure for much of the second half, but their defence held out.

Stoke had a 1-0 away victory over West Bromwich. The winning goal came from John Ritchie in the 30th minute.

A crowd of 23,000 saw Manchester United hammer Burnley 6-4. A fine goal from Denis Law started Manchester off on its best display of the season.

Aston Villa, struggling dangerously near the foot of the standings, went to Leicester and ran into a brilliant performance by Derek Dougan, a former Villa player. Dougan had three goals in Leicester's 3-0 victory.

Geoff Hurst and Martin Peters goal-scoring heroes of England's World Cup final victory over West Germany last July, came to the rescue of West Ham. Each scored a goal in a 2-2 draw at home to Southampton.

Parsons Lose Bid For Top

The Belleville boys suffered a 5-0 whipping at the hands of the Flying Dutchmen, in Kingston, and now must win their final scheduled game to take the runner - up position.

- Parsons play Hungaria, also in Kingston next Sunday after noon at 4.00 in another key tilt.

The losers were shorthanded for the game's first half Saturday and the Flying Dutchmen rammed home two goals. With a strong wind at their back in the second half, the winners dominated play and added three tallies to account.

In the second, Jones made it 3-0 and Everman scored from a penalty shot, after a Parson defenseman handled the ball, to add the fourth. Harmson's second goal of the contest closed the scoring at 5-0.

Parsons, either atop or close all season, have played very little in the past month or more.

Packers Defeat Rams

Cards' Fourth-Quarter TD Beat Browns

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

With St. Louis Cardinals and Cleveland tied at 28-28 in the final quarter Sunday, Cardinal back Gautt burst through the Browns' line and ran 85 yards for the score that gave St. Louis a 34-28 victory.

Green Bay Packers beat Los Angeles Rams 24-13, Dallas Cowboys whipped Philadelphia Eagles 28-17, Baltimore Colts bombed San Francisco 49ers 36-14, Philadelphia Eagles smothered New York Giants 35-17 and Washington Redskins got past Pittsburgh Steelers 30-27.

Green Bay, now the only unbeaten team in the Western Division, had its troubles with the Rams before an 80-yard pass play from Bart Starr to Elijah Pitts won it. The Packers lost five fumbles in losing a 17-0 lead.

THREE MARCHES SCORE

Dallas remained unbeaten in the Eastern Division with three 80-yard scoring marches in each of the last three quarters. Cowboy quarterback Don Meredith completed just eight passes but two were good for touchdowns to Bob Hayes and Buddy Dial.

Lou Michaels tied an NFL record with five field goals and Washington scored 24 points in the second half as the Redskins came from behind to beat Pittsburgh. Sonny Jurgensen passed for two touchdowns.

Dump Clinox; Orioles Break Even

Hank Allen Paces Senators' Twin Wins

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank, older brother of Philadelphia Phillies' slugger Dick Allen, wound up his first week in the majors Sunday with a six-hit pitching duel Washington Senators to a 6-4, 2-1 doubleheader sweep over Chicago White Sox.

The rookie outfielder, promoted from the Senators' Hawaii farm club last week, drove in two runs in the opener and singled in the winning run in the fifth inning of the nightcap.

The 26-year-old newcomer has batted at a .417 clip, with 10 hits in 24 at-bats, since joining the Senators.

He hit .280 this year at Hawaii and had 28 homers, second highest total in the Pacific Coast League.

In Sunday's American League games, California Angels whipped champion Baltimore Orioles 6-4; Cleveland Indians trimmed Kansas City Athletics 4-3; Minnesota Twins nipped Detroit Tigers 1-0 and New York Yankees beat Boston Red Sox 3-2.

Saturday it was Cleveland 3, Kansas City 1; Detroit 8, Minnesota 3; Baltimore 5, Chicago 3, Washington 2 and Boston 6, New York 1.

Golf Results

Allen led a 15-hit attack for the Senators in the first game while Tim Cullen, another rookie, collected three hits and Jim King smacked a two-run homer.

California snapped rookie Tom Phoebus' two - game shutout streak in the first inning and went on to whip the Orioles behind Dean Chance's six-hit homer by rookie Charlie Vinson.

Blancas Wins At Seattle

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — Homero Blancas went over par on three of the last four holes Sunday but withstood a late challenge by Jackey Cupit to win the Greater Seattle-Everett open golf tournament by one stroke.

Blancas shot a closing 70, one over par, at Everett Country Club for a 286 total, 18 under par for the tournament, equaling Art Wall's par-breaking performance in the Insurance City Open, lowest previous total of the year on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

The victory was Blancas' first PGA championship since he joined the tour in 1963 when he was Rookie of the Year.

Cupit finished with a five-under-par 66 for a 287. Paul Bondeno shot a 68 to tie Don Bies for third at 271.

Schedule Completed

BMBA Decides Champs

The Belleville Minor Baseball Association completed its playing schedule on the weekend with three championships being decided.

Farrell Motors blanked Park Dale 4-0 and gained the bantam championship two games to none.

TYKE

The Lions were badly outhit, 11-4, but took advantage of nine walks to help pull out the win. Ron and Don McTaggart pitched the victory, striking out 13 and passing four. Tom Coughlan and David Rutherford struck out nine and walked the same number for Dedrilles.

Mike Evans hit a triple and a single and had the best champs' hits. Robert Webb had a double and John Ashley a single. For the losers, Andy Rickets had a triple, double and single, Tom Coughlan a double and two singles and David Rutherford two hits. John Venutti, Peter Crawford and Steve Kirby split the loss.

Don Sly is the Lions coach and John Yott the Dedrille coach.

PEEWEE

Gary Edwards and David Wood hurled seven - hit ball, striking out 10 and walking three, for the champs. Dennis Cone and John Mulvihill gave up nine hits in defeat. They whiffed 11 but walked five in the number.

Mulvihill Dulkin punched a double and two singles and Kevin Joudwa had three ones - baggers to spark the victory march. Michael Smith, with two, and David Wood with one complete the attack.

Stan Brooks doubled and singled twice for Fountain Park. Dan Lapenceta doubled, John Mulvihill, Ted Eves and Dennis Cone hit singles.

Scott Frechette is the Shell coach and Fran Mulvihill the Fountain Per counterpart.

BANTAM

Terry McTaggart pitched six hit ball, with ten strikeouts and six walks, to collect the bantam victory. His mates backed him with two runs in the second and losers in the fourth and fifth.

Jim Wood gave up nine hits struck out 10 and passed three in defeat.

Wayne McGillivery and Terry McTaggart each poked a pair of singles to lead the champions' hit parade. Stephen Buckle added a double, Peter Menno Ron Jury, George Farrars an Bill Cole one safety each.

For Park Dale, Dick Rober and Mark Venuti reaped two singless each. Ed Christophe and Ian Rutherford were th other hitters.

It has been announced the the City Firemen will play th B.M.B.A. Coaches in an exhi bition benefit game for minor baseball next Sunday.

The B.M.B.A. is also holding its annual dance, at the Par Dale Community Centre on Fr day, September 30.

Pitching—Ken Holtzman, Chicago, held Los Angeles Dodgers to a eight innings and woun up with a two-hitter as the Cub edged the National League-lead ing Dodgers 2-1.

Canadian Rookie Blanks Dodgers 4-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie pitcher Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham shut out Los Angeles Dodgers on four hits Saturday as Chicago Cubs beat the National League leaders 4-0.

The Cubs scored on infield outs in the first and fourth innings and picked up two more in the eight on a single by Jimmy Stewart and a passed ball.

Jenkins, now 6-7, pitched his first shutout and second complete game of the season. It was his fourth consecutive victory.

Lose Four Players

Stampeders Rally To Tie Eskimos 18-18

CALGARY (CP) — Calgary Stampeders hit hard by injuries all season long, had four more players racked up Saturday but came from behind for an 18-18 western football conference tie against Edmonton Eskimos.

The Stampeders hobbled to within three points of the third-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers and have a chance to narrow the margin further when they play in Winnipeg Tuesday night.

But they have to get help along without Howard Starks, Frank Andruski, Bob Lueck and Gerry Shaw, all of whom were injured in the game.

Most serious were Lueck, an offensive guard who suffered a partially dislocated shoulder and Shaw, a defensive back who injured a knee and will require surgery.

The point gained from the deadlock moved Edmonton ahead of Winnipeg into second place, three points behind the leading Saskatchewan Roughriders who were humiliated 28-7 by Hamilton Tiger-Cats in an interlocking game Saturday night in Hamilton.

The Stamps held a 10-0 lead in the first quarter but lost it and trailed 18-10 in the fourth quarter.

But mid-way through the final quarter Jerry Keeling and Terry Evanshen hooked up for a 50-yard pass to set up a field goal attempt by Larry Robinson that went wide for a single that cut the margin to a converted touchdown.

The Stamps then moved deep into Edmonton territory but their drive was halted at the 14-yard line when Ed Peka intercepted a pass. Randy Kerbow came up with a short punt for the Eskimos and Calgary resumed its march.

This time Keeling struck with two long passes to move to the 13 with eight seconds left. He found Evanshen uncovered on the goal line and threw to him for the touchdown. Robinson's convert pulled out the tie.

Hub of Pact Price Parity Claim of Union

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — The United Auto Workers Union has called for an investigation of Canadian automakers' prices, costs and profits "to see the public is fair and help establish price parity between Canada and United States cars.

Following a weekend meeting at Port Elgin, Ont., the Canadian UAW director, George Burt, issued a statement Sunday night protesting the way in which the Canada - U.S. auto pact is working.

Mr. Burt said the 300,000-member UAW is to ask Prime Minister Sharp and Industry Minister Drury to refer car prices to the joint Senate-House committee on consumer prices for investigation.

The union said:

"The very hub of the (auto) pact is price parity. . . . The Canadian consumer is being told there is nothing in the pact for him.

BRITONS COMPANIES

"The auto trade agreement was never intended to work for the benefit of the auto companies; or if it was, then only the companies and the government are aware of it.

"The first meaningful step to price parity should be . . . an initial price roll which would reduce the differential which existed throughout the 1968 model year.

"The Canadian consumer ought to be held at gun-point no longer. He should get equal point by a price decision administered from Detroit.

"The Canadian consumer ought not to be held at gunpoint by a price decision administered from Detroit.

"The auto companies are getting a $50,000,000 rebate on Canadian sales tax revenues each year of the pact's existence. Their plants have been completed to produce fewer models, thus reducing costs.

"There should be "an opening of the companies' books and a thorough investigation of the Canadian automakers' prices, costs and profits in the light of the auto trade pact."

Hepburn and Tracy to Be Reunited in Another Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Producer Stanley Kramer announced today he will reunite Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy in a "social comedy," called Guess Who's Coming to Dinner, which will also star Sidney Poitier.

The Columbia production will start shooting in February with a script written by William Rose, author of Kramer's It's A Mad Mad Mad Mad World, and of the current The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming. Kramer will direct location scenes in San Francisco and interiors in Hollywood.

Tracy hasn't made a movie since 1963 when he was stricken with a lung ailment. Last year he underwent a prostate operation, and his condition was critical for a 24-hour period.

"I'm feeling fine," Tracy said in a recent interview, his pink, Irish face beaming, and he looked it.

OUTLINES PLOT

Kramer outlined the plot of Guess Who's Coming to Dinner; a liberal newspaper editor (Tracy) and his cause-supporting wife (Hepburn) are faced with a family crisis when their U.S. Peace Corps daughter announces she wants to marry a research doctor who happens to be a Negro (Poitier).

"It'd call it a social comedy of our times," said Kramer, "I think that might be the best approach to the Negro question. I've been to the well before on this subject, with Home of The Brave and The Defiant Ones. I must admit that they are probably terribly outdated now; that's how rapidly the revolution has been."

The film will be the first Hepburn - Tracy team since The Desk Set a decade ago. They made seven co-starring movies, beginning with Woman of The Year in 1941.

17-Year-Old Lightweight Champion

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Ronnie Sampson, 17, of Sydney, N.S., was named the Canadian lightweight boxing championship Saturday with a 12-round unanimous decision over Willie Williams of New Victoria, N.S. Sampson, a high school student, succeeds retired Tyrone Gardiner of Sydney River in the title role.

The only knockdown came in the seventh round when Williams had to take a mandatory eight count.

Departmental Softball

The RCAF Flyers, Trenton Softball League pennant winners, enjoyed a couple of big innings while whitewashing The Intelligencer 8-0 in an exhibition game at the air base yesterday.

Intelligencer mistakes helped break up a 1-0 game in the fourth when the Flyers scored eight times. They added four in the sixth.

Al McKicar pitched steady six - hit ball for the winners, fanning four and walking three. He was strong in the clutch to strand ten runners. Ron Colloden and Johnny Edwards gave up 12 hits in 6⅔rds.

Lee Bourdeau hit two home runs and a single, Stevens a double, Colloden, Lamb and Cameron a grand - slam homer to pace the Flyer attack. McVicar and Colloden each contributed two hits.

Reds, Japs Dominate Gymnastics

DORTMUND, West Germany (CP)—The Soviet Union and Japan dominated the world gymnastics championships for men and women which ended Sunday.

The Russians headed the medals list with six gold, five silver and three bronze, but the Japanese won more awards with four golds, six silver and seven bronze.

Next in the list was Czechoslovakia with 3-2-0, followed by Yugoslavia 1-0-1, East Germany 0-1-1 and Italy 0-0-2.

Japan won the men's team event and provided three victories in individual events, but the over-all individual winner was Russia Michail Voronin, who also won the rings exercise.

The women's team championship went to Czechoslovakia which also had the individual over-all winner in Vera Caslavska, Olympic champion.

Canada was down in the standings. Canada's best performance came from Sandra Hartley of North Vancouver, B.C., who had 70.763 points for all-round competition. She was the only member of the team to top 70.

Miss Caslavska scored a total of 76.298 points to add the world all-round gold medal to the Olympic gold medal she won at Tokyo.

Bonanza Not in Danger From Shows in Time Slot

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — One of these seasons, Bonanza will find that old age has overtaken it and it will step down as the most popular television program. But from the looks of things it won't happen this year.

The competition offered by the new Garry Moore show on CBS, one of the season's big disappointments, does not loom as much of a threat. And the other competition, ABC's feature film rerun, shows spotty strength depending on the quality of the movie and the drawing power to its stars.

But more important, Bonanza has a reliable format and shrewdly uses stars who are old friends of the show's fans. There is a workman-like story each week with plenty of action well larded with human interest. And you can tune in late any time and catch up quickly with the plot.

Sunday night's tale showed the shrewd handling of the whole series. The climax recipe for a good western is to start with a fight and end with a big fight. Between, there's problems at the heroes in between. Bonanza started Sunday night with a slugging fight between Little Joe and a couple of real mean trailhands.

SAVED BY OLDSTER

He was saved in the nick of time by an old hand on the Ponderosa who after 50 years has lost not an oomph on the trail as he used to be.

Naturally the kind Cartwrights wanted him to stick around in a less demanding job, but the old boy—well played by Ben Wright—fell in hurt fury, joined up with the bad guys and robbed the Bonanza men of their pay, which restored pride in work, so he reopened.

It is all predictable but it is well done and the scenery is lovely.

NCS's Telephone Hour in its new shape presented a documentary filmset at the music festival at Spoleto, Italy, recently. It told the story of composer Gian Carlo Menotti, a dream of bringing together musicians from both sides of the Atlantic, and tossed in some good music as well.

It was a colorful, pleasant hour and probably will attract an audience of classical-music lovers who in recent seasons have found little to attract them in the three commercial networks.

Belgians Capture Bike Title

MONTREAL (CP) — Emile Severyns and Palle Lykke raced to a sensational finish Saturday night to give their Belgium team the victory over eight other teams in the Montreal six-day bicycle race.

Leandro Faggin and Freddi Post of the Italy-Denmark team moved ahead of the Belgium team to finish second while the Germany B team took third place—one lap behind the Belgium A and the Italy-Denmark team.

Canada's team of Delter Reinhold and Roger Charroux, the last place throughout the competition, overtook the Italian team of Sergio Bianchetto and Nino Piccarolo to finish in eighth position.

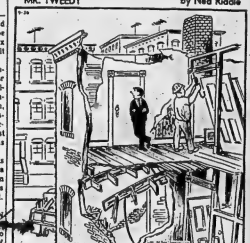
Income Tax Forms Change Due Pensions

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Revenue Minister Benson said Friday night taxpayers will be faced with new income tax forms in January as a result of the Canada Pension Plan.



"We have had to make considerable changes to provide for refund claims and for the calculation and reporting of contributions" to the pension plan, Mr. Benson told the New Brunswick Institute of Chartered Accountants. New guides to assist in completion of the tax forms had also been devised.

The revenue minister said his department is undertaking a widespread public information program to provide taxpayers with any information required.

Mrs. M. Andrews Chosen County's Artist of Year

PICTON — Chosen as Prince Edward County's Artist of the Year, in a competition held at the County Fair in Picton, was Mrs. Muriel Andrews of Consecon Lake and Belleville. Her prize-winning entry was a painting of the century-old Court House in Picton, which was purchased by the sponsors of the contest, Lake Ontario Cement Ltd., and will be available for use on their calendars and cards.

Presentation of the award was made in the County Centre Friday night by Charles Fox, local manager, and Jerry Byers, Toronto, company official. The judges was a noted Toronto artist, Ronald Bell of Toronto, who had a high praise for the entry of more than 30 paintings, by Prince Edward Artists.

It was the second annual competition, with the winners having their names inscribed on a large trophy and also receiving a framed "Artist of the Year" certificate. The competition was won last year by Mrs. Willard Meiklejohn of Cherry Valley, with a painting of Salmon Point lighthouse. At that time, Mrs. Andrews was the judge. Most of her work is done in the county where she is a summer resident.

The display was featured by many beautiful local scenes and some timely painting of old buildings and churches. The artist's still life entries were highly commended, as were several portraits. Showing a collection of prize winning humorous portraits was OPP Cpl. Charles Fletcher. This display was one of the major attractions in the Crystal Palace which was unusually attractive with floral displays, commercial, CNIB, Cancer Society, St. John Ambulance and Blood Donors Clinic exhibits, taxidermy by Jake

Self-Propelled Assault Guns For Algeria

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Russia has delivered about four gigantic six-inch self-propelled assault guns to Algeria this month, reliable sources reported today.

The guns, which caused considerable interest among foreign experts here, were believed never to have been seen before outside the Warsaw pact countries.

The Soviet arms build-up here included deliveries in August and September of six Ilyushin IL-28 light bombers and 10 MIG-17 fighters.

Also unloaded in Algiers harbor were crates containing parts for missiles, but further details were not available.

Algeria is eager for military equipment from Russia on long-term credits, the sources said.

PICTON — In spite of rain, which fell the day before the Fair, when preparations were made, and on the opening night, Thursday, Prince Edward County Fair at Picton, which included Saturday night, was a great success. Gate receipts were up one thousand dollars over last year, according to secretary Phil Dodds. With children admitted free at all times, and a thousand people with membership paid in advance, it is estimated that total attendance exceeded 15,000 for the three nights and two days.

The Doc Williams show in the County Centre Staurday drew a 1,300 people. The crowning of the Centennial Queen was another crowd drawing feature. Bob Wood and the Texas Trio entertained on the same night and the evening was climaxed by a dance for teenagers with Coulter Bishop providing the music for more than 500 young people.

The Saturday afternoon program, arranged by Dr. Lionel Dockrill, featured the Moonlighters orchestra and the Storms brothers as vocalists, while Joe Birchill and his clown band from Belleville toured the grounds.

After the official opening on Friday, a concert by the Trenton RCAF band, also received entertainment.

Entries of horses, cattle and poultry were down in number over last year, and particularly colorful was the parade of Quinte Western Horse Association, whose members come from the district.

OPENING PARADE

The Fair officially opened on Friday afternoon, with 2,500 school children participating. Most of them wore some kind of regalia and each school carried an attractive banner. The Wellington school had its own drum band. The Centennial theme predominated. Outstanding was the North Marysburgh entry which featured a painting of the new school now being built. Children were costumed to represent the various trades which are required in the building work. Sophiasburgh Township Central featured its new school on a fine banner.

Prizes for marching went to Wellington, Bloomfield, Waupoos Hillier Village, Sophiasburgh, South Marysburgh Central, Glenora Road, Shannon, Picton Intermediates, and Melville. For general appearance winners were, Wellington, Bloomfield, Waring's Corners, St. Gregory's, Sophiasburgh Central, Glenora Road, Waupoos, Cherry Valley, Mount Pleasant and Velma Matews school. The Fair Board added a special award to North Marysburgh for its original idea, which was the hit of the parade.

Taking part in the parades were the RCAF band, Picton Old Fellows band and a group of baton twirlers, as well as ponies.

OPENED BY WARDEN

The fair was officially opened by County Warden Harold Bonter. Mayor H. J. McFarland also gives three cheers for the generosity in giving each child a ticket good for a ride on the midway. He stressed the importance of a good education. President of the Association of Class A and B. Fairs of Ontario, Phil Dodds, the local society's secretary, said that the school exhibits, numbering 3,200 prize-winners, is the largest such fair in Ontario. A welcome was extended by the Society president, Mrs. Chris Lockyer, A. A. Bonvie led the singing of 'O Canada' and 'The Queen.'

Teh prize winner in the old time fiddlers' contest was 13-year-old Louis Cassido of Roslin, with Hubert Smith second and Ralph Forrester third. Another in the novelty class, and Charles Brownson, Picton, 91, received the award of Picton Heights gave dance numbers.

QUEEN CHOSEN

Miss Mary Hancock of North Marysburgh township will reign as Centennial year Queen in Prince Edward County. Her Princesses will be Miss Lorraine Adams of Ameliasburg, and Miss Janet Robbins, Picton Heights, representing Hallowell. They will be called upon to attend the many social events planned in the county.

The three attractive and talented girls were chosen in the finals of the competition held at the County Fair Friday night. Earlier preliminaries had been held in various centres.

Miss Harrison, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harrison of Cressy. A grade 10 student at Prince Edward Collegiate, she plans to enter the nursing profession after graduation.

Other contestants were Penny Miller of South Marysburg, Kathleen Dunlop, of Athol, and Rosemary Haight of Hillier township.

Miss Harrison was presented with tiara and sash by chairman of the committee Wayne Ring. Each Princess presented with a cash award and an arm bouquet of flowers, these being presented by Judge Lockyer's daughter Bartman, and Norman Post, the latter also having the honor of escorting each contestant to the platform.

Contestants were judged on poise, personal appearance, showmanship and talent. Each spoke briefly on Prince Edward County, the public speaking test played an important role in making a choice.

The singing of Bob Wood, who acted as MC, and the music of the Texas Trio, drew heavy applause from the 800 spectators.

GOOD LIVESTOCK

The livestock at the County Fair was filled to capacity this year with 55 entries in the new Holstein classes, and beef, Ayrshire and Brown Swiss cattle adding interest.

In Shorthorn class, Robert Adams, Ameliasburg, won four firsts, five seconds, four thirds; Ralph Richards, Demorestville, three firsts, two seconds, four thirds; Bobby Hall won one first, two seconds and two thirds; Jack Hall made awards shown by Adams, Hull and Richards; best females by Richards and Hall and pair by best bulls by Hull and Richards. Judge was David Cornish of Indian River.

Forming part of the homebaking exhibit was the Fair Fair were 55 pies and more than 90 cakes. The championship for pies was won by Mrs. William Wills, with reserve going to Mrs. Bruce Jackson. Champion cake maker was Mrs. Roy Trumble, with reserve to Miss Sheila Wills. Other special prize winners were Mrs. D. I. Cowan, single layer cake; Mrs. Leon Harrington, fudge; Mrs. R. Trumble, special cake; Mrs. B. Jackson, loaf bread.

FRUIT EXHIBIT

Fruit was displayed as a commercial feature with an attractive background of posters, and distribution of recipes. Special prizes for commercial boxes and fancy basket of fruit went to Charles Creasy; best entry of plums to Fred Morton; best entry of pears to Tom Wien; red and green lethal display to Mrs. Hubert Townsend.

There was an unusually attractive display was a commercial feature on dairy products, showing all phases of this industry. A large sign and posters formed a colorful background for the shelved shelves which were filled with round, square and block cheese. The highest scoring cheese award went to Glen Anderson, RR 2, Campbellford, and the best finished cheese to Orval Wannamaker of Demorestville. The displays of all kinds of cheese added interest, prizes going to Glenn Wright of Certain View, Harold Elliott of Consecon, Glen Anderson of Campbellford, Ernest Redd, fitting. Products of local dairies and Quinte Milk Products Ltd. were also featured.

Prince Edward Milk Board also had a popular display and Dairy Princesses Barbara Dobbee and Mary Everall handed out Macaroons.

Potatoes were another commercial feature at the County Fair and in spite of the dry season, the entry was large and quality excellent. Peter Welsh of East Lake won specials for best basket and best pyramid in the show; Mrs. Douglas Wesse, Carrying Place, had best plate, Tomatoes were also a commercial feature, with color full showing grades.

Horticultural Societies Plan for Centennial Year

PICTON — Members of Horticultural Societies from Brockville, Kingston, Gananoque, Colborne, Bay, Belleville, Stirling, Picton and Napanee, and guests from Brighton Society and from other centres, numbering 225, gathered at the Legion Hall for the annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Horticultural Associations.

Reports and speakers dealt largely with plans for centennial year projects. Address was delivered by Russell Gomme, Ontario Department of Agriculture, who was removed of dead elms. These mar the countryside, Mr. Gomme stressed. He pointed out that municipalities now have the power to enter upon private property to remove diseased trees. Cost of removal is partly covered under the winter works program.

Suggested projects for Centennial year included planting of the Association sponsored Royalty Crab, a centennial 13 a m a z i n g Christmas decorations, garden competitions, planting of trees by individuals and societies and there would be 30 million more) planting crocus in grass lawns to form a blanket, and planting wide roadsides and bringing pressure on municipal councils where necessary, and using white, pink and blue color themes in planting and competitions.

Public relations was the theme of a talk by Mrs. Frank Stephens of Rice Lake, District 4 director. She dealt with ways and methods, mats for use in printing and other items which feature the Horticultural Association emblem, the trillium.

RE-ELECT DIRECTOR

Re-elected as director was Mrs. Frank Fenton, Picton, Mrs. J. S. Shepherdson of Kingston, and Mrs. H. Armstrong of Stirling as assistants and Mrs. J.

Veneer of Prosperity Begins To Reveal Cracks in Rhodesia

By JAMES BROWN

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Salisbury, bustling, prosperous capital of Rhodesia, is trying to promote the image of a country which has successfully struggled off nine months of severe economic sanctions.

But like all images, there is something artificial about it. The veneer of prosperity and free - spending confidence for the white-ruled country is beginning to show cracks.

After Prime Minister Ian Smith's government made its unilateral declaration of independence from Britain last November, the British government imposed economic sanctions on the breakaway regime.

But, ostensibly, life goes on much the same as ever for the majority of Rhodesia's 220,000 whites, among whom unemployment has been kept at a low level. A few thousand urban Negroes have been laid off due to the effect of sanctions but most of the country's 4,000,000 indigenous population living in rural areas have not been affected.

Business and pleasure traffic is back to a high level, despite the British government's oil embargo on Rhodesia.

Nightclubs in the capital throb to the beat of jazz groups and shows from neighboring Mozambique and South Africa. Expensive restaurants are packed with well - dressed people. The shops are well - filled morning and afternoon, despite two heavy increases in the luxury prices.

Sunday nights the nightclubs are taken over by hundreds of white teen-agers who can still find the coupons and cash for rationed and expensive gasoline to drive to their "Hollywood a gogo" sessions in sports cars.

The government's recent budget, which did not increase

The income tax as was expected, was a morale-booster. Informal financial observers here described it as an elaborate "holding operation" based on the gamble that sanctions will end before the end of the year.

As is the case with most people, the after-effects are likely to be felt more severely by Anglo-Rhodesian exploratory talks break down and sanctions continue.

To a certain extent the budget reflected the healthy economy which has enjoyed a relatively self-proclaimed independence.

IMPACT MAY SNOWBALL

But in some circles here it is believed that this margin has been stretched to its limit and the real impact of sanctions will snowball within a few months.

They would not be surprised to see the introduction of an interim budget containing drastic financial measures about Christmas time if there is no settlement of the independence crisis within a month or two.

In the absence of any statistics, we can, apart from Smith and his top cabinet and economic advisers, known just how healthy or hard-hit the economy is at present.

Much will depend on the outcome of tobacco auctions which are due to end next month, after months of secretive

Finds Blaze In Home Cellar

PICTON — Firemen were called to the home of Councillor Howard Hall on Picton Road, Saturday night. When Mr. King opened a door leading to the cellar he was confronted with smoke and flames. He closed the door and this helped confine the blaze. The firemen were quickly on the scene and extinguished the outbreak before it spread. The ceiling of the basement was charred and there was damage from smoke. An oil burner is blamed.

Russians and Americans Naturally Friends, Have Most to Lose by War---LBJ

MOSCOW (Reuters) — President Johnson told the Russian people today that the United States and Russia must move together toward disarmament and an international rule of law strong enough to take the place of arms.

The Russian and American people "are more naturally friends than enemies" and "no two nations have more to lose in war than the United States or the Soviet Union," the president said.

The president made his plea for peace between the two great powers in an interview in the 50th anniversary issue of Amerika, the U.S. state department's Russian-language magazine sold in the Soviet Union.

"As great powers, our two nations will undoubtedly have commitments that will conflict," the president said. "But there is one commitment I hope we both share: The commitment to a warless world."

The president did not discuss Viet Nam directly.

But he asserted that the U.S. supported and respected "the right of all peoples freely to choose their own system. We oppose the practice of imposing one's system on others."

The president recommended that the U.S. and Russia work together for progress in disarmament, space exploration, medical research and communications.

The president said there was no question that the two peoples were absolutely opposed to war.

"I wish I could say that nuclear war is impossible. The United States, as I said before, will never start any war, nuclear or otherwise.

"But this world of ours is filled with dangers. We can never know what may suddenly erupt to bring new tensions and threats to the peace."

Johnson said both sides had to realize they could not convert the other. "The United States has no interest in trying to remake the Soviet Union in our image. And I don't see any evidence that America will go Communist."

Economy Slows Markedly in Second Quarter

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—The value of all-Canada production of goods and services slowed markedly in its long climb during April, May and June, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Monday in its review of the economy at mid-year.

Later statistics released by the bureau, covering the current three-month period, indicate a far from rosy trend.

DBS said the gross national product in the second quarter of 1966 was running at an annual rate of $57,008,000,000 when normal seasonal factors were taken into account.

This is an increase of just 1.6 per cent over the national product rate for the first three months of the year. One year cent was attributed to price increases and 0.6 per cent to expansion of real output.

The growth rates were markedly down from those attained in the previous quarter. Gross national product in January, February and March was at an annual rate of $56,112,000,000, up 4.4 per cent overall and up three per cent in real terms from the last three months of 1965.

LISTS DEVELOPMENTS

Since mid-year, these developments have taken place, according to recent DBS reports:

—Revenue freight loaded on Canadian railways dropped 13.1 per cent to 13,090,000 tons from 15,020,000 in June.

—Work started on fewer houses in July than in June, the annual rate declining to 98,400 from 101,800.

—Total manufacturing shipments were valued at $3,200,100,000 in July, down 1.2 per cent from the June value of $3,006,400,000.

—But employment rose to 7,182,000 persons in August from 7,143,000 in July, and unemployment declined to 290,000 from 302,000 in the same period.

DBS said a feature of April, May and June was a sharp drop in demand for new cars. It had a pervasive effect throughout the economy, being evident in most parts of Canada and especially in Ontario, where the provincial sales tax was raised to five per cent from three on April 1.

During the second quarter of 1966, personal expenditure rose less than half of one per cent to an annual rate of $34,092,000,000 from $33,924,000,000. Expenditures of all governments rose 2.3 per cent to an annual rate of $10,696,000,000 from $10,446,000,000. Business investment in plant and equipment was up less than 2.3 per cent to an annual rate of $11,804,000,000 from $11,540,000,000.

No Buses For 3,700 Students

COOKSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—School bus drivers failed to settle their differences with their employers Monday, forcing a board of education officials to find other means of bringing about 3,700 students to school today.

The students in the Toronto Township board of education system were affected Monday when 66 bus drivers booked off sick, crippling school transportation in parts of Peel County.

Robert Wilson, spokesman for the drivers employed by Streetsville Coach Line, said Monday night the drivers had been unable to resolve their differences at a meeting with Frank Galway, owner of the coach line.

He said the drivers booked off sick when they were asked to work about five hours a day longer without additional pay.

The Toronto Township Board chartered buses Monday to bring the students to school today.

Red Guards Sack Party Offices

Tass news agency said the Peking correspondent of the Soviet Communist party newspaper reported that a leaflet signed by Fuchow workers described "with profound anger and indignation" outrages committed by the youngsters.

The leaflet said that in Fuchow streets the Red Guards assaulted party members, beat up workers and peasants, overturned cars of local party and state organs and searched the apartments of old revolutionaries.

They openly declared their intentions "to overthrow the proletariat and its dictatorship" and prepared to attack city and provincial party committee offices with the rallying cry "fire at comrade posts and headquarters!"

At the city committee they arrested some party workers, insulted them in every way and kept them in the building by force, the leaflet said.

The leaflet denounced the "hooligan actions" of the Red Guards and said shortcomings and mistakes in the work of party organs must be corrected by established methods of discussion—with which the youngsters' "programs" had nothing in common.

The Tass correspondent said another leaflet told how the workers at a Peking woollen mill split into two groups—one which formed a "detachment for beating dogs"—persons regarded as opponents of Chairman Mao Tse-tung's ideas.

"In the course of three weeks 38 persons, including 22 Communists, were attacked and beaten up by 'dog hunters'," the correspondent said.

The leaflet said a woman worker who criticized the "dog hunters" was white spped with bamboo and beaten with sticks. Several hundred workers were labelled as monsters.

Report Rubbish Fire Started $100,000 Main St. Picton Blaze

$100,000 BLAZE — A Trenton firefighter pours water into burning buildings on Main St., Picton, this morning. Picton fire chief, Duane Foshay, insert, praised area departments for their quick response to the call.

A small rubbish fire at the back of a Picton store today turned into a $100,000 fire on Main Street that took four fire departments over three hours to control.

Three firemen narrowly escaped injury when the roof over two of the stores caved in, along with a portion of the adjoining fire wall. The firemen were thrown from the stairs by the concussion of the cave-in.

One Picton firefighter, Pete Mitchell, was pitched to the sidewalk and partially buried in the debris.

Other firemen pulled Mitchell to safety. He was given oxygen and later returned to fight the fire.

Though no official estimate of of damage will be available for at least 24 hours, early estimates place the damage in the $100,000 area.

Firefighters from Picton, Camp Picton, Belleville and Trenton fought the blaze which broke out behind a vacant store on the south side of Main St. The store, in the Willcox block, was being renovated for the opening of Wm Stanley's Insurance. Fire Chief Duane Foshay said the fire started in the rubish behind the vacant store "and worked its way up the back to the vacant apartments on top."

Fire damage was confined to the apartments above the buildings but water and smoke damage is extensive in the Willcox block, Stafford's and Inrig's. Damage to the newly - renovated Clark and Lewis store is slight.

Loris Minaker, manager of Stafford's, first spotted the fire at 7:30 a.m. as he started his truck behind the store. He grabbed a garden hose and began to fight the fire himself until firemen arrived.

Owners of the buildings, Miss Lillian Willcox and Gerald Norman, reportedly are investigating the possibility of removing the burned buildings, thus turning the stores into one-storey buildings.

The vacant store in the Willcox block was the scene of a restaurant fire several years ago in which a man was burned to death.

Pope to Send Special Mission To Work for Viet Nam Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A special Vatican mission will leave for South Viet Nam today to help promote peace in that troubled nation.

The Vatican announced that the mission will attend an extraordinary conference to study the problems of the Roman Catholic Church in Viet Nam.

Sources at the Vatican said the mission will particularly seek an agreement to restore peace between the often clashing Buddhist majority and Catholic minority there as a contribution toward the eventual end of all fighting in the country.

There was no disclosure of what other moves the mission might undertake but Vatican contacts described the trip to Viet Nam as of "major importance."

The head of the mission is Archbishop Sergio Pignedoli, apostolic delegate to Canada. The Pope received him in audience this morning.

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano said the mission will go to Saigon.

There, the newspaper said, the Vatican group will attend "an extraordinary conference convened by the Vietnamese episcopate for Sept. 20 to study the problems of the (Roman Catholic) Church in that country in the light of decisions adopted by the ecumenical council."

Threat of Expansion of War Remains Grave Says Martin

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Following separate talks in Canada and Malaysia were pursuing Viet Nam peace hopes here today in an effort to open the door to negotiations.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, who returned here from Ottawa Monday for two intensive days of private talks, told a reporter the possibilities of an expanded war remain grave and every UN member must use "all its influence, however slight, to put an end to the fighting."

After consultations with Foreign Minister Swaran Singh of India, Martin said he still strongly believes there is a role for the International Control Commission in Viet Nam peace moves. India shared this belief.

With Canada and India on the three-country control commission, set up to observe and report any violations of a 1954 truce in Viet Nam, is Poland. Martin met Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki today.

Malaysia's deputy prime minister, Tun Abdul Razak, appealed to UN members in a General Assembly speech to help bring about an Asian peace conference on Viet Nam. Such a conference was proposed recently by the foreign ministers of Thailand, Malaysia and the Philippines.

At a press conference later, Razak said, "Our idea is to call on all other Asian countries to appeal to South Viet Nam and North Viet Nam to come to the conference table and discuss their differences."

Asked whether the Viet Cong and the United Nations would take part in such a conference, Razak said the first step is to get the Saigon and Hanoi regimes to meet, and then these two governments would decide whom else they wanted to participate in the negotiation of their differences. "After all, the United States is in South Viet Nam at the request of the South Vietnamese government," he said.

Foreign Minister Vaclav David of Czechoslovakia, whom Martin plans to see today, repeated to the assembly Monday the Soviet-bloc position that the United States must withdraw completely from Viet Nam.

When the assembly turned its attention later Monday to the question of South African rule over South-West Africa, most African and Asian delegations either stayed away or walked out during a speech by South African delegate D. P. de Villiers. At one point, only 28 of 118 member countries were represented in the vast chamber.

De Villiers defended the white South Africa government's rule of the almost entirely Negro territory but humane and progressive. He said conditions

British Industrialists, Union Chiefs Gather for Parley on Productivity

LONDON (CP)—Seventy top British industrialists and union chiefs assembled here today to discuss productivity with fresh evidence to prove their trips to the conference were necessary.

The captains of industry and labor met at the government's behest for a one-day National Productivity Conference in fulfilment of a government election promise to stir the country into more productive ways.

Plans to increase industrial efficiency include more open trading of experience among businesses, better organization of professional and research services and methods to increase labor mobility.

With government austerity measures beginning to slow down activity in such key fields as automobile production, the conference has acquired added importance since it was first proposed last March.

On the eve of the meeting, car manufacturers announced reduced output. British Motor Corp., with almost half its 110,000 workers at 26 factories on short time, said decisions on 11,000 and 12,000 men will be laid off suddenly early in November. Vauxhall Motors said 3,000 men will go on a four-day week shortly.

The snowballing repercussions of the automotive slowdown are already beginning to hit industries dependent on car manufacturing.

BCs problem—and the problem called by a strike of car delivery and men protesting against the fact that some of their fellow carappliances industries transport drivers have been laid off.

Frank Cousins, union chief and former Labor cabinet minister, has blocked the strike in a direct challenge to economic policies that the government says will produce a beneficial shakeout of labor and which Cousins denounces as cruel and unenforced unemployment.

The productivity conference has been described into a full discussion of how best to get production off on the right foot when the present economy boldown is eased next year.

Meanwhile, the pro - Labor Daily Mirror publishes a feature article telling its 5,000,000 subscribers that "Britain lags shamefully behind" other industrial countries in productivity.

The newspaper says evidence that in the electrical machine tools and appliances industries it takes four British workers to produce as much as one American. The over - manning ratio amounts to more than three to one in chemicals and more than two to one in steel.

Shipbuilder Iain Stewart puts most of the blame on "unimaginative managerial people" in a article in The Daily Express. Stewart is chairman of Fairfield of Glasgow, the shipbuilding firm bailed out of bankruptcy earlier this year by capital from government and both seamen — including Canadian-born publisher Lord Thomson of Fleet—and an unprecedented productivity contract between unions and management.

"The tendency has been to blame the unions for everything that's bad in our industry," Stewart said. "This is nonsense —it's up to the management to create the setting whereby the unions can give their people the right kind of lead."

Chrysler Follows Ford's Lead In Rollback of New Car Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. cut its announced 1967 auto prices today, as Ford did earlier, to make it more competitive with General Motors.

Even with the revised figures, the average General Motors increase of $54 a car was still lower than of its two main competitors. The revised Chrysler increase averaged out of $64, while Ford was $66.

Ford, first of the auto-makers to announce prices on its new cars, made automotive history Monday night when it became the first major car-maker ever to pull back on announced price increases.

It cut $46 from an average price increase of $107 which was announced Sept. 30.

Chrysler — which like Ford was trapped when its announced price increases turned out to be larger than those of GM — slashed prices of 128 of its 138 models. Five models remained unchanged and five others were raised slightly.

Chrysler and Ford said part of the price adjustments were made by making car lines originally intended as standard equipment of 1967 cars, extra cost options.

They cited a remote control device for an outside rear-view mirror as an example of a standard item made optional.

Ford bore the brunt of criti-

Council Can Do Little About Complaints Over Auto Wreckers in Area

City council can do little about the complaints of Half Road residents, who are objecting to the nuisance created by an auto wrecking establishment in the area.

At the last meeting of council two weeks ago a Half Road delegation complained that the continual burning of auto bodies and tires made it impossible for housewives to hang out laundry and that the piles of wreckage and debris were a breeding ground for rats and caused a serious hazard to the safety of children.

The delegation asked that the licence of the wrecking firm be revoked.

In a report to council yesterday, City Manager J. B. Reynolds said that subject to Green's Auto Wreckers complying with the provisions of the Salvage Yard by-law there was no action which council could take to force stoppage of operations at this location.

WERE AWARE OF SITUATION

He said there was no authority for a municipal council to pass a by-law prohibiting the setting out of fires in the open air. However, there was no breach of the Wrecking Yard by-law with respect to piles of wrecked autos creating a hazard for children. It was pointed out that the wrecking yard was private property.

The city manager agreed with respect to the unsightly nature of the wrecking yard but pointed out the yard was in operation at the time the petitioners located in the area and they (the petitioners) were well aware of the situation.

LAMB PRICE DOUBLES

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The grand champion 4-H market lamb at the AK-Sar-Ben livestock show brought $1,750 — $17.50 a pound — Monday, a price observers termed fantastic by comparison with last year's top price of $6.75, the previous record. On the Omaha livestock auction Monday, the 100 - pound Hampshire lamb would have brought $24.

Golden Hawk Jet Available Museum Piece

The city's Zwick's Island Centennial Park could have a Golden Hawk Sabre Jet aircraft as a museum piece.

Mayor Jack Ellis told council yesterday that one of the original Golden Hawk jets was available to the city and suggested that it would make a fine display at the Island Park.

Mayor Ellis also said he had received word from Queen's Park to the effect that Ontario Premier Robarts would be asked to attend the official opening of the Island Park next July.

Three-Year-Old Sets Out To See City in His Sleepers

RETURN OF THE PRODIGAL SON — Three-year-old Howard Hyderman walked out of his parents' home on St. Paul Street this morning around two o'clock, and spent the night at the home of a passerby who found him, John N. Smith. His parents were unaware of Howard's disappearance until they awoke this morning.

Howard Hyderman set out on his own last night to explore Belleville. A problem arose, however: Howard is only three years old, and the time he took to begin his trek was two a.m. this morning.

The small boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hyderman of 40½ St. Paul Street, apparently unlocked the door of his home, and walked out into the chilly night air in his sleepers.

Around 2.30 a.m., another St. Paul Street resident, John N. Smith, who lives a few doors home from his night-shift job, noticed the youngster wandering along in the vicinity of South Church Street, crying. Mr. Smith took the boy to his home and notified the police of the incident.

Howard spent the night at Mr. Smith's residence at 14 St. Paul Street until his parents discovery that he was missing around six o'clock this morning. Less than an hour later, the Hydermans had been in touch with the police, and Howard's odyssey was over.

Howard had no comment to make on the events of the night.

Says Inflation In Canada Is a Myth

HAMILTON (CP) — William Dodge, executive vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said Monday that inflation in Canada is a myth.

While prices, wages and taxes had risen in recent years, these developments have been greatly exaggerated is public discussions, Mr. Dodge told delegates from Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes at a Kiwanis club luncheon.

Consumer prices in Canada have risen nine per cent from 1960 to 1966, but in line with a United States rise of seven per cent, he said.

In the same period price rises in other industrialized countries have been much greater, with Germany up 15 per cent, Sweden 26 per cent and Japan up 40 per cent, Mr. Dodge said.

"Whatever increases we have experienced in Canada have been exceeded in several other industrial countries, so that our competitive position has not been undermined.

"The large wage increases which have received so much public attention recently are not typical settlements. They represent a long overdue correction of the very inequitable treatment accorded to special groups of workers over a period of years."

Fourth Time For FBI Agent To Tell Story

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — An FBI undercover agent was expected to tell for the fourth time today his eyewitness story of the slaying of Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.

But before Gary Thomas Rowe Jr. takes the witness stand, state and defence counsel must pick a jury of 12 men to try Eu Klux Klansman Eugene Thomas, 43, of Bessemer, Ala., for the killing of the Detroit housewife and civil rights worker.

At least one of the jurors was certain to be a Negro. Only 21 while men were left on the voire along with 31 Negroes after preliminary questioning of prospective jurors at the outset Monday of Thomas' trial on a murder charge.

Rowe, a former Birmingham bartender who said he joined the Klan to get information for the FBI, was expected once again to be the prosecution's key witness.

American Motors, fourth largest of the auto firms, is scheduled to announce its prices a couple of days before its cars go on sale Oct. 6.

Ford said of the price adjustments:

"Most of the reductions result from changing to optional some equipment previously announced as standard. For example, on most cars, effective today, the deluxe belts, warning light and remote control for the outside rear view mirror have been made optional.

In addition to refiguring its prices, Ford announced Monday — as Chrysler did several hours earlier—that its car warranty would be extended to cover steering, suspension and wheels on its new cars. This was in addition to the 50,000-mile or 5-year warranty for the car's power train — the engine and transmission.

Zoning Measure Held Up

A proposed amendment to city by-law No. 6465 regulating the height of lands and buildings was held up in city council yesterday when it was pointed out the by-law had caused a "cold" with councillors having no previous knowledge of the amendment.

The by-law amendment, requested by the city parks board, would have added a new "G" district zoning designation to the by-law covering public open space.

The purpose would be to have the zoning by-law amended to guard against future sales or conforming uses of land in the Zwick's Island area.

SCOTT OPPOSED

Alderman W. J. Russell Scott said he opposed this type of legislation which he said was a form of expropriation of property without compensation.

He said that council members had had no opportunity to read the amendment and asked that it be tabled for two weeks.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds said the amendment had been brought in at the request of the planning engineer on behalf of the parks board.

Alderman Ken Soden said there was a possibility private land in the Zwick's Island area could be sold. The amendment would guard against any undesirable type of development, he said.

Pay Increase May Not Hold Men in Forces

OTTAWA (CP) — The big question in the defence department is whether the armed forces pay increase announced for next week will be sufficient to hold men who otherwise plan to seek higher-paying civilian jobs.

The anti - inflation measures tabled in the House of Commons Sharp indicate that the increase won't be as large as Defence Minister Hellyer wanted.

The 1966-67 pay bill for the armed forces is $530,000,000 and an increase of 10 per cent would pump $53,000,000 more into the economy.

Mr. Sharp has said the government will "hold down" the defence budget which, with the pay increase, will take it beyond the original estimate of $1,572,000,000.

Informants said Monday that many servicemen have been waiting to see how big the increase will be before making up their minds whether to remain in the forces or return to civvy street when their present hitches expire.

"Intends To Defy The Law"

A 23-year-old Belleville man who served previous jail terms of seven days and four months for driving while his licence was suspended was found guilty on the same charge in city magistrate's court this morning.

Leslie William Marshall, of 12 Cedardale Motel on the Kingston Road, received another one week in custody for sentence. Maximum sentence for the offence is six months in jail.

Said Magistrate T. Y. Wills: "His apparently intends to absolutely defy the law. The only thing the court can do is put him in a position where he cannot defy the law for as long a period as possible."

SEEN DRIVING

The accused, who pleaded not guilty, was charged September 3 by two police officers who received a report alleging Marshall was illegally operating a motor vehicle. That night Marshall was seen driving a car into the driveway in front of his motel residence by the two constables.

tional standards in South-West Africa compare favorably with those in the rest of Africa.

But Singh, who followed de Villiers to the rostrum, said South Africa "is no longer identified to merit the trust of the international community," because of the way it took over the former German colony. He denounced South Africa's rulers as "racists and fascists."

WANTS UN TO TAKE OVER

He called for the removal of South African authority over South-West Africa and for the United Nations to assume direct administration of the territory.

Recalling that South Africa had taken over the territory as a League of Nations mandate after the First World War, Singh said, "Surely, what was given by the international community to a member nation at a mandate, to be administered according to certain conditions, can also be taken back."

De Villiers, a lawyer who argued South Africa's case recently before the World Court in The Hague, Holland, denied charges that South Africa is treating the territory as a member territory in an inhumane manner. He said South Africa has never consented to a UN trusteeship in South - West Africa and, in the absence of such consent, it is under no obligation to account to the world body for its administration of the territory.

The World Court recently rejected a petition by Liberia and Ethiopia for a ruling on the merits of South African administration of South-West Africa. The court decided these two countries had no legal right to such a ruling because they were not members of the League of Nations.

Proposed Bill on Tax Credits For Pensioners Is Delayed

The proposed private bill of Mayor Jack Ellis which would authorize allowance of up to $100 in tax credits for old age pensioners owning their own homes was stalled temporarily at city council yesterday with the mayor to bring in more information before council action is taken.

The intention of the proposed private bill was to allow a tax credit with respect to school taxes for old age pensioners owning their own homes for 10 years or more.

The mayor's proposed bill is similar to one approved earlier this year for the city of Hamilton.

Alderman Ken Soden said the mayor's proposal appeared to have political overtones in that on one hand the federal government was criticized for instituting a means test for old age assistance while at the same time suggesting a means test for the intended local tax credit.

LEGALITY QUESTIONED

Alderman Soden doubted that many local pensioners would qualify for the tax credit if there was a means test.

Alderman Jack Allin questioned the legality of the tax credit suggested by the mayor and asked if there was not some other method by which the same end could be achieved.

Alderman Jack Deacon suggested there was assistance through the provincial government's 80 per cent welfare program.

Council generally agreed that before action could be taken on the mayor's proposal any means test would have to be clearly spelled out. There was a suggestion too that pensioners renting housing accommodation should also be considered.

Later in the meeting Alderman Douglas Boyle reported that the senior citizens' housing project on Turnbull Street was well underway with foundation work now being completed.

He said that close to 200 applications from senior citizens had been received for the less than 50 apartments, which would be available.

Told About Treasure Van, United Appeal

Yesterday was "Information Day" at the weekly meeting of the Belleville Kinsmen Club, with subjects on the agenda touching on matters both internal and external to the club.

Mr. Bert Messacar, general secretary of the Belleville Family "Y", was on hand at the luncheon to explain the upcoming Treasure Van project, to be held at the "Y" this coming Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Sponsored annually by the World University Service of Canada and by the Y.M.C.A.-World Service Committee, the Treasure Van is a travelling bazaar which displays and sells crafts from more than 30 countries around the world.

Profits on the sale of these goods are used by the WUS and the "Y"s World Service Committee to assist educational development in many needy countries of the world.

Mr. Messacar noted that, with proceeds going to "Y" work abroad, rather than going to the local branch, the possibility of any competition between this program and the current United Appeal will be eliminated.

A short film entitled "Something Personal" was shown to outline some of the work performed by the member agencies of the United Appeal and depicted to what extent a "typical citizen" might contribute to the United Appeal drive. The keynote of the film was: "in a community, whatever else's misfortunes may be your misfortunes."

Also included on the program was a skit, as three Rotarians - turned - Thespians - reminded club members of Rotary policy and objectives by portraying the "recruitment" of a potential club member.

GETS STIFF SENTENCE

BELFAST (AP)—A 17-year-old Irish boy, who threw a concrete block at Queen Elizabeth's Rolls-Royce while she was visiting here July 4, was sentenced Monday to four years in prison. John Francis Morgan said he threw the block on a sudden impulse and intended it to land on the street just in front of the car.

Front Street Merchants Seek Change in Traffic Pattern In Delegation to Council

Front Street merchants want the new traffic pattern at the Upper Bridge changed to allow for one lane of traffic from Station Street to continue on the Front Street instead of being channelled over the Upper Bridge.

The reason is that they feel the traffic pattern put into effect two weeks ago will be the construction start on the new College Street bridge is cutting business for downtown merchants.

Yesterday a delegation of Front Street merchants presented a petition to city council with spokesman ex-Alderman Russ Corke stating certain businesses were being hurt very much by the reduced traffic and by customers finding it difficult to get to off-street parking areas.

Mr. Corke said that 77 downtown merchants had signed the petition asking that one lane of Station Street traffic be allowed to continue on down Front St.

REPORT NOT READY

Yesterday was the second time in as many meetings that the new traffic pattern at the Upper Bridge has been up for discussion in council.

When it was discussed two weeks ago City Engineer Wilbur Purcell and Police Traffic Inspector Ralph Blatchford were directed to bring in a report on the traffic situation.

City Engineer Purcell yesterday told council that the report was not yet ready.

"Anything council wants done can be done, but what you have is what was recommended by a traffic consultant," said Mr. Purcell.

Mr. Purcell said that for one lane of traffic to continue on down Front Street as was suggested by the merchants delegation would mean re-activating the former system of traffic lights. "This would put traffic right back where it was," he said.

TRAFFIC FLOWS FREELY

The engineer went on to say that traffic conditions at the Upper Bridge are now better than before the new system was put into effect. The reason for this was that there was now a free flow of traffic because traffic from the Upper Bridge was not conflicting with traffic continuing on down Front Street.

Alderman Jack Allin said that with prospects of the new College Street Bridge being completed by the end of this year, the citizens might go along with the present traffic pattern but said they would not want it to become permanent.

Mr. Purcell said the traffic report requested from Messrs. and Inspector Blatchford would be ready for the next council meeting.

Intersections To Be Freed of Obstructions

Crossing sight distances at many Belleville intersections will be considerably improved if recommendations to cut back from the city engineer and city traffic inspector are carried out.

Yesterday city council approved recommendations from the two officials which would see the removal of a number of trees, hedges, shrubs or other objects which are blocking the view at various city intersections.

At the same time council will adopt a policy prohibiting the use of street allowances for the planting of trees, hedges or shrubbery which might obstruct the view of drivers.

Included in the report was a list of 11 intersections in the city where hedges or other obstructions were recommended for removal. In three of the instances the hedges are located on private property and not on the street allowances.

Armouries Obtained for Teen Dances

There was good news for the city's teen-agers last night.

The every other Friday night "Dave's Gig" dance parties which during the summer months have been held in the Arena are not to be forced out of operation by the up-coming hockey season.

Last night Mayor Jack Ellis announced that arrangements have been made for rental of the Belleville Armouries for holding the bi-monthly dances with the first dance to be held in the new location on October 14. The agreement for the Armouries rental was signed by Hasty Pees Commanding Officer Lieut. Col. K. G. H. Willcocks and by Alderman Kenneth Soden and Norman Carter for the Belleville Recreation Commission.

The bi-monthly teen-age dance parties sponsored by the Recreation Commission with Dave Charles as director have proven immensely popular with attendance ranging between 1,000 and 1,500 each night.

New Armchairs Purchased for City Council

Belleville city councillors are to have new chairs to match up with council chamber desks purchased some years ago, but not all aldermen feel they are necessary.

However, 14 new armchairs at $39.18 each or a total cost of $575.95 were authorized for purchase.

Earlier in the year Alderman Jack Deacon had been authorized to investigate the purchase of new chairs for the council chambers to replace the old chrome "chairs" which have been in use for two or more decades.

Alderman Kenneth Soden and Jack Allin were opposed to the new chairs, but Alderman Doug Boyle said the present chairs were shameful.

"Council chamber chairs should at least be comfortable," he said.

And Alderman Dr. J. R. Scott said the present chairs were "cheap" and of a type which no councillor would care to have in his living room or kitchen.

If not for the sake of councillors' comfort, he said, the new chairs should be purchased for appearance sake.

To conclude the discussion, Alderman Ken Soden had commented that it was often asked for council to spend $50,000 than to agree on the purchase of a minor item.

Increased Post Mortem Cost Questioned by City Council

The question arose as result of the appearance of two expense items for $500 paid to the hospital for post mortems.

Alderman Dr. J. Russell Scott said the cost of each post mortem was $100 and that the operating of hospitals was determined to some extent on the number of post mortems done. The cost is assessed against the municipality.

Dr. Scott was named to bring in a full report on the matter of post mortem costs.

The question of post mortem costs has also been raised in Hastings county council, the matter having come up on two different occasions since the rate for post mortem examinations was raised from $65 to $100.

At the one-day county council session last week, County Clerk Treasurer Carl Bateman said that the change in the fee schedule was of some concern.

In addition to the increased cost for post mortems, the county was also paying the hospital $25 for the use of facilities.

"This increase in fees, together with the fact that last year's legislation was changed whereby coroners are empowered to hold inquests without the consent of the crown attorney, will tend to skyrocket costs for these services," Mr. Bateman said.

Frost Finishes Tomato Season, Welcomed by Apple Growers

The first hard frost of the year last night left its wary across the Quinte district — meeting a mixed reaction from area farmers.

It hit into the tail end of the year's tomato crop, but may prove a minor boon to apple growers.

The frost followed a weather cold front that dropped temperatures to or near the thermometer's freezing mark.

At Belleville, the official recorded low for the night was 36°, when the RCAF Station reported a reading of 31.

"There's no doubt about it — this was a killing frost," reported area tomato grower George Flower, R. R. 7, Belleville.

"If this had come 10 days ago the loss would have been much greater," said Mr. Flower. "At the end of September you expect it."

At Carrying Place apple grower Harold Bonter also reported heavy frost on the south shore of the Bay of Quinte.

And the Bonters report no trouble thus far in hiring apple pickers to harvest the crop.

For the moment, the frost may bow out as suddenly as it appeared. The RCAF forecaster at Trenton today promised a warmer air flow and winds to move the mercury up. He predicted a low tonight of 38.

2. Hang up.
Hang up if the caller doesn't say anything.
Hang up at the first obscene word.
Hang up if the caller doesn't identify himself to your satisfaction.

3. Call us, if... these obscene or harassing calls persist.

It's our policy—indeed, it's our business—to make sure that customers receive the best possible phone service.

That's why, when the telephone becomes an instrument of harassment, it's a matter of the most serious concern to us.

If the calls continue, don't hesitate to phone your Bell Service Representative. She can call in people we have specially trained to help investigate, identify, and work with police in the apprehension of these callers. With the help of improved procedures persistent callers have been caught.

We also remind everyone that Canada's Criminal Code provides up to six months in prison and $500 in fines for making indecent calls. And where evidence is clear, we are permitted to disconnect or remove the phone service of anyone making such calls. We want you to know we're doing all we can to help you and your family.

Spence Favors Discussion

In his report on the Munsinger case, Mr. Justice Wishart Spence declared that criticism of his findings, or of his methods of arriving at them, should not be curbed.

There will be those who will be enraged at what they will interpret as a back-handed bid for immunity from reproof, while others will feel that the commissioner is merely advising authorities from attempting a task which would, in any event, prove impossible to fulfill.

We think though, that Mr. Justice Spence deserves better than that. Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of Quebec, who conducted the inquiry into the affairs of Lucien Rivard, recommended that Parliament pass an amendment to the Inquiries Act, so as to permit the head of such an inquiry to find a person in contempt for actions either in his presence or outside of it. By taking a contrary stand with respect to the investigation which he conducted, Mr. Justice Spence is performing a public service of considerable importance.

Those who head inquiries are entitled to respect, but we think that Mr. Justice Spence is correct when he states that the opportunity to have the discussion and criticism of the results of such an inquiry. In most, if not all cases, inquiries are designed to assist the general public, and those people it has chosen to place in authority, to reach an informed judgment with respect to a problem. Surely no good purpose would be served if, the inquiry having unveiled the facts and a qualified expert having outlined the judgments which he considers can reasonably be reached on the basis of these facts, all further debate on the problem was cut off.

Mr. Justice Spence's stand in favor of permitting criticism of a commissioner's findings, and more than that of the methods which he reached his conclusions, are quite probably the most important finding in the Munsinger report.

People Count

Mrs. F. W. Hill of Hagersville objected. "There is so much ill feeling already in the world that I feel you have slanted your column deliberately against the French," she declared.

She explained she experienced, herself, her husband and her daughter to back her view. They visited three countries, she said. Only in Ireland were they "treated with kindness and courtesy at all times and by all people in England, it have never in my life met with such consistent, diabolical rudeness." But in France they met with "very little rudeness."

"All of which indicates, I suppose," observes West sagely, "that many of our impressions while wandering abroad are formed by the individuals with whom we come into contact."

We do not doubt for a moment but that West is right. He adds: "This may be a good thing for all of us to remember while dealing with those we come to visit us in our part of the world."

This is sound advice and it contains the germ of the second point which we think should be remembered by all: that the way people treat us depends on the measure of the way in which we treat people. It is well to remember this not only when dealing with foreigners but also with our own countrymen.

Perhaps this begs the question whether West was rude to the people whom he met in France and Mrs. Hill rude to the people she met in England, and, if so, why Mrs. Hill was so polite to the Irish folk that all were pleasant to her. But we all have our moods and there are times, night, a headache, a poor breakfast, an unavoidable delay — any of these can put the traveller in bad humor. And, if he is in bad humor, he may be brusque. His shortness is matched by that of the people with whom he comes in contact — and they part with a poor opinion of the country the other represents. A poor opinion of one Englishman leads to an antagonistic, or at least a distrustful, attitude towards all Englishmen, and is carried by a single attitude. But, fortunately, this reaction also works in reverse, and if the visitor starts out in a bright mood and has the good fortune to meet a native similarly good-humored, the pattern for an atmosphere of cordiality is set.

All of which should make us realize the danger inherent in going forth into the world loaded with prejudices against others. Nor, for that matter, should we build our expectations too high, for that can lead to disappointment and disappointment to disgust.

People are much the same the world over. Some are good and some are bad. But more are polite if we are polite and courteous and more are rude and unfriendly if we act that way ourselves.

I think a minister in fact exercises as much power as he deserves. In other words he has to exert his personality in order to exercise it. There are many limitations and checks upon his power, but if he is a good minister he will use the originality and drive he possesses in order to carry through his policies. — Quintin Hogg, a former British cabinet minister.

Francis Drake arrived at Plymouth 286 years ago today—in 1580—after sailing around the world in his ship Golden Hinde. He was knighted on board the following spring by Queen Elizabeth and commanded a British fleet until his death in 1596, eight years after his triumph against the Spanish Armada. His world circumnavigation was not planned in advance but followed a successful buccaneering voyage to the River Plate, South America, in 1577.

Salary Cut Could Polish Ottawa's Tarnished Image

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau.

OTTAWA — Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson, like a lot of other MPs, is deeply concerned over Parliament's diminishing public stature.

Their worry is reflected in the index of Hansard, Parliament's word by word record.

In the last couple of sessions there have been well over 100 separate and different references catalogued under that heading.

They are, in essence, the bolstering by the MPs themselves of all the unflattering things they read in their newspapers, hear on radio, see on television and are told to their faces — often by constituents — that have contrived to crack Parliament's once brightly shining image.

So what, basically, is wrong?

Mr. Thompson believes it is that $18,000-plus Parliamentary pay-cheque, which he, like a great many other MPs, insists, really in spendable income, just isn't that good.

THE BAG IS

It is substantially less than $18,000, he argues, because $6,000 of it, while tax-free, is officially expense money.

And it costs the average MP, most of them protest, a good deal more than $12,000 to cover expenses.

So that, in personally disposable income, what is the $18,000-plus to something under $12,000.

Or that is the way they calculate it budget-wise.

It is a fact, too.

It is exactly as they say it is. But who believes them?

Not the striking railwaymen who picketed Parliament Hill carrying signs saying, in effect, that what was good enough for those $15,000-a-year MPs was good enough for them.

There have been other pointedly distasteful, if good-natured, cavious references to the Parliamentary pay which was doubled three years ago by the MPs themselves from $10,000 to $18,000.

And Conservative Leader Diefenbaker persists in insisting that it was the doubling of the MPs' pay that set the match initially to the fire - cracker string of wage demands and strikes that have since exploding across the land.

Unfair, unfair, protests Mr. Thompson.

The pay actually is really $12,000. So let us make it that — and expect for a couple of basic allowances, put the MPs on expense account.

This would involve little more than a change in accounting, he concedes, but it would have the good public relations purpose of calling a $12,000 pay - cheque just that; and not the $18,000 it is generally regarded to be.

STRICTLY ACCOUNTABLE

In compensation for giving up the tax-free $6,000 of expense money, he suggests MPs be given necessary and justified privileges matching those of the Australian Parliament.

Such as:

A per diem hotel allowance for Ottawa, payable whether the MP lives in a room, an apartment, or a house.

A constituency office, with full-time secretary, in the Post Office or Federal building in the MP's home city of town.

An air travel pass good only if paying passengers aren't occupying the seats, plus an emergency fare-pay arrangement for "must" trips, instead of the weekly round-trip ticket home now in force.

Mr Thompson figures that a whole package would cost the Treasury considerably less than the current $6,000 tax-free expense allowance.

This because the short haul and all call rate of nearby Ottawa MPs in Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec would carry the payload for Members from the Maritimes, the West and the more distant regions of the two central provinces.

Even if it didn't really make all that great a saving, it would look better. For that way MPs would be drawing actual pay, as they do now, of just $12,000 without that automatic extra $6,000 that runs the total tab to that image-bursting $18,000.

It makes good public relations sense.

The tiny British protectorate of Basutoland, a small enclave in eastern South Africa, will be known as the Kingdom of Lesotho when it becomes independent.

Independence will test a nation rich in scenery but poor in resources. A visitor flying over the territory said in wonder: "There is surely one of the greatest challenges to economic development on this planet."

Most of Basutoland's 11,716 square miles cling to the steep sides of the Drakensberg Range whose loftiest peaks nudge clouds at over 11,000 feet. Rivers tumble down into treeless valleys and carve deep gorges across crowded plains.

Three quarters of the 745,000 Basuto live on lowland farms where they raise meager crops of corn, wheat, and vegetables.

Many Basuto families could not survive without additional income, so an estimated 200,000 tribesmen half the male population — cross the border to work in South Africa's gold, diamond, and coal mines and on farms there.

The Basutos have worked hard to preserve their tribal identity. Early in the 19th century, the revered chieftain Moshesh rallied the Basuto clans to resist encroachment by other tribes and Dutch settlers.

Wearied by constant warfare, they repeatedly asked the British for protection. Finally in 1868, Moshesh put his people under Queen Victoria's benevolent protectorate.

Moshesoeshoe's subjects rode from far and wide to attend the wedding ceremony a few years ago. Mounted on the famed Basuto ponies and clad in colorful blankets and conical straw hats they scrupulously observed the many taboos that still be followed in the cathedral." Following the nuptials, the tribesmen expressed their high - est form" of affection for the royal couple — a rousing chorus of "Happy Days."

In Basutoland, equestrian lovers rates with a good sermon. With considerable effort and time spent in the battle, hard missionaries have converted two out of three Basuto to Christianity.

Mexico War Unpopular

Milwaukee Journal

Former vice-president Richard Nixon has told the American Legion that the war in Viet Nam is "the most unpopular in American history." The fact is that polls show majority support for the war. And Nixon overlooks the war with Mexico in 1846.

James Polk was president and a Democrat. The opposition Whig party bitterly charged that he had deliberately gone to war to despoil Mexico. The country was deeply split. It came to be called "Jimmy Polk's war" by the Whigs and the antislavery forces of New England.

One congressman took the floor to denounce it as "unholy unrighteous and damnable." Senator Corwin, a Whig from Ohio, said that if he were a Mexican he would ask the Americans: "Have you not room in your own country to bury your dead men? If you come into mine, we will greet you with bloody hands and welcome you to hospitable graves." Abraham Lincoln, newly come to the house, was critical also, and he gave the name of "spotty Lincoln" by constantly demanding to know the "precise" spot where Mexico allegedly attacked the United States.

Gen. Scott and Taylor led American forces. A mark of how bitter some felt about the war was an editorial in the Boston Atlas which stated: "We would be a sad and woeful people but a joy nevertheless, to hear that the hordes under Scott and Taylor were, every man of them, swept into the next world."

To Your Good Health

Cankers May Have More Than One Cause

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done about a canker sore in the mouth? It's inside at first, gets larger in four or five days, and lasts about two weeks. It's white and looks hurts. Sometimes I can hardly sleep at night. — Mrs. A. J.

I agree that these orgery things can be a nuisance and I confess that their cause is not known.

However, treatment can give you some relief.

From one-fifth to one-half of the population will have canker sores. Sometimes they appear only occasionally; sometimes quite frequently. Women are victims more often than men, so some researchers think they are related to the menstrual cycle.

Other theories include allergy, injury to the mouth membrane, or nervous tension. All of these at one time or another do indeed seem o be involved. There is also a strong suspicion directed at a virus.

The truth may well be that none of these theories, by itself to bring on scanker sore. Chocolate, citrus fruits and other foods have often been suspected in the allergy line, but what bothers one person can be harmless to another.

Since we cannot assign a specific cause we can't offer a definite remedy. Treatment has been tried with antibiotics, with steroids, with a lactobacillus preparation. All have appeared to be successful in some cases, and all have been worthless in others which leads us to think that there must be differing causes for the sores.

The virus theory is supported by the fact that cankers and cold sores often seem to improve after a smallpox vaccination, so extra vaccinations are sometimes given for this purpose. But again, sometimes they don't help.

If you detect a connection between the sores and any particular food, some further experimentation — avoiding that food — may help. A word of caution: If citrus fruit or juice seems to be involved, Vitamin C should be taken as a supplement.

For particularly large or painful cankers, lozenges containing pain-relieving medications are advised. Your doctor can prescribe them.

There you have it. Canker sores aren't dangerous, but they are not easy to treat unless you happen to identify a factor that brings them on in your particular case.

Dear Dr. Molner: My three-year-old got gum in his hair. Without asking we pulled it out instead of cutting it out and the hair came with it. Now he has a bald spot the size of a quarter. Will the hair grow back? It's been five days and I see no sign of it. — Mrs. B. G.

Five days is too soon. Assuming he has normally healthy scalp, the hair will grow, but don't be impatient. After it has been pulled out by the roots, a bit of time is required for the hair to grow out to the skin surface.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I am trying to gain weight. I eat at apple almost every night instead of candy or other things. A friend says apples have no fat and therefore make me gain weight. Is she right? — Mrs. M. K. B.

All have been taught apples are much better for you than sweets or other fattening things.

Dear Dr. Molner: My brother has gout, poor circulation and cramps in his legs at night. Do cold sores (fever blisters) bother him? — Mrs. M. B. M.

From the standpoint of circulation, they are definitely bad for him.

Children Detest Kissing

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

My current crush is a 9-year-old charmer named Robin, and when I visited her house to play bridge with her parents the other evening, I swung her up in the air and tickled her ribs—but carefully omitted to kiss her or to ask her to kiss me.

The previous evening, a tough and knowing lecturer on child psychology had told me that the unconscious mind had buried over the years; that small children hate to be kissed; that they generally dislike being kissed by or being made to kiss strangers; that I had been over-distasteful it was to me when relatives or my friends kissed me, and that every child, or when I was dutifully forced to peck some elderly female on the cheek, it was nice enough to come over and visit.

As grownups I liked best were those who would pretend to be an elephant or a water buffalo, and would run on all fours with their backs or toss me in the air so that my whole body enjoyed being shared with and rumpled and teased.

These people were fun; they helped me discharge a lot of energy; but the kissers were sticky, sanctimonious and terribly sensitive to any criticism.

I want to thank the speaker—who, by the way, is Dr. Theodore Reitchein of the Orthogenic School at the University of Chicago—for bringing back these vivid memories. Nothing in the world is easier than forgetting as an adult what it feels like to be a small child.

Childhood is a period of expectancy, which is a pleasure — but it is also a period of "being expected to" — which can be a real nuisance.

We are expected to be so many things and to do so many things, not only by our parents but also by their friends. We are expected to kiss grownups I had chosen her over distasteful and to make the kiss means nothing to us but is merely some sort of erotic symbol to them. I am convinced that this expectation sets up a subtle resistance in children.

All parents want to develop children with affectionate natures, but this cannot be commanded through example, not through command. A child who is made to feel that it has no responsibility to kiss his relatives actually loses a source of spontaneous affection.

Robin and I can continue our grand romance on a much healthier, more joyous plane than mushing each other with our lips. I am giving up a small privilege in reality for the greater pleasure of being adored as an elephant, the Wonderful Elephant-Man.

Home still, we must now face the peril of greatly increased collections of slides. It was difficult enough with the old bulb; the unhappy victim then was generally left to turn over the boring pages of other people's unhappy collections on the couch, however, but a professional torturer, the amateur photographer controls a projector which immobilizes the victim by projecting on a screen multichrome faces of individuals who look either insane or self-consciously uncomfortable.

The cheaper film becomes, the more frequently and extensively will the indecent be subjected to this trial. We can only suggest charging a high entertainment tax — on the showing of slides.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto stock market staged a rally following the leadership of the New York Exchange in morning trading today as a number of key industrials showed good strength.

The industrial index, an indicator of key stock movements, climbed 46 to 165.83.

Inco, which is also traded at New York, paced the advance, jumping 1 9/16 to 67¾. The stock has been fluctuating for the last month as a result of labor difficulties encountered by the company.

CPR moved up ½ to 57¾ and Alcan ¼ to 29¾. On the weak side, Bell Telephone dropped ¼ to 43¾ after touching a low of 41¾ and Hayes Steel ¼ to a low of 10¼.

The companies, which are undertaking a joint drilling program on the Gaspe property of Wexford Mines, announced today that hole number 22 showed no mineralization.

Uraniums were stronger with Denison ahead ⅛ to 58 and Rio Algom ⅝ to 34¾. Dome added ⅛to 24¾ in western oils.

In mines, golds were up .06 to 167.06; base metals off .01 to 83.86, western oils .63 to 106.07; and the TSE .46 to 139.41. Volume at 11 a.m. was 1,064,000 shares compared with 1,018,000 at the same time Monday.

Despite the improvement, declines outnumbered advances 249 to 158 with 221 issues unchanged. The industrial index gained .12 to 145.18.

Du Pont and International Minerals paced the group, rising 1 each to 39 and 80. Inco and Simpsons added ¼ each. Royal Bank skidded 1¼ to 67¼ and Avco 1⅛ to 22½.

Speculatives were not as active as on Friday and as a result volume totalled 2,322,000 shares compared with 4,104,000 Friday.

Feeders, delayed 25 minutes at the opening to match buy and sell orders, moved up 3½ to 18 cents on 304,000 shares.

On index, base metals were up .45 to 83.37, western oils .90 to 105.44 and the TSE .19 to 138.95. Golds fell .29 to 167.00.

Rotary Hopes To Raise $1,000 For Swim Pool

TRENTON — Trenton Rotarians will hold a Gas-O-Rama October 15, at Embleton's Service Station to raise money for the United Service Clubs' swimming pool in the high school. Club members will sell tickets for gas fill-ups, and hope to clear $1,000 on the project.

At last week's Rotary meeting a vote was taken as to whether to join with Kiwanis and Lions in attempting to sponsor Sunday entertainment in the theatre in aid of the swimming pool project. The vote was tied and will be taken again. Meanwhile, no report has come in from the other two clubs on this particular project.

Rotarians are expected to announce their plans for a Centennial project this week.

Navigation On Canal to Close Oct. 16

TRENTON — Ontario residents are enjoying the waters of the Trent system in greater numbers and later in the season this year.

Lockmaster James Howard reports 1,240 boats through the lock so far since navigation's opening May 13. This is a record, as the previous high was set in 1964 when 1,164 boats were locked through.

Mr. Howard says 90 boats have been locked through so far this month. Last year's count for September was 54.

Navigation on the Trent officially closes Oct. 16.

"Babe" James Only Nominee

TRENTON — Several members of the Trenton Kiwanis Club are in Hamilton this week, attending the annual convention of Division 8 A of Ontario-Quebec and Maritimes clubs.

At the meeting in the Royal Connaught Hotel today, the election of Fraser "Babe" James as lieutenant governor for the district is expected to be confirmed. Mr. James was the sole nominee at a Kiwanis district meeting in Belleville earlier this month.

The Trenton club has produced two other lieutenant governors, E. M. "Ted" Parker and Al Weaver.

WELLINGTON — A delegation from Prince Edward County met Industry Minister C. M. Drury for an hour Monday to plead the county be added to the list of Canada's designated areas of slow growth.

However, here today delegation leader Wellington Reeve Robert Boyce had little hope the plea would gain its objective of seeking special tax incentives for new industries.

"We werent too successful there yesterday," he summed up frankly.

The big stumbling block is Prince Edward's unemployment statistics, to which federal aid is tied.

"We don't have the problem of unemployment here that they do in other areas," said Reeve Boyce. "There's only a fractional difference with the national average. Unless you have a certain percentage of unemployment above the average, you can't qualify as a designated area."

For Prince Edward, however, there is another side to the economic coin.

WAGES LOW

A total of 2,624 wage-earners in the county had reported annual incomes below $3,000 in the 1961 census, from a total labor force of about 6,300.

For the county treasury there is also the difficulty of providing municipal services to residents, many of whom work outside the county.

"As soon as people get out of work here they seek employment in the larger centres — in Belleville, Cobourg, Kingston and Trenton," said Reeve Boyce.

"This is where the stress is on this county. We have to provide county services for these people but we don't realize any commercial assessment.

The delegation, which included Peiton Mayor Harvey McFarland, Prince Edward clerk-treasurer Tom Walker and County Chamber of Commerce secretary Jack Evans, warned in his brief that the local economy faces stagnation unless new industries can be attracted.

TO REVIEW FIGURES

Mr. Drury's office said later department officials would review unemployment and family statistics for the county to see whether it qualifies for special industrial tax incentives.

However, reiterated Reeve Boyce: "I have no hopes of anything coming out of this trip at all."

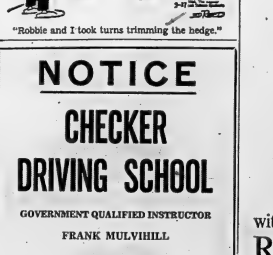
Other avenues will now be explored to see if they lead to any economic solution for the county, he said. Conferences now may be held between the industrial, finance and supply committees of county council and the Chamber of Commerce leading to discussion of the situation when county council meets in October.

Planning Board Will Be Asked To Share Costs

Belleville city council will ask the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board to share the costs of consultants' reports which are used by the board.

Alderman Dr. J. Russell Scott yesterday stated that a report from Gore and Storrie Consulting Engineers which has been paid for by the city had been the main topic of discussion at a recent planning board meeting and he felt the entire board rather than the city alone should share its $2,500 cost.

Belleville and portions of Sidney and Thurlow townships make up the suburban planning area with the city paying 25 per cent of the board's costs.



Mayor Ellis noted that aerial maps paid for by the city were also used by the planning board.

Council voted for the cost of the Gore and Storrie report and of the aerial map to be placed in the 1967 planning board budget.

THEORY SAID VALID

MONTREAL (CP) — President Leopold Senghor of Senegal said Monday that the theory of "Negritude", or an inherent African mentality, is a valid one. In a speech at the University of Montreal, the African leader defended the basic characteristics of Negritude: intuitive reasoning instead of the discursive European reasoning, emotional instead of logical reactions to objects and a unitary instead of a segmented view, of the universe.

Escapee Stole Belleville Car

Sergie Joseph Andre Rose, 19, of Corgwall, pleaded guilty in city magistrate's court this morning on a charge of car theft and was remanded in custody for sentence Friday.

Early September 21 Cornwall police notified Belleville police they had apprehended the accused for speeding in Cornwall and reported he was driving a stolen car. Rose told officers who arrested him that he had escaped Brampton Training Centre the first week in August.

The car's owner, Lawrence Percy Hyde, 34 Bridge Street East, was unaware his 1955 small - model car had even been removed from the Hotel Quinte parking lot.

Mr. Hyde left his car in the parking lot September 20 with the keys in the ignition.

Sentence in Belleville is pending a charge of escaping custody, expected to be sent this week from Brampton.

Lynne Neill First Winner Of Scholarship

The will of the late William Mayer sets aside approximately $100 per year to "the student in the Belleville public schools who attains the highest mark in the Grade XIII examinations." Miss Neill, an Ontario Scholarship winner, attained an average of 86% in June of this year. She is attending Queen's University and will be valedictorian at the Moira graduation exercises on October 15.

SPEND MORE FREELY

Canadians spent $30,000,000,000 on consumer goods and services last year, compared with $14,000,000,000 15 years ago.

Evening Class Registration At Moira Down Slightly

The first night registration for evening classes last evening at Moira Secondary School was somewhat lower than last year. According to Principal Linton Read, several classes were "oversubscribed" but a number of others will not be able to proceed next week unless there is heavy registration by eight o'clock Monday evening.

Classes have been established in the following subjects: advanced art, elementary art, drafting (mechanical), machine shop and blueprint reading, elementary sewing, elementary typewriting, welding, A.T.E.C. and electricity.

There is room for more students in almost all of these classes.

The minimum registration of 15 is achieved by eight o'clock Monday evening in the following subjects, these classes will also begin: advanced auto mechanics, elementary bookkeeping, elementary electricity, basic speaking, fashion co-ordination, data processing, advanced electronics, woodworking and auto basics for women.

Mr. Read points out that registration is quite acceptable next Monday evening, but students are urged to register before eight o'clock in the main office.

Tonight is registration night at D. C. I. V. S. from 7.00 p.m. to 9.00 p.m.

Night's Sleep for Parents Will Benefit Baby Most

TORONTO (CP)—A Montreal pediatrician said Monday one treatment for a colicky baby is to give the parents a sedative and insist they get a good night's rest.

Dr. Hugh R. Brodie told the Ontario chapter of the College of General Practice of Canada, that such babies often come from homes where the mother is tense, unhappy or fighting with her husband.

The colicky baby is usually a healthy one who cries excessively, pulls up its knees and gets red in the face, he said.

Colic is often a vicious circle, Dr. Brodie said. First the baby reacts to tension in the home, he cries, swallows air and cries again. His parents lack sleep and get more tense as the baby continues to react.

"A good night's sleep for the parents often benefits the baby most," he said.

Dr. Brodie, assistant physician and director of the child health centre at Montreal Children's Hospital, said the condition is self-limiting if the parents can stand it that long.

PROP BABY UP

Once the baby becomes vertical, the colic ends, he said. A good treatment is to prop the baby up, or lay him on his stomach instead of his back.

Can Detect Breast Cancer Says Doctor

TORONTO (CP)—Breast cancer can be detected even before there are any normal signs or symptoms of the disease, a United States doctor said Monday.

Dr. Robert L. Egan of Atlanta, Ga. said mammography, x-ray of the breast, can discover the cancer before any lump is detectable to the woman herself or to an examining physician.

The associate professor of radiology at Emory University was presenting a paper to the fourth annual scientific and business meeting of the Ontario chapter of the College of General Practice of Canada.

Dr. Egan said mammography does not involve injection of any substance into the breast, but uses low energy radiation to detect abnormalities.

It is painless, he said, and can be done at any large hospital with modern equipment.

DELAY TREATMENT

Dr. Egan said the death rate from cancer of the breast is the same today as it was in 1930 because women delay seeking treatment.

In another paper, Dr. Eugene F. Poutasse said children who run fevers for three days or more should always be examined for urinary tract infections.

Dr. Poutasse, a Norfolk, Va., surgeon, said infected throats in children may be the result of urinary tract infections.

The ages two to five mark the peak period for these infections, he said, and girls outnumber boys 20-to-one because of an anatomical structure which makes infection more likely.

PREVENTS SCURVY

The main sources of vitamin C, which prevents scurvy, are such foods as oranges, tomatoes and strawberries.

Home-made Shortening Cuts Costs

Home freezer owners already have a head start when it comes to fighting the battle of high food prices. Here's another idea you can use to beat the rising cost of fats and shortening. It utilizes a product that often goes in waste in most kitchens.

Anyone who buys a quarter or half of beef usually receives a large quantity of suet with the meat. Shortening made from it can cut your bill for fats in half. The product is excellent for use in cookies and spice cakes. Here's how its done.

Put the suet in a roasting pan and place in a 225 degree oven. As the fat melts, pour it off and measure. Now add to the melted fat an equal amount of liquid vegetable cooking oil. Mix well and chill. The result is a quantity of high-grade shortening with the same consistency as the commercial variety.

Ann Landers

Nurse Cites Danger Of Impaired Driving

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This morning at 3:00 a.m. an attractive 18-year-old boy was wheeled into an emergency room. It seems this fellow (I'll call him Roy) and his buddy had had three or four (or maybe it was five) beers. Roy was driving, fell asleep at the wheel and went right into a tree.

In a couple of hours Roy was sitting up in bed, smoking cigarettes and joking. He had come out of the accident awfully lucky — only minor bruises. When he asked what room his buddy was in, I told him he didn't know — that he had not been admitted to our floor.

ANN LANDERS

Roy suddenly said, "I'm going to settle down from now on. I really learned my lesson."

The next morning Roy got the news. His buddy wasn't in the hospital. He was in the morgue. Too bad he didn't learn his lesson 24 hours earlier, before he killed his best friend. — NIGHT NURSE.

DEAR NIGHT NURSE: In the majority of fatal accidents, it is not the driver but the person seated next to the driver, who becomes the statistic. And so it was with Roy's best friend.

Your letter should be a warning to all teen-age drivers who think a few beers won't affect their ability to handle a car.

* * *

DEAR ANN: Please don't think my problem is too dumb to print. I need to know how long a kiss is supposed to last.

I go with a great girl who happens to be a Yogi fan and a medal-winning long distance swimming champion. I hate to admit it but she's in better shape than I am.

Last night she got more at me because I broke away first when we were kissing. She claims "I rejected her." I told her I did no such thing. She said a fellow never is supposed to break away from a kiss first, that he is supposed to stay with it just as long as the girl does.

Is she right? What are the rules? Please advise me. — WINDED.

DEAR WINDED: I know of no rules on kissing. People are supposed to make up their own rules as they go along.

I suspect it's not rules that you need, Buddy-Boy, it's endurance. If you plan to continue with this girl, you'd better get in shape.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Skip the Sunday School lesson and give me some practical advice. I am 53 years old but could pass for 45. I have been married twice and both times I picked handsome, smooth-talking phonies who gambled, chased and wouldn't hold a steady job.

I have worked like a horse ever since I was 16 and I am plain tired. Now I have a chance to marry a widower, 64. He has a home and drives a brand new car which I use whenever I want to.

The problem is that the man is an ignorant bore. For example he didn't know that Austria and Australia were two different places.

To put it bluntly, Ann, I am willing to make some compromises in life because I want somebody to take care of me for a change. What do you say? — BEAT BARBARA.

DEAR BEAT: What kind of compromises would you be willing to make if the man had financial reverses and got sick and you had to take care of him? Think about this possibility before you make the move.

BETA SIGMA PHI

It was announced that the registration fee for the baby-sitters training course is Thursday, September 29 from 6-15 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Elwards Centre. Seven lectures will be conducted starting Friday October 7 at 8:30 until 9:30 p.m. and continuing every Friday night until December 9. The fee is $2.00 per for each lecture. All girls and boys over 13 are invited to attend.

Names were received for new rushees. Those girls will be entertained by the hostess at the cottage of Miss Nancy Lister. After the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess Miss Donna Matthews.

GAMMA MU

On Tuesday, the model meeting for new members if Gamma Mu was held at the home of Mrs. Daniel Findlay. Sorority, in terms of responsibilities, fees, and purposes, was outlined to the new members by Mrs. David Davey.

Mrs. Victor White will be the director for the next two months in place of Mrs. Allaneen Murray.

A pledge party in honor of the new members will be held at the home of Mrs. Peter Anderson on October 1.

Mrs. David Davey delivered a speech on Self-Confidence.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Daniel Findlay, and Mrs. Rodger Dodley.

Duplicate Bridge Session

At a Duplicate Bridge game the Director is on hand to give any ruling that arises when a situation arises. Still, in any bridge game, it is worthwhile, for the players themselves, to know the rules to enable them to avoid making errors which benefit their opponents.

Can you give the ruling for the following situation?

North bids one Spade, East pass, South 2 No Trumps, and then before West has spoken, North bids 3 Clubs.

The bidding must revert to West who can make any legal bid he wishes, but his partner, who is barred from bidding on his next turn. Since any bid less than game is certain to be passed by the opponents, North has to jump to a game bid without any more information from partner, and he is left wishing he had not spoken out-of-turn.

The next Duplicate Bridge session is Tuesday night, Sept. 27, at 7:30, at the Golf Club. Everyone is welcome.

THOMASBURG GROUP COMMITTEE

THOMASBURG — Thomasburg Scout Troop and Cub Pack have resumed their meetings for the season in Thomasburg United Church Hall.

Thomasburg Scout Group Committee met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Howell on Wednesday evening.

A discussion was held on the problem of finding new leaders to help run the Cubs. The secretary was instructed to send a letter to the sponsors regarding this new leader.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. Earle of Roslin on October 3.

Student Accident Insurance

THE BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL is pleased to announce it has again arranged for Student Accident Insurance. This insurance will be offered to the Students during the month of September.

Many parents now have insurance through their Group Medical Plans but this Student Insurance covers many types of accidents not normally found on regular Group Plans. The premiums are very attractive since both the Secondary and Public School students participate in this insurance offering.

Some of the benefits pay for loss of life, loss of eyes, hands, feet, fingers, arms and legs. The policy pays double indemnity for loss of life while riding school busses. It also covers dental expenses and blanket medical expenses.

The premiums are $1.00, $3.00 or $5.00 depending on which choice you require. Or, you may decline the insurance. Each letter to the parents will explain in detail the coverages, the exclusions and the premiums. There will also be an enrollment card which should be completed and returned to the school for attention of the Council Representative.

THE BELLEVILLE AND DISTRICT HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL presents this insurance as a service to the students and their parents and does not benefit in any way from this offering of insurance. The Lorne McDougall Insurance Agencies Ltd. are the Agents servicing this insurance and claims are handled directly by this Agency.

U.C.W. Attend Training School at Elin Lodge

"I don't want to become involved" — this philosophy was strongly attacked following the film "The Detached Americans" shown to 160 United Church women of the Bay of Quinte Conference registered at Elim Lodge, Peterborough, recently. They participated in the Fifth Annual Training School with the theme "The Church...in the World" with Mrs. W. C. Telford of Norwood as Dean. Mrs. N. B. Allan, Peterborough, Visitation Aids representative for Peterborough Presbytery introduced the film.

Participation with programs was evident in Swap Shop Sessions on Saturday morning at Elim Lodge when Mrs. Harold L. F. Richardson, Mrs. H. W. Quashnill and Mrs. Ray Holman presented a skit of a sub-executive meeting of a local UCW in which it was agreed that funds should be raised by voluntary giving as well as baking simultaneously. They resolved to plan interest groups of arts and crafts for people of all ages, both men and women. This was one of the many instances where plans were agreed upon to involve both sexes in more church endeavors.

A strong feeling of taking the Church into the World showed itself in the leadership development group under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. D. MacIntosh of Kingston.

PANEL DISCUSSION

The "And You" of the Church and the World was stressed by moderator, Mrs. N. E. Lindsay and her panel in the Saturday afternoon session of the Elim Lodge weekend for United Church Women. In answer to the question: What impact have scientific advances made on the world? Mrs. E. [illegible] replied that the Board of Women entered as evidenced by the latest Gemini attempts also as seen in automatic washers, dryers ,vacuums; the Pill to overcome the over-population situation. As Centennial year approaches "we look about us at our automated world." Where do we find the personal touch in it?

Mrs. K. Weaver saw the most effective witnessing being done by individuals and not by organizations.

Mrs. D. Redpath referred to her church in Oshawa as the "church that wouldn't burn." When fire destroyed their building, all groups were relocated for the next day in churches and halls of other denominations and meetings drew record crowds. The Church, then, is not a building.

SWAP SHOP SESSIONS

Suggestions for special purposes for Thankofferings with distribution of "Over And Above" leaflets to all members were among ideas produced in other Swap Shop sessions. Ways of fund raising ranged from antiques, jewellery and homebaking sale combinations to delicatessen tables and hat shows with dessert luncheons and chicken Bar-B-Q. The Church in The World for Bible study and The Church Grows in Canada with use of large historical map and study action book was recommended. A Christian Education Night for both men and women on the study theme with leaflets, posters, panel of leaders preceded by a skit by Sunday School children was suggested for trial. Literature covering the Co-Thompsons offered Centennial projects.

Mrs. J. A. H. Hutchinson, lecturer in Old Testament at Covenant College, Toronto, was the guest Bible Study leader at the Bay of Quinte Conference Training School for United Church Women. Principal of the United Church Training School 1945 - 1964 and first president of the Board of Women 1962 - 1964 she was introduced by Mrs. R. C. Ellis of Belleville.

Eeni Mini Minee Mo, Where Did the Minis Go?

Where are the mini skirts?

In the stores, certainly, where they are selling well to girls of every high school age.

But only three days have been sighted on girls in downtown Belleville, and none have appear at Dave's Gig, Saturday night means of the teen crowd. In Belleville schools they are banned.

Dave Charles, C.H.G. disc Jockey and teens' champion says the feeling is that they're too loud and boisterous for Belleville.

"Personally, I think they're great," he adds, "not because they're appealing, but because they're Mod, up to the times. I will say this though, a girl needs a proper figure to wear one."

The hem of the true mini skirt lies the anatomy half way between the waist and the knee. Those sold in Belleville stores are "long minis," ending five or six inches above the knee cap. At least two stores that have stocked the skirts since mid-August report sales are good. One department store has disposed of four dozens in a month. Girls of 14 to 21 years are the buyers.

The accompanying long net or textured stockings, supported to be extraordinary wear with minis, are not fairing as well. Sales are poor, and department managers believe girls are not wearing the complete mini costume.

Who knows perhaps militant mamas are confining mini clad daughters to promenades before the bedroom mirrors. There, protective leg coverings is hardly necessary.

Opinion has it that the mini skirt fad will be short-lived.

Meanwhile, those officially sanctioned shorties — the private schools' thigh-high tunic and the secondary schools' green bloomers — are enduring fashion classics.

Autumn Is Time for Sandwiches

September is sandwich month and a good time to add some new ideas to your sandwich collection. So here are two new recipes for old favorites to start you on your way.

CLUB SANDWICHES

12 sliced white bread
Soft butter or margarine
4 crisp lettuce leaves
8 thin slices baked or boiled ham
4 slices process cheese
Mayonnaise
2 tomatoes, sliced
6 slices side bacon, halved and cooked until almost crisp
Salt and pepper

Lightly toast bread under the broiler. Butter each slice on one side. Place 4 slices buttered side up on a flat surface. Cover each with a lettuce leaf, a ham slice and a cheese slice. Then top each with a piece of toast and spread with mayonnaise. Arrange tomato slices and cooked bacon on three slices of toast. Season with salt and pepper and top with remaining slices of toast, buttered side down.

Cut each sandwich into quarters, using toothpicks to hold pieces together. Makes four sandwiches.

WESTERN BUNWICHES

4 beaten eggs
2 tablespoons finely-chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely-chopped green pepper
½ cup milk
¾ cup diced ham, or 4 to 5 slices side bacon, cooked and crumbled
Few grains salt and pepper
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
4 hamburg buns, toasted

Combine beaten eggs, onion, green pepper, milk, ham or bacon, salt and pepper. Melt butter or margarine in a frying pan over low heat or use 1 tablespoon fat left from frying bacon.

Pour egg mixture into pan and cook until just set, shaping mixture into 4 rounds and turning each round once during cooking. Serve immediately in toasted hamburg buns. Makes 4 bunwiches.

Workshops Begin at Local Museum

Workshops at Hastings County Museum got under way for the fall season on Monday night. Research began in the archives for source material for the coming Treelon centennial book. Other groups worked at the cataloguing and re - arranging of displays.

R. G. Greig, Historical Society president, said workshops will continue to be held every Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. throughout the fall and winter months. Anyone wishing to assist with museum work is invited to attend the workshops.

On Sunday afternoon, 50 Society members and their guests attended a tea and preview showing of the Paul Colvin collection of pewters and other articles displaying of the collection for the opening scheduled for May, 1967.

a large one and have a hot turkey dinner, maybe for Thanksgiving, and make turkey soup for a lunch or supper and turkey hash for dinner a day or two later. Incidentally turkey hash was made as below was a favorite of ex-President Eisenhower.

TURKEY SOUP:

10 cups cold water
2 tbsps. pot barley
2 tbsps. raw rice
medium-sized handful of fine egg noodles
2 cups peeled and chopped tomatoes
1 onion, chopped
2 chicken bouillon cubes (or 2 beef bouillon cubes)
1 tsp. salt

Put turkey bones on to cook in the cold water and simmer until meat falls from bones. Strain through colander or sieve. Pick all meat from bones and return meat to broth in pot, being sure all of the little elusive rib bones are removed. Discard bones. Now add all remaining ingredients and simmer until barley is tender about 1½ hours. Taste to see if it requires more salt for your family. If soup is too thick you may want to add a little more water. We served this as our main course with toasted rye bread to six people with an ample salad course and a pumpkin pie for dessert.

SUPER TURKEY HASH
(serves 4 generously):

2 cups, well-packed, turkey meat (cooked)
4 medium to medium-small potatoes
1 medium onion
½ green pepper, seeded
2 tbsps. chopped canned pimiento
¼ tsp. salt
3 tbsps. butter
½ cup heavy cream, (optional)

Put through the grinder the turkey meat, raw potatoes (scrubbed and trimmed, unpeeled and quartered), onion peeled and quartered, and green pepper. Mix in the chopped pimiento and salt. Melt butter in frying pan. (I used our electric frying pan.) Spread hash mixture over entire surface and cook on low heat, covered, until potatoes are tender and bottom is crusty and gold. If you add the cream, do so at halftime, pouring it evenly on top. Cream makes the hash richer and moist. Uncover, turn off heat and let hash stand for a minute or so to stop steaming. Loosen edges and shake out and slip onto preheated platter.

Good served with chili sauce or catsup.

Susanna's Family Fair

HARMLESS MUNCHING

Dear Susanna: Cool tip for all diet-conscious gals (and who isn't), who can't stop nibbling between meals.

Crack some ice cubes (wrap them in a fresh tea towel and give them a few whacks with a hammer) and put them in an attractive dish.

Crunch away all day and not a calorie in sight but you feel as if you're eating. — JANIE.

Hi Su: Ever thought of the wonderful usability of the humble fruit basket for weekends at the cottage this fall?

Pack them with food for carrying up, then empty them and use to gather kindling from the beach or the woods.

Finally pop the whole thing, upside-down into the fireplace to start a fire to remove the chill. — MRS. R. BUTLER.

* * *

(If you have any hints for running a successful household — or any problems — write to Susanna, c/o this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope when requesting pamphlets.)

Dear Girls: If you haven't closed the cottage yet there is still time this autumn to bring back an evergreen, or some other fresh small trees for transplanting.

Take along some burlap sacking for wrapping around the roots, and make the period between digging and replanting as short as possible.

In case you're wonderin g, there's a simple way to determine just how large that ball of earth should be.

Measure the size of the trunk of the tree at a point about one foot from the ground level. Whatever the diameter of the trunk it is inches, the size of the ball of earth should be in feet.

That is, a trunk three inches in diameter will require a 3-foot ball of earth around the roots for transplanting.

Here's a little morsel.

The quality of food at the time it is frozen will be the quality eaten later on.

Dinner With Desert Shiek Highlights Trip to Librya

OTTAWA (CP)—Dinner with desert sheik was a highlight of a trip to Libya by Verna Hoffman, a Canadian public health nurse.

A consultant with the department of national health and welfare, the trim blue - eyed brunette visited Libya with a World Health Organization team. The group was helping the North African country's government plan a health services program.

Miss Hoffman has also served on W.H.O. teams in the West Indies and Guyana. She has public health degrees from Toronto and Columbia and a master's degree from Michigan State.

The team, which spent 3½ months in Libya, was headed by an Irish doctor and a statistician - engineer from Yugoslavia. They found medical teams already at work in the country from Formosa, Pakistan, Spain, Italy and France.

Miss Hoffman, who found that Libyans think of anyone from North America as an American, travelled all through the country from the Mediterranean paradise of Tripoli through the desert to the central city of Sebha. For her motor trip across the sea of sand she wore a burnoose, the long, loose robe that gives the desert-d weller protection from sun and sandstorms.

Some of the younger city men wear western clothes but many still wear the native baracan, a long toga-like garment. This is also the traditional dress for women, and their baracan covers them completely except for one eye. Although a few young city women have modified the style by wearing a long coat and heavy black veil or adding a scarf which leaves the face bare.

Miss Hoffman noticed other signs of female emancipation. "Girls are being educated now, which means they can eventually work as nurses and doctors. The directors of the two teachers' colleges are women and we met a young woman doctor in one of the large hospitals."

Part of Libyan hospitality is the serving of tea, a drink that sounds harmless enough but, Miss Hoffman says, "stands your hair on end the first time you try it."

It's sweet, made with a sugar-and-water mixture that has been boiled until it's thick and frothy. Served in demi - tasse glasses, it is sometimes garnished with mint or almonds.

Food was spicy and featured chicken and lamb. At the sheik's feast, served in traditional style, guests sat on the floor around the main dish.

"As the only woman, I was given a cushion."

Servants brought water and a large towel to each guest for hand-washing and to be used as a combination bib and napkin. The large main dish held rice at the bottom and chunks of roast lamb which the diners ate with tablespoons and their fingers.

Horticultural Society Visits Picton for Annual District Meet

The District 3 annual meeting of the Horticultural Society took place on Saturday in the Curling Club building at the Picton Fair Grounds. Everyone enjoyed coffee and homemade doughnuts in the Stirling and 10.30 a.m. as the room rapidly filled for the meeting.

Mr. Phil Dodds, director of this District 3 welcomed everyone to this annual meeting.

Reports were read from the Societies in District 3 including Collins Bays, Brockville, Napanee, Consecon, Stirling, Kingston, Belleville and Prince Edward County.

A fashion parade followed and prizes were given to the ladies wearing the best home-made corsage.

First prize went to Mrs. Hetherington of Bracebridge, Mrs. R. Watson, Belleville received second and third prize went to Mrs. Nichols.

The 1967 district election of officers was held. Mr. Phil Dodds of Picton was re-elected director of all District 3 and Mrs. Armstrong of Stirling were elected assistant directors.

Lunch was served to all members at noon by the Prince Edward Society.

One of the guest speakers was the Director for District 4, Mrs. Bedell, from Lake. Mrs. Stevens gave an interesting talk on effective advertising for Horticultural Societies.

Special guest was Mr. Russell Gomme, Toronto, president of the Ontario Horticultural Association. Mr. Gomme told the members how they could plan for Canada's Centennial. He said if each person in planted one tree, there would be 20 million trees in Canada. One should replace dead elm trees. Rural societies could dig and sell small maple trees. Yellow crocus bulbs planted to form 1967 in the ground over would form a natural part of spring. Centaurea cineraria resident add 3c sales tax. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Ancient Indian Recipe Preserved by Mohawks

Food for gourmets suggest rare ingredients, prepared by complicated methods, imported from far away lands and served in this country in castle and expensive setting places.

But for a few cents and a short trip to Tyendinaga Reserve, anyone can sample an ancient and authentic North American delicacy in the homey atmosphere of a community dining hall.

The gourmet's dish in Indian Lye Corn Soup, and every year the Mohawk Indians of Tyendinaga in New York State when they came to Canada as United Empire Loyalist refugees in 1784. The Iroquois were farmers, who cultivated the native North American plants — corn, squash and pumpkin — and taught European settlers their use. Cultivation of Indian Corn, and the making of Lye Corn Soup is one of the few vestiges of the old Mohawk culture surving in the 20th century.

The recipe is modified now. The women of the church group that caters for the dinner at the fair each year prepare the corn in advance and store it in their freezers until needed. They use commercial lye from a can instead of liquid leached from wood ashes. The stock base is made from meat and seasoning of European origin instead of native wild game and herbs. But the species of corn, apparently brought to Canada in the great exodus, is still grown on Tyendinaga fields. Seed has been passed along from oneperson to another through the generations. It is a large-kernelled, hard, ivory-colored corn that some-what resembles hominy.

If you are able to buy a quart of the corn and want to make a pot-full of corn soup, here is the recipe. It was given by Mrs. Helen Louis of Deseronto, who each year grows and prepares the corn for the fair and church functions.

INDIAN LYE CORN SOUP

1 quart Indian Corn
1 teaspoon Gillette's Lye
4 quarts water

Method: Put the lye and water on the stove and bring to a boil. Add corn and simmer for one or two hours, stirring often, until skins wrinkle and split when blown on. Remove from fire and wash and rinse in a seive under running water, rubbing between the hands until all lye is removed. Repeat the process twice more (three times altogether), until the kernels turn inside out and puff like popcorn.

Make a soup stock with salt pork, onions, celery and other seasonings to taste. Add cooked corn and an equal amount of cooked white navy beans, if desired.

The cooked corn may be packed in jars or loaf pan, chilled, then sliced and fried for serving as a potato substitute.

Prejudice Surrounds Nervous Job Seekers

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS: I am sick of hearing interviewers reject me because I had a nervous breakdown. The way I have been treated since I had it has made me sicker than any breakdown. That was my first illness. I am nearly 30 years old; am I supposed to go into retirement because I cannot get a job?

Specifically, I would like to know:

(1) How can I, without falsifying half of my employment record, explain to any interviewer how it was that I left my first job?

(2) Am I obliged to answer truthfully all those personal questions the plant nurse asks during the medical?

(3) I would appreciate a list of do's and don't that apply to job seeking; how to get past the medical, or parry the interviewer's questions. — JOB SEEKER.

DEAR JOB SEEKER: Yours is just about the toughest predicament I know. You are entitled to all the help you can get in finding work. Here are my ideas:

(1) Tell the truth. If you don't, you have a sword hanging over your head. Then if you do get laid off later, you can never be sure whether it was because your secret was discovered.

(2) No. To act mysterious may make the nurse — and the employer — suspect far more than was actually the truth about your illness.

(3) Child, I suggest these:

(a) Arm yourself with your doctor's report and recommendation for work.

(b) Enlist the help of an N.E.S. Special Service Officer. He will accentuate the positive and obtain an interview for you by an employer who already knows you have recovered from a mental breakdown.

(c) Keep an open mind about taking job training as a natural part of your rehabilitation. This equipment can bolster self-confidence as well as making you more capable.

I am happy to report that prejudices are dwindling but we still have a distance to go when it comes to showing enlightenment toward illness, when it happens to have a mental or emotional component.

*

DEAR DORIS: I have been going out with a boy who has been in my class at school for five years. On nice evenings, we love to go out for a walk together. Now we don't go off necking or anything like that, as other kids our age do, but we do like to hold hands as we walk along.

We are both in our final year of high school. My father doesn't like this idea of our holding hands — he says he "can't see the point in it." I really hate to go against my father's wishes, but it hurts me to even think about having to refrain from showing this little sign of affection.

I think that my grandmother is influencing my father in his expressed, unfavorable opinion. She says it makes her sick to see us. Dad has agreed to accept your advice if I do. — HOLDING HANDS.

DEAR HOLDING: Out of our Puritan ancestry comes a stiff-necked primness which frowns on demonstrations of affection. For my money, the touch of a hand — a good friend's hand — is comforting and friendly. And quite permissible.

Year after year thousands of homeowners save $50 or more on heating costs they're sitting pretty with oil heat

Practically everywhere in Canada, oil is the cheapest fuel you can buy for automatic home heating. Take an average home: gas heating may cost you an extra $50 or more every year, while electric heating for the same home may cost you an extra $100 or more, depending on where you live. Yet neither gas nor electricity can provide the combination of healthful comfort, safety and economy you have with oil heat. Economy that continues year after year. That's why most Canadian homes heat with oil. By the way, have you seen the modern space-saving oil heating units?

It's a great comfort to have oil heat

May Seek Leadership Convention

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—The drive for a national leadership convention of the Progressive Conservative party may depend on next month's annual meeting of Ontario Conservatives.

Backers of the leadership campaign figure the Ontario meeting will be crucial if the Ontario wing, or a major part of it, supports national President Dalton Camp's call for a leadership convention, they expect it will carry out the party's annual national meeting here Nov. 13-16.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, fighting for his leadership for the fourth time in four years, plans to be on hand for the Ontario meeting.

His date to attend was made before Mr. Camp publicly raised the leadership issue but it is safe to say he recognizes that the Ontario Tories could be the deciding factor at the national meeting.

Delegates to the Ontario Association meeting Oct. 30-Nov. 1 in Toronto are expected to have a lot on their minds. It may be their last annual meeting before a provincial general election. This, too, may play a part in the Ontario association's attitude to the national meeting and the leadership question.

DIVISIONS A BARRIER

Sharp divisions in the national leadership within the provincial association might not be a good thing close to a provincial election.

However, it appears likely that efforts will be made at the Ontario meeting to discuss the national leadership at least, if not to pass a resolution for or against a call for a national leadership convention.

So far the Prince Edward Island association has come out in support of a decision on a leadership convention at the national association's annual meeting.

And there now are stirrings on the Prairies.

Elden Woolliams, MP for Bow River and generally regarded as a Diefenbaker man, said the leadership issue should be decided now, "once and for all."

L. R. Sherman, MP for Winnipeg South, said he agrees with Mr. Camp that the national association meeting should look at the leadership question and decide whether a leadership convention should be called soon.

day. However, Harry Caswell, secretary of the Toronto Township separate school board, said his board had been unable to arrange transportation for its 700 people.

AFFECTS 19 SCHOOLS

H. J. Brown, township business administrator, said the failure of the drivers to report affected four secondary and 15 public schools.

Mr. Galway told the board his company had lost money for the last three years on the contract. He said he asked his drivers to work an hour a day longer for the same take-home pay to try and put the firm in the black.

Mr. Brown said Mr. Galway had been told that the board was holding him financially responsible for the $100-a-day cost for the chartered buses.

Most of the students walked or were driven to school Monday by their parents.

Mr. Brown said more than 75 per cent of the students reached their schools, but most were late.

WHITE ELEPHANT STORE

DESERONTO — The Deseronto White Elephant Store committee meeting last Wednesday evening, decided that, beginning Monday, September 26, and continuing through October, the churches in turn would conduct the sales for a week and use the proceeds for that church. As the Pentecostal Church does not hold rummage sales, the proceeds for their week, the last one in September, will go to swell the funds raised by the White Elephant Store throughout the summer, to be used for some project in Centennial Park. A sum exceeding $540 was reported, and the workers have set $1,000 as their goal.

Plans were discussed for a of social event at which the ladies will entertain all those who have been active in promoting the work of the park, and their husbands or wives.

The ladies, representing all the women's organizations in the churches of the town, banded together hoping to raise as much as $200 with which to purchase some playground equipment.

COUNCIL MEETING

Deseronto is to have a Municipal Recreation Committee, once the formalities have been completed. The Town council meeting last week passed a by-law to establish such committee. It must first receive the approval of the Department of Municipal Affairs. The benefit of such a committee was brought home to the town this summer when the question of supervisors for Centennial Park arose.

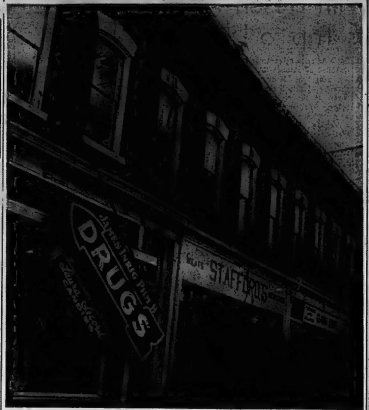
No report has yet been received from the OWRC giving approval of the engineer's plan for a town sewer system.

Other business of the council was purely routine.

SEVERELY BURNED

Jimmy Sharpe, 14-year-old son of Councillor and Mrs. James Sharpe of Brant St., had an unfortunate accident Tuesday of last week. His mother sent him to burn the garbage, as he undertook to speed up the burning by throwing on gasoline. Unfortunately, there was still a live spark from the previous day's fire, and the can exploded. He dropped it but his pant leg ignited and his right leg is badly burned. He is under treatment in the Belleville and Addington County General Hospital. Skin grafting may be necessary, the doctors think. Jimmy's shoe was burned also, but not severely. He is a grade 10 student in the NDSS.

But for the presence of mind of his brother Larry, 13, who tore off the burning clothing Jimmy would be in more serious condition.



Quebec Milk Producers Ask $6 a Hundred

QUEBEC (CP)—A federation representing groups of producers of raw milk in Quebec are asking the Quebec government to authorize an increase of 6 cents a hundredweight in the price they charge milk processors.

The increase would raise the price paid by the processors to $6 a hundredweight.

Also joining in the request is the Catholic Farmers' Union.

The milk producers said the increase is made necessary by increased living and production costs.

three months, but there is no indication today it has any connection with earlier ones believed started by an arsonist.

Chief Foshay praised area fire departments for arriving quickly to fight the fire. He gave particular praise to the Trenton Fire Department for sending a 65-foot aerial truck to the scene.

A firefighter there said: "The aerial ladder let us fight the blaze from above. The fire itself was confined to the upper apartments, and before the ladder, we had to fight it by shooting water through the windows. It's much easier to fight a fire like this if you can get right above it and shoot down."

There is a possibility that Ontario Fire Marshall Del Hope of Belleville may be called in to investigate the blaze.

Commonwealth Statesmen Soft-Pedal Rhodesia Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—A move to place the Rhodesian problem at the head of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association conference agenda was turned aside Monday, although the topic will play a big part in opening discussions Wednesday.

The CPA general council, a 30-member governing body, decided overwhelmingly to cover the subject of Rhodesia along with the whole field of international affairs and means for peaceful settlement of Commonwealth disputes.

Ian Grey, deputy secretary-general of the CPA, told a press conference that the bid for priority treatment to Rhodesia came from an African nation which he did not identify.

He said it was overwhelmingly turned down on a voice vote after a lengthy debate which cut across delegation lines.

But the final decision on the agenda left it open to any delegate to discuss the minority white regime of Ian Smith during the opening sessions.

Arriving African delegations made it plain that they intend to make use of this opportunity.

AFRICANS WILL CAUCUS

A. E. Kaombwe of Tanzania said a number of the African parliamentarians will get together to talk over unified front to push for action by the CPA on Rhodesia.

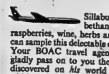
Mr. Grey said that Ghana, Nigeria and Aden, whose association branches are in abeyance, won't be represented in any way. At initial meetings in Montreal two weeks ago the general council turned down observer status for these countries, whose parliamentary systems have been destroyed by military coups.

Zambia also will be absent. A delegation was appointed but has sent a letter of apology saying members are unable to be present.

Although there's no official reason, this is generally regarded as Zambia's way of protesting against lack of sterner measures by Britain against Rhodesia, Zambia's neighbor.

BOLSHOI COMING?

MONTREAL (CP)—The Soviet government has expressed willingness to send the Bolshoi Opera to appear at the world festival to be held in Montreal as part of the 1967 world's fair, an Expo 67 spokesman said Monday. Final negotiations for the company's Montreal appearance have already begun between Expo 67 officials and representatives of the Soviet Ministry of Culture.



Move Into Final Day of Rhodesian Talks

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Two British ministers sent to Rhodesia in an effort to break the current independence deadlock moved into the final stages of their nine-day mission here today.

Commonwealth Secretary Herbert Bowden and Attorney-General Sir Elwyn Jones planned to wind up their stay with talks with industrialists and farmers today before flying home to report to the British government Wednesday.

Bowden met Prime Minister Ian Smith again Monday night, the third time the two men have held talks since the British mission arrived. However, the hour-long meeting was entirely private, the first time Bowden and Smith have met alone.

LBJ, Erhard Take Look at U.S. Spaceport

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said Chancellor Erhard of West Germany concludes two days of talks today and flies to Cape Kennedy for a look at the American spaceport.

The four hours of flying also gives them an extra chance to try and resolve West Germany's request for a moratorium of four or five years in fully living up to its agreement to purchase $1,350,000,000 worth of U.S. military goods by mid-1967.

At a state dinner Monday night, Johnson told Erhard he will do "my very best" to visit West Germany next spring "if my other responsibilities will permit." Erhard earlier invited him.

Johnson also said one of those responsibilities—U.S. efforts in Southeast Asia—"can never and will never diminish our concern for the security of Europe and the Atlantic."

The president added, "We keep our commitments in Viet Nam and we keep them every place that we have them."

In talks Monday Johnson and Erhard were reported to have reached no agreement on West Germany's desire to modify the so-called offset agreement, designed to help compensate the United States for costs of keeping 225,000 American troops in West Germany.

Russians Can Fight In Viet Nam

LONDON (Reuters) — Russian Premier Alexei Kosygin reported in a letter published here today his government's readiness to allow volunteer fighter to go to Viet Nam if the Hanoi government requested them.

Kosygin's letter, a reply to British philosopher Earl Russell, was published in a three-page story in Britain's Communist daily newspaper The Morning Star.

He told Lord Russell the Soviet Union is determined to continue to do everything in its power "to help the Vietnamese people achieve victory in repelling American aggression. No one should have any doubts about this."

The Soviet premier said: "The Democratic Republic of Viet Nam is receiving from the Soviet Union rockets and aircraft artillery, military engineering equipment and other weapons needed by our Vietnamese friends.

"A large group of Soviet military specialists is working in the DRV (Democratic Republic of Viet Nam). Men of the DRV air force are being trained in the Soviet Union. It is well known that the Soviet government has expressed its readiness to let Soviet volunteers go to Viet Nam to fight together with the Vietnamese against the American aggressors, if the DRV government requests such aid."

Marchand May Be Liberal Chief .. Gordon

VANCOUVER (CP) — Walter Gordon said Monday he doesn't expect Jean Marchand to be prime minister in a year or 18 months, and Manpower Minister Marchand may be the man to take over as Liberal leader.

Mr. Gordon made the comments during an informal question - and - answer session with students at the University of British Columbia.

In response to a question, he said: "Mr. Pearson is not going to go for less than a year or 18 months."

He said that although Mr. Marchand, a former Quebec labor leader, is a newcomer to Parliament, he is a "colorful, talented guy. . . . He has a warm manner and he's a marvellous speaker—and he's not a right winger."

Mr. Gordon, who stepped down as Mr. Pearson's finance minister in 1965, blamed minority governments on "splinter groups" like the NDP. As long as these splinter groups drain off support from the Liberals and Conservatives, he said, Canada would continue to face minority government.

$400,000 Area Public School Receives Its First Students

In the morning more than 300 young students waiting in anticipation since September 8 filed into modern classrooms with teachers showing them the way for the first time.

Principal Douglas Trumble and his staff assumed their duties in pleasant bright surroundings displaying none of the apprehension that normally goes along with the confusion of moving. School board members present were Mrs. Twilla Langman, chairman of supplies, and Seymour Hamilton, chairman of property.

Mr. Hamilton said he was pleased with the new building and was looking forward to the official opening before Christmas. He considered education in the township was about to take the first real step forward since the union school system was introduced in 1843. He referred to the decision to start a special class for children possessing particular skills and adaptable for learning them when the opportunity is made available. The special class here will be held within six weeks, Mr. Hamilton noted.

Chou Claims China Wants U.S. Accord

TOKYO (AP)—China's premier and foreign minister were quoted today as insisting their country has wanted to settle differences with the United States but that Washington has not met Peking's proposals.

Premier Chou En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi had separate long talks with a group of Liberal Democratic members of Japan's Parliament earlier this month, Japanese newspapers reported what they said were virtual transcripts of the statements by the two Chinese leaders.

They gave this account:

Chou said Peking entered the Warsaw talks in 1955 because the Chinese people wanted to become friends with the American people but not to solve any problems between the two governments, including Formosa.

Chou said Washington had rebuffed Peking's proposals, which included Communist occupation of Formosa. He indicated, however, that the Warsaw channel was still open.

Chen Yi said China did not intend opening a new channel for talks with the United States besides Warsaw. He said he was "not too pessimistic" about the future of U.S.-Chinese relations but that any improvement would have to start with U.S. withdrawal from South Viet Nam.

Gasoline Barge Blast Kills 3

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A gasoline barge exploded in San Francisco Bay today killing three persons, the fire department said.

The blast came after a Standard Oil Co. barge struck a rock while under tow just offshore from San Francisco, the department said.

The rock tore a hole in the barge pumping gasoline into the water and about ¼ hours later the blast ripped the early morning darkness as a coast guard patrol boat and a San Francisco fire boat were investigating.

Two coast guardsmen and another man working on a nearby pier were killed, a fire department spokesman said.

Johnson to Meet 6 Asian Countries in Manila to Discuss Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson agreed today to attend next month's seven-nation conference of chiefs of state in Manila aimed at trying to end the Vietnamese war.

The conference was set up under the guidance of President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines for all the countries with military forces engaged in the conflict.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers told reporters: "President Johnson is glad to agree to this invitation and will be glad to join the meeting of the other chiefs of state or governments, which are participating nations in the Philippines, on or after Oct. 18."

Moyers said the date still is tentative.

As to whether Johnson would use the trip to Manila as a departure point for a major swing through other portions of Southeast Asia, to Australia and New Zealand, for example, the press secretary said that at this point there is no schedule for such a trip. There have been numerous reports from the area that a Johnson visit is expected.

Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos proposed the conference Monday night. He invited the leaders of six countries to meet in Manila Oct. 18 to "review the prospects for a peaceful settlement of the conflict" in Viet Nam.

The governments of South Viet Nam, South Korea and Thailand had agreed to plans for the conference, Marcos said in a speech at the University of Hawaii's East - West Center. Later, Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia agreed. New Zealand also was invited.

Marcos is in Honolulu on the last stop of a state visit to the United States.

The Manila meeting would come exactly three weeks prior to the general elections in the United States. There has been speculation in Washington political circles that the president might make some dramatic move regarding the Viet Nam situation just before the Nov. 8 elections.

Earlier this month during his Washington visit, Marcos had urged Johnson to visit the Philippines. Leaders of other Asian nations supporting the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam also have strongly recommended that Johnson make a trip to Asia.

In his Honolulu address Monday night, Marcos said the emphasis of the proposed Manila summit meeting would be on the non-violent and non-military aspects of the Viet Nam situation.

American military efforts are necessary to stop the spread of communism, Marcos said, but he added "we like to look beyond to the questions of security and economic issues and the dignity of man."

The conference invitation is "a quiet role for the Philippines to take," Marcos said. "The Philippines is willing to step back and let other nations lead, but the Philippines is willing to provide the initiative to bring about a dialogue."

Finds Stamps For Drinks Too Popular

BARNSLEY, England (AP) — The Alhambra Tavern has abandoned a project to pass out trading stamps for drinks.

"The rush is too hot for us to handle," explained pub keeper Les Simpson Monday.

Simpson started the scheme with a fanfare Saturday, promising one trading stamp for each drink bought —whether a pint of beer or a short whisky.

Customers besieged the pub all day long. "We were so busy serving drinks that we didn't have time to tear off the stamps," Simpson said. "So rather than taking on extra staff we decided to abandon the whole thing."

N.E. Workers At London Out on Strike

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—About 50 Northern Electric Co. Ltd. employees failed to report for work at midnight, signalling the beginning of the first strike at the city's largest plant.

Another 1,200 workers, members of the Northern Electric Employee Association, were in join the walkout later today to back up demands for higher wages and other contract improvements.

The company's five unions turned down offers from the company. The last contract expired in February.

The last offer included a 15-cent retroactive hourly increase for most workers and a 10-cent hourly increase next year.

A token picket line was set up after the midnight walkout. Full scale picketing was to begin later today when the bulk of the employees would normally report for work.

China Provides Arms for Arabs

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The head of the Palestine Liberation Organization confirmed today that his fledgling anti - Israeli army is being armed by China.

"This is no secret," said Ahmed Shukairy. "China is one of our main sources of arms."

The U.S. state department had said it had reports but no documented evidence that China was donating weapons to the Arab force.

"There is no legitimate reason for any authority in the United States to complain about this," Shukairy said.

"We are quite prepared to receive military training or arms and ammunition from any friendly country, but they closed their doors in our faces and opened them to Israel."

Shukairy's force is estimated at 4,000 trained Palestinian refugees whose families lost their homes in the Arab-Israeli war.

Shukairy also said that some Arab troops trained in China had returned to secret bases in Arab countries.

Archbishop Maintains Church Does Not Need Billy Graham

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Michael Ramsey, Archbishop of Canterbury, said Monday the Christian church needs some updating, but doesn't need Billy Graham.

"The recent Graham crusade in England won some converts, yet it made no significant changes in basic English religious habits," he said after stepping off a plane from Kamloops, B.C.

"The Billy Graham type of evangelismis not the kind we need in these trying times. We need an intellectual, thoughtful approach—dead bursts of emotionalism."

Asked if the church is out of date, the archbishop replied: "Not generally speaking. I have been just to both Canada and England there are some aspects that are antiquated, others that are virile and growing. In many cases, there is less conventional church-going, yet stronger convictions among those who do go."

Following the press conference, the archbishop checked into Hotel Vancouver, then visited the Anglican theological college at the University of B.C., where he spoke to about 300 students, faculty members and guests from other religious colleges.

Today he will celebrate communion at Christ Church Cathedral here, address the clergy of Diocese of New Westminster, sign the guest-book at Vancouver City Hall, visit Simon Fraser University and conduct a cathedral service in the evening.

Hees Contends Spending On Construction, Foreign Aid Should Be Slashed

COBOURG, Ont. (CP)—The federal government has taken a "negative and sterile" approach to controlling inflation, Conservative MP George Hees said Monday night.

The government is urging others to reduce expenditures while "feeding the fires of the inflation which it helped to create" by pending $300,000,000 more than it planned in the budget, Mr. Hees said.

He said it is necessary to increase taxes by that amount in the baby budget which will be presented when Parliament resumes in October."

Mr. Hees spoke to the Progressive Conservative Association of Cobourg in his Northumberland riding.

The partial text of his speech was released to the press in advance. An erroneous report that the former trade minister had failed to deliver the speech arose when Mr. Hees spoke first to the local executive and did not appear at the association meeting until later.

CRITICIZES SHARP

He criticized Finance Minister Sharp for cutting back expenditures on research and publicizing off the promised $10,000,000-a-year university scholarship plan.

Rather than cut back in these fields, the government should make "sizeable reductions" in building projects and in assistance to other countries.

Mr. Hees said the medical care insurance program was deferred until 1968 not because of inflation, as the government claimed, but because eight of the 10 provinces would not go along with the federal program in its present form.

"The government hopes that postponement may avert a social confusion of the plan, which would be a serious blow to its political prestige."

COMMUNISTS OBJECT

TORONTO (CP)—The Communist Party of Canada has written a letter to Chairman Mao Tse-tung of China stating Mao "is now the world-certain cultural revolution" in China. The letter resulting from a weekend meeting ordered Mao of creating a distorted image of socialism.

Hurricane Inez Heads Toward Gaudeloupe Is.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Inez, growing mightier by the hour, howled toward the picturesque French West Indian island of Guadeloupe today, churning the warm Atlantic into a fury with top winds of 100 miles an hour.

The big storm was expected to vent her full wrath on the sugar-producing isle, and residents were warned to board up homes and offices.

The nearby vacation islands of Martinique, Desirade, Antigua and Montserrat also can expect to feel Inez's fury, weathermen said. Her top winds increased by 10 miles an hour during a three-hour period early today.

Islanders living in low-lying areas likely to be flooded were warned to evacuate. Flooding could be extensive from a hurricane of Inez's size, with tides 10 feet high, at eight feet above normal, forecasters said.

SHOULD HIT TODAY

"Guadeloupe should be prepared for heavy rains, high seas and hurricane winds before the day's out," a weather bureau spokesman warned.

Gale-force winds of up to 60 miles an hour likely will lash the British island of Dominica, weathermen said.

The British island of St. Kitts and the French-Dutch isle of St. Martin were told to be prepared for the storm's arrival by late tonight if she spun to the northwest.

Early today, the weather bureau said the storm's centre was about 300 miles east of Guadeloupe and 1,000 miles east southeast of San Juan as Inez rounded westward at 12 miles an hour.

Canada Packers Strike In 8 Canadian Cities Soon May Be Over

TORONTO (CP)—A strike by 3,300 workers at Canada Packers Ltd. plants in eight cities soon may be over.

Carl Goldenberg of Montreal, mediator in the wage-and-contract dispute between the United Packinghouse Workers of America and Canada Packers, said Monday night he believes settlement is near.

The union's bargaining committee and company officials met during the weekend and talks recessed early Monday. A spokesman said both parties returned to the bargaining table Monday night.

A company official said wages, fringe benefits in a new contract and automation were being discussed. Any settlement terms reached by the union's committee must be submitted to the membership for ratification.

More than 3,000 workers left their jobs July 30 at company plants in Charlottetown, Montreal, Hull, Que., St. Boniface, Man., Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver.

They joined 2,900 workers in Toronto who jumped a July 29 strike deadline and walked out July 18 after the company instituted a series of production cuts.

REJECTED OFFER

The strike call came after the union rejected a company offer of 40 cents an hour in wage increases over two years plus improvements in fringe benefits valued at another three cents an hour.

Other issues include work loads, automation, application of seniority, picket-line clauses and rights of union stewards.

Negotiations between the union and Swift Canada Co. and Burns Food Ltd. binge on the Canada Packers dispute. No strike has been called against either company. Negotiations were held in Toronto Monday between the union and the two companies.

Swift and Burns have been operating during the Canada Packers strike and a union spokesman said a settlement at Canada Packers would set the pattern for the rest of the packinghouse industry.

The union has not specified the wage increase it feels it would settle. It has concentrated instead on non-money items with Canada Packers.

The last strike against the company was in 1947 and union officials claim that relations with Canada Packers have deteriorated since. It had a bad few years.

The union wants the right to take to arbitration any changes in the work load. The company has taken the position that this question is not arbitrable.

"We just could not get a settlement that all company members unless we get concessions on this point," a union official said.

In the monetary area, the union wants to eliminate geographical wage differentials. Rates are 15½ cents above Toronto, while those in the Prairies average about three cents lower.

Shades of Robin Hood!

The famous outlaw of Sherwood Forest, Friar Tuck, Will Scarlett, John O'Dale and the rest of his merry men would rustle in leaf-covered graves could they but hear the news.

It is doubtful if Robin in his gay, youthful days could draw a bow with the expertise of this 13-year-old Canadian youngster.

He is Peter Calvert, son of a bowman sire of this city, who in his tender teens is showing the potential of a national champion with aspirations to a world title.

Peter is a handsome youngster who took up archery "three or four years ago — just to do something different."

He did "something different alright." In his freshman year he won the Junior championship of Waterdown.

PETER CALVERT

Peter was undefeated in 1965 winning all junior tournaments in northern New York state and Ontario. He has a tableful of trophies and awards that includes the junior indoor and outdoor championships of Ontario.

He is the son of Jeff and Mrs. Calvert of this city. Mr. Calvert holds the high ranking of an English master bowsman. He is Peter's coach and adviser. In fact the entire Calvert family is archery-minded.

There is good-natured rivalry in the family. Mike, 17, is a top-flight archer winning his share of trophies and awards. Judi, 15, is showing interest in the sport. Mrs. Calvert also draws a good bow.

Peter's ability is such that he can place four arrows out of four inside a nine-inch bulls-eye at the regular range of 60 to 65 yards.

Peter plans to enter the Canadian championships next year and if he wins will be the youngest archer to accomplish the feat.

"I have compared scores of junior archers from all across Canada," Peter's father told me, "and with the exception of one, an 18-year-old, none has approached his scores."

"Have you ever challenged your dad?" Peter was asked but before he could answer, "Dad" said, "He did once and he cleaned me terribly." No comment from Peter.

He is a modest youngster who takes his archery seriously. He practices hard, always seeking improvement. He may enter higher-bracket tournaments because "dad" thinks this will make for tougher competition and benefit him tremendously.

Peter comes by his archery ability naturally. His father, as was noted, holds the rank of an English master bowman.

To attain this honor, Mr. Calvert said, an archer must take part in a two-day "torture test." The contestant fires 144 arrows in a single shoot but to win his master-bowman stature he must score 700 or better in a double shoot of 288 arrows.

Mr. Calvert was born in a small Nottinghamshire village near the famous Sherwood Forest. Archery is legendary in the district where Robin Hood "robbed the rich to help the poor" and defied all the efforts of Prince John's army to dislodge him.

In one of his later tournaments in England, Mr. Calvert won the "Robin Hood Golden Arrow Trophy." This is a battered cup, age-worn and repaired to be the one the famous outlaw once competed for.

"In the early 1950's" Mr. Calvert said, "we used the steel bow. The famous yews of early archers were found to be prone to hardening. The steel bows have been replaced by laminated fibreglass.

A YOUNG CHAMPION—Peter Calvert, 13, junior indoor and outdoor Ontario archery champion has a tableful of trophies won over three years in the sport. Peter has eyes on the Canadian title next year and his potential gives him a good chance to win it.

Judo Classes To Resume At Y.M.C.A.

For the first time in this city, a Ju-Jitsu class (self-defence) will be held, under the direction of Ron Crookwright. Mrs. Gladys Smith will handle the women's section and John Tew-Haar will conduct the children's classes.

The schedule calls for mixed adult judo each Monday at 8.00; women's judo each Thursday at 8.00; children's judo each Friday at 6.00; Ju-Jitsu each Friday at 8.00; and open night for judo practice and competition, no instruction, on Saturday at 7.00 p.m.

Driscoll, in discussing the program, stressed the benefits of a judo program for physical fitness and self defence improvements.

Ron Fairly made a big hit in his official Busch Memorial Stadium debut, and John Briggs did the same in his latest performance at Connie Mack Stadium.

Fairly hit a two-run homer his first time up, then added two singles as Los Angeles Dodgers defeated St. Louis Cardinals 6-3 on Monday night. Briggs, meanwhile, singled home the winning run in Philadelphia Phillies' 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates.

The combination increased Los Angeles' National League lead to a commanding 3½ games over Pittsburgh and left the Dodgers in such a position that if they split in their last six games the Pirates would have to win all five of theirs for a tie.

It isn't far from being over, though, and the Pirates have Fairly and Briggs to blame.

A BIG GAME

Briggs didn't make his entrance at Connie Mack Stadium until the sixth inning when he beat out an infield single as a pinch hitter and eventually scored the run that gave the Phillies a 4-3 lead.

The Pirates tied it, however, and Briggs had to come through with a two-out, run scoring single in the 11th.

In the only other National League game played — before San Francisco Giants remained four games out by whipping Atlanta Braves 8-2. Rain washed out New York Mets at Cincinnati Reds.

In the American League, Detroit Tigers edged California Angels 2-1 and Boston Red Sox defeated Washington Senators 5-0 before bowing 3-2.

Fairly's homer came off 20-game winner Bob Gibson and started Claude Osteen on the way to his 17th victory against 14 defeats.

Briggs' game - winning single came after the Phillies loaded the bases on Dick Allen's bloop single and Billy O'Dell walks to Harvey Kuenn and Bill White. Kuenn starter drove in three runs with a single.

Juan Marichal pitched a six-hitter for his 24th victory against six defeats. One of the hits was Felipe Alou's 31st homer for Atlanta. The Giants rally added that blow, however, as Willie McCovey unloaded his 35th homer, a two-run blow, in the first inning and Tom Haller connected with two on in the fourth.

Detroit's Dennny McLain allowed California just four hits in eight innings and won his 20th game against 10 defeats. Gates Brown batted for McLain in the ninth and singled home Mickey Stanley with the winning run.

Darrell Brandon scattered seven hits in Boston's opening game shutout over Washington. Dalton Jones supported him with three hits and three runs batted in.

The Senators came back in the nightcap, however, winning on Don Lock's two-run homer in the seventh inning.

140 Poised For Canadian Open

By WALTER HAYES

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forty-four golfers, including 17 Canadians and eight amateurs, qualified Monday for the Canadian open golf tournament which opens Thursday.

Monday's qualifiers will join 100 other golfers who did not have to qualify for the four-day 72-hole tournament for $100,000 which will be preceded by Wednesday's pro-am tournament.

Seattle amateur Mike Reasor and professional Dick Lytle of Chula Vista, Calif., blazed six-under par 66s Monday on the nearby Point Grey course to lead the 44 qualifiers.

Among the 27 who failed to make the qualifying score of 76 were Ontario amateur champion Doug Monroe of Toronto and Vancouver pro Lyle Crawford.

Canadians who did not have to qualify are: Frank Wahlberg and Gary Cowan, both Kitchener, Ont.; Dick Mann, Stan Leonard, and John Johnston, all of Vancouver; Bill MacInnery, Georges Knudson, Alvie Thompson and Al Balding, all of Toronto; Adrien Bigras, Rosemere, Que.; Frank Fowler, Calgary; and Damien Gauthier, Montreal. Twenty - nine Canadians are entered.

The golfers with the long shot off the tee will have a decided advantage on the 6,907-yard, par 71 layout at the Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club.

Twelve of the 16 holes on the gently rolling course are more than 400 yards long with two of three about 550 yards. The course is located alongside the Fraser River in Vancouver's fashionable southside.

Monday was reserved for practice by many of the touring professionals, including Billy Casper, top money winner on the United States golf trail this year with more than $111,000.

Others passed up practice in favor of salmon fishing or sightseeing.

Doug Sanders, winner of three tournaments this year, worked on his iron shots while Chi Chi Rodriguez attempted straightening out his wood shots.

Wednesday's pro - am will feature a handful of Hollywood personalities, including Bing Crosby, Dean Martin, Rod Sterling and Jim Backus. The draw will be held tonight.

The draw for the Open was held Monday night. It will be a double - tee start Thursday and Friday with the first threesome on the course at 8 a.m. (11 a.m. EDT).

On the final two days, the field will be cut to the lowest 70 golfers and ties.

Commercial League

S. Warner Wins Loop Crown

Stewart Warner threatened to run away with the Commercial Softball League pennant at the start of the season but blew it and dropped behind Point Anne Connection.

They made no such mistake in the playoffs.

The Warnermen captured the playoff title last night with a come - from - behind 8-7 victory over Point Anne.

The club swept through eight playoff games without a defeat.

They appeared to be well on their way to one last night when the Connectmen jumped into a 7-2 lead in the second inning.

Stewart Warner pitching ace Doug Ellis relieved starter Junior Day at that point and it was a different story. Ellis hurled superb ball to stop the pennant - winners on two hits over the remainder. He struck out ten batters and walked only one.

DOUG ELLIS

Day was the victim of six Point Anne hits and three of his mates even while whiffing one and walking two. The Pointers plated three runs in the first and after Warnsmaker's homer cut that to 3-2, ripped back with four in the top of the second.

The new champs got one back in the third. Turner raced to first on a missed third strike, stole second and third and scored on a passed ball.

Five runs in the fourth won the title. Glancey ignited the rally with a single, Goss walked and after an out, another walk filled the sacks.

Turner singled home two runs and another walk and Carr's hit kept the rally moving. One man was cut down at home but with two out, Rowbotham singled across the equalizer and Carr raced home on a passed ball for the 5-2 score. Ellis handcuffed the Pointers to protect his slim lead.

Ron Marsele was combed for nine hits, striking out seven and walking three, all in the fourth, for Point Anne.

Chuck Rowbotham was the only Stewart Warner batter with to hits, both singles, while Lyle Wannamaker had a home run. Rod Turner, Claude Carr, Pat Glancey, Keith Bertrim, Gary Gow and John Trendall split the others.

Ron Marsele had good hitting success on his own behalf, shooting a double and two singles. Rick Roseboro tripled. Glen Marcelle doubled and singles went to Bob Detlor, Denny Maher and Jim Horwood.

Massassaga Captures PENS Title

Massassaga captured the Prince Edward North Shore Softball League championship last night with an 11-2 triumph over Albury.

Massassaga, the league pennant - winners, won the playoff best-in-series four games in two.

Albury held a 2-1 lead after five innings but Massassaga broke the game apart with a big rally in the sixth. Highlights of the winning rally were back-to-back home runs by Dick Flindall, with two mates aboard, and Doug Findley.

Rough Riders Defeat Tired Saskys

Score Was 18-8

By BOB MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders had to battle their own fans as well as the opposition to score an 18-8 decision over a tired Saskatchewan Roughriders team Monday night in a Canadian Football League game before a capacity crowd.

Ottawa turned two big plays into touchdowns to open a four-point lead in the Eastern Conference but had to rely on a big play by the officials to get their final point of the game.

Fullback Jim Dillard supplied the first big play with a sudden 41-yard burst off tackle in the first quarter for Ottawa's first touchdown.

Defensive halfback Gene Gaines provided the second with a fourth - quarter pass interception—his second of the game—and a 67-yard return to the Saskatchewan seven - yard line to set the stage for halfback Bo Scott's three - yard touchdown run on what appeared to be the final play of the game.

That's where the officials stepped in.

FANS SWARM IN

Hundreds of the 22,854 fans swarmed on the field as Scott crossed the goal line and it looked for a time as though Ottawa wasn't going to have a chance for a convert. Players from both teams raced for the dressing room and the gun sounded.

But referee Seymour Wilson finally cleared the playing area and recalled the players to the field. Tackle Moe Racine made the most of his chance and booted his second convert of the night to go ahead with a single and a 13-yard field goal.

Saskatchewan showed the effects of its 29-7 loss Saturday night to Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the opener of a two-game eastern swing and still managed to stay in the game until the last minute.

The Western Conference leaders scored a second - quarter safety touch on a play that—with a little luck—could have resulted in a touchdown. They added a fourth quarter touchdown on a 21-yard pass from quarterback Ron Lancaster to flanker Hugh Campbell.

It was Campbell's 15th touchdown of the season and leaves him only one shy of the CFL record for touchdown passes caught during a season. He caught three passes for 35 yards during Monday's game.

CHASE BALL

The lively touch came following a third - down punt by Saskatchewan. Ottawa halfback Don Gibson fumbled the ball on his own four - yard line and a swarm of Saskatchewan players chased the ball into the Ottawa end zone. Gene Gaines again was the Ottawa hero as he recovered the ball and held the loss to two points.

Ottawa had an edge in final statistics with 328 yards total offence compared to Saskatchewan's 295.

Lancaster had a little better time, completing 11 of 21 for 156 yards but had three passes intercepted. Jackson had one intercepted.

The fullbacks led the rushing for both teams, and both were injured late in the game. For Ottawa, Dillard carried 14 times for 114 yards. He also caught four passes for 38 yards.

Henry Dorsch, filling in for CFL all - star George Reed who was injured Saturday in Hamilton, carried 14 times for 85 yards.

Boxing Barber Clips Joey

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Jerry Pellegrini, the boxing barber from St. Bernard, La., matched his right against the hooks of former Canadian welterweight champion Joey Durelle and pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision Monday night.

Durelle, 150, of Trois-Rivieres, Que., took two of the first three rounds with a constant attack, countering everything thrown by Pellegrini.

There were no knockdowns in the fight, although both fighters had wobbly knees at times.

Pellegrini, 147¼, stepped up the pace in the fourth round, hitting Durelle with a good right that appeared to hurt Pellegrini could not follow it up.

In the middle rounds, Pellegrini stayed at long range and kept tiring Durelle's head back with long lefts and moving in with combinations.

Referee Herman Dutrieux scored it 5-3-2 for Pellegrini and Judge Leslie Joubert called it the same Judge Eddie Brown had it 6-Pellegrini 4-2.

The victory left young Pellegrini with a 16-3 won-lost record and Durelle a 43-6-2 won-lost-tied mark.

Prepares For Expansion

Says NHL Better Balanced This Year

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP) — The National Hockey League opens its 50th season Oct. 19 but when the final game is played on April 2, 1967, a lot of things will have changed.

The 1966-67 season will be the last 70-game schedule. It will also mark the last year for the NHL as a six-team league.

Teams from Los Angeles, San Francisco - Oakland, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia a nd Minnesota - St. Paul will join the hard-core six for the 1967-68 year.

For them, as well as the clubs in Montreal, Toronto, Boston, New York, Detroit and Chicago, next year will mark the beginning of the 74-game season.

Brian O'Neill, NHL director of administration, says the league will be better balanced this year as the teams prepare for the changes that expansion will bring.

He predicts Boston Bruins and New York Rangers—lately the doormats of the six-team loop—will do better; Boston because of the development of its young players, and New York as a result of off-season deals.

FIGHT FOR JOBS

"Also, there won't be as many players protected in next year's draft and therefore more of the established players will find themselves fighting to remain with their present clubs rather than being dealt off to a new one," he says.

The NHL hasn't settled on a formula for slashing the new clubs, although part of the $2,000,000 entry fee each paid for rights to 20 players each.

Both Boston and New York are making moves now to improve their lot.

New York, in a move to improve on their last-place finish last year, coaxed Bernie Geoffrion back over the boards as a player after he had coached Quebec Aces of the American League for two successful seasons. Geoffrion, former right winger with Montreal Canadiens, has a 371 - goal NHL record.

Rangers have also picked up utility forwards Red Berenson and Orland Kurtenbach from Canadiens and Leafs and defenceman Al MacNeil from Chicago.

The Bruins have the only new coach on the circuit, 33-year-old Harry Sinden who moves up from their farm club in the Central Professional League.

He will break in rookie defencemen Bobby Orr, who, at 18, has been taped as Canada's top amateur and who signed a two-year contract for a sum reported as high as $30,000.

Meet Bombers Tonight

Young Stamps Stand Out

WINNIPEG (CP) — A couple of young Canadians deserve a generous slice of the credit for keeping Calgary Stampeders within range of a Western Football Conference playoff position.

Terry Evanshen and Larry Robinson shouldered the scoring load after a series of injuries knocked out a host of others.

The rest of the Calgary backfield will be injury - hobbled for the 8 p.m. CDT (9 p.m. EDT) kickoff. Howard Starks has a bruised leg, Willie Rose a severe charleyhorse, Frank Budd a pulled hamstring muscle and Jerry Keeling a weak ankle.

The Stampeders have collected just eight touchdowns in 10 games and Evanshen has struck for five of them while Robinson, 24 - year - old place kicking expert from Calgary's Mount Royal College, has scored 49 of the team's 97 points.

KEY TO WINS

Evanshen, 23-year-old flanker recruited from Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Conference in an off - season trade, and Robinson have been key instruments in Calgary's comeback to seven points in 10 games.

They combined for 20 points as Calgary Stampeders in their first triumph, 26-1 over first place Saskatchewan Roughriders Aug. 27, produced all the points in a 16-8 victory past Toronto Argonauts Sept. 5 and teamed for 25 points in an 18-16 decision over Winnipeg Sept. 17.

Al Lopez Rejects Tiger Job

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit News reports Al Lopez has turned down an offer to manage baseball's Detroit Tigers next season and that the No. 1 man for the job now becomes manager Bill Rigney of California Angels.

"General manager Jim Campbell and vice - president Rick Ferrell, the Detroit negotiators, expect to announce the new manager before the start of the World Series next week," the newspaper says.

Lopez, 58, retired as Chicago White Sox manager last Nov. 1 after 15 years. He is reported to receive $40,000 as a White Sox vice-president.

Rigney has been a big league manager 11 years,

As American Parents See Hockey

"No Teeth, Face Scars"

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The portrait of hockey will need retouching if the National Hockey League is to tap fields in the United States for some of its future player needs, Boston Bruins centre Tommy Williams said Monday.

Williams, only U.S. - born player in the NHL, said in an interview American parents see hockey players as "guys with no teeth and scars all over the face."

"It gripes me that parents think like that," Williams said. "If they could shave some of my experiences in hockey and see really what the game is all about, they'd change their thinking."

What has hockey done for the blonde - haired Minnesota native?

"Hockey has fulfilled a long-standing ambition of mine to play in the National League. It's a tremendous game and I'm grateful of having the opportunity to play it. As a matter of fact, I think as much of the game I'd even play it for nothing . . . but don't tell Hap Emms about that.

"Secondly, hockey has given my family a good start. We have a home in Boston and one in Duluth.

"The pension plan in the National League is second to none. A player with 10 years in the league can retire at 65 with about $10,000 a year pension. It has other benefits too that just make it the greatest."

But the National League "is going to have to put a lot of work into changing the image Americans have painted of hockey. "I think it'll come," he added.

"Can't Barter Boys' Lives"

Boucher Hits Back At CAHA

REGINA (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has no right under Canadian law to barter the lives of young hockey players, Frank Boucher, commissioner of the Canadian Amateur Junior Hockey League, says.

"Each boy is entitled to live his life and play hockey wherever he and his parents choose he should play," he said in a prepared statement Monday. "There is no law . . . which forces a boy to play under CAHA jurisdiction if he or his parents decide otherwise."

Boucher was commenting on a statement Friday by Fred Page of Nanaimo, B.C., CAHA president, that he saw no alternative to the CAHA's suspending from play anywhere in Canada any player who joined a team in the newly - formed CMJHL.

20 Years NHL President

The Colorful Story Of Campbell

Clarence Campbell has just topped off 20 years as National Hockey League president with election to the game's Hall of Fame. A Canadian Press reporter traces the career of the man in the front office.

By AL MacNEIL

MONTREAL (CP) — Getting Clarence Campbell to talk about Clarence Campbell is not only difficult, it's superfluous.

At 62, and after 20 years as president and principal architect of the modern-day National Hockey League, he prefers to deal with the things that tell, austere executive has done for the game.

The accolades were summed up by his bosses, the NHL board of governors, when Campbell was elected to the "builders" section of the sport's Hall of Fame earlier this month:

"Few men in the game's entire history have contributed more to hockey than has Mr. Campbell. His leadership, integrity and uncommon drive have been the prime causes of hockey's growth to one of the six or seven major spectator sports. We publicly offer to him our deep-felt appreciation and congratulations and believe hockey is in his debt."

PROSECUTED NAZIS

When Campbell was named to the presidency on Sept. 4, 1946, a governor observed that the man for the job would have a judicial mind and be in the position of not needing the job.

Campbell filled the requirements. As a student he won a Rhodes scholarship. His knee hockey briefly as a player and more extensively as an administrator and referee. He had been a tank soldier during the Second World War and, as a lawyer, was one of the prosecuting attorneys at the war crimes trial of Nazi general Kurt Meyer.

Campbell first came to the attention of the NHL as a referee in the Western, American and National leagues from 1939 to 1946.

Says Conn Smythe, former boss of Toronto Maple Leafs:

"We first noticed Campbell in amateur hockey as a referee and we started him in the league. He was a good-looking, fearless soldier in front of his gun tractor. When he came back he was a good-looking, fearless soldier in front of his gun tractor. When he came back he was a good-looking, fearless soldier in front of his gun tractor. When he came back he

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For September 28

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Harmony prevails if you meet others halfway. But don't think you must confide all. Key is maturity. Realize it is senseless to argue when no gain is indicated.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Be perceptive. Do plenty of listening, observing. Associate could drop valuable hint. Pick it up and run for significant gain. Steer clear of disputes among friends.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Disagreement indicated among those in positions of authority. Stick with older, wiser individuals. Means adhere to conservative course. Fulfill parental duties.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Take special care if travel is scheduled. Means check directions, reservations, purpose. If careless, you waste time, energy — and prestige drops. Day to communicate — and to learn.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Take initiative. Be independent, original. Stress natural sense of showmanship. Personal magnetism, attracts members of opposite sex. Don't become involved in complicated situation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Day features, surprises . . . some of serious nature. Means check contracts. Don't try to restrict mate or partner. Be aware of public relations. Avoid unnecessary showdown. Wait!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Don't become sidetracked with nonessentials. Important to finish basic tasks. Some travel, writing may be necessary. Avoid procrastination above all. Be sure — and confident.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Area of romantic interests highlighted. Investigate your new feelings. Stress practical approach. Otherwise impulse takes over — embarrassment could result.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Improve conditions at home. Avoid attitude of obstinacy. No time for being arbitrary. Make concessions. Extend hand of friendship. Future gain depends upon diplomacy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Could be disruption of communications. One word leads to another — and then to misunderstanding. Be especially tactful in dealing with relatives. Best to avoid incidental travel.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Take no chances where borrowing, lending are concerned. Check budget. Outline requirements. Stick to principles. Don't veer from goal. One who makes big promise may not be confident himself.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Important to remember lesson recently learned. Maintain poise, be charming. Public relations is emphasized. So are contracts, special agreements. Be optimistic but cautious.

Meeting Between Johnson, Erhard Billed as Routine

May Defer Hull Byelection Till Next Year

OTTAWA (CP) — So many Liberals are eyeing the Commons vacancy in nearby Hull that the expected byelection likely will be put off until 1967 at least, party sources say.

Prime Minister Pearson is under strong pressure not to call a byelection this fall. Liberals fear a scramble for the nomination that would splinter their ranks and hurt their chances of holding the seat, which has voted solidly Liberal since 1921.

At least five or six prominent Liberals are considering the possibility of seeking the nomination, they hope to switch his political base to Hull.

Roy Hogan resigned his Gatineau seat and run in a Hull byelection, he prefers to wait until the next general election to switch ridings. "There is no need to rush into a byelection," he said in an interview. "I would only start a fight and split the party."

Roy Hogan, a Hull lawyer who represents Gatineau in the Quebec legislature, is considering a switch to federal politics, but provincial Liberals have advised him against it.

Mr. Pearson said soon after he became prime minister that he would make it a practice to call byelections as soon as possible after vacancies occurred in the Commons. And he has followed this so far.

The timing of the Hull byelection is expected to be discussed by Quebec Liberals at the national party conference here Oct. 10-12. Quebec delegates are known to ask Mr. Pearson to defer the byelection until next spring or later.

Word of Single Officer Not Acceptable

SMITHS FALLS, Ont. (CP)— A magistrate dismissed an impaired driving charge here Monday, saying he would not accept the word of a single police officer over that of an accused person.

Magistrate D. C. Smith ruled that two policemen will have to testify about the apparent condition of any person accused of impaired or drunk driving before he will register a conviction.

The magistrate dismissed the charge against Bernard B. Hughes of Kingston after the arresting officer, Constable Gerald Harris, said he was alone when he laid the charge.

A policeman could possibly set in bad faith and an innocent man could be convicted, the magistrate said.

Canadian-Supported Hospital Cares for Viet Nam Refugees

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The two - day conference here between President Johnson and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany started with the advance label "routine."

Informality has been stressed in an apparent effort to emphasize the personal accord between the two men, without stimulating expectations of major results.

The formula is not new. Foreign leaders think it helps periodically to display close ties with the United States and his leader.

This time, both men face domestic troubles for which no ready solutions exist. They have mutual problems of international importance, arising from cold-war postures and the period of drift in Atlantic Alliance policy.

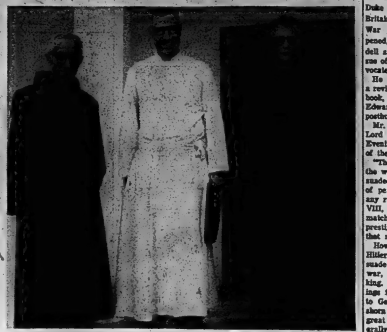
Aside from any pick-me-up in prestige that Erhard may anticipate, there are two leading issues on his agenda, both with military overtones.

West Germany, while it has replaced Britain as the world's third major industrial nation— after the United States and the Soviet Union—wants to ease or end an agreement intended to lighten the U.S. military-cost burden.

BUYING LAGS

West Germany had pledged to buy, over a two-year period ending next June, $1,200,000,000 worth of American arms. It is behind schedule in its purchases and wants to stretch out the period as well as to switch the buying pattern to include space equipment. The U.S. has not so far been ready to make many concessions.

For both leaders, apparently, there are pitfalls. Britain could speed its plan to reduce the size of its army of the Rhine. Or there could be an increase in American pull-out sentiment, now represented by a 31-senator resolution calling for a cutback in U.S. forces in Germany. President Johnson has opposed the resolution as untimely and capable of further softening Allied dedication to NATO's military structure.



The other Erhard question with political impact concerns the American view on a higher nuclear status for Germany within NATO. This delicate question has been around for several years and is tied in with the Soviet Union's views on signing a tighter agreement to discourage nuclear proliferation.

RUSSIA FEARFUL

West Germany's role inside NATO has been held consistently by Russia as a threat to peace, particularly if Germany gets special status in the nuclear picture.

A NATO committee comprising the U.S., West Germany, Britain, Italy and Turkey finished another discussion of the question just before Erhard arrived in Washington. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara came back speaking confidently of progress.

The question then is whether the sort of solution by the committee now envisaged will satisfy Erhard—or more practically his voting support. Or whether it will be bland enough to take away the talking point that the Soviet Union has been using to balk at nuclear disarmament proposals.

South Viet Nam has few doctors and more than half of them are in the armed forces, so foreign hospitals are much needed. A Canadian Press reporter visited a Canadian-supported hospital near Saigon where repairing hare-lips is one of the specialities.

By DOUGLAS AMARON

HONAI, South Viet Nam (CP)—Pham looked up from her canvas-covered cot in the hospital ward and smiled the first recognizable smile in her 23 years of life.

Somewhere in Viet Nam, 400 other children and grownups also are able to smile, thanks to the skill of a dentist from the Philippines and the devotion of the staff of a small Canadian-supported hospital in this village 18 miles north of Saigon.

Administered by Les Freres de St. Jean de Dieu, a religious order with headquarters in Montreal, the Ho-Nai hospital is the medical centre for thousands of war refugees who live in the area. The staff of about 80 religious and lay personnel includes four brothers from Quebec province.

Brothers Norbert Lacerte of Asbestos in the Eastern Townships and Bernard Samuel of Petite Riviere in the Gaspe have been here since the hospital opened 18 months ago. Brothers Jean de Dieu Spenard from the Ste. Agathe des Monts district and Gerald Clement from Ste. Monique near Montreal are more recent arrivals.

Pham and the 400 like her were victims of an affliction common in this country—hare-lips. Apart from a slight scar, she now is a beautiful girl who can look forward to a full life that otherwise might have been denied her.

All 400 operations were performed in the last 10 years by Dr. Napoleon Sanchez who joined the hospital staff as a volunteer worker soon after it opened. He is still there on a voluntary basis and his work has won the admiration not only of the staff here but of medical authorities throughout the country.

"He is a brilliant man," said Rev. William Gagnon, the hospital's superior. "In mending their lips he has not only helped them physically but psychologically because they are able to go out of here as new people."

Ho-Nai lies in flat, fertile country with rich, red soil that reminds some of Prince Edward Island. But the resemblance ends there because on all sides are the rice paddies, banana trees, thatched cottages, lumbering state-gray buffalo—and the war.

"The war is with us day and night," said Father Gagnon, a French - speaking Franco-American from New England who is on his second tour in Viet Nam. "It is in the bombing and the shooting at night, and in the tragedy of the refugees that is with us all the time."

Father Gagnon tells of a mother—he presumes it was the mother—who brought two desperately sick babies to the hospital one day, left them there and never returned. Both babies died of old age, aged man unable to speak and without identity whose friends similarly left him and didn't come back.

"We didn't know his name or his religion or anything about him," Father Gagnon said.

"All we could do was bury him—and the babies too."

Ho-Nai is in a "safe" area, almost entirely ringed by United States bases and nor. far from one of the largest airfields in the country. But the nights when there are Viet Cong raids are more frequent than the quiet nights and the brothers' sleep is broken regularly by the thunder of guns, bombs and small-arms fire.

A complex of neat, spotlessly-clean one-storey brick buildings, with bed space for 250 patients, the hospital rarely has an empty bed and frequently two patients share the same bed. They are victims of illness (war casualties are taken elsewhere) and many have tuberculosis, probably the most prevalent disease in the country.

The four Canadians, in their 30s and early 40s, work at a variety of jobs in the general administration of the hospital where most of the staff is Vietnamese.

Brother Norbert, who was in Viet Nam for five years before he came here and who speaks the language fluently, said an average of 30,000 outpatients—those who do not require hospitalization — comes to the hospital each month.

For the patients in hospital, there is a Vietnamese government grant of about six cents a day and in addition each patient is expected to pay an admission charge of slightly more than 30 cents if he has the money, but frequently pays less or nothing.

There is no further charge to patient whether he stays a week, six months or longer, and some, including a six-year - old boy with tuberculosis, have been there two years.

The hospital's monthly deficit is from $2,500 to $3,000 and would be more but for its own farm with 100 pigs, 350 rabbits and 600 chickens. A generator provides electric light but except for operations is used only at night when one of the recreational highlights is movies shown by Brother Bernard.

Equipment is adequate and includes radiology machinery but expansion plans, including an administration building, have been postponed for lack of funds.

The well-kept grounds are ablaze with brilliantly-hued bougainvillea trees but even here war has taken its toll. A change of wind blew over the grounds chemicals being sprayed from American planes to destroy foliage that might hide the Viet Cong. Many of the hospital's trees were left as leafless skeletons.

Although long- and far-removed from home and obviously prepared to remain here as long as they can serve, the Canadian brothers are not up to date on happenings in Canada as the mail allows.

They receive two French papers, Quebec L'Action and Montreal La Presse, and read them from cover to cover. Aug. 24 was a big day for the brothers when a bundle of 45 papers arrived from home. It mattered little that they dated back to March and April.

If He Had Been King, Duke May Have Prevented War

FREDERICTON (CP)—If the Duke of Windsor had remained Britain's king the Second World War might have never happened, publisher Michael Wardell says in the September issue of the monthly Atlantic Advocate.

He makes this statement in a review of Lord Beaverbrook's book, The Abdication of King Edward VIII, just published posthumously in Canada.

Mr. Wardell was chairman of Lord Beaverbrook's London Evening Standard at the time of the abdication in 1936.

"There was only one man in the world who might have persuaded Hitler to turn to the way of peace, and who meant, at any rate, to try. King Edward VIII, his own magnetic power matched with the incomparable prestige of his royal status, was that man."

However, when he went to see Hitler in 1937 and tried to dissuade him from his path toward war, Edward was no longer king. The duke resisted warnings from Beaverbrook, "went to Germany and Samson with shorn hair, was treated with great discourtesy, and was generally criticized . . ."

On May 8, 1938, the duke made a personal broadcast appeal for world peace at Verdun. If he had been king then, writes Mr. Wardell, his appeal would have had far greater effect.

Wildcat Strike At Brampton Is Ended

Nearly half of the 1,300 members of the United Auto Workers union attended a meeting and 452 voted in favor of a return. A full shift was operating by 4:30 p.m.

Company and union officials will meet soon in attempt to resolve the dispute. The strike began when a few workers walked out, protesting the company's policy of hiring outside help for new jobs before consulting senior employees.

Five-Man Group Seizes Argentine Airliner for 'Invasion' of Falkland Islands

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—A five - man ultra - nationalist group today seized an Argentine airline DC-4 with 60 persons aboard and staged a token "invasion" of the Falkland Islands, claimed by Argentina as the Malvina Islands.

A message was received here saying the plane landed at the islands and the group issued a statement that "we reaffirm our country's sovereignty."

Observers said the commando "occupation" of the south Atlantic islands was apparently timed to coincide with the presence here of Prince Philip.

Air control officers here said the group describes themselves as "el condor" (a large bird).

A spokesman for the airline, Aerolineas Argentinas, said the four-engine plane was on a regular flight between Buenos Aires and Rio Gallegos, 1,720 miles to the south.

The fate of the passengers was not immediately known.

Prince Philip is in Buenos Aires to attend celebrations of the 150th anniversary of the Argentine republic.

Argentina has for many years claimed the Falkland Islands and dependencies have been held during recent months between foreign ministers of the two countries on the dispute.

The wind-swept islands have a population of almost completely British origin devoted to sheep-farming.

The capital, Port Stanley, is usually reached by ships which sail from Montevideo, Uruguay. Planes Argentine ships do not sail to the islands.

An anonymous caller telephoned Reuters news agency office here to say the commando group had "renamed" Port Stanley as Antonio Rivero.

Rivero was the head of a small group which in 1832 unsuccessfully resisted British occupation of the Falklands.

The caller said he was a member of the extreme right-wing nationalist movement known as Tacuara, but refused to give his name.

On Sept. 8, 1964, Argentine airman Manuel Fitzgerald landed a small plane on the Falkland Islands race course and planted an Argentine flag on the territory.

He handed the flag and a letter addressed to the governor to the first person he saw and left for Argentina in his plane 39 minutes later.

PC Chief Remains Silent

By RONALD LESEL

OTTAWA (CP)—John Diefenbaker maintained silence Tuesday while the debate over his leadership continued to rock the Progressive Conservative party.

His office said he would not meet reporters nor issue a statement in the foreseeable future. Mr. Diefenbaker and party aides were believed mapping a counterattack against Conservatives pressing for a leadership convention next year.

Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre), former defence minister, praised his leader and accused certain elements of trying to divide and weaken the party.

Timetable for U.S. Withdrawal Seen as Prerequisite for Peace

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—France called today for a U.S. commitment to withdraw American troops from South Viet Nam. It said the United States alone "is in a position to make the new move that will render everything possible, and first of all, peace."

Informed sources said French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville in his policy statement before the UN General Assembly, would follow closely the position taken by President de Gaulle in his Sept. 1 speech in Cambodia.

De Gaulle said then that no negotiations would offer any prospect of success without a definite commitment by the United States to a troop pullout. He indicated that prospect for a negotiated solution were "not at all ripe today."

It was understood that Couve de Murville would make no peace proposals in his UN speech. He said in an interview in Paris recently that his government does not feel it would be useful to take an initiative for a negotiated solution were "not at all ripe today."

Couve de Murville also was known to be opposed to any UN intervention in the Viet-Nam peace efforts because of the absence of North Viet Nam and Communist China from the world organization. The Viet Nam issue is not formally before the assembly, but all speakers in the general debate so far have raised the question.

WANTS PEKING IN

Couve de Murville was reported ready to make a new appeal on the question of seating Peking in the UN. France recognizes Peking, the U.S. doesn't.

The United States has announced it will continue to oppose the seating of Peking unless it drops its demands for changing the UN structure and agrees to abide by the UN charter.

External Affairs Minister Paul Hasluck of Australia lined up with the U.S. position in the assembly Tuesday. He said the world's problems with the Peking government would not be solved simply by admitting it to the United Nations.

South Viet Nam Woman Lawyer Urges Brothels for Soldiers

SAIGON (AP)—A South Vietnamese woman lawyer called today for legalised prostitution in South Viet Nam and cited a government brothel for soldiers in Dalat as a successful example.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Vui told a meeting of the Army - People Council that similar centres should be established throughout the country to curb venereal disease and the exploitation of young girls by pimps and madams.

The Army-People Council is an organization to improve relations between civilians and military personnel.

Mrs. Vui said the influx of foreign troops into South Viet Nam had increased prostitution and recent government statistics show that of every 1,000 times girls were suffering from venereal disease.

Prostitution was banned by the late president Ngo Dinh Diem in 1956. By legalizing it, Mrs. Vui declared, the government could establish venereal disease control centres, and limit both the number of bars that are mushrooming to cater to foreign troops.

Military Power Alone Not Adequate Response

--- Humphrey

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Vice-president Hubert H. Humphrey, fresh from encountering a bitter anti-Viet Nam war demonstration in Portland, told university of Oregon students today that "we persist in our efforts to bring it (the war) to a negotiated settlement."

"Overwhelming military power alone is not an adequate response to the wars of national liberation,' Humphrey said in his prepared remarks.

He said the recent election "was a recognition that the social revolution needed in Viet Nam must rest on a solid, popular political base."

But, he added, progress "will be threatened so long as the war in Viet Nam continues." He said the U.S. position was made necessary by bombing of North Viet Nam in exchange for "reduction of cessation of infiltration by Hanoi," and "we are prepared to see the National Liberation Front represented in peace negotiations."

Humphrey came to Portland Tuesday night from San Diego. Anti-war demonstrators surged around the hotel where he gave a dinner address.

Viet Cong Head Thinks Victory Is Possible

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Nguyen Huu Tho, head of the Viet Cong political organization, has challenged the idea that neither side could force a military victory in the Viet Nam war.

In an interview released by the North Viet Nam news agency today, the leader of South Viet Nam's National Liberation Front told Australian journalist Wilfred Burchett the guerrilla forces were in a fundamentally stronger position than the United States, in the ways that would determine the war's outcome.

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam today broadcast a Viet Cong invitation to members of previous South Vietnamese governments to join the National Liberation Front.

The Communist Viet Nam news agency broadcast an interview with Nguyen Huu Tho, president of the front, in which he told Australian journalist Wilfred Burchett that the front's aim is to "found a broad and democratic coalition government comprising representatives of all social strata, nationalities, religious communities and patriotic personalities."

Tho said the front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, thinks "there are great possibilities for broadening co - operation with the other organizations, forces and personalities in South Viet Nam, regardless of their former activities."

Burchett asked: "Such a co-operation will be extended even to those having participated in the Ngo Dinh Diem and the succeeding governments, will it not, Mr. President?"

"That is right," Tho replied. "There will be no grudge for their former activities, political tendencies and viewpoints, nor any discrimination as to nationalities or religious communities."

The excepted Nguyen Van Thieu, South Viet Nam's present chief of state, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and "a handful of traitors" from those whose cooperation would be acceptable.

Aim Talks To Stave Off Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Talks aimed at staving off a strike by CBC (technical) employees which would wipe out live television programs throughout the country were scheduled to begin today in Ottawa.

Timothy O'Sullivan, chairman of the 1,850-member National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians, announced Tuesday in Montreal that 85.5 per cent of the membership had voted in favor of strike action against the CBC should the scheduled talks fail.

The strike, which a CBC spokesman in Toronto said would mean the corporation from producing live television programs, would follow 36 hours after a breakup of the last-ditch talks.

Mr. O'Sullivan said 97.6 per cent of the membership voted in the Canada - wide referendum, which rejected the findings of a federal conciliation board.

The majority report of the conciliation board was in favor of a 22½-per-cent increase in a 30-month contract and the minority report was for a 31.3-per-

Guard Called Out As Negroes Riot At San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rioting Negroes — incensed because a white policeman killed a Negro youngster fleeing from a stolen car — smashed windows, started fires, looted, overturned vehicles and threw barrages of bricks and bottles Tuesday night in two San Francisco districts.

Governor Edmund G. Brown called out 2,000 national guardsmen and with Mayor John F. Shelley imposed a curfew when the violence jumped from the Hunters Point area to the Fillmore district.

During four hours of rioting—11 persons were treated at hospital but none was described as badly injured.

The fire department answered 30 calls, many of them false, and eight fire trucks and cars were stoned. All blazes were brought under control quickly.

At least three automobiles were burned over and set fire.

At the height of the disturbance, 400 San Francisco police, 20 California Highway Patrol men and 20 traffic policemen fought back rioters. As the curfew took effect after midnight, the highway patrol was relieved when Police Chief Thomas Cahill declared the crisis was averted, at least for the time being.

Trouble, which Cahill said "seemed spontaneous following the shooting," started at Hunters Point.

Dead of the violence was in a lower middle-class area of two-storey buildings, most of them with stores on the ground floor and residences above.

Bricks thrown from rooftops crashed mainly from a pile at St. Peter's Baptist church where a partial demolition had taken place.

Police closed off a 20-square block area at Hunters Point, and in the southeastern part of San Francisco and became a Negro neighborhood during the Second World War. It is near shipyard and Candlestick Park, the home of San Francisco Giants.

Triggering the riot was the shooting of Matthew Johnson, 26, a Negro who was killed by Patrolman Alvin Johnson after the youth and a companion fled on foot from a stolen car. The policeman shouted for the youth to stop and fired three warning shots before the fatal shot hit him.

Chatham has built up an early lead in the race with Belleville to be first over the top in the United Appeal campaign.

To date, Chatham has collected $17,796 or 16.6 per cent of its objective, and Belleville has collected $7,500 or 7.5 per cent ofits goal.

Belleville's total is expected to rise sharply next week as in-plant canvassing in the city's industries becomes widespread.

Staff Fights Strikers

Three Pickets Arrested At Millhaven CIL Plant

MILLHAVEN, Ont. (CP)—Police reinforcements were called out Tuesday night to break up a fight outside the strikebound plant of Canadian Industries Ltd. in this community 12 miles east of Kingston.

No one was injured in the fight between supervisory staff, who are keeping the plant operating, and about 30 pickets.

The fight broke out when someone threw a rock at three buses leaving the plant with supervisory staff.

One bus stopped and several staff members got out to challenge the pickets. Before the combatants were separated, three police constables arrived to assist police from nearby Napanee who were on duty at the plant.

Earlier in the day, police arrested three pickets—Kenneth Brooks, Horst Billing and Robert John Eaton—and charged them with attempting to commit damage after police found nail spikes across roads leading to the plant. Released on $100 bail, they will appear in court in Napanee Oct. 25 for preliminary hearing.

The 400 plant workers, members of Local 9870, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers, have been on strike since July 12. They are seeking a 65-cent an hour increase in wages in a 22-month contract and have rejected a company offer of 27 to 35 cents over two years.

The basic wage now is about $2.86 an hour.

Union and company negotiators are to meet in Toronto Thursday with a federal dispute mediator in an attempt to resolve the dispute.

U.S. Air Attack Goes Wrong, Kills 28 Friendly Tribesmen

SAIGON (AP)—Another U.S. air attack went wrong Tuesday and two marine planes killed friendly mountain tribesmen and wounded 27 in a village in South Viet Nam.

A marine spokesman said the accidental strike also destroyed about 100 houses in the village in Quang Ngai province about 360 miles north of Saigon. The village is under the control of the South Vietnamese government and the spokesman said some government soldiers and their families also lived there.

Marine helicopters dispatched to the battered hamlet flew the wounded to a government hospital in nearby Quang Ngai city. The victims were Montagnards who have furnished many guerrillas to help fight the Viet Cong.

U.S. authorities began an immediate investigation. The marine spokesman said the village lies outside the target area for the mission in which the two U.S. planes were assigned.

Unofficial sources estimate that a total of 546 South Vietnamese civilians have been killed and 353 wounded in unilar bombing and strafing incidents.

The last such was reported Aug. 19 from the Mekong Delta when a string of sampans were strafed and bombed. South Vietnamese army sources said 20 persons were killed, 22 wounded and 19 were missing.

The last village to be bombed by mistake also was in Quang Ngai province. Military sources said then that marine planes relying on radar which proved faulty killed three civilians and wounded 30 on Aug. 16.

Soldier With Bomb in Car Upsets in Ditch on 401

TRENTON—Army personnel from Kingston motored to Brighton yesterday to retrieve a "bomb" which had been involved in a car accident on Highway 401 on Monday.

The smoke bomb was being transported from Camp Borden to Kingston by Pte. Barry Russell Fraser when his car went out of control, skidded into the ditch, rolled over twice and came to rest on its roof. Fraser was thrown out of the car onto the grass.

A passing motorist stopped to render assistance, and was startled when Fraser told him to "stay away from the car, there's a bomb in there". Fraser was dressed in overalls which covered his army uniform.

The motorist immediately left the scene and reported the accident to provincial police at Brighton.

Constable Ronald Deck approached the scene gingerly, and was relieved when Fraser explained the nature of the bomb.

Fraser was taken to the Canadian Forces Base Hospital where he was kept overnight for observation.

Last year, Marmora Street Senior School, Prince Charles, St. Peter's and St. Mary's were equipped.

Grades one to six are now watching new maths programs; Grade eights, geometric concepts.

In January, CBC will run a series of social studies programs.

The CBC runs special programs on Saturdays for high school students.

Group Formed

TRENTON — Trenton's centennial headquarters will be in the Chamber of Commerce office on Front Street.

This was decided at a meeting of Chamber directors yesterday.

A civic committee was formed at yesterday's meeting, with Jack Ehler as chairman, to concern itself with the beautification of downtown Trenton.

A week ago the recently - formed industrial committee (chairman D. R. Fraser) held a meeting at which all the local industrial heads met to discuss mutual problems. This is the first such meeting locally to bring all industrial leaders under one roof.

Home and School News

'TWIN-HELP-SHOP'

The Belleville and District Council of Home and School Associations are holding "A Twin Help-Shop" on Thursday, September 29, at 7.30 in the evening of the Harry J. Clarke School, Rollins Drive.

Everything goes "double" at the help-shop. The twin topics will be "Programs" and "Membership" presented in twin sessions. Double ideas for single problems and Twin results from double ideas!

The program session will be centred on "program content"; that is, specific ideas for programs, how these may be adapted to your particular needs, etc.

The membership session will deal with the importance of identification as a member, your role as a member, ways and means of promoting membership, the dividends of the investment in membership and other related areas.

Plan your programs and plan them well, for your programs will be the decisive factor in the success of your home and school Association.

For ideas, suggestions, assistance and results, plan to share this evening with people interested in the education of children and youth in this district.

Electrical Hazards Subject of Talk

Al Glover, an Ontario Hydro area inspector, yesterday addressed the Belleville Kiwanis Club, pushing for P. W. Pickering, Ontario Hydro electrical superintendent, eastern region.

Mr. Glover dealt with electrical hazards in a brief address. With the help of colored slides he effectively brought his point home to the Kiwanians. H. T. Reid introduced the speaker and Mr. Glover was thanked, on behalf of the club, by R. G. Lambers.

In the absence of president F. H. Bellatell, past president W. O. F. Bradley was chairman for the meeting. Kiwanian Don Rose spoke on the annual Christmas toy project, urging all club members to lend their support by attending fit up, paint up sessions on the week. Grant Harrison noted that the first program in the 1966-67 Kiwanis Travelogue series is scheduled for Thursday, October 6.

Law Requiring Drivers Halt For School Bus Well Heeded

Drivers in the Belleville area are setting an enviable standard in their reaction to the recently enacted Highway Traffic Act legislation regarding school buses.

To date, only two drivers have been charged by the Belleville detachment of the O.P.P. stopping-to-discharge law, which requires motorists travelling where speed limits are in excess of 50 miles per hour to stop when overtaking or approaching a school bus with its red lights flashing.

The flashing red bus signals indicate that a school bus is loading or discharging its pupil passengers.

A spokesman for the Belleville O.P.P. said this morning that local response to the new law has been encouraging, with a number of citizens taking the time to phone the O.P.P. office to get clarification and the stipulations of the school bus regulation.

The O.P.P. reminds drivers that, although they are not required by law to stop their vehicles when meeting a passing speed limits of 35 miles per hour or less, the best procedure is to proceed slowly and overtake buses in these zones with extreme caution.

Lions Club Conducting Essay Contest

The youth of Belleville and district have been issued a challenge to develop a plan for world peace by their local Lions Club — a challenge that could earn one of them a $25,000 educational or career assistance grant.

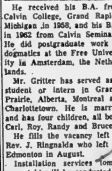
The Belleville Lions Club, together with Lions Club throughout the world, is sponsoring a world-wide essay contest for the world's youth on the most important world subject today — Peace.

The contest offers $30,000 in total awards, including the $25,000 first prize, eight semi-final regional awards of $1,000 each and travel expenses to the eight finalists to Chicago in July 1967.

At the time of the Chicago visit the first prize winner will be chosen from the eight. Also there are more than 20,000 local, district and multiple district awards to be made.

RULES OF CONTEST

Belleville Lions Club president Art Newman is announcing the contest today and "We are hopeful that one of our young people will win this world-wide prestige award."



The contest is open to young people between 15 and 22 years of age. Contestants should submit their entry in essay form, not to exceed 5,000 words. Judging will fall into four categories with 75 percent for content, 20 per cent for organization, ten per cent for style and five per cent for mechanics.

Local students wishing to enter the contest should pick up a tact one of the Belleville Lions to get full information.

Dutch Church Will Install New Minister

Installation services will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Maranatha Christian Reformed Church of Belleville, Orchard Drive, for the new minister of the church, Rev. Evert Gritter.

Mr. Gritter comes to Belleville from Orillia, where he has served the past three and one-half years. Born in 1934 in Nyverdal, the Netherlands, eldest of a family of 12, he immigrated to Fenwick, Ontario, in 1951.

NEW MINISTER — Rev. Evert Gritter will be installed at Maranatha Christian Reformed Church of Belleville on Orchard Drive.

He received his B.A. from Calvin College, Grand Rapids, Michigan in 1962, and his B.D. in 1965 from Calvin Seminary. He did postgraduate work in the Netherlands.

Mr. Gritter has served as a student or intern in Grande Prairie, Alberta, Montreal and Charlottetown. He is married and has four children, all boys, Carl, Roy, Randy and Bruce.

He fills the vacancy left by Rev. J. Ringnalda who left for Edmonton in August.

Installation services tomorrow night will be conducted by Rev. R. Pepper of Trenton, Rev. G. J. Klomps of Lindsay, Rev. D. N. Habermehl of Oshawa, Rev. P. Breedveld of Bloomfield, and Rev. P. Van Egmond of Kingston.

Delegates from Belleville and the Belleville Ministerial Association have been invited.

Mr. Gritter's inaugural sermon will be Sunday at 10.30 a.m. on "The Lord, the Church and the Minister."

GIVES RESEARCH AID

KITCHENER (CP) — B. F. Goodrich Canada Ltd. announced Tuesday it has presented $30,000 to the University of Waterloo for the establishment of a research library on plastics, rubber and related sciences. Dr. R. V. Yohe, company president, said the library collection will be his company's Centennial gift to Canada.

310 Register At BCI for Evening Classes

Registration for evening classes held at the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School Tuesday night resulted in a total of 310 people signing up for courses. As usual, the Advanced Sewing and the Elementary Typewriting classes filled the first night, with the overflow put on waiting lists.

In the following classes, the number registered is a few short of the fifteen required to start a class: Auto Mechanics, Grade 13 Geography, Grade 9 New Mathematics, Slide-Rule Engineering, Welding and Woodworking and Cabinet-Making. Anyone intending to take these classes is urged to register at the Tuesday evening at the school before 8.00 p.m. so that the classes can be started.

Ceramics is being offered on Thursday nights only and the courses here are optional. This class is open to anyone interested in pottery, beginners as well as advanced students, and offers an introduction to work with the Ceramics Guild of the Recreation Committee. Sculpture also is offered on Thursday nights and persons interested in these classes should come to the school on Thursday, October 6.

The enrolment in the Conversational French class has been quite large, and with a view to see if it will be possible to start two classes, one for beginners and one for those with some knowledge of the subject. Those interested in Shorthand include beginners and advanced students and more people are welcome here.

Teachers have reported that there is quite a bit more student in Drawing and Painting, Advanced Typewriting, Grade 13 English, English as a Second Language and V.I.A. Home Construction.

Moira Secondary School has classes in many subjects on Mondays and Wednesdays, beginning next week.

Ireland's Co-operate in Open House

Once again Jack Ireland is co-operating with a local builder in completely furnishing an open house for display to the public. This time the house is by Maurice H. Rollins Construction Limited and is located on Kellar Drive in Ponton Park. It will be open for display Friday night, Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

To set off this beautiful home in its advantages, Ireland's are supplying the most modern and up-to-date furniture available in wood and upholstery, stereo and television.

The big news is that all of this furniture and appliances may be purchased right at the display on a "cost-plus" basis. This announcement is bound to be new and fully guaranteed.

Many will remember the tremendous bargains offered during a similar open house held last spring when a model home was furnished by Ireland's. The prices will be similarly reduced for this special event — but will go back to normal after the open house.

City to Build Fence Along Open Area

That open space area on Front Street where the Mrs. Robertson block burned early in 1965 is getting a new eight foot fence to provide protection for the public from the block and the eyesore.

A solid, eight foot high plywood fence is being erected at the direction of the city building inspector.

Apparently there are still no concrete plans for rebuilding on the burned out area. Since the fire, several plans for reconstruction have been put forward but so far none have been finalized.

JOHN R. REID

Rev. J. A. Fayton of Grace United Church, Trenton officiated Monday at funeral service for John R. Reid, at Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton. The bearers were Arnold Ketcheson, Jack Reid, Paul Reid, James Chatham, Earl Meyers and Robert Meyers, all nephews of Mr. Reid. Interment at White's cemetery.

A resident of 165 Yeomans St., Belleville for the past eight months, he died Thursday, November 22 at Kingston General Hospital. He was in his 67th year. Before moving to Belleville, he had resided at 91 Reid St. in Trenton.

Born in Stirling, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Alfred Reid. He farmed at Trenton and later was employed as a clerk at the Liquor Control Board of Ontario store.

He leaves his wife, the former Vera Meyers; three sons, Carl and Douglas Reid of Belleville, and Flight Lieutenant Donald Reid of Fort William; one daughter, Dorothy Reid of Belleville; two brothers, Gordon of Frankford and Frank of Trenton, and three sisters, Mrs. (Mrs. Ritchie Ketcheson) of Belleville, Florence (Mrs. Donald Garrow) of Belleville and Margaret (Mrs. Norman Chatten) of Hilton.

A member of Grace United Church, Trenton, he was active in the A.O.T.S., Club. At one time, he was a member of the Trenton High School Board, and of the Board of Education, being the appointed representative from Sidney Township.

JOHN KEIR THOMAS

Funeral service was held at St. Peter's Church for John Keir Thomas of 17 Leonard Street, Trenton by Rev. Father Appleton of the parish.

Bearers were Gregory Beck, Ken Duff, Anthony Haines, by, Ernest Boulter, Lorne Hie and Alvin Coughlin.

Interment was in Mount Calvary Cemetery and the service was under the direction of the Campbell Funeral Home.

A painter with the General Electric Company, Mr. Thomas was formerly in the RCAF. He was born in Prince Edward Island, the son of the late Collingwood Thomas and Charlotte McNeil.

Stationed in France during his RCAF service, Mr. Thomas had lived in Trenton for the past six years. Death came suddenly at his home on Saturday, September 17.

Mr. Thomas is survived by his wife, the former Ida Perry, and was the father of Barbara, Mrs. Richard Pringle of Toronto, Heather of Yorktown, Sask., Charlene, John Anthony and Barry, all at home.

Two Blocks, Warehouse Sold by Firm

Sale of the former Nelson Ice Cream warehouse on Wellington Street to Belleville Alderman T. A. Carruthers was announced this week by Whalen Real Estate.

Erected some years ago the building was used as a distribution centre by its owners until they closed out operations at this address. The structure is currently being used as warehouse space.

Two older business blocks in downtown Belleville, both owned by the Doyle Estate, have also been sold to Carruthers. One of the buildings on Campbell Street is being used as a law office and the other on Bridge Street as a book store. The new owners are a group of local businessmen.

Tire Company Donates Library To University

KITCHENER — A 96-day head start on Canada's Centennial was made in Kitchener-Waterloo today when B. F. Goodrich Canada Ltd., awarded a 30,000 dollar research library to the University of Waterloo.

It is anticipated that the library will become the most complete collection of books, journals and references on plastics, rubber and related sciences in Canada.

"The future growth of Canada and its success as a nation may largely depend on the degree to which educational institutions provide the opportunity for advanced education to more and more Canadians," said Dr. Yohe, in announcing the gift.

"If Canada is to become more industrialized and imposed technical competence in a technically oriented world, increased emphasis will have to be placed on the practical sciences in Canadian educational institutions."

IN MEMORIAM

BRETHOUR — In loving remembrance of a dear husband and father, George, who passed away Sept. 28, 1965.
There is a home still some o'er us,
There is a throne above the sky,
There we'll meet you over yonder,
There we'll live and never die.
Though you died one year ago,
Memories keep you near us,
Carl and family. 2

HARRIS — In loving memory of my mother, Gladys E. Lott, who passed away Sept. 28, 1965.
Remembrance is a voiceless sound,
Death tries to hide it all in the ground,
To have, to love, and then to part,
Is the hardest sorrow we have to bear.
The years may wear and many tears
But this they wire out never,
The memory of those happy days,
When we were all together.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by son
Will Iris with no grandchildren.

STAPLEY — In loving memory of my dear husband, Ernest Stapley, who passed away September 28, 1956.
Time flies on, year by year,
Sweetly handed, fond and true,
Heart to heart, a friend to friend,
That we do not think of you.
Always remembered by his wife,
Mary Stapley and grandchildren
Keith.

CHAPMAN — In loving memory of a dear mother who passed away Sept. 28, 1961.
We cannot bring the old days back,
They are gone forever,
But memory, tears and loving thoughts
Will live with us forever.
—Sadly missed by daughters and sons-in-law, Mary, Ethel and Ivy, Aletha and Bill.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. Ivan Reid and Donald Campbell Reid wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for the gifts, lovely flowers and many beautiful cards received on the occasion of their 50th wedding Anniversary, September 26th, 1966.

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my many friends and relatives for their thoughtfulness, good wishes, visits and gifts during my extended stay in hospital, and for the kind cards I received while convalescing at home.—Mrs. Ethel Bonisteel, 10 Dr. Russell Bateman, 20 Front St. and Rev. ARMS AND THE BOY—Replica of antique arms at YMCA Treasure Van sale was focal point for school-boy crowds early today. A thousand students from city schools viewed the exotic exhibits.

Thousand Wide-eyed Children See Y Treasure Van Display Opening at YMCA Here Today

An international caravan rolled into Belleville this morning and was greeted by over one thousand wide-eyed youngsters on hand to see their history and geography lessons come alive.

The Y.M.C.A. Treasure Van, set up in the Y building on Victoria Avenue, opened with booths featuring handicrafts from 15 countries. Children from city schools admired Jerry Koala bear toys from Australia, opium pipes, and a $35 replica of a Spanish Conquistor's two-handled battle sword, "the weapon that took America". This afternoon, the public was admitted to shop for unique Christmas presents ranging in price from 15 cents to $35.

Belleville and Brantford are the only non-municipal cities honored by a visit from the Treasure Van this year. Sponsored by the World University Service of Canada and the Y.M.C.A. World Service Committee, the travelling gift shop is entirely non-profit, and returns its profits to the countries sending handicrafts. The money is used for Y work, for educational facilities and libraries, and for scholarships to send foreign students to Canadian universities.

Four caravans set out each year, each travelling in four buses from September until December. Tony Glister of Liverpool, England and Albert Sabbah of Casablanca, Morocco, are travelling with this Treasure Van here and will cover Ontario and Quebec. Mr. Sabbah, who speaks no English, is along to take charge in Quebec. His languages are Arabic and French. Both men are with World University Service and spend eight months of the year at headquarters in Toronto, preparing for the tours.

STARTED IN 1947

Treasure Van began in 1947 with the purchase of $2 worth of Manchadj seeds, bought by Mrs. Ethel Mulvany, who held sales at schools, service clubs and churches. Each year she increased the range of craft items. Each year, with the help of volunteers from the faculties and students of Canadian universities, the Treasure Van has grown. The 15 cent Manchadj seed from India, with a tiny carved ivory elephant inside, is a good luck charm which brings even better luck when given away. A supply will be on hand tomorrow for Belleville buyers.

Mr. Sabbah opened the Treasure Van's Belleville visit this afternoon with the Moroccan tea ceremony. This ritual, usually reserved for the kings of Morocco, was performed for Mayor Jack Ellis and other local dignitaries to get the Belleville visit off to a royal start.

Booths will be staffed by volunteers from city clubs while the Van is here from today until Friday evening. Hours of sale are from 1.30 to 5 and from 6.30 to 10 p.m.

Anyone on your Christmas list need a genuine Australian boomerang ($4.95), a skin wine bottle ($3.98), a duelling foil from Toledo ($18)? The Treasure Van has them, and jewelry boxes and slippers for Aunt Minnie, too.

Association Plans Another Walking Tour

A letter to Mayor Jack Ellis, commending those responsible for beautifying Front Street this summer with planters of flowers and trees was sent by the Belleville Branch of the Community Planning Association of Canada, following an executive meeting Tuesday night.

C.P.A.C. officers regard the planters as a positive step in fostering civic pride.

The executive decided to revive their popular walking tours of the city during the 1966-67 season. The first tour, on October 23, will be conducted by R. C. Greig, branch chairman, and will follow the route of the proposed riverfront access road along the east bank of the Moira River.

Delegates were apointed to attend the "Planning Problems and Progress" confrence in Toronto next week. This conference, opegn to members of municipal planning boards and C.P.A.C. members, will accent a broad look at the province in the year 2000, and the effect on planning of population growth automation and new social services.

FEND FEWER CO-OPS

The number of co-operative stores in Sweden declined to 4,500 in 1964 from 8,000 in 1950.

Haig Road May Be Made Into Main Artery With Underpass Across Tracks

The possibility of Haig Road just inside the eastern limits of the city being developed as a main north and south artery with an underpass beneath the double CNR tracks, is to be investigated by Belleville city council.

Council will discuss the railway underpass proposal with Thurlow township.

The idea of the proposed Haig Street underpass is an alternative proposal to the high cost of providing adequate protection at the Station Street railway crossing where it crosses the CN tracks at the east end of the railway yards.

Due to the speed which trains operate and because of the increased vehicular traffic at the Station Street crossing, railway officials are recommending the crossing be widened to 22 feet and that flashing light signals, short arm gates and bell be installed.

WOULD REQUIRE ATTENDANT

Protection at the crossing would also require an attendant to be on duty at all times, it was stated.

The cost of the proposed protective works would be between $50,000 and $30,000 and its operation with full time attendant is estimated at $30,000 per year, of which the city share would be $15,000

City Planning Director P. J. Beauvais in a report to city council noted that this annual cost for crossing protection in 10 years time would amount to at least $150,000 and would do little, if anything, to improve the vehicular traffic flow pattern in the city.

Accordingly the planning director recommends that Station Street be extended beyond the new CN freight terminal warehouse and that Haig Road be extended with an underpass beneath the railway.

SUPPORTS PRINCIPLE

Thurlow council is stated to support in principle the planning director's proposal to extend Haig Road through that portion of the township. The city boundary at this point ends at the railway tracks with Thurlow township commencing immediately to the north of the double track.

The height of the railway right-of-way at this point would lend itself to an underpass, it was stated.

At a meeting some weeks ago city council was informed that the long proposed underpass for the Canniffon Road crossing was impractical from an engineering standpoint and it was suggested that another site in the east end of the city be considered for an overpass.

Y's Activities

October 4th is the starting date for fitness classes at the "Y". Classes are from 7 p.m. to 8.15 on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Both exercising and swimming are included on both evenings. Those interested in participating should contact the Y as soon as possible.

Symbol of United Appeal Flying Over City Hall

Have you been wondering what that flag flying above City Hall these days represents?

Perhaps it's the banner of some foreign country plotting the overthrow of City Hall.

Not really.

What it is, is the new symbol of United Appeals across Canada.

The need for greater uniformity in public recognition of appeal symbols prompted officials to institute one symbol across the country this year that everyone could easily recognize as representing the United Appeal.

The new 4-U symbol represents unity; central core planning; dependability; solidarity; magnetic fields of attraction; links in a chain; efficient distribution of member charities; circulation of help, ideas, funds; care, feeling, represented by oval curvature in design pattern, building upon the dependability of the rectangular core; and growth association inherent in the outside flower-like configuration.

Need for a uniform symbol developed because there were at least six different symbols in use by funds across Canada, most having some association with the "U" or symbol, but sometimes retaining the once popular torch and red feather.

Symbols have changed continually over the last 20 years, but no one symbol had the ingenuity of design or general support to avoid being modified, added to and generally abused.

Another advantage of a uniform symbol is the money that can be saved on display and poster materials. Multiplicity of designs added to costs in this area.

Use of the symbol for 1966 is optional, though Belleville is using it, but it will come into use by all United Appeals in Canada next year.

New "4-U" United Appeal Symbol.

The new symbol, besides being immediately recognized as representing United Appeal, serves to overcome any regional differentials and convey unity.

An official release said: "The symbol is the embodiment of immediate idea or impression transference. Visually powerful, it becomes the sensation transference or personality identification of the United Appeal.

"The symbol will be easily seen, easily recognized and easily associated with the United Appeal."

Lt. Gen. H. D. G Graham Heads HPE Officers' Association

Lt. General Howard D. Graham wartime commander of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment recently announced the formation of a Regimental Officers' Association. "We have been amiss in our backing of the Regiment" the former chief of Staff for the Canadian Army and until recently Chairman of the Toronto Stock Exchange told a group of senior ex -officers.

Following discussions between present and former officers, under the chairmanship, a formation meeting of the Association has been planned for the afternoon of Oct. 22 in the Regimental Armouries here. In a letter, General Graham has urged all officers of the Regiment, plus those from the Argyll Light Infantry, Midland Regiment, 3rd, 52nd, 54th and 47th Battery RCA and any other Regiments amalgamated with the Hasty-Pees, to be present. However, it is known that many names have been forgotten and addresses lost. It is hoped they will learn of the meeting in other ways.

Besides the formation meeting of the Officers' Association, members of the Regiment will display recent equipment used in training, will show Second World War recent films taken of the Regiment and will close the evening with a formal mess dinner in the Armouries.

Murder Hearing Is Adjourned

TORONTO (Special) — Karl H. Frank, a former resident of Trenton and co-defendant along with John Collins in the July 16 murder of a 43-year-old Windsor school teacher Francis Desjarlais in a Jarvis Street hotel room, had his preliminary hearing adjourned here until today in old city hall so that the Crown could review the statement of a material witness being held in connection with the case.

Frank was arrested on Aug. 23 in a Toronto beverage room.

Industrial Management Club Officers Are Installed

Frank Grandame, past National President of the Industrial Management Clubs of Canada, last night installed Quinte Chapter officers for 1966-67 at a meeting at the Royal Canadian Legion hall here. Four Belleville men and two from Trenton were installed.

President is Leo Desaulniers of Northern Electric; first vice-president (program) is Bob Frederick of Stephens-Adamson Manufacturing Company; second vice-president (membership) is Keller of Erie Technological Products, Trenton; treasurer, Dean Pound of Erie Technological Products, and director of public relations, Graeme Burris of Stephens-Adamson.

Robert Thompson of Wallaceburg, National President of Industrial Management Clubs of Canada, attended the meeting. He presented a scroll and pin to Gordon McInroy, Quinte Chapter immediate past president.

Guest speaker at the meeting was J. E. Purdy of Montreal, director of purchasing for H. Corby Distillery, Limited, Cobourg. The topic of his address was "Purchasing Or Professional Penny Pinching". He outlined the role of the Canadian Association of Purchasing Agents, in its training programs.

He called for encouragement of competition within industry and observed that negotiating must employ a new approach to achieve benefits based on common ground.

Eighty members of the Quinte Chapter of IMCO attended the meeting. In the afternoon, the group toured H. Corby Distillery, Limited.

An Unreasonable Claim

A Los Angeles policeman is being sued for three million dollars.

Last May a bullet from the gun of Police Officer Jerrold M. Bova killed Leonard Deadwyler as he was driving his wife to hospital. A coroner's jury exonerated Bova, holding that the death was accidental. Mrs. Deadwyler says it was deliberate.

Deliberate or not, Mrs. Deadwyler is entitled to monetary compensation, for herself and her children, for the loss of the services of a husband and father.

But the sums sought are ridiculous. Mrs. Deadwyler is asking for a million and a quarter "for loss of services, comfort, protection and support" and another $500,000 for shock and emotional distress. An additional $1,250,000 is being sought for the four children.

We have no knowledge of the principles which govern U. S. courts in such cases, but here in Ontario the law holds that it is impossible to put a monetary value on such a precious intangible as love. In this, we suggest, it is right. "How deep is the ocean, how high is the sky?" asks a popular song of yesteryear in answer to the question of how great a sweetheart loves. Who can weigh any person's love for another? And, even if this were possible, how many dollars for an ounce of love?

So our courts hold that the compensation to which any widow is entitled by reason of the death of another depends solely upon material circumstances. What was the relationship of the dead to the person suing? That is, has his death deprived the plaintiff of a source of income? What was the dead person's status in life? In other words, what salary was he making and what were his educational qualifications and technical skills, which would determine his salary in the future? How old was he, i.e., how long would he likely have continued to earn a salary?

By these yardsticks, it is highly unlikely that Deadwyler was worth three million to his family. What he was worth to them in love and comfort is impossible to translate into dollars.

Exaggerated claims of this nature tend to throw the law into disrepute. In civil actions here, a system of paying into court protects a defendant against being assessed the legal costs of the plaintiff in an action in which liability is admitted but the amount of the claim are regarded by the defendant as excessive. If the amount paid into court before the trial exceeds the damages awarded by the court, the defendant does not pay the plaintiff's costs, since the award could have been obtained without suing. It is a pity that it does not appear feasible to expand this system to provide a real deterrent for completely unreasonable claims.

Change in Product

Trade names are important.

Recently we received a letter from the Coca Cola people complaining because we had spelled "coke" without a capital "C". "Coke" is a registered trade name.

In the United States all acetyisalicylic acid may be referred to as aspirin, but in Canada the word "aspirin" is still the property of Bayer's. Bayer's doesn't like "aspirin" being used for other brands.

All this is understandable. A trade name is a guarantee of uniformity in the product.

Sometimes, though, the product undergoes a change, while the trade name remains unaltered.

Some of our readers, who may not have noticed it, may be interested to learn that there has been a change in a well-known brand of canned corned beef, "Fray Bentos."

This used to come in a tin with a predominantly red wrapper, which bore the announcement "Product of Argentina." Lately, however, a "lean" variety of "Fray Bentos" has appeared in a tin predominantly white, which bears a striking resemblance to that of a competitive brand, corned beef. The new Fray Bentos comes from South Africa, a country which some may not want to patronize. "Fray Bentos" also markets either corned beef or meat from Rhodesia. It may be pure coincidence that we never noticed the Rhodesian canned meat on store shelves here until after Britain imposed sanctions on the rebellious Smith regime in that country.

Excited, Who's Excited?

Councillor John Mascotte of Geraldton wants the council to pass a bylaw regulating the clothing which women may wear in public within the bounds of Geraldton.

Mascotte, who is 54, says "shameful immodesty among many of our females is beginning to excite the opposite sex."

Beginning? The man is 54. Where has he been all these years?

As Joe Penner used to shriek on the radio — and, boy, does that date us — "Excited? Who's excited? I'm not excited. . ."

Claret is the liquor for boys; port for men; but he who aspires to be a hero must drink brandy. — Samuel Johnson.

Want Tests Compulsory

VANCOUVER PROVINCE

The Canadian Bar Association will urge the federal justice department to make compulsory breathalyser tests of motorists who are involved in accidents after drinking liquor.

Some delegates at the association's recent convention questioned the plan as a violation of individual liberty. Such opposition is to be expected. But is it logical?

Fortunately for the cause of highway safety, most drivers and lawyers didn't think so. "We live in a society, not a jungle," they said. "Let us make a law." highway safety, most delegate ing driver. A radar test is not 100 percent accurate, but it is a practical tool and that is what the breathalyser test is."

Opponents of compulsion speak, of course, of moving to-ward a "police state," if the authorities insist in making a suspect give evidence against himself, and of the invasion of his rights. They seem to overlook two important facts: That only irresponsible, dangerous drivers need fear the compulsory test-ing; that a man killed by an impaired motorist has lost his rights and liberties.

Judge Frank Newman of Perth in Prairie communities said that driving is not an inherent right but a privilege. People suffering from physical defects are either prohibited from driving or forced to undergo special tests, he said; why should a driver who deliberately impairs himself with liquor not be ruled off the road?

It is a strong point. Surely anyone careless or stupid enough to send a ton or two of lethal metal hurtling down a highway with his ability affected by alcohol deserves to forfeit his driving privilege.

Certainly personal liberty is worth fighting for — but only when it does not become a means to infringe on the liberty of others. And death is a powerful infringement.

Compulsory breathalyzer testing has been used extensive-ly in several European countries and it has clearly reduced traffic deaths and injuries. That alone should justify at least a trial in Canada.

Faith Is Vindicated

Toronto Telegram

The Ontario Housing Corporation has been teaching Metro Toronto citizens that people are not what they seem.

Last summer when it bought apartments in Etobicoke for subsidized tenants, the anti-subsidized neighbors organized a protest march to the township council.

The protest was echoed in Scarboro where anxious residents envisaged an invasion of low-income families who would turn their neat neighborhood into a slum.

Prophets of doom around Metro Toronto were predicting the wholesale abandonment of neighborhoods wherever the OHC would take over.

But after months of subsidized and non-subsidized tenants living side by side, the prophets have been proved bad. Complaints have been few. Most of the original residents have stayed on.

Yet the lesson doesn't seem to have seeped through to some of the residents of Flemingdon Park who are complaining about the OHC's acquisition of a section of town houses for low-income families.

Again the refrain is heard: "Our paradise will go down the drain."

Why is it that people who occupy what they consider to be a privileged position are afraid to believe that their good fortune has shown that the truth is usually in the opposite direction — the lowly are raised to a higher level.

The spread of civilization proves this. The Greeks despised the barbarians as an inferior breed. Then Alexander the Great conquered the barbarians and brought Greek and non-Greek cultures into contact.

It was discovered that the so-called barbarians could learn everything the Greeks had to teach; within a short time the centre of the world's culture was shifted from Athens to Alexandria.

If it were true that the prejudices of the underprivileged customarily pulls the privileged down, democracy would never have gotten off the ground.

Whole classes of population, long despised, would have remained in degradation. Democracy is an amazing venture.of faith in human nature and in the power of the most lowly to achieve intelligence, self-mastery and the co-operative spirit.

We are all to prone to believe that we can live in a kind of isolated conceit with barriers protecting us from people not our kind It's a vain belief.

We are all bound together, rich and poor, learned and ignorant, good and bad, sick and well, in one bundle of life.

Every day our intermeshing relationships grow more intimate and inescapable. That's one of the great world outside; it's even more true of a city neighborhood.

All ill will and devastating poverty are now a peril Everyone. We had better begin thinking along these lines or we are lost.

Impossible and may be viewed by

These are high - minded certain Metro Toronto residents as impossibly idealistic. Inapplicable to the practical business of keeping a neighborhood from getting rancid at the seams.

But whether it's idealistic or sentimental, the OHC must stick on this principle other-wise slums will be with us always. And a slum anywhere in Metro Toronto affects us all.

Pioneering In Soft Loans

Financial Post

Critics of Canada's foreign aid programs invariably dwell on volume. We stand only ninth among giving nations or we are miserly in terms of our wealth, they say.

What is missed in all this however, is the nation's really major contribution to world foreign aid. We are pioneering in the so-called soft-loan business.

Canada in 1964-65 became the first country to introduce the no-interest, 50-year repayment loan with a 10-year grace period.

Double Double Toil and Trouble!

Stratford Beacon-Herald

It may come as a shock to those of us who are, well, more relaxed (would you believe lazy?), but it seems there are men whose chief worry is that there isn't enough time in 24 hours for them to work as hard as they want to work.

So they are resorting to all sorts of tricks to eliminate wasted minutes.

The Wall Street Journal has made an exhaustive study of these inexhaustible executives. And the things they think of!

One young tycoon, for example, found that visitors to his office tended to admire some fine paintings which adorned the wall. Their comments and his replies consumed precious moments that could have been devoted to hard business. So his office is now a barren of art as a cell in the county jail—perhaps even barrener, if the county prisoner has a flair for earthy sketches.

Another hustler has a telephone and a secretary in his car. On his way to appointments he dictates and phones, phones and dictates. When he gets there, the secretary scrounges a spare typewriter and transcribes the mobile musings of her boss.

Another resourceful executive has eliminated the lost moment which sometimes creeps in when a busy businessman is travelling by air. This tireless hustler grabs the first seat behind the cockpit, too close to the movie screen for anyone to see.

This keeps away the drones who want to flitter away their time and their careers by watching the in-flight movie. For they don't sit by our window, and perhaps distract him with silly conversation.

You wonder how far this passion for production can go. Will the day come when Harry Truman's work realizes that his family is cutting into his creative output by saying hello to him when he gets home, and solves the problem by bolting into his study and having his dinner sent in?

Such dedication to duty is admirable, but how about the guy's health?

Anyone that energetic undoubtedly believes that hard work never killed anybody.

Maybe not. But we sluggards like to believe that it can keep a man from really living.

We Miss Her

So much fun was made of the old-fashioned back seat driver that she has now almost disappeared, which may explain the rise in traffic accidents.

Aqua Eggs Favored

Christian Science Monitor

At the present moment shoppers appear far more concerned about the prices tag on the egg carton than about the aesthetic appeal of the container. But it may not always be so. Consumer Univerity Experiment Station in fact prepar-ing for more artistic days ahead when the discriminating supermarket shopper will choose his eggs not only with a view to their cost and quality, but,with an eye to the color of their mounting.

Does the buyer prefer his eggs set in a container of pink, white, yellow or aqua? The experiment station recently set out to find the answer.

Its procedures were in the best experiment - station tradition. The study was made in a supermarket in central New York where buyers purchased an average of 1,200 dozen large eggs per week.

They were given equal opportunity to choose among containers of four colors: "White . . . color of egg shells, associated with purity; yellow, color of yolk, and of sunshine; pink, an appetizing color- and aqua, a mixture of blue . . . color of distinction, and of green, associated with nature. Prepare and go."

Aqua won, with pink a close second. This confirmed a similar study made by Cornell University 19 years ago which showed aqua the favorite.

Will the tinted trays cost more? Probably. The study does not say, but it notes that "harsh, unimaginative colors" are to be avoided, because carton manufacturers use whatever colors are most economical for their production practices.

Even with food prices rising there would no doubt be many customers who would pay a premium for aqua containers to store in their refrigerator.

But they should realize that an egg is still an egg, no fancier for its pretty bed. A date on the carton could be more reassuring.

Cold Meals Not Cause Of Man's Indigestion

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband refuses to be on time for his evening meal so he eats it when cold and hours after it has been prepared. He refuses to re-heat it.

Recently he has developed severe attacks of indigestion. (I must mention that he has a long history of indigestion.) I've read that food consumed hot or cold has the same nutritional value, and the only difference is psychological. Do you agree? Or do you think cold meals are a factor in his indigestion? — Mrs. R. N.

The nutritional value is the same, but warm food usually tastes better. That's the difference.

The cold meals are not causing indigestion. His drinking and the frequency of eating are more likely causes. Heavy and continued drinking takes its toll of the stomach, liver (hepatitis) and the liver (cirrhosis). And regularity of eating is important. Also, the possibility of heart disease as a cause of indigestion must not be too quickly dismissed.

If he wants to eat his dinner cold, that's up to him, but he should (1) have a regular schedule of meals; (2) control his drinking; (3) have an examination for any physical damage that may have resulted, with special emphasis on the three ailments I mentioned.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 35½ and have infectious mononucleosis. Please send me your pamphlet on it. I enclose the required 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope. Also:

1. How does a person know he is cured of mononucleosis?

2. Can he be cured and still tired?

3. Can you have it the rest of your life?

4 Can it possibly lead to leukemia?

5. If a person has it, would it be safe to go out for check or swimming? — Lawrence S.

1. Usually you just feel better gradually. If your doctor is in doubt, another blood test can be taken.

2. Yes, you can be cured, but still tired until you regain strength. In some cases, recovery from fatigue is a slow process.

3. No, you can't have it for life. Like a cold, it cures itself in time.

4. No, it cannot lead to leukemia.

5. It is not wise to get into sports until your doctor gives the word. This is to avoid relapse.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any relationship between lack of general vitality and wearing false teeth? I know several parents who are trying to get their sons to the barber by using this argument. — R. R. M.

I wish the young society would get haircuts, too, but I can't buy this argument. Sooner or later one of these long-haired young ones will turn out to have bad teeth and tonsils and Dad'll — and there goes the argument!

Dear Dr. Molner: I read that the polio vaccine used in sugar cubes was tested on lab animals and nearly 100 per cent free of developed cancer. Does this mean that millions of children are in danger of cancer? Can anything be done now to reduce the danger? — Mrs. D. J.

All that needs to be done is stop circulating such completely untrue information. If there were the slightest truth don't you suppose the Food and Drug Administration would have stopped the use long ago? Of course. There is no truth in the rumor you read.

Strictly Personal

Should Play Seriously

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"I enjoy playing," said the woman across the bridge table; "but I just can't take a game of cards seriously."

Yet the same woman would be the first to get mad if her money back if she went to a play, and the actress gave a sloppy, half-hearted performance because she enjoyed acting but couldn't take it seriously.

There are two ways to be serious about anything; one is the right way and the other is the wrong way. The woman across the bridge table, and others like her, often fail to distinguish between the two.

I happen to be a "serious" player myself, and I do not only enjoy the game but have respect for it and for those I am playing with or against. I try to play my best — which isn't very good — at all times, and I do not excuse the attention it deserves. Holding up a game to chatter homely on a table of eternal topics seems to me as rude as shouting above the actors on a stage.

There is, of course, a wrong way to be serious about bridge — or about any other pastime. It is the wrong way because it is a game and making it a matter of life and death, a grim clash of personalities, is a vehicle for getting rid of one's anger and frustrations.

People who use bridge, or any game, as a bitter outlet for their failures in other areas of life are disgusting and pathetic, just as they are usually distasteful people. They are not "serious" about the game; they are dead-ly.

But our rightful aversion to this kind of player does not excuse the opposite kind. If it is wrong to use a game to work off your hostile unconsciously, it is equally wrong to use other players for your petty purposes of conversation or flirtation without amusing or illuminating.

Being "serious" about any activity means giving it the proper amount of devotion and concentration — but not more than it should bear or less than it deserves. Golf is a game that is an exercise in proportion, or it loses its whole rationale for being.

The baseball player who is too lazy to run for fliss is as much a spoil-sport as the slugger who spikes his opponents when sliding into a base. Taking a game with the right amount of merriness, ousness is the only way to get the maximum fun out of it. All games are spoiled if we allow us to regress healthily to a state of childhood; and they are bad when we allow us to let it relax enough, or when the child in us utterly takes over. More adults, alas, know how to play in the right way than how to play in the right way.

Fear Two Men Rowing Ocean Lost as Upturned Boat Seen

LONDON (Reuters) — An upturned boat, believed to be the Puffin in which two British newspaper men set out to row the Atlantic, is in an area covered by American or Canadian aircraft, a British defence ministry spokesman said today.

The 15-foot Puffin, carrying David Johnston, 34, and John Hearn, 29, left the Virginia coast May 31 and was last seen 47 days ago.

The upturned boat, said to be about 20 feet long and painted red and white, was sighted by the master of the 12,381-ton passenger liner, Ocean Monarch, about half way between Newfoundland and Portugal.

The defence ministry spokesman said this is out of range of RAF Shackleton aircraft, which would not therefore search for the upturned boat. But aircraft on normal Atlantic patrols or training flights would still keep a lookout.

Tuesday night, Colin Mudie, the boat's designer, said the upturned boat was extremely likely to be the Puffin. He feared it had been caught in the path of Hurricane Faith.

CLC Drives Against Injunctions

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP)—A fresh demand for a militant campaign against the use of court injunctions in labor disputes welled up Tuesday at a Canadian Labor Congress conference on labor laws.

After a day - long discussion, during which they were warned that the job may be monopolized, the meeting of 125 union leaders agreed unanimously that a drive should be mounted to abolish injunctions.

This echoed a resolution adopted at the CLC's convention in Winnipeg last April calling for a "strong and militant campaign" to eliminate injunctions from the labor scene.

Court injunctions are sought by employers to limit pickets on strike lines and outlaw mass demonstrations. Unions contend they are being used too often against peaceful picketing and have become an interference with the civil rights of workers rather than a protection against violence.

John Osler, a Toronto labor lawyer, told the conference that the abolition of injunctions may be a political impossibility, at least in the foreseeable future. But it should be possible to obtain modifications in the law that would answer most of the legitimate complaints that unions now have against injunctions.

OFFERS SUGGESTION

He suggested that the CLC seek legislative changes that would enshrine in law the right of unions to picket and to set numbers "in the absence of any unlawful acts" and a declaration by statute that employers should have the right to hire replacements for striking workers.

In the U.S. it is extremely difficult for an employer to obtain an injunction against picket line activity. Canadian unions should seek similar protection in provincial and federal laws governing industrial relations.

Later, the conference split into four study groups. When these reported back to an open session, there was unanimous agreement that the CLC should attempt to obtain the elimination of injunctions in labor disputes.

Mr. Osler said later he did not want to discourage the CLC from a drive against injunctions but had sought to point out some more practical measures that could be adopted.

Hastings County Farm News Letter

From Dept. of Agriculture, Stirling

This Sunday, October 2, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Country Calendar Show will feature Hastings County in "The Changing Cheese Factory". The show will be on between 4.30 to 5.00 p.m.

The story was filmed in September and includes shots of several cheese factories in Hastings County. Interviews were filmed with individuals connected with the dairy industry, including the producer, factory operators, both private and co - operatives, and quality fieldmen.

Also on this program will be a short item on farmer-hunter relations.

There have been an increased number of requests for slow moving vehicle signs at the Stirling office. The supply now been renewed on a limited basis to take care of accumulated requests and to allow for a few extras. Persons wanting the signs for farm machinery should place their order immediately and efforts will be made to ensure that the order is filled promptly. These signs are made available through the Hastings County Farm Safety Council.

Another item which the Safety Council is investigating is the "Safety Belt" sometimes called the 'Hard Hat'. These are most useful when working around farm machinery or any type of construction work on the farm. As soon as details are available the information will be publicized.

WRONG NUMBER

A considerable number of people telephone the Stirling office and claim they cannot get an answer when they make the following error. When dialing down, it is found the trouble usually is that in looking up the number in a hurry people look under the Canada Department of Agriculture, and this is the Experimental Field Station. The Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Stirling, is listed in the telephone book under Ontario Government. The number is "Stirling, 395-3393". County is 613.

Madoc Fair on October 3, 1966, will again feature a growing 4-H Livestock program. This is the second year for Madoc as a Class 'B' Fair. And it is a natural situation for the 4-H Clubs in the county to meet in a county show. The program for 1966 has been revised to enlarge the show. There will likely be about one hundred calves in the competition, plus another 100 or more lambs entering. It is from the Madoc Fair that selections are made to represent the county at the Ottawa Winter Fair.

PROPER CORN SHELLING

The last two or three years has seen a surge of interest in the production of corn in the Quinte area and in Hastings County in particular. In spite of the weather conditions some excellent crops were harvested in 1966 as well as some rather poor crops. There are two keys which have to be used to be followed or used and they involve fertility and weed control. Both are of great importance in difficult weather condition years. The interest in corn is for both silage and grain. The husband information oh production is to be constantly developed to make sure that all factors are properly understood. For example shelling corn is in itself a point to be considered.

MORE

Damaged shelled corn costs money in a number of ways. It reduces the amount of saleable corn, also reduces the time the corn can be held before drying, and the effectiveness of a crop drier. All of these factors cut down the net return from the corn crop. When damaged corn is removed to keep up the grade, gross yield is cut down, and this reduces gross income. If there is damaged corn, the holding time allowed before drying must be cut down to prevent mold and fungi growth.

For example, the United States Department of Agriculture at Ames, Iowa, conducted laboratory tests on both hand-shelled and field -shelled corn. Both lots had a moisture content of 25%. Researchers noted that the hand-shelled corn had an average of only 2% mechanical damage (ruptured kernels or cracked seed coats, whereas the field-shelled corn averaged over 20% mechanical damage.

They also found that, in order to produce at least No. 2 Grade corn, the hand - shelled - and - shelled lot could be held for 740 hours at 50 degrees F., but the field-shelled lot could only be held 215 hours at the same temperature. However, if the corn with a high percentage of mechanical damage is to be dried, the drying must be able to take more at a time, or harvesting must go on longer.

Kernel fragments and any other "fines" in the corn make the crop drier less effective. If the spaces between the kernels are filled, air cannot flow through and more drying time is needed. Why some may also be left in the corn if the "fines" are not distributed evenly.

The amount of kernel damage depends to a great extent on how the field-shelling unit is adjusted. A number of field shellers in Kent County were checked last year. The kernel damage varied from 4.5 to 25%, with an average of 10% when shelling corn with 25% moisture.

Manufacturer's directions should be followed carefully when adjusting the sheller initially. However, if kernel damage is high, some causes might be: (1) cylinder speed is too fast, (2) there are too many cylinder or concave bars, (3) cylinder to concave clearance is too small, or (4) kernel moisture is too high.

Reducing the amount of damaged shelled corn can put extra dollars in farmers' pockets, and knowing how to adjust the field sheller is the way to do it.

No Indication Blaze Started By Firebug

Fire Chief Duane Foshay of Picton said today that unofficial estimates of damage in the Main Street fire in Picton on Tuesday are in the $45,000 to $60,000 range.

He said no official estimate is available yet but insurance adjusters have been surveying the damage since yesterday.

The fire gutted apartments above four stores, Inrigs Drugs, Staffords Meats, Clark and Lewis Hardware and a vacant store.

Fire started in a pile of rubbish at the rear of the vacant store.

Chief Foshay reiterated again today that there is no indication the fire was started by a firebug.

cent increase over the same period of time.

But Mr. O'Sullivan said that "the minority report was original by the majority report, agreed to by the chairman and the union nominee."

REVERSED REPORTS

The board chairman, Judge H. W. Arthur of Brantford, Ont., had later reversed the two reports without consulting the union representatives.

The union's original demand, made last November, had been for a $5-per-week increase in a two-year contract.

Before the dispute was submitted to conciliation, nine of 17 points had been settled by negotiation. Outstanding clauses in the contract covered wages, job security and a union demand for a $350-a-year bonus to part-time employees.

The technicians now are paid according to three salary scales, the first, which applies to 75 per cent of the employees, rises to $130 from $70 a week. The second, which applies to 20 per cent, rises to $95 from $80 a week. The third is a merit scale which varies between $138 and $160.

Mr. O'Sullivan said the average increase is $5.60 a year which rises to some $5,800 after overtime and various benefits.

WOULD AIR TAPES

Should the strike be declared, television operation would be continued by supervisors who are not members of NABET and who would be able to get filmed and taped programs on the air, the CBC spokesman in Toronto said.

The service disruption would affect such programs as the national news.

'Staff Revolt' At Hospitals Said Imminent

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government was warned Tuesday by the Civil Service Association that it faces a general staff revolt at 20 government hospitals unless there are improvements in working conditions.

Harold Bowen, general manager of the association, said in a brief to provincial Treasurer James Allen that all control may be lost over 5,000 hospital aides and attendants unless the government comes up with the increases.

The letter said the workers feel they have been betrayed by the governments Civil Service Commission and walkouts are being considered.

He said action could range from mass resignations by 30,000 CSA members to "sick strikes" crippling the entire system of mental hospitals and child care centres.

Attendants now are paid a basic $3,400 and a minimum of $4,050 after two years' training and exams and up to $4,400 after three years.

About half of the aides and attendants at North Bay hospital walked off sick-call in June to demands for $1,500 across-the-board wage increases. Staff at other hospitals have indicated they will take similar action.

Papal Mission Demies Report From Vatican

SAIGON (AP)—A special papal mission arrived in Saigon today but its leader denied reports from the Vatican that it was seeking to advance Pope Paul's search for peace in Vietnam.

Archbishop Sergio Pignedoli, the apostolic delegate to Canada and head of the mission, expressed surprise at the large number of reporters who met him at Saigon Airport.

Vatican sources said Tuesday that the mission would gather information for the Pope's peace campaign and try to ease the tension between the Buddhist majority and the Roman Catholic minority in Viet Nam as well as study other problems of the church in Viet Nam.

Archbishop Pignedoli told reporters: "This is merely one of a series of meetings being held in capitals around the world so that bishops can be personally informed of the findings of the Vatican council.

"I will be attending a similar meeting in Canada from Oct. 10 to 15.

"Our mission in Viet Nam is purely a religious one. We bring the friendship and love from our Pope to the bishop and people of Viet Nam."

Asked if he would try to promote peace in Viet Nam, the archbishop said in English: "We all pray for peace, but that is not the purpose of my mission here."

He said also that he had no plans to look into problems between the Catholic church and the Buddhists in Viet Nam.

Right People Do Not Seem to Be Listening To Canadian Folk Songs

OTTAWA (CP) — LaRena Clark sings only Canadian folk-songs and sometimes she wonders if anyone can hear her. It's not her voice, a strong contralto with Ottawa Valley Irish overtones. The problem is, the right people don't seem to be listening.

"I don't understand it," says the 48-year-old brunette. "The centennial commission is supposed to have had trouble finding Canadian songs for its memorial song book. My husband and I have collected and written about 200 songs on seven trips across the country. There's no shortage of music but people don't seem to be interested in Canadian folk-songs."

She says a Canadian firm has brought out four records of "Canadian" songs for 1967 including such favorites as Blowin' in the Wind, written by Bob Dylan of New York, and Waltzing Matilda, practically an additional anthem of Australia.

Her own record, featuring songs passed down through her family's nine generations in Canada, was recorded with a British company after five Canadian firms turned it down. The long-playing record, A Canadian Garland, was called "as fine a collection as I have heard" by folk-singer Sylvia Tyson of the team of Ian and Sylvia.

Mrs. Clark's performances, at the Mariposa Festival and local folk gatherings, are voice only. She has a guitar but doesn't use it. She has been commended for her perfect pitch and diction.

MIXED BACKGROUND

Her French ancestors came to New Brunswick in the 1760s and moved up through Ontario to the northern part, where her grandfather and father were hunters and guides.

One of her songs records a family story about an early settler ancestor who courted an Indian maiden he met while working on Philemon Wright's farm. The Wrights were among the first families to settle along the Ottawa River.

Many of Mrs. Clark's songs come from her French, English, Irish, Pennsylvania Dutch and Canadian Indian family trees. Since her marriage in 1947 to Gordon Clark, manager of an Ottawa car dealership, the couple have combined in tracking down and recording Canadian folk-music.

Their small apartment is an old section of Ottawa's western sprawl is crammed with books of music, a big tape recorder and tapes of their collection. Taking up most of the tiny porch is a model of a pioneer farm with barns, silo, log cabin and covered wagon. They made them themselves and it goes with them to their performances for historical societies in valley towns.

BRITAIN BUYS MOST

Britain is still Canada's best wheat customer, buying 80,000,000 to 90,000,000 bushels every year.

REV. BOWEN SQUIRE, assisted by Mrs. J. Moric, hangs his painting of explorer Samuel Champlain surveying the Bay of Quinte from Mount Pelion in Trenton. The Squire exhibit of paintings of historical subjects opens Thursday afternoon at the Corby Library.

Historical Painting Exhibit Opens at Corby Library

An exhibition of historical paintings by Rev. Bowen Squire of Trenton opens tomorrow at Corby Library. Mr. Squire has also arranged a display of some of the Indian artifacts he unearthed at the site of the ancient Indian Village of Kanata on the north shores of Consecon Lake.

The 80 portraits, landscapes, abstracts and historical paintings on display were painted by Mr. Squire between 1818 and 1968. They include six paintings which will be reproduced in the Hastings County History to be published next year. These paintings were lent for the exhibition by Hastings County Historical Society, which is co - operating in sponsoring the event.

The artist is noted for the wealth of historical detail he portrays, the result of meticulous research. He says he inherited his love of painting and historical subjects from his father, an artist, and from a maternal ancestor, George Catlin, the famous 19th century painter of Indians.

NOTED ARCHEOLOGIST

Mr. Squire is himself a noted archeologist and student of Indian lore, who discovered the site of an Indian village on the Consecon farm he bought following his retirement from the Baptist ministry in 1962. Examples of ceremonial ornaments, implements, and pottery from his Squire collection will also be exhibited with the paintings, and later will go on display for the winter at Hastings County Museum.

Squire canvasses depicting primitive Indian life and pioneer scenes are currently hanging in museums in Kingston, Adolphustown, Detroit and Belleville. Several will be reproduced next year on centennial calendars.

The exhibition will be opened officially Thursday at 4.00 p.m. by Lieut. - Col. Louis Flynn, president of Kingston Historical Society. It will continue, excluding Sunday and Wednesday, until October 8. A draw will take place on the final day for an original Squire painting.

Woman Crack Deer Hunter

MECHANICSVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—A pistol-packing mama who is a crack deer hunter is constable of the town of Half Moon near here.

Mrs. Betty Flood, 41, who has held the job for 12 years, says she can do about anything a man can.

"I can shoot a rifle or pistol and I can box—I got a broken nose once."

Most of the time the job is that "of a glorified dog-catcher," she says, but occasionally there's some excitement.

Like the time she stalked an escapee from a state mental institution, or the time she flushed the driver of a stolen truck that had overturned.

"Stop, I am an officer of the law," she yelled.

The driver, she said, was so bewildered he jumped into a creek. She rescued him.

A lover of animals, Mrs. Flood has a menagerie now winnowed down to three raccoons, four dogs, seven horses, some Angus cattle and a white mouse.

She boasts that she has killed 21 deer in the last 18 years of hunting.

"I'm two up on my husband," she says proudly.

Mrs. Flood took over the constable job from her husband, Harry, whose father also was the town constable. They have two sons, 16 and 12.

Canadian Contralto Makes Successful Opera Debut

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadian contralto Maureen Forrester made her U.S. opera debut Tuesday night singing the role of Dorabella in a stunning production of Handel's Giulio Cesare at the New York State Theatre at Lincoln Center.

The opera, marking the opening of the fall season of the New York City Opera Company for the first time in many years a large-scale baroque opera received a full-scale operatic treatment in New York.

Harold C. Schonberg of the New York Times wrote that Miss Forrester "sang with the big, creamy voice expected of her. She combined fine singing and the stylized type of movement was perfect for her."

Previously, Miss Forrester, 36-year-old Toronto-born raised in Montreal, had devoted her singing talent to the concert stage, where she had achieved phenomenal success. Last year she gave 70 recitals, with a minimum fee of $2,000.

Miss Forrester is the wife of violinist - conductor Eugene Kash. They have five children ranging in ages from five to 11.

EXERTED A SPELL

Schonberg writes that it did not take long for the audience to warm up to Giulio Cesare as the music and production exerted a spell by the time the first act was over.

Everything was different from opera as matinee stereotyped. Instead of plot, there was, in effect, a series of tableaux. Instead of acting, there was curiously stylized type of balletic movement from each of the singers.

Everything was in slow motion. The idea was to resurrect the feeling of Handel opera as it was done in the 18th century. Singers in those days did not act. They came to the footlights, struck an attitude and delivered themselves of the astounding vocal feats characteristic of the day. Thio Cepobianco, who devised and directed the production, must have spent months with the cast, teaching them how to move and gesture.

"In Handel opera," the song, the voice are the thing. On the whole, Schonberg writes, the City Opera cast rose nobly to the occasion. Beverly Sills as Cleopatra had a triumph, singing with "melting tone and complete artistry."

In the title role, Norman Treigle sang intelligently and acted splendidly, Schonberg says. And the sets of Ming Cho Lee and the costumes by Jose Verona were well done.

Bringing Up Baby

NOTES COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GEORGE, MOTHER OF 5

Mothers, by the very fact that they are with baby all day long, sometime get a priority on the little one's affection. That's why it's a good idea to encourage dad to share in the fun and feeling of baby care. By feeding, bathing and playing with his heir or heiress, dad's bound to get his quota of love. You might even tell him that baby will throw on the stunning! won't care a whit if he fumbles a bit.

Flavour surprises supreme! Gerber Banana Oatmeal, Mixed Cereal and Rice Cereal, all with Applesauce and Bananas. The cereal is cooked with the fruit for subtle flavours and the smoothest texture that ever made a baby summon up a smile. All four have added B-vitamins, thiamine (B1), riboflavin (B2)and niacin. In jars, ready to serve.

Other happy combination dishes: Gerber Strained Dinners . . . wonderful mixtures of vegetables, cereal and meat. Has baby tried vegetable with beef, lately? Delightful.

Marketing plan. If you have to take baby marketing with you, try to schedule your shopping tours after he's had a nap. A baby refreshed from sleep is less likely to be fussy . . . more apt to enjoy the outing.

Dietary plan. A good tasty baked accent fruits more readily than vegetables. But fruits should not consistently be substituted for vegetables because vegetables, generally speaking, have higher nutritive values. However, with eight Gerber vegetable varieties, you will find that baby will enjoy several or all.

Accepted with pleasure. Most babies take naturally to the natural goodness of Gerber Strained Vegetables. "Custom-cooked" (each scientist in its own requirements) to preserve true colours and garden-good flavours. From carrots to peas, squash to beans, each variety is specially prepared to bring out the best for your baby. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Bar Girls in Viet Nam Find It's Fast, Quick Life

A Vietnamese bar girl makes a lot of money by local standards but she is getting old at 25 and has little hope of marriage. The life of one such girl is described in this story by a Canadian Press reporter.

By DOUGLAS AMARON

SAIGON (CP) — Lee is a bar girl who may become a Vietnamese millionaire if she and the war last long enough.

A 25-year-old Chinese with a heart as big as a mini, she is No. 1 girl in a group of about 30 in the bar she frequents. She has made as much as $25 a night on drinks alone which is pretty good going at the 30-cents-a-drink she receives.

Anything under $10 is a bad night.

Some of her friends who have been in the business longer than Lee's seven months have already banked their first 1,000,000 piastres (about $8,300) and she should make it, before long.

One of a family of four, Lee lives in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon, with her father and mother, both of whom are in poor health and unable to work. Her two brothers are in the army and her sister is a war widow with three young sons and two daughters.

Lee's money from her night work in the bar and day work as a seamstress helps to support her sister's family as well as her parents.

SPEAK SOME ENGLISH

Bar girls are an accepted part of the society of Saigon. Most of them are prettier than average, slim as the chopsticks they learn you to use, dress well on the job, speak a smattering of English, form real attachments for men they see frequently and are extremely jealous.

Lee's bar is the social frequented by Westerners and her first night is made in the restaurant where any empty seat beside an unaccompanied man is her target.

"How you?" is the usual approach, followed by "Where you from?" "How long you stay?" An unusual pen, or watch or cigarette lighter, a book or magazine the man may be reading then are brought into the conversation.

By this time Lee usually has wheedled her first 110-piastre glass of Saigon tea, a non-alcoholic berth drink that the girls never finish. That means 35 piastres for Lee and 75 for the hotel.

If the man is receptive, he may be good for two or three drinks and later turn up in the bar where lights are so dim you can't recognize a face across a table and waiters use flashlights when serving drinks and collecting money.

"The blackout preserves the anonymity of the men who know, after their first visit, that as soon as they sit down there will be a girl in their lap or at least holding their hand. What progresses after that is up o the man and his pocketbook.

SHE KEEPS MOVING

As No. 1 girl, Lee rarely spends more than 10 minutes at a time with a man before moving on. She finds girls for men as they come in, sits with customers until their "regulars" are free, skips back and forth between bar and restaurant and frequently has three or four Saigon teas going at different tables at the same time.

Most of the girls develop short-lived but intense crushes on some man and frequently they break into tears if he fails to show up. There are near brawls if a girl tries to cut in on a "regular."

The girls work from 4 p.m. until bar closing at 11:30 p.m. seven nights a week. Two or three usually share a taxi home and their departure is always a rush because they have to beat a midnight curfew.

Most wear slacks or blouse and skirt to the hotel, then change into long brightly-colored high - neck native dresses or, in a few cases, tight-fitting Western dresses and mini-skirts.

They are reluctant to pose for pictures. One did once and a clipping came back from a United States newspaper. The girl was hurt that her occupation as a bar girl had been recorded in the press.

BUYS JEWELRY

At 25, Lee knows she hasn't much time to make her fortune. There are too many 18- and 19-year-olds waiting for a spot to open up. She buys good jewelry — bracelets, watches, necklaces, rings — and refuses to have anything engraved.

"I may have to sell some day," she says.

After seven months she is fed up with the nightly make-believe. She occasionally stay at the hotel. But she has little hope of marriage for herself. She has ruined the rich life and doesn't fancy the living standards of the only type of Vietnamese likely to ask for her hand.

"Maybe some day American marry me and take me to States," she says. "I cook, do housework, sew, anything for that."

Such things have happened and it is the dream of all the girls, but they all know it is just a dream and behind their smiles and their warmth is the dread of a future that for them holds little hope.

The Hamilton Branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club had a summer picnic at the home of treasurer Betty Keeling. Mary Moore (left) tips Betty's Continental Gateau for you to see it and gives you the recipe today. Laurie McLaughlin (right) and Hazel Mack are proud of the flower-bedecked fruit-filled watermelon shell.

A EUROPEAN TORTE DESSERT

Continental Gateau was the beautiful dessert that Betty Keeling made for the Press Club summer picnic at her home. It was quite a production for a career woman, who is a homemaker and mother and treasurer of the club.

Her newspaper photographer took a picture of it with some of us in the background. Characteristically I borrowed the recipe and have made it up twice, once using the lady fingers the recipe calls for and once using stale sponge cake for the benefit of the girls who cannot buy or make lady fingers.

CONTINENTAL GATEAU (a European party dessert):

NOTE:

This must be made 24 hours in advance and refrigerated.

2 oz. blanched almonds ground to a powder, preferably in your blender

1/3 cup hot milk

¼ lb. (½ cup) butter

4-oz. (½ eight-oz. package) cream cheese

1½ cups unsifted icing sugar

2 egg yolks

2 tsps. rum flavoring extract

2 five-oz. packages lady fingers (or equivalent in stale sponge cake cut into fingers)

2/3 cup cold milk

½ cup 32% cream - maraschino cherries for decorating top

Soak the ground almonds in the hot milk and let stand until cool. Beat together in a large bowl the butter, white cream cheese and icing sugar until smooth and creamy. Add egg yolks and rum extract and the nuts soaked in milk and mix well. Use a 6" cake tin that has either a spring side or removable bottom. Line with medium-sized Christmas cake tin). Butter and line it on bottom with a round of wax paper. Dip lady fingers (or sponge cake fingers) in the cold milk until barely soaked and line bottom of pan with them, touching. Reserve about 2 tbsps. of the creamed mixture for later. Spread lady fingers with ¼ of remaining creamed mixture. Repeat this layering 3 times until you have 4 layers of soaked lady fingers and 4 layers of creamed mixture. Cover with wax paper, weight down and chill overnight. In the morning remove gateau from pan and transfer to fancy cake plate. Trim remaining ...lady or sponge fingers to same depth as cake. Use remaining 3 tbsps. ...ed mixture to paste them to sides of cake, touching. In ... a picket fence. Whip cream until stiff and spread attractively over top.

Decorate top with red or green maraschino cherries, cut into halves or quarters. Chill thoroughly before serving. This will serve 10 . If you want to serve 20 double this recipe and use an angel food pan with removable bottom for shaping this gateau.

Trinidad Movie Seen By Field Naturalists

Members and guests of the Quinte Field Naturalists gathered at the Research Institute on Dundas Street West Monday evening to view a movie of Trinidad.

The speaker, Jim Bayly of Kingston, was introduced by Irwin Knight, who described him as a professional photographer and naturalist. He and a friend spent a holiday at a citrus plantation in Trinidad for the purpose of photographing birds.

Mr. Bayly said Trinidad is a small island about 50 miles long and about half that width, which lies just north of Venezuela in South America. Along the northern boundary there is a chain of mountains but inland there are three great marshy areas. The main crop is sugar cane, but cocoa and citrus fruits are also produced. The population is 50 per cent Negro, 45 per cent East Indian, with the balance English, American and Chinese.

400 BIRD SPECIES

Trinidad has about 400 species of birds and Mr. Bayly and his friend each identified about 150 during their three-week visit. The most colorful is the scarlett Ibis and the flamingo pher showed many shots of this huge red bird walking through the mud in search of food.

Many of the smaller birds are similar to Canadian species, but more brightly colored. While just one humming bird is native to this country, Trinidad boasts of several.

The speaker also described the people and customs of the island. The machete is the tool used for all purposes. The native holds a cocoanut in one hand and gayly whacks away until it falls apart and no one seems to be injured. The machete is also used to cut the grass on golf courses.

Mr. Bayly was thanked by Miss Gertrude Lazier and a social hour followed. The next meeting will be a "members night" on October 24.

WOMEN TAKE OVER

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The formerly small, private University of Western Ontario may have 14,000 students in 1974 and many of these will be girls. Registrar J. Keith Watson said the percentage of girls has gone up to 35 from 26 per cent 15 years ago. His predecessor as registrar was a woman.

Mini-Skirts Rare Site In Tunis

TUNIS (Reuters) — Mini-skirts, banned by 63-year-old President Bourguiba, now are a rare sight in the streets of Tunis.

Police patrols have been stopping girls and women with skirts worn too high above the knee and imposing on-the-spot fines of about $3.

Many restaurants and cafes have closed their doors to wearers of mini-skirts, and dressmakers are carefully measuring skirt-lengths after being accused by the president of being responsible for what he called "that devilish fashion."

Much the same is happening near Tunis at Sidi Bou Said, regarded as Tunisia's fashionable answer to New York's Greenwich Village, Montmartre in Paris and Chelsea in London.

Mini-skirts are still on sale in shops there, but they are being bought only by vacationing tourists.

Bourguiba's ban was also extended to Beatle-style haircuts and "morbid and degrading dances" originating in the swinging Western world.

A ye-ye orchestra which had been playing in a Tunis dancing club, closed on the president's orders, has moved to Sousse, a seaside resort about 100 miles from the capital.

Ann Landers

Battered Children Upset Grandmother

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our daughter lives in the next town and we visit her and her family one Sunday a month. They have two lovely children, a boy 7 and a girl 5.

On our last visit when I kissed the children hello, I noticed that both youngsters had badly bruised arms and legs. I didn't say anything but I bothered me terribly. At bedtime when I helped the little girl take off her dress I was shocked to see welts on her back and shoulders.

I took my daughter into the next room and asked, "What in God's name happened to these kids?"

ANN LANDERS

My daughter told me they deserved the severe whipping because they had been very naughty. She added, "Both Tom and I punish the children when they are bad so they know we stand together."

I told her I believed in discipline but that there is no justification for beating children until they are black and blue.

My daughter became very angry and warned me to keep my nose out of her business or I'd be welcome in her home once a year—at Christmas.

This is not the first time these children have been abused. I recall that when the little girl was three she spilled milk on the tablecloth. Her father took off his belt and beat her unmercifully. My husband and I couldn't stand the screaming and we left.

Ann, please tell me what to do. I'm very worried about these youngsters that I am a nervous wreck—CONNECTICUT.

DEAR CONNECTICUT — Dozens of children are brought into hospitals every week with broken arms, legs, jaws and fractured skulls. An alert physician can tell whether the child fell down the stairs (the usual explanation) or if he was battered by sadistic parents. In some areas parents who are found guilty of beating their child are sent to jail.

You best approach is to appeal to your daughter to get professional help for herself. Only a sick mother displays such brutality toward her children. If she refuses and the beatings continue, inform the school principal of the situation and enlist her help. She can keep her eye on them almost daily and you can't.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My boy friend treats me very nicely and I like him very much — except for one thing.

Whenever he takes me out to eat he picks out the most expensive restaurant in town. He always orders the most expensive things on the menu. He has a big car, dresses well and has a good job.

I have told him how much money he spent. For example, last week he bought me a corsage. When he pinned it on my dress he said, "I hope you like this corsage. It cost $5." The next night we went to a musical. When we got in our seats, he said, "I hope you like these seats. They cost $4. each". Then he passes me some candy that cost $1.50 in the lobby, and he said, "Tonight nothing but the 50 cent size."

He let me know he spent $12 on my birthday gift and the check for the dinner was $18. How can I let him know that I'd be happier if he didn't put a price on everything? — NO BOOKKEEPER.

DEAR NO BOOK — Tell Mr. Got Rocks that every time he quotes a price you are let down because it's only half as much as you thought he had paid. This should settle his hash.

* * *

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Successful Living

Says Complete Sex Education Essential

DEAR DORIS: To the woman who wondered if she should advise her children on the use of contraceptives, you replied, "The withholding of information could lead to disaster". Then you proceeded to say that knowledge of contraceptives would encourage immorality.

DORIS CLARK

Hopefully, no unmarried person would need to use the information, but in the case of someone unable to resist the temptation, anything is better than bearing illegitimately an innocent child.

My knowledge of contraceptives has never ever given me any desire to "go all the way". I have been taught that sex is an act of love best utilized after marriage. No parent can do more than set a good example and finish his child's education with methods of preventing conception. If the child "goes wrong" after this, he would have done so no matter what.

* * *

DEAR H.P.: Perhaps I did sound contradictory, although you've misquoted me a bit. What I meant was that I would not approve of a parent saying this sort of thing:

"Look, Mary, now that you are going out with boys, one of them may be asking you to go all the way with him. I do not think much of that idea but I do want you to be able to protect yourself. So here is how you do it without getting into trouble."

Wouldn't this be condoning such behavior?

In your case good parents have kept you informed as you went along. You know for sure that physical expression should be saved for marriage and understand what it can and should mean to a life. Fortunate you!

* * *

DEAR DORIS: Enclosed please find ten cents for the poem "I am fine, thank you". Also another ten cents for anyone who hasn't got that much just now, and yet would like this poem.

You may not believe it, but at the end of a month there are some of us who have not a dime left till Monday, and would like to attend church next Sunday, but dare not because we have nothing to put on the collection plate.

Too proud? Yes, of course; we pensioners are proud Canadians, though perhaps a little short financially. Please let me have that poem, for I love to know that I am not alone, and thank you for understanding all kinds of people.—JOHN.

* * *

DEAR JOHN: Bless you; I'll be watching for a request for the poem which has no dime enclosed. We do tend to forget about those who are penny-short and pound in a land of plenty.

* * *

DEAR DORIS: I am 20 years old and deeply in love with a man 22. I have been going steadily with him since last January and he really gave me the impression he was very interested in me.

The other night I saw him with another girl. Please excuse the expression, but I almost dropped. I would like to know what to do with a guy who likes you one minute and acts like you don't exist the next.—CONFUSED.

* * *

DEAR CONFUSED: Well, it could have been his sister. But he hasn't popped the question yet!

Better keep your dreams under control. Make it known that you still feel free to accept other dates—and notice what he says to that.

* * *

(Are you in doubt about the proper etiquette to use for your special occasion? Ask Doris, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for her reply.)

The Experts Say

Handwriting Should Be Taught From Grade One Through High School

OTTAWA (CP)—Poor handwriting can do more than muddle a grocery list; it drives your pen-pals to dementia praecox. In business it can foul up deliveries and wreak havoc in computer programming.

That's why Mrs. F. D. Richardson, president and co-founder of the International Association of Master Penmen and Teachers of Handwriting, says writing should be taught non-stop from Grade 1 through high school.

A slim brown-haired former high school penmanship teacher, she writes a flowing legible 35 words a minute and can keep it up "for hours."

The average student writes a cramped laborious 10 words a minute. "And with the increased curriculum load, fast legible writing is even more important for students."

TEACHES TEACHERS

Mrs. Richardson, 52, a member of the Ottawa public school board, teaches teachers how to write at the Ontario College of Education in the summer. Because they are used to controlling the pen with the fingers instead of with the arm muscles, they find her method awkward at first.

"It takes about two weeks to get used to it, but with practice it becomes automatic. It has to—you can't think about how you're going to form a letter every time you sit down to write."

If your child is a poor writer, don't let him grab the pen in a death grip, or press hard on the paper. This tires the muscles. Make sure he has his whole forearm on the desk as he writes.

The best pen for practice is a straight finger-fitted holder with a steel nib. You can't press too hard, or the nib sticks in the paper.

The secret of writing tirelessly is not moving the fingers. They are used only to hold the pen. The arm muscles do the work.

The left hand moves the paper so that the writing hand is always in the best position —a spot the size of a silver-dollar directly in front of the centre of the body. Only the fourth and fifth fingernails of the writing hand should touch the paper. The writing action comes from the muscles of the forearm, resting on the desk.

Printing, which most children are taught first, is pretty much a waste of time, Mrs. Richardson says. It is based on circles and involves a jerky chalk-at-top technique. This may cause problems when the child is forced to switch to writing's ovals and smooth think - fast, think-act process.

And the child who doesn't learn to write properly has a problem which will dog him through life.

Mrs. Richardson has the surveys to show that most typed business work is based on a handwritten rough draft.

"No matter what you do, you're going to have to write. Everyone carries a pencil these days."

Red Cross Branch Wants Help in Sewing

The regular meeting of the Belleville Red Cross Society was held in the Red Cross rooms with Mr. A. S. Lewis in charge.

It was reported that the women's work rooms are now open for sewing on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. It was pointed out that more sewers are needed. A request has been received from the Ontario Division for tropical layettes and clothing.

The committee is also at work in knitting afghans. A request is now being made to provide some of the wool needed. Nearly every household has some spare wool from other projects that could be used. The quantity does not need to be large.

A donation of wool may be left at the Red Cross rooms at Bridge and Cedar Streets or to Mrs. Graham, Sr., chairman of Women's Work.

An excellent report on the water safety program was given by Mr. Murray Workman.

This report was for swimming classes and awards earned this summer in Campbellford, Cherry Valley and Belleville areas. There were 4% attending these classes and 479 awards were made. These awards were given to beginners, juniors, intermediates and seniors.

There will be a winter program at the Tops Motor pool for adults as well as children. These courses will be held three hours on Friday evenings and three hours on Saturday mornings.

The Quinte Kiwanis and Belleville Recreation Commission will be sponsoring this program with an expected attendance of 300.

At the end of August Mrs. Ketcheson reported that 17 Homemakers had been employed on 170 cases caring for 327 children and 42 senior citizens.

Attention had also been given to requests for food, shoes, bedding and children needing glasses. A request was made for volunteer canvassers and workers for the Belleville United Appeal. Mr. Thompson reported that the program for senior citizens is now under way.

Mrs. Fletcher who has conducted the Home Nursing classes stated that she would be unable to carry on this work. A teacher for the class will be made available.

The next blood donor clinic will be held on, October 20.

U.C.W. Meetings

COLLEGE HILL U.C.W.

The afternoon unit of College Hill U.C.W. met in the church parlor recently for the September meeting, the first of the season. Attendance was down slightly due to illness.

Mrs. Nellie Greenwood leader of the unit opened the meeting and read an appropriate poem, after which she welcomed the members back after a summer of activities and relaxation.

The devotional period was in charge of Kay Dowling, Nina Neal and Annie Dickens. In the absence of Leona Bailey who is ill, Margaret Vessey introduced the new study books for the year based on the theme "The Church Grows in Canada".

Nina Neal who is in charge of all catering for the church, thanked everyone who gave of their time during the summer months who helped with the many catering duties. The members of both units were asked to cater for an afternoon and evening entertainment to mark the occasion of the 50th anniversary of a member Nina Walker and her husband Frank Walker.

An interesting contest was conducted by Eleanor Brown and the winner was Nellie Greenwood.

The committee in charge with Ruby Waite as convener served refreshments and a social hour followed.

Family Planning Begins To Catch on in Pakistan

KARACHI (CP) — Family planning is beginning to catch on in Pakistan, where some 33,000,000 "conventional" contraceptives have been sold in just one year of a campaign to educate a largely-illiterate population in their use.

Expected resistance on religious grounds does not seem to have materialized. Where it does, it may have served to attract attention where ordinary advertising failed.

Health Minister Kazi Anwarul Haque gleefully related it's at when some family planning clinics were first set up they were little noticed despite advertisements and billboards.

But later, when "organized opposition" to them showed up from religious extremists among the largely Moslem population, people suddenly became aware of the clinics and "began to use them more and more."

Now family planning workers are telling how village women by the hundreds are flocking to the clinics, asking to be fitted with the "loop." The plastic loops are intra-uterine devices inserted into the uterus under sterile conditions.

IGNORANCE IS OBSTACLE

The major obstacle the planners of the crash drive have had to overcome is the widespread illiteracy. The literacy level in Pakistan is hardly 15 per cent. Therefore billboards, advertisements, pamphlets and other such promotional means are next to useless for the bulk of the people.

Alternatives were radio and films. But more than 80 per cent of Pakistan's 110,000,000 citizens live in rural areas. Anyone who has seen the mud huts of West Pakistan and the straw ones of East Pakistan realizes why radios are luxuries beyond the reach of most of the village folk.

As for films, the planners decided they simply did not have enough funds for this. Just a little more than 384,000,000 rupees (about $24,000,000) was all that could be spared out of the third five-year-plan funds for family planning.

At this meagre amount had to be spread over five years, against rising costs, films would be uneconomical.

NEEDS PERSONAL TOUCH

Moreover, officials found the details simply could not be put across to the unread folk except by personal contact and long explanations.

This was proved in an initial research campaign carried out in 32 villages near Comilla, East Pakistan, between 1961 and 1965. The research also indicated the right approach.

A small army of doctors and social workers was trained. They fanned out and in turn instructed groups of (largely illiterate) village midwives, who again spread out and did the real job of selling the idea to the 20,000,000 fertile women in the remote areas.

Walla the midwives were telling the women all about it, male workers talked discreetly to the husbands.

The peasant showed signs of grasping the fundamentals fairly fast. Meanwhile shops in the campaign areas were flooded with the "conventional" contraceptives. Foam tablets, oral pills and condoms were sold at subsidized prices, half the proceeds going to the selling agents.

Shyly at first the pills and condoms began to gain acceptance. People showed signs of resentment if social workers too overtly kept records of how much each couple was using in a month. Eventually the trend that emerged was that when the women got fed up with the "conventional" routine they trotted off to the nearest clinic to get themselves fitted with the loop once and for all. Besides, the pills and condoms have to be paid for. The loop is fixed free by the government clinics.

Family planning workers admit, however, that there are neither enough trained doctors and nurses nor sufficient funds to build full-time clinics to meet the increasing demand for the intra-uterine contraceptive devices.

A rough idea of how slowly things are moving because of lack of resources can be had from the figures for Karachi, Pakistan's largest city (3,200,000). In the first six months of the campaign only 9,146 were installed, against a total of about 400,000 fertile women.

But the workers feel encouraged enough to believe they will at least succeed in bringing the birthrate down from 50 per thousand to 40 per thousand—which is the modest aim of the present five-year campaign.

Association Plans Boycott Of Stores For Two Weeks

OTTAWA (CP)—Fed up with the high cost of food, an Ottawa area housewife plans to lead about 7,000 families in a two-week boycott of grocery stores.

They hope women across the country will follow their example in a drive to push food prices down.

Although it may mean a steady diet of canned beans and vitamins, the week-old Ottawa Consumer's Protest Association plans a boycott of supermarkets for two weeks in October.

The group hopes the action will force prices down. If nothing happens, Association President Mrs. Lawrence Wilson, 32, says members will boycott individual counters, such as meat or dairy products.

Mrs. Wilson started the association last week with a call to an open-line radio program.

"Does anyone care about the price of food?" she asked.

MANY REPLIED

About 300 people, mostly housewives, had phoned to say they cared by 10 o'clock that night. The next day she asked one of her callers to receive queries, too, and by the weekend a meeting was held to found the protest group, with Mrs. Wilson as president.

Radio and TV reports spread the news and support mounted. Between 6,000 and 8,000 people so far have indicated they will join the planned boycott, Mrs. Wilson said in an interview Tuesday.

"I never realized it would mushroom the way it did. It seems as a complete surprise to me."

The wife of an air force electronics technician, Mrs. Wilson is the mother of two boys, Morgan, 4, and Duncan, five months. Her husband, Dena Wilson, has lived on armed forces bases across Canada and in Europe.

ST. MARK'S W.A.

BONARLAW — After a two months' summer recess the fall session of St. Mark's W. A. Bonarlaw, opened with a pot-luck dinner and the regular meeting at the cottage of Mrs. Berton Woodlock, Oak Lake.

There were eight members, one visitor and two children present. Mrs. Barlow extended a welcome to all and thanked Mrs. Woodlock for her hospitality.

Mr. Stewart conducted the devotional exercises.

The treasurer reported that the new kitchen covering, paint and varnish had been applied.

The Dorcas secretary has received a good donation of materials from both Eaton's and Simpson-Sears and Mrs. Barlow has an acknowledgement of a much appreciated bale sent to Wabokies.

The church calendars will no longer be handed out at the Deanery annual, but will be given out at a later conference. There are to be workshops held, the first to be at St. John's Church, Stirling. The main subject of discussion was the Diocesan Deanery annual to be held on October 26 at St. Mark's Church, Bonarlaw. Mr. Stewart will make the arrangements re the display and the service and the W.A. will host the delegates and visitors.

Mrs. Woodlock introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Good, from the Stirling U.C.W. The keynote of her talk was "It is Good To Be Alive" her excellent paper was thoroughly enjoyed. After a most sincere thanks to Mrs. Good, from Mrs. Hlamb on behalf of the W.A., Mrs. Woodlock held coctiest. A light lunch was served and the meeting closed.

SHOPPERS PANIC

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A gun battle between police and two robbers at a busy business intersection in northwest Philadelphia Tuesday panicked hundreds of shoppers. One holdup man was shot and carried unconscious to hospital, a 19-year-old bystander was shot in the shoulder. Shoppers ran hysterically in all directions as police chased the two men about two blocks.

Help Wanted: Engineers Who Lived Around 1714

LOUISBOURG, N.S. (CP)—Help wanted: Two engineers.

Qualifications: Must have lived between 1714 and 1744.

During that period the two engineers worked on the old French fortress of Louisbourg and John Lunn, Louisbourg park superintendent, would dearly love to have their help today.

Since he doesn't expect a reply to his plea, place more than 200 years old must be consulted in the process of rebuilding the fortress and creating Canada's major historical park.

"It would be so much faster if we had Verville and Verrier here to tell us exactly what they did as engineers of this 18th century project, instead of us co - ordinating archeology and French architecture of that period with the improvisations made in the New World for one reason or another," says Mr. Lunn.

Plans used in the original construction have been brought to Canada after 200 years in the archives of Paris, London and Boston.

The idea of restoring Louisbourg dates from 1960 when a royal commission on the fishing industry recommended reconstruction as a means of providing employment and stimulating the tourist industry in an area of Cape Breton where mines were closing.

PLAN BIG PARK

In 1961, after careful study, the federal government implemented a plan to rebuild the fortress and develop about 20 square miles of surrounding land as the historical park.

Pierced plans call for completion of the initial project early in the 1970s at a cost of $12,000,000. This is only slightly more than the $10,000,000 it cost Louis XV to build the original fortress—although the sum was admittedly exorbitant for the 18th century.

Verville and Verrier took 25 years to build the fortress—and found they had their problems too.

One was the use of weak mortar that refused to set, crumbling within a year because of its seawater content. Dishonest contractors also sold much of the top quality, imported-from-France Caen stone to New England and substituted inferior local limestone.

Despite these early building weaknesses, Commodore Byron, grandfather of the poet, needed 345 powder charges to destroy the fortifications. The French harbor defences were destroyed in 1760 on direct orders from the English war minister, William Pitt.

In the next century much of the cut stone from Louisbourg was moved to Halifax and used in the construction of public buildings there. As a result, more of Louisbourg's quality stone pieces lie several hundred miles away than under the mounds of dirt at the fortress site.

A difficulty much easier to overcome is the conversion of pieds and pouces — units of measurement in the original plans—into feet and inches. A pied (foot) of those days works out to a little less than 13 modern-day inches and there are 13 pouces to a pied.

While the original construction was done largely by imported French stonecutters, the bouilding is by native talent. However, only 53 of the 150 unemployed coal miners recruited for the job remain. Some have returned to reopened mines and others have used their newly-acquired stone-cutting skills to get better-paying jobs.

Because of this, the primary purpose of the project has taken second place to the idea of providing a stimulus for the tourist industry. Early predictions called for 300,000 visitors a year by 1974 when the restoration is completed. But that figure was surpassed last year when 348,200 persons visited the site.

Visitors are given an information booklet at the museum centre, located inside the huge fortified town of Louisbourg, along with a paper explaining the difficulties that must be endured in visiting a national park under construction.

Mr. Lunn emphasizes that Fortress Louisbourg is not a centennial project but says he hopes it will be possible to visit Chateau St. Louis by 1967.

The Chateau was, and will be again, an impressive structure 200 feet long and 35 feet high that housed the governor, chapel, officers' quarters and soldiers' barracks.

FORTRESS RISES—The 18th century Fortress of Louisbourg rises again under a massive government reconstruction program. In the upper right-hand corner of the walled fortress is the partially-built replica of the Chateau St. Louis. The $12,000,000 project is expected to be completed in 1974. (CP Photo)

Federal-Guaranteed Loans To Students Now Common

By DENNIS ORCHARD

OTTAWA (CP) — Student loans approved by the provinces, dispersed by the banks and guaranteed by the federal government have become entrenched in the financial structure of higher education in less than we years.

Borrowing under the Canada Student Loans Act promises to climb to $100,000,000 by the most conservative estimates before it levels out. Last year, 47 per cent of university students outside Quebec obtained loans averaging between $300 and $400.

The federal government has not made clear whether its long - range intentions in the area of student aid are to replace the program or to expand on it with some form of bursaries, scholarships or both.

But any scheme now to replace the loans—which start out interest-free to the student, but eventually call on him for repayment—will cost a lot of money.

Provisions of the loan fund were changed just before adjournment of Parliament July 14, to cover the heavy demand being experienced by universities from coast to coast.

RISING YEARLY

With final figures still incomplete for the 1965-66 year, loans for full-time students beyond the secondary school level are estimated at $37,000,000. That compares with $28,500,000 in the first year of the program.

The program had 41,000 borrowers the first year and 50,000 the second, but the computer keeping track here cannot yet say how many of the last number were repeat customers. Officials plan to ask the computer in a few months when it may have enough information to reply.

Students may qualify for loans of up to $1,000 a year and up to $5,000 during their undergraduate careers. They borrow from the chartered banks, who charge 5½ per cent and collect the interest from the federal government while the student remains at school.

The students' interest-free period continues six months past graduation, but repayment at six per cent must start then and clear the debt within five years.

Almost all borrowers still are undergraduates and officials here have no indication yet of repayment trends.

SOME CRITICISM

Serious discrepancies from province to province in administration of the plan were largely eliminated after the first year. But the fund has its vociferous critics, including the Canadian Union of Students and, in Parliament, the New Democratic Party.

They believe loans are not a fair burden to impose.

Low-income families, needing the money most, are reluctant to incur debt, inexperienced in its management and unable to assess the rewards it makes possible, they say.

Repayment may inhibit the start of a promising career for the new graduate or discourage postgraduate studies, they add.

The critics say that inequities remain in administration. For instance, Ontario makes students take a $150 loan before they may qualify for provincial bursaries, and the province has been rapped for reversing the principle that loans should supplement bursaries, not the other way around.

HAVE NEEDS TEST

Government spokesmen say rigid needs tests must be the rule when the demand for loans outstrips the supply of money available.

It is kept secret just how each province decides that Johnny will get $600, $300 or nothing at all. But the provinces have agreed in general that they must consider a student's list of costs and assets.

Johnny must specify these costs: tuition, books, room and board, clothing and recreation needs, and transportation. If he lives at home he may include 40 to 50 per cent of the costs of living away from home. If he lives out of town, the cost of two trips home a year is a proper claim.

The assets he must enter include his parents' income and his savings, summer earnings, earnings during the academic year, any scholarships and other assets—and a car if he has one.

Finance Minister Sharp has described the loans as a first major step in large-scale student assistance but has not mentioned further measures.

Mao's Wife Active

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Chiang Ching, actress - wife of China's 72 - year - old Communist party chief Mao Tse-tung, is emerging as the first outstanding women in public life since Madame Sun Yat-sen, the revered widow of the founder of the Chinese republic, now 76.

Mme. Mao is in her 40s. Until recently, she kept out of the political limelight. But now that Mao is seeking to secure the perpetuation of his doctrines by purging his critics and reorganizing the power apparatus, she has become a figure of importance.

As first deputy leader of the new cultural revolution group, she opened a rally of a half-million people in Mao's presence recently in Peking.

An observer who saw her there said "she has remained a matronly type."

Mme. Sun Yat - sen, now known in China as Soong Ching-ling, is still a vice-chairman of the People's Republic but has done little public work in the last few years except writing occasional articles for the press. She suffers from rheumatism.

Mme. Mao represents a younger generation of revolutionaries.

WORKED AS ACTRESS

Little is known in China and still less in the outside world of her life story, but it is a romantic one starting in hardship and obscurity, with clandestine love meetings in the caves of Yenan and a dramatic rise to power.

She was born Li Ching-yun (Azure Cloud), of lower-middle-class parents in Shantung province and was described as a lively, intelligent girl, full of fun. The family fell on hard times. The daughter went to work as an actress in Shanghai, under the stage-name of Lan Ping (Blue Apple.)

The 1930s were a time of revolutionary ferment and she was drawn to politics, apparently joining the Chinese Communist party in 1933 under the name of Chiang Ching (River Green) by which she now is known.

She went with a Communist film group that followed Mao to the guerilla base at Yenan after the historic long march of the revolutionary army, and there fell in love with the party chairman.

WIFE EXECUTED

Mao was at that time married to Ho Tzu-chen, his third wife. He had first had a traditional arranged marriage to an 18 - year - old peasant girl but never lived with her.

His second wife, Yang Kai-hui, daughter of his school-teacher, was executed by the Nationalists in 1930.

Mao and the actress kept secret tryst in the midst of the guerrilla war, and were married in 1939 after Mao and Ho had parted.

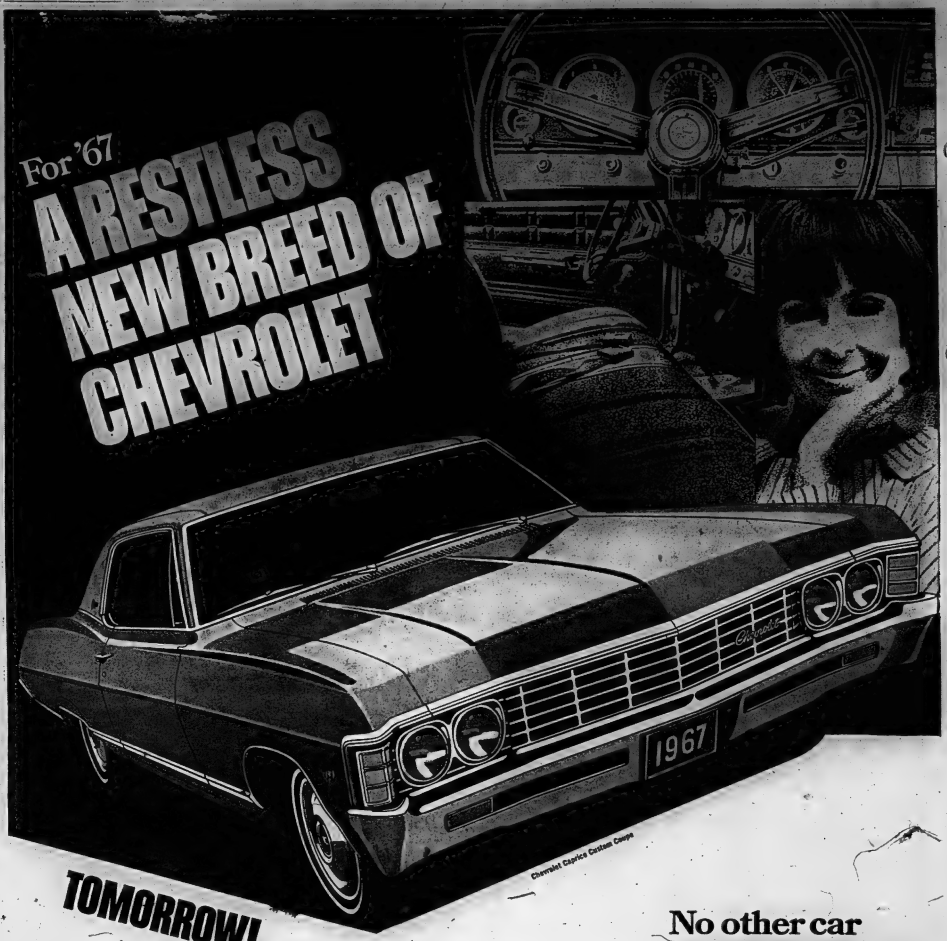
O.F.U. Plans For Convention

BONARLAW — The meeting of the Ontario Farmers' Union Local 171, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harper Bateman with a good attendance.

Much business was discussed, such as the convention which is to be held in November at Belleville.

Mrs. George Williams gave a good report of the meeting in Ottawa with Mr. Stewart and many other members and it concerned milk subsidies, butter and cheese.

Mrs. Morton Reid told about speaking to Mr. Huffman concerning the cheese ban to local factories recently; much discussion followed.



The next meeting is to be held October 11th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Bateman.

START NEW PERIODICAL

MONTREAL (CP)—A successor publication to the French-language intellectual monthly Cite Libre has begun publication. The new periodical, called Les Cahiers de Cite Libre, will be published five times a year. Cite Libre was a monthly. Cite Libre, the name of which can be freely translated to mean "free community," gained most prominence during the 1950s as an organ of intellectual dissent in Quebec.

A RESTLESS NEW BREED OF CHEVROLET

TOMORROW!

No other car is newer looking or has newer ideas in safety!

Chevrolet's Standard Safety Features. One look at Chevrolet's new wraparound grille tells you that Chevrolet comes out in fine style for '67. And backing that, new safety, too!

Along with standard safety features introduced previously, all 1967 Chevrolets are equipped with substantial new additions. There's the GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column and energy-absorbing steering wheel. A new dual master cylinder brake system with warning light, serves as two separate braking systems. Seat belts, front and rear, are fitted with new pushbutton buckles. A four-way hazard warning flasher blinks both taillights and parking lights simultaneously.

A new lane-change feature is incorporated in the direction signal control. Special new passenger-guard door locks are fitted to all doors. Folding seat back latches are fitted in wagons and two-door models. Energy-absorbing instrument panel has smooth-contoured knobs and levers.

There are many other safety features, too, all installed as standard equipment on all members of the 1967 Chevrolet family. And they're all designed to put you at your ease. Ask about them at your Chevrolet dealer's — he'll gladly explain them to you.

De Gaulle and de Murville Feel European Rift Narrowed

By HAROLD KING

PARIS (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle and his foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, feel they have succeeded in bringing Western and Eastern Europe closer together as a result of de Gaulle's June visit to the Soviet Union and Couve de Murville's talks in Warsaw, Bucharest, Sofia, Prague and Budapest since Easter.

France's policy for Europe was clearly defined by Prime Minister Georges Pompidou during a visit to London in July.

"We are aware that peace will not be lastingly secured as long as the division of Europe persists," he said.

"In our eyes it is not through the policy of military blocs that we shall reach acceptable solutions.

"We must first of all seek a détente which will enable us to approach the European problem in a new spirit.

"I do not claim that this can be done from one day to the next, but the main thing is to make a start."

COMMUNISTS AGREE

Diplomatic sources say Couve de Murville's talks in the capitals of Eastern Europe this year have satisfied him that the Communist governments sincerely agree with de Gaulle's plan for a diplomatic approach from détente, to understanding, to co-operation.

"We have made a breakthrough," he said at a recent French cabinet meeting.

He said an apparently insurmountable obstacle to negotiations between the two halves of Europe was the Communist refusal to discuss reunification of Germany until West Germany recognized the legitimacy of the East German regime.

West Germany, however, refuses to admit the existence of East Germany or to have diplomatic relations with any government, other than Russia's which has recognized East Germany. The two stands combine into a stalemate.

Recently, however, observers of the international scene have noted what they regard as signs of an easing of Bonn's position. One sign was the establishment of West German trade missions in Eastern Europe. Another was the urging by the powerful opposition Social Democrat Party of greater contacts and exchanges with East Germany and Eastern Europe.

CLAIM SUCCESS

The main diplomatic success which de Gaulle and Couve de Murville claim is the declared readiness of the Kremlin and five Warsaw Pact countries to drop their demand for the recognition of East Germany as a prior condition for any discussion of the German question.

De Gaulle and the Russians agreed, however, that West Germany must itself make an effort in the direction of a European détente.

The main demands of the Communist leaders of Eastern Europe are that Germany abandon its refusal to recognize governments other than the Soviet Union that recognize East Germany, abandon any claim to the chunk of Czechoslovakia seized at Munich in 1938 and officially recognize the existing German-Polish border.

This border demand would mean renouncing East Prussia and the Silesian coal mines. Observers believe this is the step West Germany would be most reluctant to take.

Bonn believes unilateral recognition of the Oder-Neisse line would not advance the cause of German reunification but would only lead to a demand for the recognition of the East German government.

Britain, the U.S. and West Germany share the view that definitive recognition of a Polish-German frontier is something to be dealt with when, at some unspecified time in the future, the Second World War Allies make a final peace treaty with Germany.

Mayor John Dolley suspended Johnson pending an investigation. He said it was established the car was stolen and told reporters "we will not have one law for blacks and one law for whites."

Thomas Roche, assistant fire chief, blamed fire bombs and "other incendiary means" for fires. Flying glass from a broken windshield hurt one fireman.

In declaring the curfew, Brown ordered all persons off the streets in Negro areas of the city, prohibited all automobile traffic there and ordered bars closed.

Percy Pinkney, a Negro who is assistant director of Youth for Service, an organization for juveniles, estimated that between 600 and 700 persons were involved in the Western Police attack on Negro areas.

Police called in off duty officers and told them to shoot to kill if threatened.

COMPLETE VOYAGE

ARDROSSAN, Scotland (Reuters)—A Scottish mechanic and an English boatbuilder sailed their trimaran yacht into this tiny port today after a 30-day Atlantic crossing from Labrador. Glasgow-born George Cooper, 40, and Philip Patterson, 32, set off last month in their 34-foot, three-hulled craft, built in Labrador.

Strike Against Airlines Is Postponed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Transport Workers Union (AFL-CIO) announced today it was postponing its scheduled strike against American Airlines for 52 hours "in view of progress" made during all night negotiations.

The strike postponement was announced by a union spokesman just 45 minutes before the strike was to start at 6:46 a.m. EDT.

The TWU represents 12,000 non - operating employees, but a strike would have shut down the entire American Airlines system and made idle all 28,000 company employees.

American, which operates 1,000 flights carrying a total of 36,000 passengers to 44 cities in the United States, Canada and Mexico each day, escaped last summer's crippling 43 - day strike by the machinists union against five major airlines.

Involved in the current contract dispute with American are ground crew, mechanics, clerks, communication workers and supply personnel. They overwhelmingly rejected the latest company offer.

The union said it was seeking a 30-per-cent increase in wages that now range between $2.54 and $3.57.

The company said its contract offer included an increase of 50 cents an hour in top wage brackets in a three - year contract. American contended this was several cents more than the machinists won in their strike against Eastern, National, Trans World, United and Northwest Airlines.

The company also said its offer on fringe benefits was better than that given the machinists.

trouble," he said in an interview Tuesday. This had happened in 1957, 1960 and 1965.

SHIFTS NOT NEEDED

"Simply shifting leaders is not the way to maintain the strength of a party. We have faith in Mr. Diefenbaker the most successful leader since R. B. Bennett."

In a separate interview, R. G. E. Fairweather (PC—Royal) said most party supporters want to face the leadership question squarely when a national conference here Nov. 13-16.

"We can't wish our problems away."

He expressed horror at Mr. Diefenbaker's statement Friday drawing a parallel between the Gerda Munsinger case and the 1927 Herbert Norman controversy.

"It will be extremely unfortunate if we're going to spend the next few months digging in closets for old skeletons," the New Brunswick MP said, "this is intolerable."

Mr. Diefenbaker was criticized in a royal commission report for allegedly not doing enough to protect national security in the 1950 Munsinger affair. He replied that he had acted properly and recalled that Prime Minister Pearson retained Mr. Norman as an ambassador in the 1950s even though Mr. Norman had had Communist associations as a university student.

QUEBEC VISIT LIKELY

There were reports Mr. Diefenbaker might go to Quebec City this weekend to address a meeting of Quebec Conservatives, many of whom are known to consider him an anti-Quebec.

Mr. Churchill said he hopes Dalton Camp will not be re-elected party president at the November convention.

He said Mr. Camp exceeded his authority and advanced unsound ideas when he suggested a week ago that Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership be reassessed in November.

"This conjures up endless difficulties".

Mr. Churchill also challenged Mr. Camp and his supporters to name the man they favor as the next federal leader.

Mr. Camp, several Conservative MPs and party leaders in British Columbia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland all have urged a discussion of the leadership issue at the November conference.

Special Status For Members Is Requested

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Two men who said they were wanted in Quebec for terrorist activities announced today they had started a hunger strike in an attempt to get special status for imprisoned members of the Quebec Liberation Front.

Pierre Valliers, 28, and Charles Gagnon, 27, distributed their announcement at the United Nations press gallery.

They said they would end their strike only with achievement of their objectives or with their death.

Valliers and Gagnon are wanted in Montreal on coroners warrents.

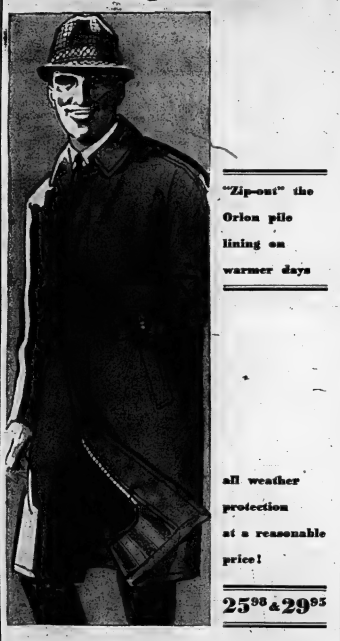
The men said they want independence and socialism for Quebec and political-prisoner status for other members of their movement who are in custody.

They wanted Canadian authorities to grant legal recognition to political crimes and recognition that arrested members of the FLQ are political prisoners.

They demanded "political procedures" in the handling of the cases of those under arrest.

At least 12 members of the front were arrested in Montreal last week on terrorism charges, they said.

In an interview on CBC television news Tuesday night, Gagnon said he was not personally involved in bombings which took two lives in Quebec province earlier this year.



He said the bombings were made in support of strikers. They had nothing to do with the separatism issue but were intended to further the FLQ's socialist objectives.

Valliers also appeared in the interview but did not speak.

CONGO HELPS ZAMBIA

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The Zambian and Congo (Leopoldville) governments have signed a transport agreement for the export by the Congo of 12,000 tons of Zambian copper. Zambian Commerce Minister Justin Chimba said the agreement proves the strengthening of links between the two countries.

Canada Acquires Tiny Corner Of Devon Countryside to Mark Memory of John Graves Simcoe

HONITON, England (CP)—Canada acquired a tiny corner of the lovely Devon countryside Tuesday to mark in perpetuity the memory of John Graves Simcoe, often termed the Father of Ontario.

Premier Robarts of Ontario accepted on behalf of the province the ownership of Wolford Chapel, built by Simcoe in 1800 about 17 miles from Exeter.

The ceremony was conducted under the chairmanship of J. S. P. Armstrong, Ontario agent-general in London, before some 120 guests from Canada and British crowding the grey stone chapel and an adjoining marquee.

Simcoe, first lieutenant-governor of Upper Canada, now Ontario, and founder of Toronto, lies buried at the chapel along with his wife and several of their children.

Robarts said:

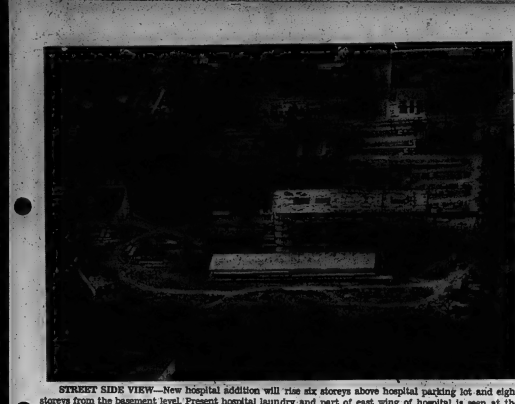
"In accepting this deed to Wolford Chapel, we in Ontario are honoring the man who was, in a very large sense, the father and architect of the province as we know it today."

The document was presented by Sir Geoffrey Harmsworth, British publisher whose father purchased the then - neglected chapel for £300 ($900) some 40 years ago.

From now on the property is "forever a piece of Canada," said Harmsworth.

Congratulatory read cables of congratulations and appreciation from Governor-General Georges Vanier, Prime Minister Pearson, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and Mayor Philip Givens of Toronto.

With some 30 descendants of Simcoe present, Brig. A. G. Simcoe Wemyss, grandson of the statesman - soldier, was last speaker in the ceremony.



The chapel deed was entrusted to Norman W. Long, representing the board of trustees set up by the Simcoe Memorial Foundation, established with the Ontario legislature's aid for the building in perpetuity.

Long also received as a gift a right-of-way access deed from A. G. Le Marchant, gentleman-farmer whose property surrounds the chapel.

Among Simcoe descendants in trustees attending Tuesday's ceremony were Information Minister James Auld, Miss M. K. McFarland, Napanee, Ont., and Dr. H. G. Walton-Ball, who represented the United Empire Loyalists Association of Canada.

Premier Robarts said:

"The creation of the John Graves Simcoe Memorial Foundation means that present and future generations of Canadians, many of whom have come from different backgrounds than the British settlers, will know the great contributions, courage and sacrifices made to build our country by such men as Governor Simcoe."

STREET SIDE VIEW—New hospital addition will rise six storeys above hospital parking lot and eight storeys from the basement level. Present hospital laundry and part of east wing of hospital is seen at the lower right.

Klansman Freed in Civil Rights Killing

HAYNEYVILLE, Ala. (AP)—For the first time since the new civil rights campaign began in Alabama last year, a Negro-dominated jury has decided the fate of a white man accused of a civil rights killing. It freed him.

A jury of eight Negroes and four white men took 85 minutes Tuesday night to reach its verdict of acquittal in the trial of Ku Klux Klansman Eugene Thomas for murder in the slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a white civil rights worker who died in a hail of gunfire from a passing car March 25, 1965, a few hours after the Selma-to-Montgomery march ended.

The verdict made Thomas the second member of the hooded order to win state court acquittal in the killing of Liuzzo, a Detroit housewife. There was only one mention in the testimony of Thomas, a 42-year-old steelworker, as a member of the Klan.

State Attorney - General Richmond Flowers, who directed the prosecution for the state, expressed disappointment at the verdict. He called it a "complete breakdown of justice and law and order."

Thomas told reporters he "got a fair trial."

JOINT CALL INFORMER

The state closed its case with-on calling to the stand a paid witness for the FBI, Gary Thomas Rowe. He had testified in three previous trials that he was an eyewitness to the killing of Mrs. Liuzzo.

Flowers said he decided against calling Rowe as a witness because he felt it might do the state's case more harm than good. He said jurors in the other trials had commented they did not believe Rowe's story because he had violated a Klan oath of secrecy.

The prosecution, which consumed the major portion of the day, relied chiefly on testimony of FBI agents that the bullet which killed the 39 - year - old mother of five was fired from a 38-calibre revolver identified as belonging to Thomas.

Mrs. Liuzzo, wife of a Teamsters Union official was killed as she drove back to Montgomery from Selma, where she had taken several fellow parucipants in the march after it ended.

New Hospital Addition Reaches It's Full Height

The new eight - storey Belleville General Hospital addition scheduled for completion some time late next year, has now reached its full height.

Exterior concrete work for all eight storeys of the seven-and-a-half million dollar structure is nearing completion and trades people are hard at work installing the various services and other utilities.

Heating and air conditioning ductwork is going in, the pneumatic tubes for the hospital materials transfer system are being installed, and at the same time finish concrete columns are being applied to the "building exterior. End stairways are going in and even the finish brickwork has been started in some sections.

Barring any construction holdups it is hoped that the medical laboratory section of the new hospital will be ready for occupancy some time next spring and the entire hospital completed before the end of 1967.

WILL TEAR DOWN BUILDING

The existing laboratory facilities in a separate building is being used until the new laboratory is completed. Then the present laboratory building will be torn down and a final section of the new building constructed on the site.

Hospital administrator Stan Johnston said it was hoped the laboratory facilities in the new addition would be ready some time next spring. If everything goes as expected it is hoped that transfer of patients into the new building will be started by the end of 1967.

92 Million Dollar Deal To Show Films

NEW YORK (CP) — The American Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System have completed three deals worth a total of $92,000,000 that will permit them to show feature-length motion pictures on television prime time for the next five years.

Executives of the two corporations released these details Tuesday:

ABC will pay $19,500,000 to 20th Century Fox for 14 films, including $12,250,000 for the multi-million dollar epic Cleopatra, which will be shown in 1971;

ABC also made a $20,000,000 deal with Paramount Pictures Inc. giving 32 movies;

CBS made a $52,500,000 deal with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the rights to 63 film properties.

All agreements include what are referred to as block-busters of the cinema world.

The classified Cleopatra, starring Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor, which cost $34,115,000 to make. It is reported that sale of the TV rights means that the picture will make a profit of almost $2,500,000.

PAID $1,290,000?

It was also reported Ford Motor Co. paid $1,300,000 for the first showing on television Sunday of the film The Bridge on the River Kwai. The company also paid the ABC network $600,000 for time on the air.

Network officials said audiences have shown an increasing appetite for feature films in the evening. It is felt that the deals will spell the end of pay-as-you-see television.

The CBS-MGM deal involves 40 pictures from the M.G.M. library and 18 new films that will be distributed prior to television use.

Some of the titles that will be seen on one or the other network: The Greatest Show on Earth, Hud, Mantrap, Shane, The Magnificent Men in their Flying Machines, The Agony and the Ecstasy, The Robe, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, The Night of the Iguana, and The Glass Bottom Boat.

LASSIE HONORED

Canada's No 1 Satellite Spends Fourth Birthday in Orbit, Still Going Strong

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Alouette I satellite, still singing like a lark with its space information, is celebrating its fourth birthday in orbit today.

If Alouette is singing, you should hear the scientists.

Dr. A. H. Zimmerman, chairman of the Defence Research Board, said in an interview:

"The Americans have acknowledged that Alouette I has the best test and flight record of any satellite in the West. And I'm damn sure the Russians can't top it."

Alouette I has travelled 576,-000,000 miles and made its birthday orbit—orbit No. 19,961—over Alaska. It has executed 32,000 commands from the ground.

"Imagine what that means," Dr. Zimmerman said. "A light bulb executes a command when you turn it on. If you're lucky, a light will turn on 1,000 times in your house before it burns out."

SOLAR CELLS STILL GOOD

The best U.S. scientific satellite has transmitted information from space for some 36 months. The solar cells feeding the battery which drives the transmitter of Alouette I still are operating at 35 per cent efficiency after four steady years of work.

"She's grinding on without a flicker," Dr. Zimmerman said of Canada's first satellite.

Alouette II, launched Nov. 28, 1965, has all appearances of watching its older sister, he said.

Canada's third satellite, Isis-A, will be launched about a year from now. It will also measure variations in the ionosphere, the electrically charged layer above the earth, but from a much higher orbit.

REJECT COMMISSION BID

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) A call for a royal commission into the problem of adjustments in pensions for retired civil servants was rejected at the first annual convention of the Federated Superannuates National Association. Delegates expressed concern that such a request would put a freeze on their efforts to negotiate with the government for an upgrading of pensions.

Japanese Cabinet Ministers Will Talk With Canada Over New Pacific Common Market

OTTAWA (CP)—Five Japanese cabinet ministers will begin an eight - day visit to Canada next weekend, during which there will be a talk of forming a Pacific - area common market, but no commitments made by their Canadian hosts.

The Japanese delegation, including ministers of trade, finance and foreign affairs, will confer Monday with Canadian ministers here for two days. The meeting will be preceded by a two-day stay in Laurentian resort north of Montreal, and will be followed by a visit to Vancouver for talks with Japanese-Canadian businessmen.

A Japanese trade promotion office here promoted the idea of forming a Pacific-area common market or free-trade area embracing the United States States and Australia with Canada and Japan.

But sources in the external affairs department here say it is unlikely the discussions will lead to any firm decision on such a proposal.

External Affairs Minister Martin, who will head the Canadian ministers attending the conference, spoke of Japan, the U.S., Australia and Canada as specific triangle of trade and other interests, during a visit to Japan last year.

But the interpretation put on the words appears to have more enthusiasm on the Japanese side than on the Canadian side.

Canada and Japan have negotiated quota controls on Japanese shipments to Canada of such commodities as textiles which might injure Canadian production, and there is considerable fear in Canadian industry of wide - open competition from Japanese trade.

The Japanese scheduled to attend the meeting here include Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shiina.

This is the fourth formal meeting of the Canada-Japan ministerial committee, which usually meets alternately in Tokyo and Ottawa.

Arriving in Canada from Tokyo and Washington on Oct. 2, the Japanese ministers will spend the following two days at Lac Ouimet, north of Montreal. Their Ottawa talks, Oct. 5-6, will include a round of luncheons and dinners in addition to formal consultation. They will fly to Vancouver Oct. 7 for three days before leaving for Japan Oct. 8.

LBJ Supporter Wins Narrow Primary Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Representative Leonard Farbstein, who hoped his campaign on support for President Johnson's Viet Nam policy, has secured a narrow victory over a vigorous administration critic in a special Democratic primary to pick the party's candidate for the November general election.

The margin in Tuesday's 19th Congressional District rerun primary was a comfortable 1,000 votes out of more than 23,000 cast.

Farbstein, 63, a five-term conservative Democrat who lost especially in recent years of winning close margins, polled 11,-000 votes in the unofficial tally. His opponent, City Councilman Theodore S. Weiss, 39, a left-wing liberal reformer, had 10,-251 votes.

Weiss, the district is overwhelmingly Democratic, but Farbstein is virtually assured of victory Nov. 8 when he faces Republican Paul Fino.

Farbstein was backed by the regular Democratic organization in Manhattan—Tammany Hall.

Weiss had said the United States must "stop the shooting, get off the battlefield and get to the conference table as soon as possible." Weiss had urged negotiations with the Viet Cong and admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Testimony of Doctor Describing Operation Read Into Evidence

TORONTO (CP) — A British doctor's testimony, describing a 1958 operation, was read Tuesday to a court hearing a $740,-000 malpractice suit against a Toronto anesthetist and the Toronto General Hospital.

Elizabeth Aynsley, living in the Homewood Sanitarium in Guelph and described as a mental incompetent, is suing Dr. R. Bruce Matthews, the hospital for $350,000 damages.

Her lawyer contends that she entered the hospital during preparations for a heart operation but emerged severely damaged in her brain and leaving her with the mentality of a seven-year-old girl.

Mrs. Aynsley's husband, Officer, 38, a Toronto sales training supervisor, is suing for the $350,000 damages and claiming an additional $40,000 for medical costs.

READS TESTIMONY

Ralph Howie, one of Mrs. Aynsley's lawyers, spent the entire day of the trial in the Ontario Supreme Court reading the pre-trial examination of Dr. Ronald Stevens in London, England, two years ago.

Dr. Porteous, a British-educated physician, was taking post graduate studies at Toronto General, assisted Dr. Matthews at the operation on Mrs. Aynsley.

Dr. Porteous said Mrs. Aynsley was unconscious and paralysed from the anesthetic and he and Dr. Matthews were watching the progress of blood from the patient to a monitoring system in an adjoining room.

Dr. Matthews attached a needle to a vein in Mrs. Aynsley's arm, Dr. Porteous said, to inject a solution. Impulses Midway in the tubing was a three-way stopcock, he said.

HE DIDN'T KNOW

Dr. Porteous said Dr. Matthews built an manometer connected to the venous system after D. Matthews went into the monitoring room and waved to him. When the mercury level dropped to zero, he again squeezed and gestured to Dr. Matthews who returned to the operating room and squeezed the bulb himself.

Dr. Porteous said: "We could not feel a pulse in the patient. . . . The surgeons reported the heart had stopped. . . . We gave the patient pure oxygen."

"Dr. Matthews, just after or about this time, said 'Oh, the bulb's gone' or words to that effect," Dr. Porteous said. Dr. Matthews said afterward that the cabinet was full of air, he added.

In a later conversation with Dr. Matthews, Dr. Porteous said the doctor told him that air had leaked in during the calibrating, probably through the three-way valve.

Girl Fleeing From Parked Car Slain

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Janet Ponsford, 18, of Burlington, was shot to death Tuesday night as she fled from a parked car on Highway 403 in this community near Hamilton.

Lloyd Bowdy, a Toronto truck driver, said the girl emerged from the car and was pulled back by her boyfriend and tanker when a man stepped out of the car and shot her with a rifle.

The girl fell to the ground about 50 feet from the car, Mr. Bowdy said. The man then got into the car and drove up to the girl.

There, as the woman lay on the ground, the man put the rifle to her head and shot her a second time.

Police said Miss Ponsford was shot in the first attempt. Other arrival minutes after the shooting. She died without regaining consciousness.

Police captured a man without struggle at a roadblock in Hamilton after a high-speed chase.

Charged with capital murder is Thomas Lepocki, 32, of Burlington, who is to appear in court Friday.

More Debate In Conference Over Rhodesia

By CARMAN CUMMING

OTTAWA (CP) — Commonwealth parliamentarians, picking up where their leaders left off in London two weeks ago, plunge into more debate over Rhodesia here today.

The Commonwealth Parliamentary Association opens its 12th conference with a two-day discussion of international affairs, including the Rhodesian question.

African delegates made clear that the continuing white rule in Rhodesia is uppermost in their minds, although some said they doubt any significant progress will be made on the question.

They pointed out that the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference, which ended in London Sept. 16, had spoken on Rhodesia with executive authority whereas the current conference reflects the views of only a collection of legislators.

The association does not even pass formal resolutions, although it sometimes arrives at a consensus on problems before it.

DELEGATES TOUR CANADA

The conference has brought together 160 official delegates from 27 countries and territories. Most of them have already been in Canada for two weeks of sight-seeing and informal meetings.

Aside from the Rhodesian issue, delegates said they expect trade and aid will be prime topics.

The six-day meeting also will discuss the future of parliamentary government in the Commonwealth—a topic highlighted by the absence of representatives from several countries where parliamentary government is suspended.

Nigeria, Ghana, and Aden all fall in this class and have not been invited. But some other countries where country rule is in effect, such as Tanzania, are attending.

Virgin Islands Lashed by Killer Storm

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) Hurricane Inez, a killer storm with at least five dead in her wake, lashed the Virgin Islands with heavy rains, sweep pounding surf onto Puerto Rico's lowlying south shore and bore down on the densely populated Dominican republic.

The weather bureau warned the 4,000-square-mile Dominican republic and Haiti that they were in the direct path of the hurricane packing winds of 120-mile-an-hour winds.

On Puerto Rico, residents of the southern shore were told to protect themselves against dangerous gales as the storm whipped past, and to be ready for flooding from torrential rains and five to eight foot tides after it passed.

On Guadeloupe, where lines battered sugar and coffee plantations for hours, preliminary reports said that roads, bridges and homes were badly damaged.

USE MILITARY TRUCKS

A schoolhouse and a church were swept away. Two persons were drowned when their boat capsized during the pounding seas. The overseas ministry in Paris said that a housing development as the airport at Pointe-a-Pitre, the capital, was flooded, and residents had to be rescued by military trucks.

Whipping 65,000 square miles of the blue caribbean sea with gales that storm - warned at 11 m.p.h. at 8 a.m. EDT it was 110 miles south-southeast of San Juan and packing 18.8 west, longitude 65.7 west. That was 110 miles southeastest of Miami, Fla.

If she held to that course, Hurricane Inez would barely directly into the southern shape of the Dominican republic hot spot, Santo Santo Domingo, the capital.

Beyond the Dominican republic lies Haiti, where 4,000 persons were killed by hurricane Flora in 1964,

Fight Against Inflation in Viet Nam Waged as Vigorously as Shooting War

As in Canada, inflation is a major problem for South Viet Nam where the condition is aggravated by the pressures of war. A Canadian Press reporter tells how the Saigon government is fighting the economic battle.

By DOUGLAS AMARON

SAIGON (CP) — The fight against inflation in South Viet Nam is being waged as vigorously as the shooting war because, as one United States official said, if this country cannot win the economic war "there will be no country to save."

Devaluation of the piastre, a massive import program to prevent shortages, keep prices down and absorb piastres, improvement of facilities to unload the goods coming into the country, and tax reforms are part of the program to preserve economic stability.

From the spring of 1965 when the main United States forces began arriving here, prices rose by five to six per cent a month until by last June the retail index in Saigon had reached 173. This compared with a base rate of 100 set Jan. 1, 1963.

On June 18, after consultation with the World Monetary Fund, Viet Nam devalued the piastre to 118 for the United States dollar from the previous rate of 60. There was a sharp surge in prices for a few weeks then the index levelled off to a bit more than 200 and, apart from an election-week jump of 36 points, has stayed there since.

COUNTRY NOT POOR

As Southeast Asian countries go, Viet Nam is not poor and the higher costs were borne mainly by middle-class urban dwellers who can best afford them and who accepted them as a sacrifice made for the war effort. Peasants in the provinces mainly have a non-monetary economy, living off the land and bartering with neighbors.

The government hopes the present line can be held but more inflationary pressure is expected next year and the most anyone will say is: "We hope we can keep increases to modest levels."

Wages have been rising, by 20 to 30 per cent for Vietnamese civil servants and military, by 12 to 15 per cent for civilians paid by the U.S. government and by non-government U.S. firms.

Labor is tight, with most able young men in the forces. When a call went out this summer for 200 garbage collectors for Saigon, only 80 men applied although the 200-piastres-a-day wage is well above average. The going wage in rural and refugee areas is about 80 piastres a day.

The flow of imported goods has more than doubled in the last year and further increases are expected in 1967. The government granted 440 import licences in June, July and August alone and has eased the financial terms under which goods can be brought into the country.

IMPORTS RESTRICTED

Only essential goods are allowed in and most of these come from the United States or from countries in a developing economic position. Only goods unavailable elsewhere are accepted from developed countries outside the U.S.

An importer applies to the Viet Nam government for permission to bring in goods and if his application is approved suppliers are circularized so the importer can get the best possible price. When the importer has selected his supplier, the U.S. places the order and pays for it in dollars.

The importer makes a 30-per-cent deposit on the cost, in piastres, with the Vietnamese government and pays the remaining 80 per cent on delivery. Goods are placed in bond on arrival and if not claimed and paid for in 30 days are confiscated.

Main imports, apart from food, are iron, steel, petroleum, spare parts, new equipment, pharmaceuticals, chemicals and other components basic to the economy of a country.

In U.S. money terms, $634,600,000 was authorized for imports and construction and aid projects in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1966, compared with $328,000,000 in 1965. The total will pass $730,000,000 in 1967, with the U.S. putting up about three-quarters of that amount, Viet Nam the rest.

The import program, including food, accounted for $502,200,000 of the 1966 expenditure, $221,000,000 of the 1965 total.

Surprisingly, although the Mekong Delta is known as the rice bowl of Southeast Asia, rice is one of the major commodities imported from the United States. Viet Nam exported 300,000 tons of rice in 1963 but now imports 250,000 tons a year. Three reasons are given for this 650,000-ton spread in three years.

About 100,000 tons have been stockpiled for emergency use; a population growth of 2.8 per cent a year to a present 15,150,000 increased consumption by about 50,000 tons a year; and production has fallen off because of the flow of refugees from the rice fields.

Rice prices have been stabilized and rice is sold off trucks to retailers at six pilastres a kilogram. The market price for ordinary rice is 12 piastres a kilo, slightly more for better-grade rice.

One of the major import problems is getting goods into the country. Ninety per cent of the imports come to Saigon and up to now there just haven't been facilities to unload them.

The turnabout time for a ship still is about 30 days, although three or four months ago it was 60 to 70 days and still can be if a ship waits to unload at a particular berth.

ENLARGING PORT

In June, 170,000 tons of civilian cargo were discharged here. This increased in September to 220,000 tons and there is a target of 630,000 tons a month six months from now.

Saigon port is being enlarged and facilities are being improved at Cam Ranh Bay, Nha Trang, Qui Nhon and Danang, coastal cities along the South China Sea.

Several hundred barges are used as floating warehouses at Saigon because of a backlog of goods waiting to be cleared from regular warehouses. The backlog in June was 20,000 tons; in September it was 30,000. Inability of importers to raise the final 30-per-cent payment is one reason for the backlog.

In addition to the import program, the government is reviewing the tax situation, mainly with a view to improving collections rather than increasing taxes. Four U.S. tax experts recently completed a six-weeks survey of the tax collecting system and as a result of their recommendations real results are expected in the next few months.

MANY DODGE TAXES

Customs taxes on imports produces the greatest tax revenue at present and there are personal income and profits taxes—both hard to collect—and excise taxes on such things as cigarettes, beer, restaurants and bars.

A withholding tax on salaries and wages, planned for next year, is expected to double collections.

The government's budget for the 1966 calendar year was 35 billion piastres but it expects to overspend that amount by from 10 to 15 billion piastres, mainly because of unbudgeted wage increases and subsidization of rice and fertilizers. The deficit will be about 45 billion piastres.

There is corruption in the civil service but it is petty rather than major, taking the form of bribes at lower levels. The top level of government is considered honest, differing occasionally on methods and personalities but united in dedication to win the war and at the same time preserve the nation for peace.

Pleasant Reading

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Letters people would like to get but rarely do:

"I assigned my high school chemistry students the task of making an experiment on their own. Your smart slick son Sam, who was flunking the course, decided he'd grow hair on a hard-boiled egg. Well, to my amazement, he did it. Strictly between us, if his mixture works on people as well as it does on eggs, there may be millions in it as a cure for baldness. I wonder if you and I couldn't get together, form a quiet corporation with Sam, and . . ."

". . . and so Mrs. Plumdidcle, it is with gratifying pleasure I inform you that your recipe for a corned-beef-and-pineapple casserole has won our grand prize of $25,000 and an all-expense trip to Tahiti for you and your husband. . . ."

"We at the income tax department were deeply impressed by the clarity and brevity of your 1963 tax return. Would you be interested in helping us create a simpler tax form and also address a series of taxpayers' clinics we plan next spring? There would be a consultant's fee of $100 a day, plus a flat allowance of. . . ."

"Daddy dear, I guess you won't have to borrow that money from the bank to send me on my educational trip to France when summer camp ends next week. As counsellor I had to teach my kids how to make birdies arrowheads. Well, one of my brats hid an arrowhead under the blanket on my cot and I sat down on it and—well, I guess I'll postpone going to France until next year."

"Since our weekly bingo games at the country club have been doing so well, we have decided that, far from having to raise our annual dues, we'll be able to reduce them for the current year. We are forwarding to you a rebate in the sum of. . . ."

". . . and as Mabel is going to have our seventh child soon, we won't be able to bring the family for our annual visit. Dave hals to dispoint you, but know you'll understand that under the circumstances. . . ."

OFFER SPACE RIDES

WASHINGTON (AP)—James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Tuesday the United States has offered transportation aboard U.S. spacecraft to scientists of other countries. He said there must be a definite requirement for this type of service—"flying in space is not something to do just for the fun of it."

SEASIDE SCIENCE—A $1,000,000 marine sciences laboratory is being built on the edge of the Atlantic Ocean just north of St. John's, Nfld. At top is an artist's conception of how the completed building will look. The laboratory will be directed by Dr. Frederick Aldrich, a native of New Jersey. The main feature of the building, scheduled to open in May, will be a maze of pipes which will give a continuous flow of unpolluted seawater through the laboratory all year round. (CP Photo)

Lack of Oceanographic Data Crime Says Newfoundlander

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Dr. Frederick A. Aldrich is one of a growing group of world scientists who lament the fact that we know more about the other side of the moon than we do about it, however. He intends to change that.

The lack of data for oceanographic study is "a crime" in view of the world's growing population and diminishing rural areas to yield food, says the marine biology professor at Memorial University.

He isn't satisfied just to talk about it, however. He intends to attack the matter as director of a $1,500,000 marine sciences laboratory scheduled to open next May 25.

Construction began last spring on the craggy coastline at Logy Bay, four miles from St. John's. The lab, designed by architect Peter Holtshousen to incorporate Dr. Aldrich's ideas, will be just 100 yards from the pounding North Atlantic surf where an intermingling of several ocean currents offers unique research possibilities.

"We'll have the first cold-water, sub-arctic laboratory," says Dr. Aldrich.

Its chief scientists at Logy Bay will splice into the passing ocean currents, diverting a continuous flow of unpolluted seawater and living undersea organisms directly into the lab through a man-made cove being blasted out of the offshore rock face.

AIDED BY NRC

The heart of the structure will be a maze of testacle-like pipes carrying the seawater from an elevated storage tank to bolacal research rooms at roof level down through various other chambers and back into the sea.

"The building will be skeleton built around the piping," says Dr. Aldrich. One description of the design is that it will resemble a "stranded spaceship."

The flow of water through the system will go on 24 hours a day 365 days a year.

The National Research Council has granted $300,000 and an annual operating allotment. The Newfoundland government will pay the rest.

Dr. Aldrich, 39-year-old native of Belleville, N.J., who came to Memorial five years ago from the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia, expects to have a staff eventually of 100, probably 45 of them senior researchers.

An expert on squid—an important source of bait in Newfoundland waters—Dr. Aldrich has pioneered in research on the giant squid, once considered a myth. Despite the importance of the ordinary squid to the commercial fisherman, he says, "it's incredible that we don't know how or where or when the squid reproduces."

Dr. Aldrich says the commercial fishery could benefit from the work to be done at Logy Bay but emphasizes the pure research aspect. And he is already thinking of a piece of equipment that might help—"a submersible classroom."

South Africa Would Not Recognize Assembly Vote On Trusteeship Question

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The General Assembly is expected to vote at its current session to end South Africa's mandate over the neighboring territory of South-West Africa.

If it does, it will give the world organization a king-sized problem of enforcement.

No one expects South Africa to comply.

If there were any doubts they were dispelled in the General Assembly Monday by D. P. de Villiers, a Pretoria lawyer, who has defended his country at the World Court in The Hague.

He said South Africa is living up to the sacred trust assumed by League of Nations mandate to develop the territory economically and provide for the well being of its inhabitants, nearly all of whom are Negroes. South Africa took over administration of the former German colony after the First World War.

After the Second World War South Africa refused to place the territory under the new UN trusteeship system. Unlike other countries ruling mandated territories, it took the view that with the end of the League of Nations, mandates had ceased to exist, and it has clung to that view in the face of almost universal disapproval. It maintains it is under no obligation to report to the UN on its administration.

Any General Assembly action on the matter requires approval of two-thirds of all member countries present and voting. The necessary majority is expected to be there and the question will be now what?

Pakistan and three African countries, Ethiopia, Liberia and Guinea, have proposed that the United Nations administer South-West Africa directly.

But the General Assembly can only recommend a termination of the South African mandate and establishment of a direct UN trusteeship. It would be up to the Security Council—whose members will include Canada as of Jan. 1—to try to carry out the will of the assembly.

Some diplomats wouldn't be surprised to see Britain, France and the Soviet Union abstaining from the General Assembly vote on the South-West Africa issue. Britain is believed to favor a new and different approach to the World Court, in an effort to get an advisory opinion on the merits of the UN case against South African administration. France and Ethiopia failed to get a ruling on the case when the World Court decided July 18 they had no legal right to it.

As for the Soviet Union and France, there are doubts that they are prepared to see the United Nations exercise the authority and responsibility a direct trusteeship would entail.

Cannot Meet Demands of Bus Drivers

COOKSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Frank Galway, owner of Streetsville Coach Lines, said Tuesday night he has taken action to liquidate the company because he cannot meet pay demands of his striking bus drivers.

In Streetsville, 60 of the 68 drivers voted unanimously Tuesday night to continue a walkout that left 3,700 Toronto Township school children without transportation. The trouble started Monday.

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — On Wednesday evening the Bonarlaw Cubs held the first meeting of the new season with a good attendance.

On Sunday evening while on their way to Springbrook United Church, Mrs. S. G. Meikle-john and Mrs. T. H. McKeown were hit by a car, while crossing the road both were knocked to the road. Mrs. Meikle-john is a patient in Belleville General Hospital. Mrs. Mc-Keown received some bruises and was suffering from shock. She was taken to Campbellford Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Anderson of Campbellford visited Mrs. Fred McKeown and Mrs. Chris Bateman on Wednesday.

Mrs. Chris Bateman is recuperating at the home of Mrs. Fred McKeown. Mrs. Bateman was injured in a fall while visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Turner at Burlington.

Reverend Harry Rose and Mrs. Rose of Scarborough spent the past weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rose, Bonarlaw at their cottage at Kaministiqua Lake.

Rev. Rose, Mrs. Rose and family had returned from a term at Loon Lake, Saskatchewan where he had taken over the ministry work on the Indian Reserve and surrounding community for the summer months. He has returned to Trinity College to complete his final year. They will return to Loon Lake for the summer, '67 where they all enjoyed their stay this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McAdam, Mount Pleasant spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Burkitt.

Mr. Denton Burkitt of the Toronto Dominion Bank staff, Newmarket, has been transferred to the Kingston Branch, Division and Princess Sts., as accountant. His duties commenced Monday, September 19th. His many friends wish him every success.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Burkitt attended the "Open House" at Richmond Hill on Sunday of the True Blue and Orange Home. They also attended the dedication of the new children's swimming pool built in memory of the late Mr. Bing Lew, who had provided the pool. The plaque was unveiled by his youngest son when approximately 3,000 people were in attendance.

Mrs. Frances Purdy, Whitby, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ray and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mumby entertained Mr. and Mrs. Mel Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. Rob Belshaw of Campbellford and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Naylor, Marmora on Monday.

Miss Elana Turner and friend of Burlington spent the weekend with Mrs. Chris Bateman.

Mrs. Kenneth Thompson visited her daughter Doris and friends in Toronto and returned home on Sunday.

Mrs. James McComb, Rhonda and Randy returned to their home at Cameron Falls on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Broadworth left on Tuesday for a holiday at Victoria. Mrs. Percy Bateman is spending the time at the farm in their absence.

Mrs. Ronald Brown, has commenced teaching at the Harold school.

Several in the community attended the U.C.W. held at the home of Mrs. G. Apps on Thursday afternoon.

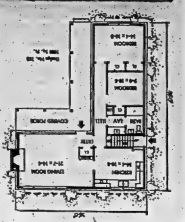
Mr. and Mrs. Doug Andrews and sons visited friends at Fergus over the weekend.

Queen's May Get School Of Dentistry

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Queen's University, Kingston, and McMaster University, Hamilton, were mentioned Tuesday as prospective sites for the province's third college of dentistry.

But Health Minister Dymond, officiating at the sod-turning for the University of Western Ontario's $8,430,000 dental sciences building, declined to say where or when the next faculty would be established.

"They (Queen's and McMaster) are already in our thinking," he said, "but that does not mean to say we have made any decision where the next faculty will be."



Western's new building, part of the university's health sciences complex, will house the first faculty of dentistry since the one established at the University of Toronto in 1875.

With a paved area in front of the living room, there would be ample space to park a car. Design is basically frame but has brick veneer to the window sills. However, house could be built in all frame or all brick veneer if so desired. Complete instructions are supplied with the blueprint. Design could be built on a 50 ft. lot, and is suitable for electric heating. Instructions are included.

Standard blueprints for this Design No. 313 cost $20.00 for the first set, and $3.00 for additional sets. Blueprints comply with the National Building Code of Canada, and are obtainable by return mail. (Ontario residents must remit 5% sales tax.) The new 1966 Design Book entitled "101 Selected Suburban and Country Homes designed for Canadians" price $1.00 tax free is now available at this newspaper office. This edition includes information on the cost of Building in Canada, financing, heating, insulation, layout, two storey Colonial, and duplex designs. Full details on how to order blueprints are also included in this book. Apply to Intelligencer Ltd., Box 190, Belleville, Ont., giving design number and enclosing $1.00.

Canadain Aerospace Industry Makes Comeback in Last Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian aerospace industry has made a comeback in the last year.

"We are the major exporter, next to the car makers, of sophisticated manufactured products," says Dave Golden, president of the Air Industries Association of Canada.

"We are genuinely competitive internationally," he said in an interview Tuesday. "We now sell to about 30 countries."

The association, representing 90 companies, meets in Victoria Oct. 3-4 and for one day will discuss how to increase exports of aerospace products such as aircraft, engines and electronic equipment.

Among speakers at the meeting will be Trade Minister Winters and his deputy, J. H. Warren.

The Canadian aerospace industry now is employing 41,700 persons compared with 35,700 last year.

Gross value of products in the first six months of this year is $252,500 compared with $339,000,000 for all of 1965.

Exports for the first six months of 1966 are valued at $163,300,000 compared with $251,000,000 for all of 1965.

Mr. Golden said the defence production department is no longer the only customer of the industry. The increase in sales since last year was almost entirely commercial, he added.

Tashkent's Spirit Evaporates Pakistan and India Malevolent

KARACHI (CP) — Pakistan and India are once more eyeing each other with animosity. The spirit of Tashkent has evaporated completely.

Things are back to where they were before Premier Kosygin of the Soviet Union brought the two countries together at Tashkent last January and tried to arbitrate their differences. Tension prevails again.

True, the troops no longer face one another and diplomatic relations, communications and air traffic over one another's territory, restored after Tashkent, are still being belatedly, if somewhat precariously, maintained.

But the thin and ephemeral film of accord thrown over the festering sore that is Kashmir has been brusquely peeled off.

It happened soon after Pakistan and India began exchanging notes for another round of talks. A key subject of any such meeting would be Kashmir, which India firmly maintains belongs to it and of which Pakistan equally firmly claims ownership.

Under the Tashkent Declaration, the two countries pledged not to make war on each other. Among other things, the declaration called for frequent meetings at ministerial level between India and Pakistan.

One such meeting was held last March. Pakistan sent a note to New Delhi May 26 for another ministerial round. There was no reply for more than a month. Then came an Indian note asking for a meeting of officials to prepare the ground for the ministerial talks.

There was some bitterness in Rawalpindi, capital of Pakistan, about the timing of the reply. Coming as it did just before Prime Minister Mrs. Indira Gandhi's Moscow visit July 16, it seemed to Pakistani officials to be a publicity move intended to give Moscow the impression that India was keen to implement the Tashkent Declaration.

Nevertheless, President Ayub held a cabinet meeting to discuss the Indian note. What emerged was that there was no point in holding a meeting with India without preconditions. Discussions about Kashmir would have to become "constructive and meaningful."

A reply was sent to New Delhi along these lines. But meanwhile there was a growing suspicion that India did not really want to discuss Kashmir "meaningfully" at all.

For one thing, last June the Indian government promulgated an ordinance making it a crime to question the accession of Kashmir to India. This seemed to close the chapter on Tashkent, because Kashmir's "accession," which Pakistan does not recognize, lies at the core of the trouble between the two countries.

BACK TO PROPAGANDA

Moreover, the atmosphere between them has steadily deteriorated since April. It was agreed at Tashkent that press and radio on either side would not hurl propaganda across the border. After a sort of burlesque silence initially, a mumble arose. It developed into a babble and finally the usual uproar.

India has persistently accused Pakistan of aiding the Mizo and Naga rebels near the East Pakistan border. Allegations of collusion between Pakistan and China in the military field are also heard.

Pakistani officials are naturally irked because, true or false, denials are apt to be taken with a grain of salt by disinterested observers. Nevertheless, all charges are individually and meticulously parried as they come up.

There have been accusations and counter-accusations of each country building up its arms. Each has charged the other with harboring nuclear ambitions. A Pakistan note sent to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant charged India with preparing to carry out an underground nuclear test before its general election next year.

Both countries are spending on defence more than what it economically healthy to either. The winds in which they are caught up seem to be propelling them on a course that will inevitably lead to another collision sooner or later. However, it would still be inaccurate to predict an immediate second bout of hostilities.

SOLDIERS DIES

OTTAWA (CP) — Trooper Leonard Wayne Nase of Winnipeg, a 24-year-old member of the Canadian UN peacekeeping force on Cyprus, died Tuesday in the British military hospital at Dhekelia. The defence department said his death did not appear to be the result of an accident. He entered the hospital Monday.

Battle of Somme Simply Abattoir In Which Generation Perished

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Canadians were relatively lucky. They didn't get into the Battle of the Somme until the beginning of September of 1916 when it was already two months old.

The Newfoundlanders, who were not Canadians 50 years ago, were in the same morning it all began—July 1. The 1st Newfoundland Regiment was virtually annihilated that first day in an assault on the German trenches south of Beaumont Hamel. The regiment suffered 684 casualties, 310 of them fatal.

A British generation was swallowed up in the valley of the Somme as the First World War battle dragged on long into November of bloody 1916.

British casualties numbered 419,654, of which 57,470 occurred on the opening day alone. The French lost 204,253, the Canadians 24,029 and Germans between 600,000 and 650,000.

All told there were about 1,900,000 casualties in the bloodiest battle in history—what a writer for the Manchester Guardian recently described as "simply an arrangement for killing soldiers."

Sir Douglas Haig, the British commander, deliberately embarked on a war of attrition with the Germans. The stark idea was to kill as many Germans as possible.

LED TO STALEMATE

Haig succeeded in damaging the German armies so that they could never mount a war-winning offensive. But he ruined his own armies in the process and the Allies had to wait until the Americans came to fill the manpower gap of a slain generation.

On Nov. 21, 1916, Haig conceded that the battlefield—the first snow of winter had fallen —was a "morass" and finally called off the slaughter—temporarily. He fought the same kind of battle in Flanders the next year with the same disastrous results: an advance of a few meaningless miles.

One of the best descriptions of the Battle of the Somme was given in the diary of Lt.-Col. T. L. Tremblay, commander of Canada's 22nd Battalion (later, the Royal 22nd Regiment):

"If hell is as bad as what I have seen at Courcelette, I would not wish my worst enemy to go there."

In November, Maj.-Gen. Sir David Watson, commander of the 4th Canadian Division, reported to Canadian Corps headquarters that the men's clothing became so coated with mud that it sometimes weighed 120 pounds.

'MASS BUTCHERY'

The official Canadian history of the First World War says Haig's offensive struck a severe psychological blow from which German military prestige did not recover.

"Yet after all this has been said in vindication of Haig's achievements at the Somme, we cannot close our eyes to the horror of the mass butchery to which the commander-in-chief's tactics had condemned the troops under his command."

There were already 470,000 casualties on both sides when the four divisions Canadian Corps entered the abattoir.

The 3rd Brigade got the first taste of it—670 casualties in five days trying to hold 300 yards of a captured German trench.

On Sept. 9, Cpl. Leo Clarke of the 2nd Battalion killed or wounded 20 Germans in holding a stretch of trench alone. He was killed two weeks later, before the award of his Victoria Cross was announced.

On Oct. 8, Piper James Richardson, 18, of the 16th (Canadian Scottish) Battalion led a fight through the barbed wire into a trench. He was later killed and his Victoria Cross was also a posthumous award.

A Canadian VC winner who survived to receive his medal was Pte. John Chipman Kerr of Port Moody, B.C., of the 49th Battalion whose one-man attack at point-blank range at Courcelette Sept. 16, 1916, convinced the enemy they were surrounded. The result was that 62 prisoners were taken and 250 yards of enemy trench captured. Kerr died in 1961.

Tanks made their first appearance Sept. 15 but the surprise of the hundreds, 28-ton machines was destroyed when the British loosed too few over too large a front.

The Canadians had only six and all were put out of action on the first day they were used. Miles of trial and demonstration had almost worn them out before the battle.

Five infantrymen were assigned to each tank—to walk ahead and move casualties from its path.

The first week's fighting at the Somme cost the Canadian Corps 7,230 casualties.

In the Thiepval Ridge engagement, the entire Canadian Corps was allotted only two tanks. One broke down before reaching the start line. The other caught fire when a German shell exploded its ammunition.

CHURCHILL SHOCKED

Winston Churchill recorded how shocked he was when he found out that the "tremendous secret" of the tank had been exposed to the enemy "on such a petty scale."

By October, it was obvious that the Germans would not break. But Haig ordered: no relaxation; just one more big push. One entire British army was assigned to capture Regina Trench from the Germans. The names of single trenches became better known through the world's press than the names of some previous wars in history.

By the time the 4th Canadian Division captured Regina Trench, it was almost nonexistent. In many places it was blown 20 feet wide and for long stretches it was filled to overflowing with corpses.

Even though 20 years have passed, the Somme still leaves one sick in stomach, heart and mind.

Land O' Lakes Association Lists Officers

TWEED — The Land O'Lakes Tourist Association held its annual meeting in Northbrook Legion Hall on Wednesday night. Due to the absence of the president, James Arbuckle, the meeting was chaired by vice-president John Savigny. He reported that during the past year there had been eight executive meetings held. There were 10 thousand copies of the Land O'Lakes brochure printed and distributed.

Mr. Savigny introduced Mr. John Greenshield from the Department of Tourism, who spoke briefly to the members. Mr. Greenshield commended the organization on its friendship, work and attitude. He said he would make no comment about the grant at this time. He said the Ontario Development Corporation had released an article in the financial section of a Toronto newspaper regarding its changing policy in lending to the hotel industry. At the time he had no definite word on it but as soon as it was clarified he would pass the word on.

It was agreed to have the books audited.

OFFICERS LISTED

The election of officers was conducted by Mr. Don Hogarth of Nagaset. It was agreed the Land O' Lakes was divided into eight districts and at least one representative from each district would be on the executive.

The new executive members are: president — Mr. James Arbuckle of Arden; secretary — Mrs. Jeannetta Whitfield of Tweed; treasurer — Mr. Stan Walters of Tweed; vice-president — Mr. Bill Scott of Denbigh; executive committee — Hugh Hillier, of Henderson; John Savigny of Clayne; Byron Wing of Sharbot Lake; Ted Cournoyea of Tweed; Dr. Donnie Hunt of Marlbank; Bruce Huyck of Hay Bay; Bill Morris of Napanee and Les Schunk of Deseronto.

It was agreed to select a chairman for the brochure committee at a later date. Considerable discussion took place about advertising in the brochure.

Soviet Newspaper Is Critical Of Canada's 'Export of Death'

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP)—Soviet newspaper readers are being told the Canadian government is out of step with the people in its attitude toward Viet Nam.

Pravda, in seeking to show that the Pearson government and the people are not necessarily in agreement on Viet Nam, referred to an incident that occurred during the visit to Canada of Dmitry Polyansky, first deputy premier.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, has also printed complaints about "Canada's share in the manufacture and export of death"—meaning arms deliveries to the United States.

Some Canadian statesmen, it said, took offence when Polyansky denounced the American "aggressors" in Viet Nam. This was a reference to External Affairs Minister Martin who locked horns with Polyansky in an impromptu debate in Ottawa June 28 after Polyansky had delivered an attack on the U.S.

Pravda said other statesmen "didn't share this silence." On the contrary, it added, they assured the Soviet guests they did not approve of the American "invasion" of Viet Nam and the widening of the war there.

"These statesmen (Pravda did not identify them or say whether they were in the cabinet) more truthfully expressed the mood of Canadians."

A short time before this article appeared, there was another under an Ottawa dateline of American-Canadian co-operation" is Canadian arms deliveries in the U.S. to be used in Viet Nam

DIFFER WITH PEARSON

"It is an open secret that the Canadian war industry is filling orders for the Pentagon. According to recently published data, Canadian firms in 1965 filled direct U.S. military orders valued at $280,000,000. . . .

"Planes and guns, chemicals and equipment, radio apparatuses and missile parts—all this material is streaming into the United States from Canada on an unprecedented scale."

Pravda said Prime Minister Pearson had declared Canada's role as a member of the control commission was not hampered "by the fact that Canadian weapons are used by American troops in Viet Nam."

"Public organizations which come out against the U.S. intervention in Southeast Asia, and which demand that Canada stop supporting the aggressor, view this matter in a different way," Pravda said.

Similar articles, questioning Canada's neutrality in Viet Nam, have appeared from time to time in the Soviet press during the last year.

Canadian embassy sources were disturbed by the tone of the Pravda attack, particularly the reference to "manufacture and export of death." They also questioned the authenticity of some of the figures cited.

Their view is that the Soviet Union is demanding that Canada adopt the Communist version of neutrality. And they note that the demand comes from a country that, for years, has made it official policy to supply arms and munitions to countries in potential trouble spots around the world.

Cubans Told Country Making Big Strides to Economic Goal

HAVANA (AP) — Communist leaders are working to convince Cubans that their country is making big economic strides and that they should sacrifice themselves a bit more for the future.

Recent reports assert that in agriculture, particularly, the Fidel Castro regime has shown its mettle to the extent that "the Yankee (commercial) blockade has been practically defeated."

Economic statistics are not disclosed. Officials usually talk of "production gains" and "economic improvement" in general terms.

Food Industries Minister Rolando Alvarez has announced, however, that Cuba exported 6,500,000 pesos worth of agricultural products last year, providing 4,100,000 pesos in convertible currency.

Cuba rates the peso on a par with the dollar but it is rarely convertible.

Despite the reported economic gains, Cubans complain they find it increasingly difficult to feed their families. Many claim the food situation has gone downhill the last two years. While no one is starving, many lack a balanced diet.

Much the same situation exists with consumer goods. Toilet tissue, laundry soap, toothpaste, kitchen items, electrical appliances, shoes and clothing continue to be tightly rationed, extremely scarce and of poor quality when available.

He says exports of frozen meats, rum, fruits and sugar will bring in the needed money and machines to increase production for domestic needs. Next year's food production will be around 818,000,000 pesos, Alvarez says, a gain of 14 per cent compared with 1965.

He admits that the degree of agricultural production and the level of industrialization are not yet to the point of "covering the requirements of a constantly increasing population with an increasing purchasing power."

But he says he is confident the 10-per-cent state-controlled food industry will meet its fundamental goals of "making our people one of the best fed in the world" through exports. It will "help in breaking up the most critical point of strangulation of our economy, the imbalance in our foreign commerce."

Alvarez blames the U.S. commercial blockade of the island, longtime dependence on the sugar industry and pre-Castro "Yankee monopolies" for holding back development of the Cuban food industry.

He says it was in a sad state when the Castro regime took over in 1959.

One of the industry's major tasks is to substitute home-grown products for popular imported items — spaghetti and noodles for rice, and fish or eggs for meat.

The Communist party, aided by the Women's Federation and the public health ministry, is embarked on an educational campaign to change the population's established eating habits. They are particularly anxious to get Cubans to eat less rice, most of it imported at great cost. They would also like this island's 7,500,000 inhabitants to eat fish products,

SPORT SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

This could be the year of the Big Hunt. Lands and Forests Department officials following a survey say "With a few exceptions the current game crop is as good as we've seen in many a year."

Deer enjoyed one of the most open winters on record across the main eastern range. Winter losses were low and well-nourished does have produced a bumper crop of fawns. If weather during November is at all reasonable the hunt should be a good one.

Moose hunters last year set records in licences sold and moose harvested (over 13,000). There is no indication that moose are less abundant across the southern range this year. Much of the range south of the French and Mattawa Rivers does not see hunting pressure is heavy will have a closed season on moose this year, although a two-week season has been established in the Pembroke Forest Area.

Ducks are in good supply in some hunting areas, scarcer in others. Southern areas appear to have produced well and the birds are in reasonable supply. The early-season birds are loaded — with pin-feathers.

If you like goose dinners try James and Hudson Bay although most commercial goose camps are completely booked. Even this year there will be good hunting on the Lake St. Lawrence goose management west of Cornwall. Over 100 Canadas were produced from nestings in that area and almost 1,000 geese have summered on the St. Lawrence.

Grouse lovers should try the north country where there are excellent bird densities. Moose hunters should also take shotguns along. The birds are in good supply on southern bushlots.

Hunters of the wily ringneck pheasant — the bird that would rather run than fly and which is about three parts tall, should have as much success as last year. In the Niagara peninsula and Essex county they are below former levels.

Hungarian partridge lovers should have no trouble getting their quota. An over-abundant spring season has produced an excellent crop in the eastern counties where coveys contain up to 25 birds. A large departmental area near Gananoque is well-blocked and hunters are placed on a daily quota.

A ten-day Bob-white quail season has been established in four south-western counties and department officials state that current numbers are the best in years. Don't forget the dog.

A lot of hunters are overlooking that little gamester the woodcock. They are in good supply and many of the hunting fraternity are taking out on some top quality shooting.

Jugged stewed or in a pie Brer Rabbit should furnish many a tasty dish to hunters. Cottontails are abundant across most of the range in agricultural southern Ontario. Rabbit hunters can expect a bonanza. The European hare or "Jacks" are not at high levels except in local areas. There is no information regarding the current status of the snowshoe hare.

Small-game hunters should find no lack of targets this season. Ontario is blessed with a large variety of small game and — it is plentiful.

Black squirrel stew, raccoon pie, fox fries, wolf sauie and coyote casserole — name it and you can have it. All these animals provide excellent sport but are neglected by a majority of hunters.

Raccoons are particularly plentiful and foxes are on the increase in southern areas after some lean years. Why not get the beagle in shape for some hunting fun this fall and winter? The weather should note that long-haired fur commanded surprisingly good prices last winter.

In summary departmental officials say that Ontario gunners can expect good hunting of most species this year.

And they add: — "Enjoy your hunt, but please remember to treat private property as you would your own. Do not forget the hunting licence; in addition, a two-dollar Federal Migratory Bird Permit is required this year for hunting all waterfowl, snipe and woodcock.

Hunter Safety Training is paying off. Latest figures show that since accident reports were first tabulated in 1958 total accidents are down 30 per cent. The annual enrolment is expected to level off at 18,000 - 20,000.

Youngsters up to 21 were involved in a majority of the shooting accidents reported last year. All should have had the compulsory hunter safety training although many did not.

However, only one person trained by the safety program in the province was involved in any of the 11 fatal accidents. Six persons died because untrained hunters opened fire at noisy or half-seen shapes in the woods. Four persons killed themselves with their own weapons.

Record TD Pass Gave Stamps Victory

By WALTER KREVENCHUK

WINNIPEG (CP)—Rod Grant thought Winnipeg Blue Bombers had things all wrapped up with his club ahead 9-6 and Calgary Stampeders backed up to their own one - yard line with 26 minutes remaining in a Western Football Conference game Tuesday night.

But Jerry Keeling back-pedalled into the Calgary end zone and threw into the waiting arms of Terry Evanshen at the Calgary 45. Evanshen scampered 70 yards for a touchdown as the Stampeders moved on to a 16-9 victory before 15,307 fans.

"It was a fine pass," Grant said of the throw that boosted Calgary into the midst of the race for the WFC's beat playoff spot with nine points. Winnipeg has 10, second - place Edmonton 8 almost 11.

It was good enough to equal a Canadian Football League record for the longest completed pass. The same distance was covered previously by Sam Etcheverry and Hal Patterson of Montreal Alouettes and Winnipeg's Kenny Ploen and Ken Nielsen.

Grant also paid tribute to Keeling's accuracy in the second quarter on a deep pass to Jerry Rhome. The 31-yard touchdown that wiped out a 3-0 Winnipeg lead.

Larry Robinson did the rest of the scoring for the supposedly crippled Stampeders, who have spent most of their time and a draw in their last five games. He booted a 42-yard field goal with seven seconds left.

Directing a Winnipeg second-quarter march that eventually produced the 95-yard touchdown, Ploen was rammed by the knee of Calgary's Wayne Harris and suffered what appeared to be a hip bruise. But its proximity to the kidney forced his withdrawal from action as a precaution against more serious injury.

Dick Thornton stepped in, threw a 32-yard swing pass too Marty Hoard when Hoard was later handed to Art Perkins for four - yard touchdown dive over tackle. Norm Winton kicked the 22-yard field goal in the first quarter.

Ron Cranben, the Eastern Conference's best rookie last season with Montreal, was the game's defensive star.

Besides scoring his sixth touchdown — Calgary has only produced six this season—Evanshen pulled in five passes for 174 yards. Starks caught four passes for 64 for Blue Bombers. Calgary offence good for 11 first downs.

Perkins, Rosen and Dave Ralmey put out strong efforts for Winnipeg, but it wasn't enough to stave off the team's fourth loss in five games.

Bombers threw a 330-yard offence for 18 first downs. Perkins rushed 12 times for 85 yards and grabbed two passes for 22. Rosen got 12 yards on the ground and 58 passing and Dave Ralmey 86 on the ground and 18 passing.

Ploen, Thornton and Ralmey threw 34 times, completed 18 for 238 yards and had two intercepted. Keeling and Peter Liske threw 22 times, completed 11 for 264 yards and also had two intercepted. Liske switched from defence, where he intercepted twice, when Keeling was shaken up in the final minutes.

CFL Boss Taking Close Look

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian professional football has some problems but still is fairly healthy, Senator Keith Davey said Tuesday night.

He told a B'nai B'rith sports dinner that he has been taking a close "critical" look at the game since he accepted the job of Canadian Football League commissioner last June but didn't want to make any specific observations until he takes over the job from Sydney Halter-Jan. 1.

He said he has visited all CFL cities to attend games this season and plans a trip to the U.S. next month to watch some National - and American Football League games and speak to league executives.

He offered some opinions on a variety of subjects:

—Present import regulations "have probably arrived at the proper ratio" where there were not only top players but also an incentive for minor football in Canada.

—Referees are not perfect but are not nearly as bad as some persons suggest.

M. Norman To Play In Mexico

TORONTO (CP) — Moe Norman of Gilford, Ont., will represents in the Mexican, Puerto Rican and Caracas open golf tournaments later this year, but will not compete in the Canada Cup matches at Tokyo Nov. 10-13.

Norman won the right to play in the Latin American events as well as the Canada Cup matches by winning the Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship at Calgary last month.

However, the Caracas Open is also scheduled for Nov. 11 and Norman had already decided to play in the Latin American events when he learned he was eligible to play at Tokyo.

Broncos Get Tobin Rote

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Quarterback Tobin Rote, 36, has joined the winless Denver Broncos of the American Football League.

Rote, who retired from the AFL San Diego Chargers after the 1964 season, reported to the Broncos Tuesday and ran through a full workout. He alternated with John McCormick, the Bgncos' No. 1 quarterback.

Rote, who played for Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference during the late 1951 and 1952 seasons, has been living in Birmingham, Mich.

Rote was troubled by tendon-itis in his right elbow during his last season with San Diego but he says: "It didn't bother me a bit in my workout here."

Kempf's Field Goal Did It

Lion-Taming Larks Win By Two

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP)—You can't blame Dave Shrien if he isn't partial to the figure two today.

Shrien, head coach of B.C. Lions of the Western Football Conference, watched his club drop a ball game by that number of points for the second time within 48 hours.

Toronto Argonauts short circuited the Lions in Toronto Sunday by a 29-27 margin and Montreal Alouettes won here Tuesday night 25-23.

To make matters worse, the game - winning field goal came from the toe of Peter Kempf, who was traded to Montreal by B.C. in the spring.

For Montreal fans the game was in a scoring downpour in a drought that had seen the Als score only two touchdowns in their last six games, and none in their last four. The win gave the Als a 4-3 won-lost record and eight points—four more than the last - place Argos.

The loss drove the Lions deeper into the Western Conference cellar with a 2-5 record, five points behind Calgary Stampeders.

Montreal touchdowns came on a 48 - yard pass-and-run play from quarterback George Reed to fleather Gerry Sternberg in the second quarter, an 80-yard run up the middle by fullback Bob Parsons and a six - yard right yard plunge by Don Lisbon in the third.

MUNSEY DOVE IN

Bill Munsey, the Lions hard-charging halfback, plunged over from the Montreal one yard line with just 43 seconds elapsed in the second quarter but the kick for the game failed. Bill Mitchell converted.

Quarterback Joe Kapp hit flanker Willie Fleming on a 43-yard pass-and-run effort, after the Lions Dea Findlay had recovered a Lisbon fumble at the Montreal 30, with three minutes gone in the third quarter.

Mitchell missed the convert, but made up for it later in the quarter when he kicked a 25-yard field goal. Flanker Sonny Homer, rounded out the B.C. scoring when he caught a 30-yard Kapp strike in the end zone. Mitchell kicked the extra point and the stage was set for Kempf's game - winning field goal.

Bobcats Wins By Default

Three 'Outs' In 9th Ends Game

By GARRY ALEXANDER
(Staff Sportswriter)

A triple ejection in the bottom of the ninth broke up a tight see-saw B. and D. softball finals battle at Alemite Park last night and resulted in a 9-5 forfeit victory for the Bobcats over Picton Kinsmen.

Picton held a slim 8-7 lead and the 'Cats were threatening when the explosion came.

Picton scored four runs in the top of the ninth to move ahead 9-7. Locker's second single and Mowat's triple got one back and brought Whyte to the plate with the tying out to be the game-ending play.

Whyte grounded to the right side and a quick throw to third appeared to get Mowat sliding off third. Third base umpire Austin Watkin made the "safe" call and was immediately rushed by a group of Picton players.

Then some sort of peace was restored, Watkin had thrown out pitcher Carl Stacey, catcher Marve Stacey and shortstop Leo St. Denis. Picton had already used up its bench and was thus forced to forfeit the game.

Back in the top of the seventh, with the score tied 4-4, Picton's Keith MacDonald was tossed out by plate umpire Tom Hulme. MacDonald was called out for stepping out of the batter's box on a bunt attempt. He argued the call and pushed the plate official. Hulme also put Jim Guernsey off the Picton bench in the eighth for remarks about called balls.

Picton leads the four-game series, set two games to one and a big crowd is expected in Picton, at 8.00 tonight, for the fourth game.

Last night's game provided the fans with the best ball of the series despite the arguments.

A walk and wild pitches put Temple's Tabbies one up in the first but two walks, an error mixed in with hits by St. Denis, Stacey and Lockwood gave Picton a 4-1 lead in the third.

Bobcats tied it in the fifth on hits by Barrons, Meraw, T. LeSage and Mowat's triple, plus an interference call against shortstop St. Denis. They jumped ahead 6-4 in the seventh on a walk, error and Locke's two-run double.

An error and walk chased 'Cat pitcher Barrons in favor of Clair Leahy opening the ninth. K. Stacey's two-strike sacrifice bunt, St. Denis' fly ball and Weese's pop double tied it 5-5. Whyte misjudged M. Stacey's liner into a run-scoring triple and another bobble made it 8-5.

Barrons had fanned seven and walked four, allowing seven of Picton's nine hits before leaving. Carl Stacey gave up 10 hits, struck out eight and passed four.

Ron Weese brought his three-game hit total to 11 with two doubles, and two singles for Picton. Marve Stacey had a triple and single, Keith MacDonald a double, Dave Lockwood and Leo St. Denis a single each.

Eastern Statistics

Argos Have Top Four

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference are in last place but they lead in four of the individual player-accomplishment categories.

Bobby Taylor has caught 36 passes from Toronto quarterbacks Wally Gabler and Eagle Day for 524 yards. Whit Tucker of Ottawa Rough Riders is second with 483 yards on 31 catches.

Dave Thelen of Toronto has punted 520 yards rushing in 110 attempts for an average gain of 4.5 yards.

Don Lisbon of Montreal Alouettes is second with 459 yards. The figures do not include Monday's and Tuesday's games.

The conference's best punter is Toronto's Dave Mann whose 80 punts average 44.2 yards. Mann's longest punt—102 yards —is a conference record.

In pass interceptions, Mary Luster of the Argonauts has caught six for 34 yards. He is tied with Joe Poirier of Ottawa. Jim Copeland, another Argo-naut, dominates the kickoff-return category, having returned 13 kickoffs for 265 yards.

The best punt returner is Gerney Henley of Hamilton 75-per-Cats with 50 for 277 yards. Second is Copeland with 197 yards in 9 returns.

Russ Jackson of Ottawa leads the passers with 1,344 yards in 91 completions. He has attempted 159 passes.

Montreal's Peter Kempf is the conference's leading scorer with 48 points. Statistics for scoring leaders, which include games through Tuesday, show Jeff Reed, Hamilton Cats, 42; Kempf with two touchdowns, seven converts, nine field goals and two singles.

In the total first-downs category, Ottawa has gained 169 but Toronto is second with 148.

Leafs Beat Rochester

Watson Signs With Detroit

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs continued their rigorous exhibition schedule Tuesday night, defeating Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League 3-1, while the remaining five National Hockey League clubs went through their pre-season tuneups.

A pair of Leafs veterans, Frank Mahovlich and Dave Keon, scored a goal each in Toronto's third exhibition contest in four days. John Brenneman scored the other Toronto goal, while rookie Mike Walton replied for Rochester.

The Leafs leave their Peterborough training camp again today for an exhibition game against New York at the Nanigans camp in Kingston.

Two of the Leafs defensive corps are sidelined with injuries. Allan Stanley has been assigned to skating workouts because of a problem knee. Surgery was performed on the knee during the off season, but fluid had to be drained from it Friday.

Kent Douglas, injured last week, was told by club physicians Tuesday he would be inactive for at least two more weeks with a separated shoulder.

Marcel Pronovost, another defenceman, is being treated for an injured knee. He played in Tuesday's exhibition, however.

WINGS SIGN 3

Meanwhile, in Detroit, the Red Wings announced from their training camp that veterans Andy Bathgate and Leo Boivin and sophomore Bryan Watson have signed contracts for the 1966-67 season.

Forwards Red Berenson and Reg Fleming also signed contracts with the Rangers at Kingston. Berenson was obtained from Montreal Canadiens three months ago.

Drysdale 4-Hits Cards In 2-0 Win

Dodgers Eye Flag

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Well, we're a half game better than we were yesterday," manager Walter Alston said Tuesday night after a 2-0 victory over St. Louis Cardinals increased the Los Angeles Dodgers' National League lead to three games with five to go.

The Dodgers' win reduced their magic number to three, meaning any combination of Los Angeles victories and Pittsburgh Pirate losses totalling three would give the Dodgers the pennant.

The second - place Pirates, who were rained out Tuesday night, play Philadelphia Phillies twice tonight, and the Dodgers play the Cardinals once.

When the possibility of the pennant race ending tonight was suggested to Alston, he said:

"I hope you're right, but that's asking for a whole lot in one day."

CAUTION HIS STYLE

Alston's style may be loaded with caution, but it's followed him through five pennants in his 12 years with the Dodgers. This would be his sixth in 13 seasons and would mark the first time since 1957-58 that a National League team has won two consecutive crowns.

In the only other National League game, San Francisco Giants defeated Atlanta Braves 6-3. Rain also washed out Houston Astros at Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs at New York Mets.

In the American League, California Angels stopped Detroit Tigers, 6-2, Minnesota Twins downed Cleveland Indians 5-1 and Boston Red Sox ended their season by nipping Chicago White Sox 2-1 after losing 10. Kansas City Athletics at Baltimore Orioles and New York Yankees at Washington Senators lost to the rain.

Don Drysdale was the Dodgers' latest hero as he shut out St. Louis on four hits for his fourth straight victory and 13th against 16 defeats.

Ron Fairly gave him the only run he needed with a second-inning homer, but the Dodgers added one in the sixth on a double by Jim Lefebvre and Lou Johnson's single.

MAYS HAS BIG NIGHT

Willie Mays drove in four runs with his 36th homer and a single, keeping the Giants mathematically alive. They're in third place, four games out. Mays' slugging offset Hank Aaron's 43rd homer, a three run blow in the fourth inning.

George Brunet stymied Detroit on four hits while Jim Fregosi hit a two-run homer and Jose Cardenal a three - run homer for California.

Minnesota moved to within one - half game of the second-place Tigers behind Jim Perry's three - hit pitching. Harmon Killebrew hit his 27th homer for the Twins while Bobo Versalles drove in two runs with a double.

Ken Berry singled home Tommie Agee with the only run of the game for Chicago's opening-game victory over Boston.

But the Red Sox, who ended their season unusually early, came back in the second contest as Tony Conigliaro tripled home one run and scored the other when Don Buford fumbled George Scott's grounder.

Calls Criticism "Nonsense"

Surtees Denies Crash Fault

TORONTO (CP) — John Surtees of England, blamed by some drivers for causing a five-car pileup in Saturday's Canadian Grand Prix at Mosport race track, denies he was at fault.

The crash occurred after Surtees' Lola T70 spun as the field was heading into the first corner. Soon after the five cars had been sidelined, some of the other drivers accused Surtees of causing the pileup.

Some drivers said he went into the corner too fast and lost control of his car. Others said he had bumped several cars going up the pit straightaway.

"A lot of people are talking who should be keeping quiet," said Surtees. "If some of these drivers saw as much as they claim to have seen, then there must have been an awful lot of gawking around instead of concentrating on their driving."

Surtees, who almost lost his life in a practice crash here a year ago, said he was bumped from behind and along the side of the car Saturday.

"I was hit. Two other car made first contact behind the rear wheel on the right, then sheered up the side of the car and into the front wheel. That banged up the steering. That's when I spun."

One driver said Surtees tried to take the turn faster than anyone in history.

"This is nonsense," Surtees said. "There were slower cars in front of me because of the qualifying system and the race had a standing start. On a running lap, I would be heading into the corner in fourth gear. As it was I was high in third gear."

How They're Biting

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fishing was good for bass, pickerel, northern pike and muskellunge in the Muskoka area of Georgian Bay during the last week.

The lands and forests department, in its weekly report on Ontario angling, singled out Gloucester Pool as the hot spot in the region.

The second trout season closes Friday in several eastern counties, ending the season for the species throughout Ontario.

The season for rainbow and lake trout also closes Sept. 30 in many eastern areas. But in most counties anglers can fish for rainbows until Nov. 30 and there is no closed season on lake trout in many areas.

Reports from nine of the department's 22 districts:

NORTH

Chapleau—Fishing poor.

Geraldton—Pickerel and northern pike angling fair to good in most waters.

Pembroke — Speckled, lake trout and pickerel good, northern pike and muskellunge fair.

SOUTH

Lake Simcoe—Bass and lake trout fair in Lake Simcoe, Pickerel and bass fair in Sparrow Lake. Bass good and panfish fair in Lake Couchiching. Bass, pike and muskellunge good in Georgian Bay area. Bass and pickerel fair in Six Mile Lake. Bass, pike, muskellunge and pickerel good in Gloucester Pool.

EAST

Kemptville — Angling good in Lake St. Francis.

Lindsay — Fishing generally fair to fair.

Perth—Bass good in Kingston area. Pike good in South Bay area of Lake Ontario. Pickerel and muskellunge fair, panfish good and lake trout fair to poor in district.

WEST

Lake Erie—Pickerel good in lower Detroit River, fair in Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie. Trolling Essex County. Smallmouth bass fair to good at Long Point Bay and Rondeau Bay area of Lake Erie and Mitchell Bay of Lake St. Clair. Muskellunge fair in Niagara River and Lake St. Clair. Perch good. Rainbow trout fair in Norfolk County's Big Creek and Elgin County's Little and Big Otter creeks.

Lake Huron—Rainbow trout fair in Georgian Bay, pickerel poor and perch fair in Bruce County. Bass fair off Lake Huron's shoreline.

20 Years NHL President

The Colorful Story Of Campbell

Although he has been president of the National Hockey League for 20 years, Clarence Campbell has no thought of retiring. He explains why in an interview with a Canadian Press reporter.

By AL McNEIL

MONTREAL (CP) — Once upon a time, Clarence Campbell dreamed of early retirement from the turbulent world of professional hockey.

Not any more.

"I've no thought of retiring now," says the man who has been president and principal moulder of the National Hockey League for the last 20 years.

At the start of the 1967-68 season the league will expand from six teams to 12. New clubs will spring up in Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

There are television contracts to negotiate and there is a new working agreement coming into force with the Canadian Amateur Hockey League.

Retirement? He hasn't the time.

At 61, and after 20 years of guiding the collective destiny of the Montreal Canadiens, Boston Bruins, Toronto Maple Leafs, Detroit Red Wings, New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks, he still has much to do.

One of the trickiest problems facing the league president is television exposure on a national scale in the United States.

Last season, the National Broadcasting Corporation televised part of the Stanley Cup semi-final and final series in color. This year, the league had booked the same two late-season games, plus some playoff games, recorded similar treatment by the same network.

TRY OTHER NETWORKS

"They had the first right of refusal and decided not to go for it," he says.

"However, we're now free to offer it to other networks and we're in the process of conducting negotiations with three other organizations."

Clarence Campbell has been "in the process of conducting negotiations" for something almost from the time he was born on July 9, 1905, in Fleming, Sask.

The family moved to Edmonton while Campbell was a youngster. He entered the University of Alberta from 1922 to 1926, when he went to Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar.

He was 10 when he organized the Edmonton District Hockey Association.

Today, as a $25,000-to-$30,-000-a-year executive, he is enshrined in the Hockey Hall of Fame as a builder of the game.

To the office of league president, Campbell brought the mind of a scholar, the courage of a soldier and the judgment of a successful lawyer who was once a prosecutor of Toronto gangsters.

With precise utterances delivered in clipped speech he brought order out of the bedlam that once marked the league owners' meetings, reducing the wee hours of the morning at the offer efficiency of a bankers' board meeting.

A few days after he took office in 1946, Campbell said hockey should be considered a career to which any Canadian parent should be able to conscientiously direct a son who showed exceptional aptitude for the game. To this end, he developed the NHL players' pension fund into the richest in sport.

As with the fund, expansion of hockey generally, and the NHL in particular, is another personal goal. Television, he feels, could help here.

"Excitement generated by the actual viewing will become contagious and stimulate editorial comment. We have a certain amount of egotism and we think the tremendous exposure, on a medium entirely suited for the game, will serve to build up attendance at the games."

Expansion of the big league through the U.S. will have another benefit, providing "a great stimulus for playing the game."

"Thousands of Americans boys will become interested and when they find out that salaries, pensions and other benefits match other sports, they'll start making their own comparisons.

"Our history has indicated that practically all U.S. hockey players come from Wisconsin, northern Michigan or places having similar climatic conditions to Canada. This interest dropped off when hockey moved out in favor of lyrics. Now, with expansion, the interest will be revived."

Campbell looks forward to the time when hockey will become a truly international sport, where now it is limited somewhat by climate.

"Interest is spreading in Mexico and Europe—with the exception of France and Great Britain—is moving up."

To those who believe recent Japanese participation in the game is an innovation, Campbell points to the 1936 tour of Japan by the Beavers of North Battleford, Sask.

Wherever the game may move, however, Campbell cannot see the Montreal headquarters of the NHL moving—at least not in the near future.

"I can't conceive the movement of league headquarters to New York," he says.

"Traditionally hockey will always be identified with Canada and it would be difficult to change our headquarters without bringing forth a high degree of resentment among Canadians.

"We've been here for 50 years and during that time Canada has been most hospitable to the NHL. It would have been impossible to form and operate the players' pension plan without the co-operation of the Canadian tax authorities."

60 Pairs Tee Off

Pre-Open Pro-Am Under Way

By DOUG MARTIN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez of Puerto Rico was a favorite with spectators Tuesday as big-name professional golfers teed off the Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club course in preparation for Thursday's $100,000 Canadian Open.

Rodriguez, a 128-pounder who jokes, gestures and sings as he plays, was in rare form as he entertained a gallery of 800 fans.

Competition gets serious today with 240 pros and amateurs taking part in a pro-am tournament.

The four-day Open has an entry of 134 pros and 10 amateurs, including 20 Canadians. The field will be cut to 70, including ties, after two days.

Each of the 30 top pros will take amateurs into today's 18-hole pro-am tournament. Among the prominent amateurs are Hollywood personalities Phil Harris, Jim Backus, Bing Crosby and Rod Sterling.

Amateurs receive full handicap and the best ball score is expected to be about 14 under par.

The 71 par on the 6,307-yard course. Tee-off time is at 8 a.m. PDT.

ARMIES CROWD

Rodriguez amused a crowd of about 100 on the driving range when he gave some highly-suspect tips to Doug Saunders, another colorful PGA veteran.

Said Saunders: "You play like that, all week and everything's gonna be all right."

On the course, Rodriguez teed off from a kneeling position, turned his hat over the ball after making a tough shot, took elaborate bows toward the gallery and told jokes.

"You heard (Arnold) Palmer hurt his back, eh!" he asked the gallery.

"Yes," they chorused.

"Tell dat his wallet."

HOUK DENIES IT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manager Ralph Houk of New York Yankees denies he has been offered the job to manage Detroit Tigers. There was a report Tuesday that Houk turned down "a fabulous deal" to manage the American League basketball team.

Ferguson Back With Argonauts

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference announced Tuesday that halfback Larry Ferguson has been returned to the active list.

Ferguson, who played with the Argonauts last season, was injured during the first game of the season and placed on the injured reserve list.

The Toronto club also announced that defensive tackle Billy Shipp, injured in an exhibition game which ended the rest of the regular season, has gone on the injured reserved list for another 15 days.

Sandy Air To Coach Barrie Srs.

BARRIE (CP)—A new coach has been signed by Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association senior series for the 1966-67 hockey season.

Sandy Air, 37, a veteran of international competition and a former Barrie intermediate player, will coachhike Flyers.

Defenceman Jack Dyte, also signed after two seasons., Air was with Whitby Dunlops when they won the World tournament in 1958 and the Allan Cup in 1957 and 1959.

The Handguns

Don Parks paced the field at the Quinte Marksmen's weekly handgun shoot yesterday. Parks' score was 280.

Dick Charlton was second with 243, followed by Cliff Smith at 228, Ray Read at 218 and Harry Hodgkinson with 206.

Ever petted a platypus?

It's probably the most unique creature you'll find anywhere... because the platypus is one of nature's oddities. Duck-billed. Web-footed. Web-tailed. Furry coat. You can observe this shy elusive creature in the fresh water streams of eastern Australian wild-life reserves. Chances are your BOAC travel agent can give you details. He'll also give you many other facts about Australia.' And Europe. And the Caribbean. And the Far East. He'll provide you with first-hand information about the many places he's visited. Ask him about local customs. Things to do and see. Exciting new dishes to enjoy. You'll find your BOAC travel agent helpful in so many ways. Western Leaders Scoring

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kicking specialists improved their Western Football Conference scoring records in Tuesday games with Larry Robinson, of Calgary, Stampeders leading the way by strengthening his hold on third place.

Robinson, sidelay Stamps to the 16-0 victory over Windsor Bombers, collected a field goal and a convert to bring him within seven points of secondplace Saskatchewan Roughrider Jack Abendschan. Bill Mitchell of British Columbia Lions booted a field goal and two converts, although B.C. took a 25-26 defeat at the hands of Montreal Alouettes, to take over fifth place.

Norm Winston of Winnipeg scored only a field goal but it gave him sole possession of sixth place.

The leaders:

Williams Slated For Bosox?

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe says Dick Williams, manager of the championship Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, will be named manager of the Boston Red Sox Thursday, "barring any last-minute hitches."

The Globe, in a front-page story, says the announcement will come at a press conference at Fenway Park.

Williams, if named, would succeed Billy Herman, who was fired Sept. 19.

The .Red Sox refused comment, but a spokesman said an official announcement probably would be made within a day or two.

Williams, 37-year-old former Boston outfielder who managed Toronto to International League playoff victories the last two seasons, has been a leading candidate for the job. However, Williams said he was not offered the position during a visit to Boston last week.

An Open Letter To The Quinte Motoring Public

Roy Stevenson, President, Stevenson Ford Sales Ltd., Belleville, today announced that all purchasers of 1967 model, Ford cars and light trucks will receive a 24-month or 24,000-mile basic vehicle warranty along with a 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty on the power train components, which includes the engine, transmission, driveline and rear axle.

The new warranty, Mr. Stevenson said, is the best the industry has to offer and will be an important factor in backing up the performance which customers have come to expect from Ford cars and trucks.

The 24,000-mile warranty was pioneered by Ford Motor Company on the Lincoln Continental and was later extended to the entire vehicle line.

"Extension of this warranty on the power train components for 1967", Mr. Stevenson said, "is possible because of continued progress toward quality and reliability goals that year after year have enable Ford dealers to be leaders in providing products requiring less and less maintenance".

Terms of the new warranty provide 24 months or for 24,000 miles on the entire vehicle; whichever comes first, and for 5 years and for 50,000 miles on the power train, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by authorized Ford of Canada dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or material.

Tires and tubes are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will continue to be made by the tire people. Owners will remain responsible for normal power train and other maintenance operations such as wheel, brake and clutch adjustments and engine tune-up, and for routine replacement of such items as filters, spark plugs, ignition, and carburetor points, brake and clutch linings. To maintain the power train warranty protection the owner need only present evidence to a Ford of Canada dealer and obtain his certification, once every 12 months, that the minimum services required every 6 months or 6,000 miles have been performed. This means that the engine oil and oil filters have been replaced and the carburetor air cleaner and filter, crankcase oil filter, breather cap, automatic transmission clutch intermediate band, ignition control system, lubricants and engine coolant have been serviced according to the recommended maintenance schedule of the vehicle in question.

The new warranty covers both the original owner and subsequent owners during the specified mileage and time periods.

Mr. Stevenson said that his dealership would introduce the new 1967 models to the public on Friday, September 30.

StowawayRides

2,000 Miles in Wheel Rack

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A 17-year-old Mexican stowaway was home safe in Queretaro today after a four - hour 2,000 - mile flight from Colombia in the wheel compartment of a jet airliner where the temperature was as hot as 45 degrees below zero.

"I was really scared part of the time," said Francisco Cuevas Garcia, "but I made it, and that's what's important — to get home as quickly as possible."

Francisco said he got homesick after six months in Colombia but didn't have the money to take a plane back to Mexico. And it would have been too long to work his way home on a freighter—the way he went to Colombia.

"It's incredible, but he apparently did ride in the wheel well all the way to Mexico," said Ramon Watkins, the Mexico City manager for Colombia's Avianca Airline.

The four-engined jet flew as high as 34,000 feet through air temperatures as low as 45 degrees below zero, Watkins said.

The lad was rescued into the wheel well so tightly that after the plane landed in Mexico City early Tuesday it could not get down and had to call for help to mechanics servicing the plane.

Doctors looked him over, found nothing wrong and turned him over to Mexican immigration authorities. They established his Mexican citizenship.

"He's free now and left for Queretaro as soon as we let him go," an immigration official said.

He went the 115 miles to Queretaro from Mexico City by bus.

HELP WANTED MALE

Young men as Management trainees for large Canadian circuit. High school education desirable. Apply Box A-64, The Intelligencer.

American Motors' 1967 Marlin fastback is longer, wider and lower than its 1966 counterpart, yet retains its distinctive full-fastback styling and semi-elliptical side window openings. The wheelbase has been increased from 112 to 118 inches, permitting an increase of about six and one-half inches in over-all length of the Marlin. Most of the added inches are in front with the longer hood helping to accentuate the fastback styling. In addition, the new Marlin is four inches wider to provide an important increase in shoulder room and in door thickness.

Tammy Grimes Show First Casualty of New Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The season's first casualty — ABC's Tammy Grimes Show—was not even given a month in which to build a following.

The network will replace the Thursday night comedy Oct. 6 with an evening edition of its daytime Dating Game.

The comedy series, produced by William Dozier of Batman fame, had its premiere Sept. 13 and received generally dismal critical notices. It's last show will be Thursday night.

The series was a feeble vehicle for Miss Grimes, best known for her Broadway appearances. There were reports even before the season started that ABC was not happy with the show and it appeared in its lineup because its primary sponsor was high on it.

NBC recently gave two game shows almost three months to build audiences before it gave them up. The shows are Chain Letter with Jan Murray and Showdown with Joe Pyne. Both will quietly disappear Oct. 14.

CBS Reports Tuesday night was a grim summary of opinion and feelings over the Negro struggle for equality during the summer.

The title, Black Power—White Backlash, described the content of the program. Mike Wallace, narrator and frequently interviewer of black and white leaders, called the last few months "a summer of revelation for the white man" in showing him how he really felt about the black man. The program was most impressive when it focused on Negro leaders talking bitterly of violence and rebellion, and on some equally bitter whites.

Recommended tonight:

Bob Hope comedy special, NBC, 9-10 EDT, the comedian's first appearance of the season, assisted by many of his former leading ladies.

White's District

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MADOC — The September meeting of the Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce was held in the Town Hall last Wednesday. Discussion centred around the Santa Claus parade to be held on December 3rd.

The following committee was appointed: parade chairmen — C. Farrow, R. McLeod; parade marshal — Jim Henderson (Kiwanis); promotion — Ken Broad; entertainment — L. Sickwood, T. Ross; movie — J. Keiler, Warren Hill; candy — Jim Hartlieb, Harry Ashton, Bob Wilson; floats — president, Nickle, J. Wagner, Bill Nayler, Clayton Smith; treasurer, J. Stewart, R. Eades, Cliff Monnell.

Other meetings will be held in the near future to form other plans to make this parade a success.

EXPANSION OF WATERWORKS POSTPONED

A special meeting of Madoc Village Council was held on Monday night of this week for the purpose of opening the tenders for the construction of the water and sewage system in the western part of the village. Five firms submitted bids: Tripp Construction of Port Hope; Lightfoot Construction of Belleville; Tatham Construction of Belleville; Beaver Construction of Ottawa and Cobourg Construction of Cobourg.

None of the bids were accepted as they were all above the estimate of the consulting engineer and above the amount approved by the Ontario Municipal Board. The lowest tender was 12 per cent above the estimate. The council proposes to re-tender in February 1967.

President of Producers Learning the Hard Way

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Jack Valenti was named president of the Motion Picture Producers Association April 26, a few industry figures sniffed, "What does he know about the picture business?"

At that time, Valenti knew little more about films than did predecessors Will Hays and Eric Johnston when they also were plucked from the political arena to head the film industry. The White House aide to Lyndon B. Johnson had one brush with the business: To earn money for college, he sold popcorn and took tickets at Houston's Iris Theatre.

As his longtime Houston friends may have expected, Valenti gave himself a quick and thorough education in matters cinematic. His course has included everything from talking techniques with Shirley MacLaine to reading Pauline Kael's I Lost It at the Movies.

"I find it very important to talk to as many people in the film business as I can," he says. "I had 100 meetings with everyone of the business before we arrived at our new code.

SEEKS BETTERMENT

"It's New York I sit down with Elia Kazan, Sidney Lumet, Joseph Mankiewicz, Alan Pakula and Mike Nichols and we talked for three hours. These are tough men, but I think they went away satisfied. This guy is going to try to make things better.'

"The morning I'm going to visit Sam Goldwyn, a founder of the association and a man whose wisdom I could benefit from. I went to George Hamilton's party for Lynda Bird Johnson) and I had some illuminating conversations. I found Robert Mitchum to be a very intelligent, thoughtful man. I also had some good talks with Rex Harrison, Glenn Ford and Anthony Newley.

"Some people say I'm wasting my time talking to so many people. I don't think so. I'm getting up a dialogue with the creators who make the movies, and they are much more important than any balance sheets."

Valenti listens during these conversations, but he also expounds on his three main objectives: 1. To bring young talent into the industry ("by 1980, our population between the ages of 18 and 25 will double to 60,000,000); we must prepare for that!"). 2. To exhort the industry to lift its level of excellence. ("I have no authority to do so, but I hope to be a paddy, a cajoler, an importuner for better quality in films"); 3. To live up to the code "with honesty and without hypocrisy."

To augment his education, the new production chief also sees movies, but not as many as he would like.

"I could see one every night, because I'm a real film buff," he admits.

Wide Range Of Foods Up In August

OTTAWA (CP)—An increase of 1.5 per cent during August in wholesale prices for a wide range of foods was reported Tuesday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The index for animal products increased to 286.7 from 282.2 in July on higher prices for fresh and cured meats, fish products, milk and milk products.

The over-all wholesale index moved up two-tenths of one per cent during the month to 260.6 from 259.8 and was 3.6 per cent higher than the August, 1965, index of 251.4.

Ride the Pontiac winning streak!

Introducing the adventurous new Pontiacs for 1967! Here's today's brand of action...for today's kind of people.

Grande Parisienne Sport Coupe with optional vinyl top

The biggest car news for 1967 comes from Pontiac. Canada's perennial Success Car gets away to yet another flying start with new styling, new models, new interiors, new safety features, new glamor options...it's new, new, new all along the line. Grande Parisienne, Parisienne, Laurentian and Strato-Chief series all have completely new styling. Bowing in is a brand new series called Parisienne 2+2. It's sporty, quick and stylish—the last word in full-size adventure cars.

So whatever you want most from your new car in 1967—luxury, high style, performance or practicality—you're sure to get it from one of Pontiac's 52 new models. Pontiac is for today's kind of people. People like you.

Parisienne 2+2 Sport Coupe

In every 1967 Pontiac, quality, dependability, value and safety are at unprecedented heights. While safety is an intrinsic part of everything engineered into every Pontiac, we'd like to list here some of the more notable standard safety features in every '67 Pontiac: Padded instrument panel; four way hazard warning flasher; dual master cylinder brake system with warning light; outside rear view mirror; seat belts—front and rear with push-button buckles; GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column; passenger-guard door locks—all doors; inside day/night mirror with shatter-resistant vinyl-edged glass and breakaway support; lane change feature incorporated in directional signal control; folding front seat-back latches (two doors); energy-absorbing instrument panel with smooth-contoured knobs and levers; soft, low-profile window control knobs and coat hooks; front seat belt retractors.

Pay Hike For Armed Forces Of 10 Per Cent Announced

City Endorses News Personnel Cautious

By HARRY MULHALL
Intelligencer Staff Reporter

As goes the huge Canadian Forces base at Trenton so goes a large slice of Quinte-district economic fortune.

The big airbase, home of RCAF Transport Command with such satellite operations as No. 6 Repair Depot and an air-search rescue unit pumps out federal funds regularly to help maintain local economy levels.

Today's announced service payroll increases drew happy reaction not only from servicemen but also from local community leaders.

Belleville Chamber of Commerce president Fred Deacon revealed just how much the availability of such a regular big-time payroll is appreciated.

"We've been fortunate in Belleville to have a large service population — mainly from the RCAF station in Trenton — who have loyally patronized our merchants.

"The announced salary increase will have a significant, and beneficial effect for commerce in our city."

Reaction among service personnel was cautiously on the happy side since very few in only part of complex economic revisions within the service.

Full details of the increases and its accompanying revisions are yet to be discussed among the men at Trenton.

This morning personnel at the Trenton base were given a briefing on the announcement.

A question-answer session was scheduled later today.

Meantime, Air Commodore C. D. Edgell, commanding officer Transport Command said the raise appears a reasonable one. The reaction thus far is encouraging.

"However", he added, "it's a little too early to tell as we are studying its many implications".

Reaction of individual servicemen was a little more blunt.

For some, debating return to civvy street with its higher industry wage rates, it may have saved them for the services.

Admitted one flight sergeant: "It was either a raise or I'd be considered quitting the service."

Commented a warrant officer: "Civilian competitive wages were way out of proportion with ours. I've been in the service a number of years and it's always

Proposals Aimed to Avert Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — CBC management and its technicians' union mulled over proposals from a federal mediator in preparation for resumption today of talks aimed at averting a strike which would cripple radio and television broadcasting across the country.

Day-long negotiating sessions Wednesday between the publicly-owned corporation and the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians resulted in a joint appeal for federal labor department intervention.

Bernard Wilson, assistant deputy labor minister, met jointly and separately with management and union representatives for five hours Wednesday night.

After the talks adjourned at 1:30 a.m. EDT, Mr. Wilson said he had made proposals to both sides to consider before meeting again under his guidance at noon EDT today.

NABET spokesman spoke on the CBC that it will call a strike by 1,200 technicians if the talks fail. It said 80 per cent of the union's 1,800 members voted in favor of strike action.

WANTS 25 PER CENT

The dispute involves somewhat more than a dozen issues, including higher pay. NABET wants a two-year contract embodying a 25-per-cent pay increase.

The dispute went to a conciliation board which issued a majority report calling for a

Joint Labor-Farmer Brief Says 'Go Slow' In Separatist Move

QUEBEC (CP) — Two labor groups and a farmers' organization, all with province-wide memberships, announced Wednesday they feel Quebec independence needs study and would be "injurious and premature" if introduced immediately.

Meanwhile, Premier Daniel Johnson announced plans for the drafting of a Quebec constitution without the intervention of the federal government.

A joint statement by the labor and farm groups came in a brief submitted to Mr. Johnson by the Quebec Federation of Labor, the labor wing of the Canadian Labor Congress; the Quebec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions, and the Catholic Farmers' Union.

The QFL and the CNTU majority make statements separately, in line with their long-standing rivalry for the loyalties of Quebec workers.

The brief said the present constitution and federal system should be maintained but with additional features.

Canada, the three organizations said, needs a federal system adapted to existing realities. They spoke of a constitutional crisis which, though not a catastrophe, is "sufficiently serious warning."

They rejected the idea of greater federal power and said the idea of a new constitutional arrangement based on the concept of associate states is not an empty slogan.

The question of independence for Quebec is still hypothetical and not sufficiently analyzed or discussed, said the brief.

"In the perspective of immediate action . . . this step, so radical and so little studied, would appear to us to be gratuitous, hardly thought-out."

Mr. Johnson said he will enlarge the mandate of a committee which will have the task of a new Quebec constitution "so that it will be able to attack the problem of the constituent assembly."

The assembly, a Union Nationale election promise, will establish a constitution for the province of Quebec without the intervention of the federal government, Mr. Johnson said.

His decisions would be submitted to a province-wide referendum.

Gunmen Attack Embassy

PRINCE PHILIP

From Reuters-AP

BUENOS AIRES (CP) — Argentine extremists fired on the British Ambassador's residence Wednesday night while Prince Philip was visiting and unconfirmed reports circulated of a plot to kidnap the husband of the Queen and demand the Falkland Islands as ransom.

Bullets from automatic weapons, fired by two carloads of gunmen, sprayed the building where Prince Philip is staying for the Argentine Republic's 150th anniversary celebrations.

Prince Philip was inside, preparing for a dinner with the Commonwealth diplomats.

The gunfire damaged the ground floor of Ambassador Sir Michael Creswell's residence but no one was hurt.

The report of a plot to kidnap Prince Philip and offer to swap him for the British-ruled Falklands came from a local Argentine news agency. British officials said they had no information about the report.

CONTINUES VISIT

A British embassy spokesman, asked about reports that the Prince was preparing to return home, replied: "Certainly not. We are just preparing his program for next week."

Wednesday night's shooting climaxed a day of dramatic statements by Argentine nationalists to press Argentina's claim to sovereignty over the lonely Falklands in the South Atlantic 300 miles from the coast of Argentina.

A group of 18 young armed Argentine nationalists seized an airliner with 48 persons aboard Wednesday and forced it to land on a racetrack in the Falkland capital.

The four - engined Argentine DC-4 was stranded on the 3,600-foot racetrack, with one wheel and a tire flattened by gunfire, apparently too short to permit a safe takeoff with passengers and fuel aboard.

The nationalists were reported holed up in the airliner, while 25 passengers and five crew members were lodged in homes in Port Stanley, the Falkland capital.

The armed nationalists, from the right-wing RI Condor organization, seized the plane over the South Atlantic Wednesday

Quinte's Economy Boosted $1,800,000

A pay increase for the armed forces of 9.8 per cent effective Oct. 1 this year was announced today by Defence Minister Hellyer. Another four per cent will be added on that date next year.

The increase this year alone could boost the annual payroll at Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, by as much as $1,8000.000.

Nationally, the total increase will add $3,600,000 to defence pay costs during the next fiscal year starting Jan. 1, 1967.

The pay boost, the first overall revision since Oct. 1, 1964, affects more than 100,000 officers and men.

Trenton is among the more important centres of service concentration. The huge base complex, home of Transport Command, is the biggest single contributor to local economy in the Belleville-Trenton area.

Its current monthly service payroll now is $1.8 million. This is exclusive of salaries of civilian workers on the base, including civil servants, workmen and technicians under contract to the federal government.

The increase for this year means an additional annual service payroll close to $18,800,000 — much of will be spent in the Quinte area.

Although located at Trenton, the postwar suburban sprawl brought much of its personnel within neighboring municipalities — particularly Belleville, the base residential and shopping centres.

The amount of the increase came in no surprise. It had been widely speculated for the past several weeks that it would amount to 10 per cent now and another four per cent next year.

Brighton Shooting Reported

At press time, officers from the Ontario Provincial Police Detachment at Brighton were investigating a reported fatal shooting north of the village. Police received word of the incident at 10.45 this morning.

The shooting occurred near Percy Township Road, off Highway 30 about 14 miles north of Brighton. An O.P.P. spokesman said details were not available. He could not say whether or not the shooting was accidental.

Shoot To Kill Is Order

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Negro rioters and snipers broke out of control again Wednesday but were put down quickly by national guardsmen with "shoot to kill" orders.

The temperature hit 86 degrees as 1,200 guardsmen helped police to patrol Negro district streets. Another 1,200 stood by in the city and still another 2,000 were posted in suburban areas.

Lt.-Col. Harland Smith, their commander, told guardsmen: "If you are attacked or fired upon, shoot to kill. Don't fire over anybody's head." About 80 per cent of his heavily armed men had helped put down racial rioting a year ago in the Watts area of Los Angeles.

They immediately moved against teen-age knots of young Negroes in the streets. "All right, this is it—move. Now!" they ordered.

Mayor John Shelley and Gov. Edmund Brown declared a state of emergency and imposed a curfew Tuesday when the first rioting followed the killing of a

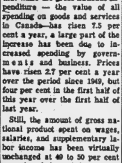
Food Industry Called Main Cause of Inflation But Expert Doubts This

OTTAWA (CP) — Are food growers, processors, wholesalers, distributors and retailers the main culprits in the rising cost of living?



The Senate - Commons special committee on living costs heard food prices branded as the culprits at its first meeting Wednesday in a comment by one of its chairmen, Senator David A. Croll (L—Ontario).

But R. B. Bryce, deputy minister of finance, said rising demand for all types of goods and services, as demonstrated by consumer, business and government expenditures, was generally to blame. The first expert witness called before the committee, he didn't like blaming any segment of the economy as the culprit.

Outside the committee, a prominent Ottawa food wholesaler and distributor, who will be called later as a witness, said he is unable to affix the blame for higher food prices to any element between the farm and the table.

Bertrand Loeb, president of M. Loeb Ltd., speaking at a reception for 300 of his firm's agents, said introduction of new materials, handling equipment and data processing computers is offsetting some higher costs within his organization.

Working with a profit margin of less than one per cent of sales, Mr. Loeb said his firm faces higher prices paid to suppliers and higher costs of transportation, packaging, and labor. These higher prices had to be passed on to consumers but the firm had not raised its own margin.

The committee, composed of senators and members of Parliament drawn from all parties, received a bulky set of statistics Wednesday from Mr. Bryce, analyzing the national economic accounts of Canada since 1949.

They showed, for instance, that while the gross national expenditure — the value of all spending on goods and services in Canada—has risen 7.5 per cent a year, a large part of the increase has been due to increased spending by governments and business. Prices have risen 2.7 per cent a year over the period since 1949, but four per cent in the first half of this year over the first half of last year.

Still, the amount of gross national product spent on wages, salaries, and supplementary labor income has been virtually unchanged at 60 to 60 per cent over the whole period.

When asked by Senator Croll about the culprits, Mr. Bryce said spending, representing increased demand for goods and services, has been pervasive through all segments of the economy. This has pulled prices up.

The solution, as he saw it, is to moderate the demand pressures now, until new policies and programs to encourage productivity have taken effect.

He said Canada has to learn to live with prosperity.

Death Toll Now 23 in Hurricane

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — Hurricane Inez smashed at the southern tip of the Dominican Republic's Barahona peninsula today on a course that could spare the rich, sparsely populated farming district 120 miles east of here.

The National Meteorological Service located the storm, bearing 160-mile-an-hour winds, 45 miles south and east of the peninsula at 5 a.m.

Dominican Navy headquarters here reported at 6:30 a.m. that strong winds and rain squalls had swept across the peninsula, and that there had been no reports of damage or casualties.

Commercial communications with Barahona were cut off but the navy and army had contact through shortwave radio.

The weather bureau had predicted the hurricane would roll undiminished along the southern Colleagues May Be Pushing U.K. Onto Dangerous Ground

OTTAWA (CP)—British legislators have warned Commonwealth colleagues that they may be pushing Britain onto dangerous ground with their pressure campaign for action against Rhodesia.

As the 12th Commonwealth parliamentary conference opened Wednesday, three British delegates spoke of possible dangers in the approach the Commonwealth is taking to overturn the breakaway white government.

A succession of speakers from other countries berated the British for not using force against the Ian Smith regime as soon as it declared independence from the Commonwealth late last year. Some called for use of force if necessary to cut down the regime, but there were no demands for immediate military action.

Zambia, the former colony of Northern Rhodesia and the most outspoken advocate of force in a Commonwealth leaders met in London earlier this month, is not represented here.

The tone of Wednesday's debate was moderate after Prime Minister Pearson asked in an opening speech that the Rhodesian problem be kept in perspective with other major issues.

Some of the sharpest criticism of Prime Minister Wilson came from a member of his own Labor party, William Winter Hamilton, who said the government was guilty of serious misjudgments and miscalculations in dealing with Rhodesia.

But even Mr. Hamilton had a word of caution, saying Britain's internal conditions had to be taken into account in considering tough action against Smith.

He also said he hoped that members would not indulge in any kind of empty gesture such as leaving the Commonwealth.

Two British Conservative members, Nigel Fisher and Sir Stephen McAdden, carried the warnings several steps farther.

Mr. Fisher said use of force against Rhodesia by the British government was not politically

B.C. Move to Ban Overtime Meets No Strong Opposition

VANCOUVER (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett's plan to eliminate overtime in British Columbia, announced Wednesday, has met approval from some, cautious inspection from others and no strong opposition from management.

Labor unions were the first to react. Part of the plan, which calls for elimination of overtime permits issued by the provincial government and required under the Provincial Labor Act:

Jack Moore, president of the International Woodworkers of America, said he approves of the move "if it is applied to spread available employment" in the forest industry.

"Our regional convention, now in session, has received disturbing reports indicating extensive layoffs now in process or in prospect. Under these circumstances, the industry's overtime practices should be curtailed to maintain equitable income distribution."

Premier Bennett said the action was taken after the federal government asked provinces to show restraint" to help offset inflationary problems such as unemployment, tight money and inflation.

He said—Crown corporations and men working on government contracts will be the first affected and then the order would spread to other sectors of industry.

T. C. Douglas, the New Democratic Party leader, agreed with the premier's action.

"If there is any sign of unemployment — and there are such signs now—we should pass available work around," he said.

Mr. Douglas blamed tight money and a resulting drop in housing construction for unemployment.

Brockville Rifles To Mark Centennial

The Brockville Rifles, one of Canada's oldest regiments, will hold its centennial celebrations early next month.

Lord Avon, who as Sir Anthony Eden ended his public political career as British's Prime Minister, will take part in events hailing the regiment's century of service.

With Lady Avon he arrives at Montreal October 3 and, after a two - day Ottawa visit with Governor - General Vanier, will travel to Brockville.

Among events of his visit highlighting the centennial program will be a regimental dinner October 7; a centennial parade by the Brockville Rifles at which he will take the salute, October 8, and a concluding church parade the following day.

The Brockville Rifles were first commissioned October 9, 1856, but can trace its origin to 1796 with the formation of the Leeds Militia.

Thus its history can draw on a service record ranging from the 1812 war to Korea.

Fine Driver On Careless Driving Count

A motorist who entered a not guilty plea on a charge of careless driving laid after he was seen passing three cars and striking a fourth while approaching a bend in the road was convicted in county magistrate's court this morning and fined $30 and costs.

Joseph Fontana, 25, of R. R. 3 with the offence after a two - car accident August 13 on Highway 2, two miles east of Bayside.

The accused's car struck an auto driven by Roy D. Miller, of R. R. 3, Belleville, as it was turning from the eastbound lane of the highway into a driveway near a farm produce stand on the north shoulder of the road.

Mr. Miller told the court that he had slowed down to make his turn, had given both light and arm signals, and had started to turn when his car was struck on the left side. As Air Force Sergeant who was driving immediately behind Mr. Miller verified his version of the accident.

The accused testified that he noticed four cars slowing cars in front of him and had pulled out to pass them at a speed of about 60 miles an hour.

"All of a sudden", said Pont, usa, "I saw this signal light on the front car. It applied my brakes, but it was too late". The accused said he did not see Mr. Miller give a signal to turn with his arm.

Constable R. G. Burkholder of the Belleville O.P.P. who investigated the accident, told the court that skid marks of 108 feet led to the wheels of Pontna's car.

Au estimated $500 in damages to the two cars resulted from the accident, with minor injuries suffered by three persons in Mr. Miller's car.

Fall Frosts Bring Color To Countryside

That touch of fall is with us again!

Early fall frosts have whitened the corn, blackened the cucumber and pumpkin vines and are beginning to turn leaves all shades of autumn colors.

Bushlands in the Oak Hills area 12 miles north of the city were a riot of color yesterday as the warm autumn sun beamed on the fast coloring leaves, soon to be blowing about the fence corners.

Yes, autumn is definitely with us. Summer cereal crops are harvested, potatoes are soon due for digging and the corn is almost all out.

And the fall fairs are almost over again for another year. In Hastings there is only the Tweed fair this Saturday, and the Madoc Fair next Wednesday, Oct. 3rd.

Disputants at CIL Plant Negotiate Contract Issue

TORONTO (CP)—Union and company negotiators will meet with an Ontario labor department mediator today in an effort to resolve a contract dispute between C a n a dian Industries Ltd. and Local 9670, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers.

The meeting will take place as police watch the company's strikebound Millhaven plant, 12 miles east of Kingston, where Tuesday night a fight broke out between 30 picketers and supervisory staff who are keeping the plant operating.

The fight began when someone threw a stone at three buses leaving the plant with supervisory staff. One bus stopped and several staff members stepped out to challenge the pickets.

NINE CRUISERS

Before the combatants were finally separated, nine police cruisers had arrived to assist police from nearby Napanee, on duty at the plant.

Police earlier arrested three pickets—Kenneth Brooks, Horst Rilling and Robert John Eaton —and charged them with attempting to commit damage after police found nails scattered on roads leading to the plant.

The three were released on $100 bail. They will appear in court in Napanee Oct. 25 for preliminary hearing.

The 400 workers at the plant have been on strike since July 12.

They are seeking a 45-cent-an-hour wage increase in a 22-month contract. They have rejected a company offer of 27 to 35 cents over two years.

The basic wage now is about $1.96 an hour.

Crosswalks Discussed in City Council

Front Street crosswalks were again up for discussion at city council this week with several different suggestions being forwarded for the safety of pedestrians.

Alderman Douglas Boyle felt that in areas where there are no crosswalks signs should be posted telling pedestrians that this is the case.

Alderman Jack Allis, conscious of the long walk at the Front and Bridge Street intersection while waiting for "walk" lights to come on, suggested that the scatter walk system be adopted whereby all vehicles come to a stop with pedestrians allowed to cross in all directions.

And Alderman Enos David suggested that a stop sign on Front Street at its intersection with Campbell Street would slow down and give pedestrians a better chance to get across the street.

Tenor Soloist Will Be Heard At Crusade

Featured soloist at Quinte Crusade for Christ to be held at the Memorial Arena in this city will be Ed Lyman, outstanding tenor soloist and recording artist.

Born in St. Albans, New York. At eleven years of age he sang on a children's radio program, under the privilege of singing at the New York City. At the tender age of twelve, Ed had the unusual privilege of singing at the Easter Dawn Service broadcast from the tower of the Empire State Building. Through his early years of schooling and on into college, he was an intergral part of glee clubs and choirs in which he loved to sing. Mr. Lyman studied under Neville Landor at the famous Juilliard School of Music and Samuel Margolis, teacher and coach at Metropolitan Opera singers such as Robert Merrill and Jerome Hines.

He sang the tenor leading role in Mr. Hines' opera, "I saw the Way", and has sung in many musicals and oratorios as well. He was also honored with being recommended by Maestro G. Spadoni, conductor of Italy and teacher of the late Mario Lanza. He attended Rutgers University and it was here that he sang under the baton of Erich Leinsdorf and Philadelphia and the Rutgers Orchestra, being awarded the Gold "R" for this participation.

Following four years study at Hunter College, he entered Officers' Candidate School of the U.S. Marines and subsequently became an officer in the Marines. His singing continued with the prime interest and he sang on the Armed Forces TV Network in Bermuda and the Canal Zone. Here he had the distinction of being known as "The Singing Marine", and had a successful audition for the San Francisco Opera Company.

Mr. Lyman began travelling in evangelistic meetings and concerts with such leaders as Jack Wyrtzen, Hamish Robson, Dr. Barnhouse and on numerous occasions with Billy Graham. He was soloist in 1952 at the Capitol Teen convention and Ambassadors banquet. He travels extensively both at home and abroad and sings in numerous languages. His recordings are available on RCA Victor, Supreme and Word Labels.

D. J. Crawford Collapses, Dies

Delbert John Crawford, in his early fifties, of 8415 Foster Crescent, collapsed and died suddenly this morning. Mr. Crawford was proceeding along Victoria Avenue near the Dominion Store, when he crumpled to the sidewalk.

He was rushed to Belleville General Hospital by ambulance but was dead on arrival. An autopsy will be held to determine the cause of death.

Hees Refuses To Discuss PC Leadership

TORONTO (CP) — George Hees, trade minister in the former Conservative government, Wednesday night angrily refused to comment on the current discussion on the party leadership.

Mr. Hees, following a speech to the Scarborough North Progressive Conservative Riding Association, told a reporter he did not want to discuss a resolution proposed by Dalton Camp, the party's national president, that party leadership be confirmed.

"How many times do you want me to tell you," he said. "I am not going to discuss this. I don't want to get rough with you and I advise you not to wear out your welcome," he said at the outset of the meeting, that I would have no comment and that still goes."

Straight, Well-turned Furrows Seen at County Plowing Match

Despite today's highly mechanized farm operations the fine art of plowing is not being completely forgotten.

This was indicated yesterday at the annual Hastings County Plowing Match on the Harold Thompson farm at West Huntingdon where straight and well-turned furrows were the order of the day.

There were 15 entries for the match ranging from tyro plowmen who had never before competed, all the way to a special class for county reeves and county reeves.

To get the day's proceedings underway there was an open utility match (no handling of furrows) in which all 15 entrants took part. Lorne Sills of Stirling won the senior section and Gordon Sills of West Huntingdon, the junior.

The same two plowmen won the day's specials with Mr. Carlisle winning the International Harvester prize as the best utility plowman, and Gordon Sills as the junior champion taking the T. Eaton Co. special.

In the afternoon there were three open classes for junior plowmen together with a senior division open class and a special class for reeves and councillors.

The 13 to 18 years class for tyro plowmen was won by Gordon Sills with Bob Sills placing second. Class No. 2 for boys 16 to 21 with previous match experience was won by Jim Wallbridge, R. R. 2, Belleville, with Jim Haggerty of West Huntingdon in second place.

Class 4 open to boys 16 to 21 without previous match experience was won by Lloyd Wilson of Halloway with Gerry Thompson of West Huntingdon placing second.

The special class for reeves and councillors was won by Russell Sills, Hungingdon township councillor, with Delbert Harvey, reeve of Tyendinaga township, placing second. Ross Carlisle was the senior open class with Doug Harry of R. R. 5, Trenton, second.

County Plowman Association officials were well pleased with the results of the day's program. President Harry Coulter said he was happy with the turnout and was well pleased with the quality of plowmanship.

Assisting President Coulter in handling the day's program were Ken Mumby, chairman of the plowing match committee and Larry Bertrand, representing the Hastings County Agricultural office at Stirling. Russell Morrison of Reserve township, member of the Ontario Plowmen's Association acted as judge.

Entrants in the various classes were Gerry Thompson, Gordon Sills, Bob Sills, Jim Haggerty, and Russell Sills, all of West Huntingdon, Bob Chalmers and Jim Wallbridge, R. R. 2 Belleville; Jack Reynolds RR2 Belleville, Dale Graham RR 2 Madoc, John Crosby, Bonarlaw, Jack Donnan, Stirling, Hugh Wilson, Halloway, Ross Carlisle, Stirling, Douglas Harry, Trenton, and Delbert Harvey, Tyendinaga.

All entrants in the junior classes received an entry prize of $10 with cash places and prizes offered for the other classes.

GENERAL VIEW of scene at the Harold Thompson farm at West Huntingdon where the annual Hastings County Plowing Match was held Wednesday. There were 15 entries in the various classes.

HAND HANDLING of furrows is permissible except in utility classes. Here Jim Haggerty gets in a little hand work under the coaching of his father Barton Haggerty of West Huntingdon.

Believed Burned Man Fell Asleep in Car While Smoking

An 51-year-old Foxboro area man is in satisfactory condition in Belleville General Hospital today after being involved in a freak car - fire incident on Front Street yesterday afternoon.

John Russell, of R. R. 1, Foxboro, had been given a ride into Belleville by a neighbor, and was sitting in the car waiting for a return lift home when it is believed he fell asleep while smoking. Mr. Russell was taken by LaSalle Ambulance Service to hospital where he was admitted suffering from shock and burns to his back and shoulder.

Around 2.30, an employee of the John Lewis Co. Ltd., 22-year-old Robert J. Stuart, of 98 Lonsdale Street in the city, said he heard moaning sounds coming from outside, looked out, and saw smoke pouring from the window of a car parked in front of the Front Street appliance store.

Stuart rushed to the car, and, seeing an elderly man lying in the front seat whose clothes were afire, he instructed a fellow store employee to notify the fire department.

Then, yanking Mr. Russell from the car, Stuart tried to pull his outer garments from his body, but they continued to burn.

Mr. Stuart finally succeeded in extinguishing the flames, and the Belleville Fire and Police Departments, which were soon on the scene, quickly doused the smouldering front seat of the automobile where the fire had started.

Mr. Stuart was taken to hospital by police where he was treated for second degree burns to both hands and released.

A small dog, which was found in the car with Mr. Russell, made no noise and was apparently not excited by the incident.

New Auditorium to Allow Larger Ballet Production

The large size of the new auditorium at Centennial Secondary School in west Belleville will permit the National Ballet Guild to mount more ambitious productions here in the future.

J. H. Wilson, general manager of the National Ballet made this decision Wednesday night after examining the measurements of the new auditorium. In the past, Belleville has been limited productions and the smaller ballets in the company's repertoire because of the small size of B.C.I. and V.S. stage.

Mr. Wilson was the guest at an executive meeting of the Belleville Branch of the National Ballet Guild, held last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson on Bridge Street. Tentative plans were made at the meeting to book Centennial auditorium for a two-day performance of the ballet early in November, 1967. The first day's performance will be aimed at a teenage audience and the second day's productions will be for adults.

The executive, under the chairmanship of George Brickwood, president, decided to hold the annual wine and cheese party next April. Purpose of the event is to raise funds for the local branch's student assistance fund. Last year $400 was raised to help district students enrolled in the National Ballet School in Toronto. Other money-making projects discussed were bus or train tours to other centres where the ballet is playing, and theatre trips to Toronto.

Board Wants Septic Tanks Taken Off Sewered Streets

TRENTON — The Trenton Board of Health, meeting yesterday, passed a recommendation to the town council to pass a by-law which would force residents living on streets where sewers are installed to connect up with the sewer and do away with septic tanks and "privies."

The Board's prime concern was with Roscoe Ave., where a sewer has recently been installed but the bylaw would apply to any street in the community.

MOH Dr. R. W. Dow reported there would be a change in the regulations covering small pox vaccinations for those travelling abroad, after Jan. 1.

Those being vaccinated after that date must have official testimony recorded on a new form.

Small pox vaccinations must be renewed every three years, Dr. Dow said.

Board chairman H. S. Pane said he had asked the management at the Quaker Oats plant to check with plant firemen, following complaints about black smoke from the plant chimneys from persons living in the area. "Quaker Oats is building a new addition in the near future and a new type of boiler will do away with the nuisance" Mr. Pane said.

Mr. Pane said he was at a loss as to the reason for the town not joining the County of Hastings and City of Belleville Health Unit at this time. He said he thought council considered the plan more expensive, while he thought it would be cheaper.

Mr. Pane said another reason for the failure of the town to join the health unit might be that council thought the unit was not sufficiently organized to include the town.

The board took no action on Mr. Pane's report that a town resident had complained about his neighbor keeping chickens, other than to suggest that the rooster be removed from the scene. The resident was said to have complained about the rooster crowing at 5 a.m.

Mount Pelion Water Tank Being Painted

TRENTON — The big water tank on Mount Pelion is being painted, inside and out. The brilliant red undercoating "matches" the many-hued trees on the mountain at the moment but this will be covered by an aluminum finish.

The tank has been drained to allow the inside of the tank to be sandblasted and painted.

Utility manager James Page said yesterday there were no problems in water pressure owing to the draining of the tank.

Assessment Notices Being Mailed Out

TRENTON — Assessment notices for 1966 will be mailed out from the municipal office tomorrow. The 1967 taxes will be based on these assessments.

Assessment Commissioner J. Allan Smith said there would be no "drastic" changes in assessments this year. Those who have made part of their home into rental apartments or added onto their buildings will find an increase.

Those wishing to appeal assessment must do so in writing within 14 days after receiving their assessment notices and take them or mail them in to the assessment department.

In preparing the formal appeal which will be heard by the Court of Revision, the appellant should find out the assessment of a property comparable to his own (this information is available in the assessment department) and prepare a formal comparison, adding his own logical reasons as to why he thinks his assessment should be lowered.

A Matter of Interpretation

The Ontario Medical Association thinks that the federal government should turn its attention from medical insurance and instead undertake the task of providing more doctors and treatment facilities.

That, at any rate, is the proposal made by the Association's official organ, the Ontario Medical Review, the current issue of which carries five articles outlining what the Review calls "the crisis in health resources."

Paradoxically enough, one of the best means of assuring that any shortage of doctors is overcome might prove to be the institution of a medicare scheme.

This, at least, is suggested by our experience with hospitalization insurance. When pressure for such insurance started to build up a couple of decades ago, we were told, with good reason, that the number of hospital beds available was far below the number which would be required if everybody was entitled to "free" hospital care.

A combination of special circumstances — the depression which curtailed all expansion, the trend towards diagnosis and care of the ill in hospitals rather than at home and the war years which cut off all but the most essential construction work — was responsible for the shortage of hospital beds. The fairly recent and still-on-the-way reduction in the lag between our facilities and our needs — but it is very doubtful whether there would be any compulsory hospital insurance scheme today had the authorities not waited until facilities caught up with requirements.

Instead, the establishment of hospital insurance has served to transfer the responsibility for the provision of adequate facilities to the appropriate authorities and to provide for a more vigorous and orderly program for meeting urgent needs.

Exactly the same thing, we suggest, would likely occur with respect to the training of doctors in adequate numbers if a universal medicare system were established.

Just as long as the government has nothing to do with the payment for doctor's services, just so long will it be able to shrug off responsibility for seeing that the number of doctors is adequate. If, however, everybody is required to pay into a federal insurance plan which would entitle all to necessary medical services, then Ottawa will immediately have to shoulder responsibility for seeing that such services are adequately provided.

If the figures presented by the Ontario Medical Review are correct, then a serious shortage of doctors does exist. The figures which it produces as an argument against medicare can easily be interpreted as an argument for such a scheme.

Original Thinking Required

In a speech to the Belleville Chamber of Commerce last week, V. O. Marques, executive vice-president of Northern Electric, made a stirring plea for more originality in thought and action.

"We are all dealers in second-hand ideas," he said. "We have an almost pathological urge to seize other people's solutions and patch them up to fit our problems. Picking other people's brains may seem to be a short cut to success, but businessmen often rationalize it on the basis of economics, but there really is no substitute for originality, creativity or self-reliance."

He said we lose the power to think for ourselves if we always let everyone else do our thinking for us, and added that problems can be creative opportunities in disguise.

"After we have come up with our own solutions it may be wise to compare them with those others we used to solve similar problems," he said. "If we borrow first, we stifle our own creativity.

"If we insist on using second-hand clothes, they may be adequate to cover the subject but they never quite fit it."

Sound words from a successful businessman. With Canada's centennial only a few months away, originality of thought and action will certainly be welcomed.

Persistence Wins

"If at first you don't succeed. . ." An old chestnut perhaps, but one we see living examples of every day.

Take the case of Toronto's Zoltan Szoboszlai. He did not like that city's antiquated antisunbathing bylaw so he had it stricken from the books.

How? Simply by going out into High Park, wearing a bathing suit and getting himself arrested.

He was fined the first time, but that did not deter him from his objective, so out he went again. The police were waiting and Zoltan was again arrested and later found guilty.

The second time, though, he made sure Toronto Star columnist Ron Haggart knew about it. Haggart wrote a column; Controller William Archer (who will soon be running for Mayor of Toronto) read the column; and bingo, the bylaw was repealed by city council.

Now Zoltan can sunbathe all he wants. Too bad the temperature has dipped so much.

Letter to the Editor

United Community Services Role Told

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

In the Saturday, September 24, issue of The Intelligencer, page 3, there appeared an article headed "Poppy Fund Committee Holds Meeting". The article mentioned that "The poppy and wreath sale has been approved by the United Community Services of Belleville and their approval passed on to Mayor Jack Ellis and City Council."

We pointed out to Mr. Everett H. Liddle and the members of the committee that our organization's role was limited to assisting his committee in the matter of their application to City Hall for a tag day. Specifically, we wished to help them compile their submission; the facts would speak for themselves. Our agency is the regulatory body but a voluntary health, welfare and recreation planning service.

We are anxious to point out to the public that we neither sponsor nor disapprove of the Poppy Committee's plans for a tag day.

No Law This For Byways!

In Ontario they are considering making it an offence to run out of gasoline on major highways and "superways". Since its purpose is to prevent thoughtless or forgetful motorists pausing to fill up their main thorough fares, and since most of the people who use such arteries are in a hurry, they might get somewhere, the proposal many will command general support.

All the same, its advocates will do well to restrict its application to main roads. They need to suggest that it be illegal to run out of gas on a secluded back-country lane, they might find themselves in collision with a large percentage of Ontario's fair damsels.

King Gustav I of Sweden, founder of the Vasa dynasty which ruled until 1818, died 408 years ago today—in 1560 —aged 64. He was crowned in 1523 after driving the ruling Danish noblemen out of Sweden. The young king spent much of his life as a one-man civil service, trying to organize and unify his country, and had to put down four rebellions as well as keep a weather-eye on Danish provocations. He left the Vasa family had no heirs, in the early 19th century they adopted Bernadotte, one of Napoleon's marshals, as crown prince.

Strong Steps Are Needed

Ordinary Canadians have long been aware both that inflation's results were showing and that the momentum of inflation was increasing, making it ever more difficult to stop the spiral. But what was obvious to the Canadian housewife in the market was not apparent in the cabinet room at Ottawa. The failure in recognizing the danger, and the inaction in facing it once it was recognized, are no recommendations for the government's announced but vague intentions. Strong measures, many of them far from pleasant politically, are necessary to meet the threat of inflation. The government's [illegible] here in late autumn very little promise of effective action.

The best combination of parents consists of a father who begets beneath his firmness, and a mother who is firm beneath her gentleness.

Those who continually equate size and number with quality have no true conception of what quality is; they are among the multitude who foolishly imagine that two vitamin pills a day make them twice as "healthy" as one.

The powerful nations' feeble and tentative efforts to achieve peace — or at least some kind of stable truce — by disarmament or guidance, remind me of David Lloyd George's apt warning before the first World War: "The most dangerous thing in the world is to try to keep a chasm in two jumps." Doctors literally take worse care of themselves than almost any other group, and are just as reluctant to have physical checkups as the laymen are — which is perhaps one important reason so much sage medical advice is ignored by the public.

One of the real problems with teen-agers today is that most communities do not make enough provision for recreation — and when they do, the teenagers stay away because they don't like adult-supervised activities.

While knowledge of sex has increased enormously in this generation, knowledge about sex is still sparse, confused and contradictory; the technical and biological aspects have been given the widest currency, but the psychological, social and marital aspects have not been clarified or codified to anyone's satisfaction.

Speaking of young people, one of their favorite phrases is that somebody "has it made"—what they need to learn is that nobody has it made, that keeping it is harder than getting it, that continuing to enjoy it is harder of all.

If you would bother to look up "concise" in the dictionary, you will find that it has a useful and unique meaning that has been almost obliterated by our using it as a mere synonym for "short" or "achieve."

What we need now is to apply the power of advertising and public opinion to making the cities as ashamed of their collective odor as we have been successful in making personal sensitive to the possibility of their personal odors.

It's difficult for adults to imagine how children visualize the things that are told to them, the other day I overheard my 6-year-old explaining in a playmate that "when you die, your body is put in the ground — but your head goes to heaven."

Tensions of Workaday World

Sault Daily Star

A German psychologist has concluded that people who come home from work and mutter to their wives: "The boss makes me sick" are often closer to the truth than they realize.

Conversely, employers who complain about the high incidence of absenteeism, headaches, stomach pains or more serious ailments, may have themselves to blame.

These conclusions are based on a recent West German survey of work-connected illness. The report is that "many" doctors and statisticians participated in the survey, with the findings being summarized by Dr. Helmut Sopp, Dusseldorf psychiatrist and industrial psychologist.

Among 100,000 cases of illness in various branches of German industry, 60 per cent, according to these findings, could be traced to psychological factors. Often the boss was to blame — unconsciously so, be it noted.

Wherever consultants could trace the cause of work tension and make constructive suggestions, things — and the health of employees — got better.

Postal employees, it turned out, have the lowest absentee rate from illness at their busiest season: in December, before the Christmas and New Year's holidays. Why?

The Dusseldorf consultant answers: "Not because they're too busy to get ill at that season — but because suddenly everybody who works for the post office is a very important person."

The employer who would have the healthiest employees would be the one, says Dr Sopp who could contrive to provide them with (1) recognition, (3) the security that comes only when you know you're liked and (3) maximum freedom to get the job done in the employee's own way.

Ottawa Offbeat
Quebec's Johnson Tempers Demands With Good Humor

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Parliament Hill's getting geared for two return engagements:

1. The House of Commons.
2. Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson.

And as things stand now, it will be Danny Boy, as he is known in his Quebec scrapbook, the second coming of tax talks, and not the 265 Honorable Members, here for their "Fall Follies", as they're called, that will draw the crowd.

Mr. Johnson probably has been reading all sorts of frightening things about what Daniel Johnson says he may have to do to Confederation.

Keep your cool.

That kind of thing has been going on between Ottawa and Quebec City ever since former Premier Maurice Duplessis, French Canada's Original Iron Man began it in the very first round of these interim-a-ble Federal-Provincial tax talks right after World War II.

That is better than 20 years.

And nothing more calamitous happened than Ottawa and the provinces — not just Quebec, but all of them — reaching a reasonable accommodation.

SMOOTH

If they did it before, those who have worked out the Federal-Provincial tug-of-taxes are content they will do it again.

For if they were able to placate both Le Grand Chef, Le Magnifique and Maurice Duplessis, and that prima donna of premiers, Jean Lesage — and they were — then doing business with Danny Boy should be a pleasure.

Such calm. Such charm.

And such a contrast to Duplessis and Lesage.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker had a long talk with the recently upstaging Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent just as he had Prime Minister Mackenzie King when he jammed on his homburg and stomped out of that first-ever tax talk.

This time, imperiously, he let it be known he would negotiate in a "peaceful" manner if the Prime Minister met him on "neutral ground" in Montreal — (some idea of neutrality, that!)

But alive branch in hand, Louis St. Laurent went down to Montreal, and failing to shake the shillowing reporters as he zoomed from hotel to hotel, swallowed his pride and met Maurice Duplessis at a time and place proclaimed by the Quebec Premier.

Jean Lesage, haughty, even arrogant, made things even more rugged for the Men From Ottawa.

We should have seen him — purple-faced and pounding the table.

Handing down ultimatums like they were writ upon tablets from On High, and seeding, Ottawa-like, his p-r-o-p-o-s-a-l, Rene Levesque, to Parliament Hill to lash and even laugh at Confederation.

It was not easy to do business with these pocket despots, but business, a succession of Prime Ministers, Mackenzie King, Louis St. Laurent and John Macdonald and Deputy Ministers of Finance Ministers, James Illsley, Walter Harris, Donald Fleming and now, Mitchell Sharp, managed to do, and the old Confederation shop continued, prospering at the same old stand.

Daniel Johnson, they have found to their immense relief, is different. You can talk to him. Reasonably. With calm.

You will see no preening prima donna, this.

Suave, good-humored, says what he has to say in a conversational way, and with charm. No bellowing. No purple face. No table-pounding. No raging walk-outs. No pouting. No sulks.

Adult.

Hard bargainer, sure. Hangs tough, of course. But he can be dealt with, and he finds making it clear he knows better than anyone perhaps just how hard his bargaining task for the Federal dollar.

It happens to catch his little courtesy to Ontario's Premier John Robarts? The RCMP had waved off the Robarts' limousine from the Seattle door, and there he was due in moments at the Rideau Club for the conference's cocktail party. Be my guest, beamed Johnson, bowing Robarts into HIS Caddy, and then set out himself on foot.

To Your Good Health
Only Rarely Do Pills Counteract Each Other

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can pills become "mixed up" in the body if too many kinds are taken? I am taking 8 or 10 which are supposed to do different things — a birth control pill at night, a vitamin and a diet pill every morning, three calcium pills a day, and occasionally aspirin or Bromo-Seltzer. Mrs. D. K.

Pills don't get "mixed up" in much as people do. Drugs in general have specific jobs, and they rarely conflict with each other.

There are occasional exceptions. One is the use of salicylates (aspirin or Bromo-Seltzer) counteracts the effectiveness of probenecid in preventing gout. But these infrequent conflicts are well enough known so that your doctor will see you warning if necessary. (Such conflicts are, however, a very good reason for not taking medicines without informing your doctor.)

Some people rather often assume that a strange or unexpected combination may take place in their bodies. I suppose this is because, after all, we can't see how drugs or other chemicals work, and our imagination runs away with us.

There was once a wild and wonderful variety of nonsense that people ate with every meal food at the same meal. Folks said "you mustn't have fish and milk at the same time", for if they never stopped to think that fish chowder and either such a thing as a milkshake was a theory.

The fact is that whatever different kinds of food you eat set any meal, your digestion accurately separates the nutrients into their correct categories and puts them to work where they are needed.

It is the same, with rare exceptions, with medications, and few people ever encounter any drugs that get "mixed up."

Vitamins and calcium are more properly classified as "food" than as "medicine" since they do not change the functionings of a healthy body. We take them only if, for some reason, we are not getting it enough from our regular food. Pills don't detract, don't decrease yourself. They may relieve some of your misery but they do not cure a disease.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that a person with a bifocal lens can no longer be fitted with eyeglasses? My aunt cannot see well enough in bifocals without a cane. The eye specialist will not fit her with glasses or give her any medical treatment. She says her present glasses are the best that can be done. They're what your doctor will get you wearing if necessary. (Such conflicts are, however, a very good reason for not taking medicines without informing your doctor.)

Dear Dr. Molner: Why is it that a person with a cold says apple and females don't. — D. G.

The Adam's apple is a shield-shaped bit of cartilage in the neck to protect glands there. Both sexes have it, but it is not as prominent in females.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would an X-ray of the chest reveal an addiction to alcohol? — J. W. No.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials continued to flounder in moderate trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange as the industrial index toppled to another low.

The index, an indicator of how key stocks move, slid 1.36 to 143.32, lowest since April 25, 1964.

Analysts say the market is taking its cue from the New York exchange where a number of major companies have reported lower earnings.

However, many say there have been no recent developments to account for the down-swing but add that such factors as tight money and the Viet Nam war still shadow the market.

Inco and Royal Bank paced the decline, falling ¼ each to 85¼ and a low of 66. Sicleo eased ¼ to a low of 21¾ and Bell Telephone ¼ to 47¾.

Golds, which traditionally are known to buck declines, were the only major group to advance. Dome gained 1 to 46 and Kerr-Addison ¼ to 12¼.

Canadian Superior dropped ¼ to 23¼ in western oils while Union Oil moved up ¼ to 28.

39,160 Books Circulated in Three Months

In a recent report submitted by Miss Olive Delaney, Corby Public Library it revealed that the total circulation of adult books for the months of June, July and August was 39,160; and books loaned to boys and girls totalled 23,092. There were 163 books loaned to patients at the hospital in June. The service is discontinued during July and August. A total of 372 magazines and pamphlets were borrowed by library members during the three months.

There were 623 new city members added to the register and borrowers in June, July and August, and 63 non-residents.

One hundred and six films were borrowed this summer, in addition to regular borrowers, films were booked on a regular basis for the Y.M.C.A. and the Salvation Army summer camps.

A few new films were purchased and added to the film library. These were: "Protect Your Birds", "Going on the Farm" and "Caring for Your Boy."

The record library was not used a great deal this summer with only a total of 43 long playing records being borrowed.

The auditorium was used for two art exhibitions in June and a meeting of the Junior Horticultural Society.

Miss Jean Williams, a qualified librarian and a specialist in work with boys and girls, joined the staff on the first day of August to take up her duties as boys' and girls' librarian. Miss Williams has had 15 years' experience in work with boys and girls at Kitchener Library.

Al McCullam New President Bridge Club

Members of the Belleville Bridge Club gathered at Coleman bus Hall on Wednesday evening to elect their officers for the coming year and approve plans for the coming season. W. B. "Skit" Vandervoort, president of the club, presided and G. B. "Jerry" Hyde presented the report of the secretary and treasurer. Before leaving the office of president, Mr. Vandervoort thanked the members and executives for their cooperation.

James Ward of the nominating committee submitted a report on nominees for office and the slate was unanimously adopted and included honorary president, L. E. McLean; president, "Al McCullam; vice-president, John Thomlinson; secretary-treasurer, G. B. "Jerry" Hyde, and John Woodcroft, William Coulby, John Dowse and Jack Carson were named directors. Mr. McCullam thanked the members for the honour of serving the club and predicted a successful season of play. The secretary announced there were 21 teams already entered but that there was room for four more and applications can be made to Mr. Hyde. A vote of thanks was tendered the outgoing executive by Irvine Shulman.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the members enjoyed a number of rubbers of bridge and James Walker, Fred Catton, Harry LeBel and W. B. Vandervoort were the winners. The low score was awarded by "Doc" Hurley. Refreshments were served ending a most enjoyable evening.

Successful Living

Motherless Daughter Needs Father's Care

DEAR DORIS — Since my wife's death my three girls have been living with an aunt. The oldest one, Susan, is 18 and she and the aunt clash a lot; so much so that the aunt talks to me about putting my daughter in an institution, life a convent.

DORIS CLARK

Auntie says Susan is having trouble at school with the teachers; but my next daughter, who is in the next grade down, says she hasn't heard any such thing. And Susan always ranks near the top of the class.

I'm not keen on having my three girls away from me in their growing up years and am trying to get together in our own home again. The aunt says a father is inclined to baby teen-aged daughters and spoil them. I admit I don't lay down the law to the same extent she does, and I've tried to let Susan make her own decision whenever it seemed reasonable. — WHO'S RIGHT?

DEAR WHO'S — Hasn't Susan been deprived enough, in losing her mother? For my money, she needs her loving father near her.

Make time to find out from the teachers what goes on at school. And draw your own conclusions without too much influence from a seemingly prejudiced aunt.

If you see yourself babying your girls, stop. A good bit of team organization could get you a home complete with teen-aged happy homemakers. It's worth a try.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO FRUSTRATED TEEN — What a staunch soul your mother must be! She puts up with the daily torment of bad-tempered belittling from the person who should be on his knees to her in thankfulness. It looks to you as if she must leave him, and perhaps she should.

But you see yourself in her, too. This is all too familiar a story to a social worker, and she'd be well advised to find one and talk it over. It's amazing how a detached viewpoint can make things seem clear.

Meanwhile, your job is to give her moral support; and to comfort yourself by realizing that your father is more than a little "sick".

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONFUSED — Yes, it is 1966 and not 1930. Does this mean our mothers care less than they used to about their girls? Go along with your Mom and try to get in on some group parties; let the single dating wait awhile. A ball game is tops for this; or a barbeque.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN J. ONDERDONK

Onderdonk – Reid

A double-ring ceremony was performed by R. H. E. Janke of Kitchener in St. Luke's Anglican Church, Peterborough, when Janette Dorothy Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reid, became the bride of John Jay Onderdonk, son of Mrs. M. Onderdonk, Belleville, and Mr. E. Onderdonk, Carrying Place. Archdeacon R. P. Walker of St. Luke's Church celebrated the nuptial eucharist.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of peau de soie with Empire bodice and shoulder train, and the sleeves ended in points at the wrist. A wedding ring headdress of peau de soie held her shoulder length veil. She carried a white prayer book crested with white Fuji chrysanthemums entwined with ivy.

Gowns of similar style to the bride's were worn by her attendants. In apple-green peau de soie was Miss Susan Reid, the bride's twin sister, as her maid of honor. In gold peau de soie were bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Reid, the bride's sister, and Miss Judy Hull.

They were wedding ring headdresses of peau de soie and pleated veiling, and carried nosegays of bronze chrysanthemums, with green velvet streamers.

Robert Howell, Belleville was best man, while the ushers were Alan B. Parlett, Tillsonburg, Gary Thiebault, Belleville and John M. Reid, the bride's brother.

A reception followed in the church hall when the bride's mother received in an ensemble of copper metallic with matching hat and harmonizing accessories, with corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother assisted wearing a gown of beige crepe with coral and gold paisley hat, and harmonizing accessories, and a corsage of coral - pink carnations.

The couple left later, for points north, the bride travelling in an aqua tweed dress and coat ensemble, pink feather pillbox hat, and beige accessories with a corsage of Uny pink rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Onderdonk will reside in Belleville.

'Young Look' Ignored In Fall, Winter Showing

MONTREAL (CP) — Fashion's fevered "young look" was ignored in the elegantly simple collection of fall and winter creations shown Wednesday by established couturier Raoul-Jean Foure.

The large collection stressed the color purple which is being given top priority this season.

But Mr. Foure, although he worked in mobby tweeds, stayed away from the popular greens, creating mostly in blacks, greys, beige tones with a splash of red.

And the hemlines, in keeping with the look of mature femininity, were to the middle of the kneecaps.

Two concessions made to London's mod Carnaby Street were a mini-skirt suit in white Swarkra headcloth, worn with white boots, and the look-alike fad for men and women.

Look alikes came in South West African Persian lamb coats of caramel beige. The man's coat was knee-length and came with a standard shape man's hat of matching fur, His female companion wore a coat ot-she same fur, doubled-breasted and half-belted for casual street wear.

Short evening ensembles came in velvet — sometimes with velvet cellophane for a glittery look — satin, brocades, printed wool mousseline and lace. Colors ranged from soft to cheerfile. Many fabrics for evening wear were embroidered and beading and sequins were popular.

New fabrics included fully-

Try to Curb Baby Racket In Greece

ATHENS (Reuters) — The Greek government has moved to crack down on a lucrative racket in which Greek babies have been illegally sold and smuggled out of the country for adoption abroad.

Parliament passed a bill tightening up adoption procedures in an effort to curb the "baby traffic" while still permitting legal adoption practices.

Justice Minister Constantine Stefanakis said the new legislation is aimed at ensuring "adequate control and safeguards" with respect to the babies' foster parents.

The "baby traffic" was uncovered when mothers complained in court that their children had been given away to be delivered to unknown destinations.

Last year, the head of a children' hospital in Salonika, northern Greece, was sentenced to four years in prison for illegally selling babies. A doctor and the hospital's chief midwife were also convicted.

It was later found that most of the disappearing babies were given away, mainly to the United States.

Poverty and the lure of a fat fee to help the remaining children in the family were the main causes prompting parents to give away their babies to agents in Athens and other major centres.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT W. SAGER

Sager – Derry

Marmora Free Methodist Church was the scene of the marriage on September 24, 1966, at 12 noon, of Shirley Anne Derry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon J. Derry, R.R. 1, Marmora, and Robert William Sager son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan R. Sager, R.R. 2, Madoc. Rev. K. B. Sauder performed the ceremony, Mrs. Harry Mawhinney played the wedding music and Mr. Eldon Hardy was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie with rounded neckline and long lily-point sleeves. Two panels of lace trimmed the Empire bodice and extended to the bottom of the A-line skirt. Matching lace accented the detachable peau de soie chapel train. Her cascaded bouquet headdress entwined with orange blossom buds held her fourtiered veil of silk illusion over the face. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Sharon Cacns of Marmora, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Anne Martin of Montreal and Mrs. Betty Wood of Oshawa, sister of the bridegroom. They were identical floor-length A-line gowns of sapphire brocade with Empire bodices, three-quarter length sleeves and detachable trains. Their headdresses were of matching material and they carried cascade bouquets of white tinted mums.

The flower girl, Miss Susan Derry, niece of the bride, wore a floor-length A-line gown of white peau de soie designed with Empire bodice and a headpiece of white organza veiling. She carried a basket of white and blue mums.

Mr. Murray Foster of Oshawa was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Elden Chapman of Madoc and Mr. Ted Bale of Tweed.,David Hicks, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

On their return, the couple will live at 500 Dickson Street Apartment 2, Peterborough.

WEDDING

PHILLIPS — CHARD

FRANKFORD — Rev. C. Dugan officiated at the double-ring ceremony in Frankford United Church on Saturday, September 24, at 3 p.m., when Cheryl Lee Chard, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Chard of Frankford was united in marriage to Douglas Lloyd Phillips, son of Mrs. Hugh Phillips, Frankford and the late Mr. Phillips.

The organist was Mrs. Irene Hobbis and the soloist was Mrs. Ross Cranston of Bethel.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length Empire styled gown of crepe over peau de soie with scoop neckline, short sleeves and a fitted chapel train. The dress was further highlighted with appliques of lace. Her headdress of small rosettes studded with seed pearls held in place a cathedral length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white carnations centred with pink carnations and trailing ivy.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Colleen Keller of Frankford wearing a floor-length marina blue silk chiffon dress over taffeta with Alencon lace bodice and Mona Lisa sleeves. The back of the dress was highlighted with a watteau train of lace and taffeta. She wore a matching wedding ring headdress with bow at front and small veil, and carried a cascade bouquet of white mums centred with pink mums. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Brenda Dawson, sister of the bridegroom and Mrs. Nancy Phillips, sister-in-law of the bridegroom wearing identical attire to that of the matron of honor with matching flowers and headdresses. Little Miss Penny Jackson, niece of the bridegroom as flower girl wore a floor-length white dress styled identically to those of the other attendants. She wore a flower headdress of pink carnations and carried a basket of pink carnations centred with white carnations.

The groomsman was Mr. Donald Phillips, brother of the bridegroom and the ushers were Mr. Jim Chard, brother of the bride and Mr. Don Keller. Ring-bearer was Master Jeff Baker.

The reception was held in the Centennial Room, Frankford, where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a two-piece ensemble of dress and matching jacket of cranberry satin brocade, with matching cranberry and black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a two-piece suit of turquoise brocade, pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to Washington D.C., the bride chose a two-piece ensemble consisting of a wool dress with matching coat, gold and check trim, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses.

On their return the couple will reside at 65A St. Charles Street, Belleville.

NOODLE VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

All is serenity and thankfulness around this house. Our precious tiny baby Hillary has gained four oz. on her mother's milk and at time of writing this weighs three lbs., twelve oz. and is nothing lustily. (As you no doubt realize this precious milk is expressed and fed to her in an Isolette.)

So Grandma can attend to her cooking.

Absence of anxiety may have affected my attitude or it may have been just hunger but I thought this casserole was especially good. I made

½ green pepper chopped
½ lb. ground chuck beef (optional but recommended)
½ lb. cut up process cheese
2 cups tomatoes (3 large)
¼ tsp. basil
¼ tsp. oregano
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Cook noodles in boiling water with first amount of salt until tender — about 20 to 25 min. Drain through colander.

Meanwhile sauté gently in large frying pan in the margarine the chopped carrot, onion, green pepper and meat (if used) and stir with fork until vegetables are limp and meat is barely seared. (Do not overcook this. It seems like fiddly work but is worth it considering you are preparing a main dish for two dinners or suppers.) Reserve some slices of process cheese for topping and add remainder to vegetables and meat mixture in frying pan. Now add the tomatoes and seasoning and gently fold in drained noodles until smoothly mixed. Turn into 2 unbuttered medium casseroles. One should be freezerproof such as corningware. Cover with remaining cheese slices and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 25 to 40 min. or until bubbly and tinged with gold.

We served one for the current dinner with green beans and corn on the cob and a shredded cabbage salad. The other I freezerwrapped and froze.

double amount and froze one for Margie to serve after I leave for home.

FALL NOODLE AND VEGETABLE CASSEROLE (serves 8 — may be frozen):

2 cups fine egg noodles (or other macaroni product)
2 cups boiling water
1 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. margarine
1 small carrot chopped
1 medium onion chopped

Susanna's Family Fair

PLEASE DON'T TAKE MY DINNER

Dear Susanna: Have you ever gotten up to dance at a large buffet-style party and then returned to your table to find that one of the waitresses has taken away your dinner long before you had finished eating?

This is always happening to my husband, because he would rather dance and enjoy the liquid refreshments now and eat later — by which time the buffet is usually cleared away.

The other evening, rather than trying to take turns guarding his dinner, one of our friends at the table suggested covering it with two large serviettes tucked in around the bottom of the plate.

We've only tried this once, but I'm sure hoping it will work on every occasion. — Liz

Dear Susanna: I find this helpful in keeping members of the family (and friends) from absent-mindedly pocketing the pen I have by the phone.

Leave a gaudy souvenir one there. The one I've been able to keep by the phone for the past three weeks is so flashy that any guilty party must have noticed it in a hurry, and returned it quickly. — Mrs. M. M. S.

Many Canadians Going to Spend Part of 1967 in Costumes of 1867

TORONTO (CP) — Pageants, concerts and pioneer fairs during the 1967 Centennial Year mean that many Canadians are going to spend part of it in the costumes of 1867.

Fortunately the founding fathers knuckled Canada in a year when fashions had a tasteful simplicity and good lines.

And an authentic-looking 1867 dress is not difficult to make, says Dorothy Burnham of Toronto.

Mrs. Burnham, a former curator of the textile department at the Royal Ontario Museum, has written and illustrated eight folders on the subject which are available from the museum.

The folders show and describe several women's and girls' costumes and include hints on hair styling, accessories and even shoe styles.

The sketches are based on dresses owned by the museum, including one that belonged to a Peterborough, Ont., lawyer's wife. It served as a model for a scaled-down pattern in one of the folders intended to be used as a basic adaptable guide for making several types of dress.

TOWN DRESS

The fashionable town dress of mauve silk has a fitted jacket, a separate evening bodice and a skirt which looks as if it had been shaped on a crinoline with the front half cut away and the back bent oval.

Mrs. Burnham's folder says: "The body of the wearer stood well forward in the skirt and the characteristic outline of the skirt, as it lay on the floor, was egg-shaped, with the round end in front and the train extending behind it in a blunt point.

"By the end of the year, the form had become more slender and elongated. This was achieved by cutting the skirt in a special way with flat pleats to the front and sides and fullness gauged in at the back in small cartridge pleats. This is not yet a bustle, but is certainly the forerunner of that remarkable style.

"The bodices were well fitted and revealed the lines of a well developed bust, often helped by padding, but it was all so firmly stiff that the effect is far more matronly than voluptuous."

Corded silk, perhaps with a moire finish, or striped silk or cotton were stylish favorites. Their color range included brown, bright blue, apple green, purple, bright pink and paler shades of mauve, blue and gray.

Homespuns, also dyed at home, sometimes with local vegetable dyes, had a more limited palette—indigo blue, red, yellow, brown and green. Weaver or wife often produced striped and checked patterns. The dresser were made simple, lasting styles.

WORK OF SKETCHES

Paula Zoubek, curatorial assistant in the textile department, says Mrs. Burnham began working on the sketches for a catalogue for a show to be held at the ROM next May. She took time to produce the folders because requests for help have been coming in steadily and increasingly for about a year, and because it was felt no authentic patterns had been published.

Mrs. Zoubek says a men's guide has been considered, but poses difficulties, partly because little male clothing has survived, apart from military uniforms.

If you already have an old dress of any vintage which you intend to wear next year, Mrs. Zoubek suggests you wear it as is. If you try to remodel a Victorian dress, you won't have enough fabric and may just harm the dress.

If it is cotton or linen, you may be able to wash it in a chemically neutral soap, free of alkali or acid, which some drug stores carry.

Mrs. Zoubek says you can't do much about cleaning old silks or taffetas. If the dress is at all valuable, she does not recommend dry cleaning.

You can get the folders for 75 cents from the sales desk, Royal Ontario Museum, University of Toronto, 100 Queen's Park, Toronto.

DRINK'S THE PROBLEM

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Drinking is the biggest problem and family relationships upset teenagers next, members of a YMCA conference admitted when they filled in a questionnaire. Among reasons suggested for teen-age drinking were teacher criticism, shyness and insecurity.

U.C.W. Meetings

MARSH HILL U.C.W.

MARSH HILL — Mrs. Ben Bleecker was hostess for the September meeting of Marsh Hill U.C.W. with 13 present.

The president, Mrs. Ivan Clare, opened the meeting and Mrs. Alex Tanner conducted the worship service assisted by Mrs. Harold Detlor.

Mrs. David Little conducted the mission study telling of some of the work being done in India by the church.

The members reported sending 31 cards and two letters and making four hospital calls and four house calls. The members were reminded of the regional rally to be held Tuesday, October 25th at Thomasburg. Plans were completed for the bazaar to be held in October.

The hostess served refreshments assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Gerald Frederick.

History of C.A.R.S. Branch Outlined at Annual Dinner Meet

The annual dinner meeting of the Bay of Quinte Branch of The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society was held in Christ Church Parish Hall on Wednesday evening. A delicious turkey dinner was served by the members of the Parish Guild. Fall flowers and place mats with bluebirds decorated the tables. The bluebird has long been the symbol of hope and is also the symbol of the society.

Dr. J. S. Loynes, president of the Quinte Branch of C.A.R.S., chaired the meeting. At the head table were Miss Gladys MacDonald, president of the Auxiliary and secretary-treasurer, C.A.R.S., Belleville Branch; Mr. Donald Grant, vice-president, C.A.R.S., Belleville Branch; Mrs. R. B. Wright; Dr. Garfield Kelly, Medical Advisory Board, C.A.R.S., Ontario and Director of the Rheumatic Disease Unit, Kingston; Mrs. J. S. Loynes; Canon R. B. Wright, Rector of Christ Church; Dr. J. S. Loynes; Dr. Frank S. Brien, guest speaker; Mrs. Jessie David; Mr. John D. Pearson, executive secretary, C.A.R.S., (Ontario) and Mrs. Elaine Carroll, senior physiotherapist.

Dr. Loynes also introduced Mrs. Kathryn Brown, physiotherapist, Belleville Branch, C.A.R.S. The chairman expressed thanks to the committee consisting of Mrs. D. A. McKinney, Miss Gladys MacDonald, Mrs. A. N. R. Rose, Mrs. A. W. Hume and Mrs. Jessie David.

Dr. Loynes outlined the history of CARS and the local branch. The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society was founded in 1948 to supply a need envisioned by health workers, university teachers and members of the medical profession. Some of its aims were to stimulate research, encourage professional education, supply public education and information, provide arthritic clinics and provide treatment centres and home care services.

The Belleville Branch was founded in February, 1955, as the golden anniversary project of the Belleville Rotary Club and remained under their sponsorship for two years. In August, 1957 the Quinte Branch was formed with its own Board of Directors and was accepted into the Belleville Community Chest where it has remained as a participating agency in the Belleville United Appeal.

Three years ago the operation of the local branch began change from its mobile phase with the physiotherapist in the familiar grey car with the bluebird emblem which travelled from Highway No. 7 to Picton, east to Deseronto and west to Trenton. This change was brought about by a shortage of physiotherapists and it was felt that their time could be more profitably employed and more patients treated if travelling time was reduced. By this time physiotherapy departments had been established in Belleville, Picton and Trenton hospitals.

DIAGNOSTIC CLINICS

Rheumatic Disease Units have been set up or are contemplated in central hospitals such as Toronto, Kingston, London—And Ottawa where intensive treatment and investigation can be carried out. Diagnostic Clinics have been arranged where specialists in rheumatology and allied personnel are available. Treatment clinics have been established for physiotherapy. There is still a follow up of cases by social services and physiotherapists to aid in home care and training and to bring about re-establishment of the patient in the home, community and at work.

The mainstay of the local branch is the Ladies' Auxiliary. During the past year their activities have included the annual Christmas party; a patients' tea; members act as volunteer workers at the clinics at the hospital; hospitalized patients are visited and receive a gift; two walkers have been purchased for the loan cupboard and $600.00 has been donated to the Ontario Division for research.

Mr. John D. Pearson brought greetings from the Ontario Division of C.A.R.S.

A bouquet was presented to the society by Mr. Jn. S. Lewis on behalf of the employees of Northern Electric Company.

DYTROUICUS SPEAKER

Mrs. Jessie David introduced Dr. Brien, guest speaker for the evening. Dr. Brien, whose illustrious career in the field of medicine has appeared previously in this paper, is a proud grandfather and an ardent, though seemingly unproductive sportsman. His professional interest lies mainly in the area of and cancer.

Dr. Brien's address, befitting arthritis, heart malfunctions the occasion, was an understandable outline of the chief causes and treatment of rheumatoid arthritis, osteo arthritis, gouty arthritis and acute arthritis. He stressed the importance of rest in all cases; also the controlled use of medication and the judicial use of physiotherapy. He said that aspirin is still the cheapest, safest and most valuable treatment for this problem.

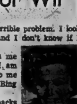
The speaker dwelt at length upon "gouty arthritis," which is "peculiar to men and Dalmatian dogs." This remark proved amusing to his listeners. This disease was very prevalent in England over 30 years ago. It has abated there but is now becoming a problem here due to the high standards of living. "The treatment," he said, "is most important because of complications in the heart, joints and kidneys. This type of arthritis is the most responsive to treatment."

In dealing with Osteo Arthritis Dr. Brien suggested that, since it is the breakdown of joints due to wear and tear, people should keep weight down to avoid additional strain. Rheumatoid arthritis is due to causes as yet unknown. "We know of the many factors causing development of this disease but as to why it should develop, we are still in ignorance. These problems still await solution. Your efforts and those of everyone interested in this society will go far in providing these solutions."

Mr. Donald Grant thanked Dr. Brien and presented him with a gift in appreciation of his enlightening address.

BIRDS PAID OFF

RICKMANSWORTH, England (CP) — Secretary Joy Mead went to the post office to buy a sheet of stamps with bird designs and received a nest-egg instead. The sheet of 60 fourpenny (five-cent) stamps was imperfect and is worth more than $3,000 to collectors.



Ann Landers

Bob Hope's Double Laments Lack of Wit

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I have a terrible problem. I look like Bob Hope. I hear this all the time and I don't know if I should feel flattered or insulted.

What's even worse, everybody expects me to be funny on a moment's notice and I, am just not the funny type. People come up to me and say, "Have you played any golf with Bing Crosby lately?" and witty things like that.

Please give me some hilarious comebacks that will shut them up. I need your help.—CARBON OF HOPE.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR CARBON — I hope you're not a girl. You didn't say. As for my providing you with some hilarious comebacks —look, Kiddo, I'm not Bob Hope either.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — The letter from the woman whose life has been plagued by a fear of being alone with a dead person has given me the courage to write this letter.

I am also plagued by something that I have never been able to discuss with anybody. Perhaps you can help me.

I work in an office with several women. Two of these women have had cancer operations. The first woman had a breast removed four years ago. She was back at work within three months, her spirits high. She's determined to live to be 100. I must say she is one of the most cheerful people I've ever met.

The second woman was operated on for a malignant tumor of the stomach. She, too, is certain she is cured.

I am uneasy about any physical contact with these women. I keep my own bar of soap and a towel in my desk drawer. When they come to my desk to talk to me I avoid letting them come too close.

I know this is senseless yet I am filled with anxiety about catching cancer. Is there anything you can do to help me get over this? — VA OF VA.

* * *

DEAR VA — Make an appointment with a physician who treats cancer patients. Explain your fears and ask him if he will spend 20 minutes talking to you about your anxieties. Write to the American Cancer Society for literature. The more you learn about the disease the less frightened you will be. There are still many mysteries about cancer but medical science has established beyond a shadow of a doubt that the disease is not contagious.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Be a heroine. Please tell everybody who drives along a highway or a country road that the worst thing they can do when they see a person on horseback is to honk the horn.

Most horses are accustomed to traffic and won't act up when a car is near. But they become startled by loud noises. Then anything can happen.

The safest thing to do is to pass the horse as quietly as possible. I would buy space and run this message as an advertisement but more people read your column than would read the ad. Thank you — COMMON SENSE.

DEAR SENSE — Here's your message and it didn't cost you anything. It didn't cost me anything either, come to think of it. Thanks for writing.

* * *

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mr., Mrs. Frank Walker Wed for 50 Years

Last Saturday College Hill United Church Women catered for a turkey dinner for approximately 96 relatives and friends who gathered to mark the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker, Cloverleaf Drive, Thurlow Township. The tables were beautifully decorated for the occasion with the golden color scheme predominating.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker were married in the Canniffon parsonage on September 20th, 1916 with the Rev. M. E. Wilson officiating. For 36 years they farmed on Lot 15, Concession 3 of Thurlow Township and moved to College Hill in 1957. During this time they were members of Bethany Church where Mr. Walker served as a trustee and an elder, and was the church treasurer for 34 years. Mrs. Walker is a past president of Bethany W.M.S. Both are now members of College Hill United Church where Mr. Walker is at present an elder and trustee and Mrs. Walker a member of the United Church Women's group.

Fraternally, Mr. Walker is a member and Past Master of Moira Lodge A.F. and A.M.; Past Grand Steward of the Grand Lodge of Canada; a member of the Quinte Chapter No. 237 and Past Principal and Past Grand Scribe of Grand Chapter R.A.M.

Present for the event were two sons and three daughters, with their wives and husbands and 16 grandchildren, who presented their grandparents with a beautiful floral arrangement. They also presented their grandmother with a lovely corsage and their grandfather with a white boutonniere.

A large number of relatives from Burlington, Toronto, Whitby, Madoc, Wellington, Napanee, Kingston and Hudson Heights, Quebec attended the "at home" from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

During the festivities best wishes were extended to Mr. Harry Walker and Roger Walker who were also celebrating birthdays.

Club Activities

FRANKFORD TRIMETTES

The weekly meeting of the Frankford Trimettes was held on Monday evening in Frankford Community Hall.

Weigh-in showed a total loss of 34 pounds for the week. Mrs. Mary Baker was the highest loser with a total of seven pounds. She also was the top for the month of September with a total loss of nine pounds.

Since the beginning of the club in June, there has been a total loss of 512 pounds among the members.

Home and School Association News

MADOC PUBLIC SCHOOL

MADOC — The first meeting of the Home and School Association was held on Monday evening, at the Madoc Public School. Principal John Murphy welcomed the many parents and introduced the teaching staff. Mrs. Wright's class won the attendance flag.

Rev. Father O'Neill installed the following new officers, Mrs. Mary Pigden, president; Mrs. M. Brett, vice-president; Mrs. T. C. Fawcett, secretary; Mrs. Ed Hyde, treasurer; Mrs. Bruce White, program convener; Mrs. Robert O'Riordan, press recorder; Mrs. D. Pogue, lunch convener, and Mrs. M. Graham, representing the staff.

Rev. J. H. Thompson introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Vincent G. Castellano, Director of Family Counselling Services of Belleville and Hastings County. Mr. Castellano's theme was "The Meaning of the Family to the School Child". He described the family life and the vital role it plays with the life of children today, both in the spiritual, physical and motives of a child's being. Many were emotionally disturbed because of home life and this was spotted when a child attended a school by there re-action in play and learning.

A healthy family was described as one having healthy relationships in the home, where the family functioned as a unit. Because of sickness, friction in many homes, children on going to school acted up, clowned and were most active. Others remained sly, found it difficult to get on with other children and just didn't like school.

The welfare of a family depended on self examination and self understanding of any problem and if they could not solve it, to seek the guidance and experience of proper counselling from the Social Service workers.

A family working together with the school could assist many children who were faced with difficult problems and the adjustment required to the change from home life to school life.

Following an interesting question period, Mrs. Pigden thanked Mr. Castellon. A display of pamphlets were left to give more advice to parents who would seek professional assistance.

Lunch was served and many parents and teachers continued to discuss this topic for another period of time.

Bethel U.C.W. Sponsors Hat Show

RAWDON — Bethel United Church on the Rawdon charge was filled to capacity on Tuesday evening for a coffee party and hat show presented by Woodley's of Belleville.

Miss Hazel Smith was commentator for the show, and over 30 models of fall and winter styles were shown. Fur styles were also part of the show.

Mrs. Donald Heath, president, was in charge of the program and Mrs. Harold Elliott was pianist. Mrs. W. C. Cox conducted a hymn sing-song.

Piano selections were played by Mrs. Craig Watson, Miss Barbara Parr, Mrs. Vera Hagerman and Mrs. Harry Brown. Solos were sung by Mrs. Thomas Sarles accompanied by Mrs. Kenneth Weaver and by Mrs. Harry Walls accompanied by Mrs. Harold West.

KEEP IT DOWN CHAPS

DUNSTABLE, England (CP) — Nurses at a Bedfordshire hospital have been asked not to walk around the grounds in bikinis because it might be bad for the patients' health. A spokesman said, "Men patients could see them and it could have harmed their blood pressure."

Three Inuvik Residents Plan Edmonton Drive in 1929 Ford

ONCHIK NASHI?—Sid Nelson of Inuvik, N.W.T., looks over the 1929 Model A Ford he and two other men plan to drive to Edmonton this winter—1,700 road miles. About 800 miles of the trip will be driven along a telephone right of way, hacked through bush and muskeg. If they arrive in Edmonton, they will become the first men to make the road trip. Among other signs painted on the car is the Eskimo comment "Onchik Nashi", which Mr. Nelson says means "silly white man". (CP Photo)

By JANE BECKER

INUVIK, N.W.T. (CP)—Three men from this community 200 miles inside the Arctic Circle are mapping their own centennial project. They hope to be the first to drive the 1,700 road miles from Inuvik to Edmonton.

The most unusual part of the trip is that for about 800 miles they won't be driving on a road but on a telephone line right of way, hacked through bush and muskeg, from Hay River, N.W.T., to Inuvik this summer.

Further, the three, Sid Nelson, a northern affairs department employee; Dave Jones, oil company agent, and Gordon Campbell, who manages a garage, plan to make the trip in November in a 1929 Model A Ford.

Mr. Nelson, who conceived the idea, first saw the car when it was raffled in a contest at Norman Wells, a community 300 miles south of Inuvik, more than a year ago. Determined to own it, he traced the winner to New Jersey and bought it for $2,500.

FOLLOW RIVER TRACK

The right of way on which the men hope to drive is a 25-foot-wide track which follows the Mackenzie River from its source at Fort Providence at the western end of Great Slave Lake almost its entire length.

It may eventually be the path of Canada's most northerly permanent highway. So far only the telephone line crews have travelled it, while building and servicing the pole line which has brought public long-distance communication to settlements along the Mackenzie for the first time.

"If we make the first 300 miles we should be able to do the rest easily," he says. They postponed the trip, originally planned for this summer, until November, when the ground will be frozen, a much better time for land travel in the North.

The travellers have cached about 300 gallons of gasoline along the line. They also plan to carry spare parts for the Ford, including chains, skis and home-made snowmobile tracks for the wheels.

They calculate the trip to Edmonton will take 30 days.

LEAVE FOR WINTER

"We'll leave the car at Edmonton for the winter," says Mr. Nelson.

"Next July we plan to drive it to Vancouver and then to the Atlantic coast, stopping in Montreal for Expo. This way we'll link three oceans by road—the Arctic, the Pacific and the Atlantic."

The trio plan to travel with tents, sleeping bags and other camping equipment and enough food for six days. With settlements close to the line at 300-mile intervals, they expect to be able to replenish supplies. However, they hope to arrange an air drop if they get into real difficulties. In an emergency there's always the telephone.

In the meantime Mr. Nelson rattles around Inuvik in the Model A. Along with the usual scrawl of "Edmonton or Bust", and an outline map of the route, some Eskimo has added his own comment on the car's hood: Onchik Nashi.

Mr. Nelson says it means Silly White Man.

8th Tyendinaga

8TH LINE TYENDINAGA — Mr. and Mrs. S. Cross and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lewis, at Willowdale.

Armour, Richard, Derrick and Sandra Watson spent the weekend with their grandmother, Mrs. J. Cross.

The W.M.S. held the monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Elmer Cross. Plans were made to cater at Scott's Sale Barns, Tuesday; also at a wedding in the near future.

Doubt Growing Influence Of Russia Enough to Lead Hanoi to Peace Conference

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — Observers here are reacting cautiously to reports that the Soviet Union has lately increased its influence in Hanoi and to suggestions that this could presage Communist willingness to accept Viet Nam peace negotiations.

Western diplomats have long assumed that Moscow would like to see a negotiated end to the Viet Nam conflict, despite its public support of North Viet Nam's demands as the only basis for a settlement.

However, its influence with the North Vietnamese was not regarded as sufficiently strong to challenge that of the belligerent Chinese. Anyway, in the view of analysts, Russia is reluctant to act as a conciliator for fear of being charged by the Chinese with selling out the Communist side.

Recently, there have been some suggestions that the Kremlin's influence in Hanoi may be growing at the expense of China's. The reports resulted mainly from a top-secret meeting which Soviet leaders apparently had in August on the Black Sea with North Viet Nam's premier, Pham Van Dong, and Defence Minister Vo Nguyen Giap.

The Soviets have never officially confirmed that the meeting took place.

A senior Western diplomat suggests that the North Vietnamese are probably as nervous as anyone about recent developments in China, and might be anxious to break out of the Chinese embrace for that reason if for no other.

However, another diplomat emphasizes, there are formidable obstacles to Hanoi's ability to make such a move. These are its close proximity to China, its small size and therefore its presumed vulnerability to Chinese pressures.

Responsible observers here take the view that while Soviet influence has evidently been growing in North Viet Nam, there is no hard evidence that it has reached the point where it could be used to steer Hanoi toward the negotiating table.

CRASH BRINGS $90,000

TORONTO (CP) — Eleanor Rabsey Chant, 30, of suburban Etobicoke, and her three children were awarded $90,000 by the Ontario Supreme Court Wednesday for the death of her husband in the crash of a Trans-Canada Air Lines jet plane at Ste. Therese, Que., two years ago. They had sued for $200,000 in the death of Robert Kitchener Chant, 46, a regional sales manager with William E. Coutts Co. Ltd.

Africa Gets Another Nation At Midnight

By DAVID J. PAINE

GABERONES, Bechuanaland (AP)—Africa gets another nation one minute after midnight tonight as the British protectorate of Bechuanaland becomes independent Botswana.

It will be the first black-ruled country to border white-ruled South Africa. Prime Minister Seretse Khama, who will be sworn in as president, married a blonde British typist 16 years ago. They have four children.

Bonfires will blaze from the hilltops as the Union Jack is hauled down at midnight and the blue, black and white flag of the new republics is run up.

Bechuanaland, ruled by the British since the 1880s, is bordered by South - West Africa, white-ruled Rhodesia and South Africa. It is an arid country dominated by the vast Kalahari Desert and the Okavango Swamps.

Whites and blacks live in harmony here, in sharp contrast with the racist troubles in surrounding countries and territories. Independence ceremonies are being attended by mixed crowds of white and black citizens.

DROUGHT HITS HARD

Bechuanaland's economy is based on the export of cattle. Several years of drought has reduced its stock by nearly 500,000 head, or about one-third of the total herd.

Both Khama and Chief Leabua Jonathan, prime minister of Basutoland, recognize that their economic and political survival depend in large part on friendly relations with South Africa.

Basutoland, an enclave in the heart of South Africa, becomes the constitutional monarchy of Lesotho next Tuesday. With the exception of nearby Swaziland, due for independence in 1968, and rebellious Rhodesia, these are Britain's last dependencies in Africa.

Both Botswana and Lesotho are remaining in the Commonwealth and will continue to rely on aid from Britain.

HOPES FOR LINK

Khama, who would not be permitted to go to a hotel, movie or restaurant in South Africa with his white wife, hopes to establish a link between the black north and white south.

Jonathan broke the ice Sept. 9 when he became the first black African leader to visit a white South African premier. Four days later South African Premier Hendrik Verwoerd was assassinated.

Verwoerd's successor, Balthazar Vorster, has indicated he will not reverse Verwoerd's offer of friendship.

Princess Marina, Duchess of Kent, is representing her niece, the Queen, at the Independence ceremonies.

No Toast To Queen at Quebec Dinner

BROCKVILLE (CP)—A member of the touring Commonwealth parliamentary delegation has criticized the air conditioning encountered in Quebec.

"In 12 miles of travel only in one place in Canada did the delegation feel in a foreign, hostile land and that was in Quebec," John Matheson, a member of the New Zealand Parliament, said to an interview Wednesday.

Mr. Matheson, Labor member, was critical of the Quebec reception because there was no toast to the Queen at a Quebec government dinner Sept. 21 at which Premier Daniel Johnson was host. He said this "affront" to the Queen irritated the whole delegation.

"It was the only place in the Commonwealth where common courtesy would not have dictated a toast to the Queen," he said. Her Majesty and Prince Philip were the objects of ovations demonstrations on their visit to Quebec City in 1964.

"We found the whole visit to Quebec City in very bad taste," he said.

Mr. Matheson also said most of the delegation were surprised to find Premier Johnson serious about separatism in talking to them. Reporters at the meeting said Mr. Johnson was discussing his "two nations" theis.

Russia Getting Ready To Enter Automobile Age By Massive Production

By JOHN BEST

MOSCOW (CP) — The Soviet Union is getting ready to enter the automobile age in a big way. But a massive increase in passenger car output will not all go to meet domestic demand. A hefty slice is earmarked for export.

Production of passenger cars, now a little more than 200,000 a year, is to increase fourfold in the next five years.

The most spectacular event in the unfolding design thus far was the signing of an agreement with Fiat of Italy for construction of a big motor works at the Volga River town of Togliatti, formerly called Stavropol.

The plant will cost $800,000,000 and produce 600,000 models Fiat's a year. It is scheduled to be operating at full capacity by 1972.

While planning to produce vehicles of the Fiat for the home market, however, Russia hopes to boost exports of its own cars — the Volga, Moskvitch and Zaporozhets.

TO TREBLE EXPORTS

Vladimir Petrov, chairman of the state organization that handles foreign sale of cars, has predicted exports will more than treble during the next five years.

In 1964, according to official figures, the Soviet Union exported 44,500 cars, compared with 35,700 the year before.

Figures for 1965 are not yet available but, assuming that a similar increase occurred, the number of cars exported last year was about 53,000.

If exports are to treble in five years, possibly 150,000 cars will have to be absorbed from increased over-all production and sent abroad.

More than half of Russia's passenger car exports in 1964 went to Communist countries, but they were also marketed in a number of non - Communist countries, notably Finland which bought 6,172.

East Germany was the biggest purchaser of all, having taken 8,841.

VOLGA IS COMPACT

Capitalist countries besides Finland to which Soviet cars were exported included Belgium, The Netherlands, Denmark, Austria, Norway and France.

Of the three Soviet export models the largest is the Volga, about the size of a North American compact though built much lighter. The smallest is the tiny Zaporozhets.

Passenger car production has traditionally had low priority in the Soviet automotive field, where the emphasis has always been on trucks.

The measures to increase car production are viewed by qualified observers as a carefully-planned attempt to produce a whole wide range of new industrial skills and techniques into the Soviet economy.

There have been suggestions that in the next 10 to 15 years, several new car plants will be built, each producing not less than 80,000 to 100,000 machines annually. Some or all would be built by Western automotive firms.

START OFFICER EXCHANGE

Keeping Drinking Drivers Off Roads Is Major Issue

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario could reduce traffic deaths by half, if the legislature, passed laws to keep drinking drivers off the road, Toronto's chief coroner, Dr. Morton Shulman, said Wednesday.

"Ontario should enact a law whereby every person applying for a driver's license must give consent by a chemical test for alcohol if requested by a law officer," Dr. Shulman told the Ontario College of General Practice annual meeting.

He also suggested that a law should be passed making mechanical inspection of cars compulsory.

He said motorists should be given a choice of whether they wished to undergo breath, blood or urine tests, if asked to do so by police.

Dr. Shulman also told the meeting that for every woman who dies violently, there are two men who die in a similar manner.

The coroner said that 175 persons committed suicide in Toronto and of these 103 were under 45 years of age.

A professionally staffed suicide prevention centre for the area is being delayed because of a lack of money, he said.

DISCUSS MOTORCYCLES

In other business Tuesday, a panel of doctors discussed motorcycle deaths and injuries.

Dr. E. Bruce Tovee, associate professor surgery at the University of Toronto, said since Toronto motorcycle policemen have been wearing helmets there have been no deaths as a result of head injuries.

Before helmets were made compulsory, three officers died out of every 15 who suffered head injuries in accidents.

Dr. Shulman, who participated in the panel, said the motorcycle death rate is six times that of car riders, in proportion to their numbers.

Dr. John Versace, executive engineer of safety research with the Ford Motor Co., Dearborn, Mich., said a personality study showed that the super-safe driver is super-repressed and conforming.

What's in a Name? Just Ask Kitchener Which Was Berlin

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—The year was 1916 and several men of the little Western Ontario settlement were pondering what name to give their growing community.

Benjamin Eby was among them. The men were natives of Germany, he reflected, and many had lived in or near Berlin.

"Call it Berlin," he proposed.

For almost a century it was Berlin, a clean, tidy, industrious and progressive community whose name and products were widely respected.

Then came the First World War and the Made in Berlin label became a source of embarrassment. Some thought it unpatriotic for the town to continue with the name of the capital of the enemy country.

The people of Berlin were divided. Those favoring a change instituted a campaign that was to culminate on Sept. 1, 1916—50 years ago—with the adoption of Kitchener, named for the Irish-born Earl Kitchener of Khartoum, a military hero and British war secretary who had been lost at sea a short time before.

But Berlin didn't become Kitchener without much bitterness and some violence. Neighbor turned against neighbor and even families were split as the controversy raged for two years. And it took a long time afterward for the wounds to heal.

PASSED RESOLUTION

Goaded by snide remarks from outsiders and upset by editorials in newspapers in Toronto and elsewhere, citizens of Berlin met in February, 1916, to pass a resolution calling for a change to "some other name more in keeping with our national sentiment."

The reason offered was that "strong prejudice has been created throughout the British Empire against the name Berlin and all that name implies."

Opposition was led by The News Record, one of Berlin's two newspapers, which declared that "Berlin is as loyal to the empire as any other Canadian city."

As the debate went on, there were many incidents. Some citizens were dragged to the recruiting office by soldiers. Men in uniform raided the Concordia Club, which until the war had been a respected organization of persons of German descent, wrecked its clubrooms and burned the contents in a bonfire on the street.

In April an amendment was rushed through the Ontario legislature giving the city permission to change its name, subject to a vote by citizens. On May 19 they voted by a small margin in favor of a change—1,269 to 1,483.

In June, after rejection of a proposal to seek amalgamation with neighboring Waterloo under that community's name the people voted again, this time to choose a new name.

FEW VOTED

The turnout was small and Kitchener received only 346 votes, 31 more than runner-up Brock. Keewatin got 163, Adelaide 28, Benton 15 and Corona 7.

Council voted to go along with the choice despite the narrow margin. A group known as the Citizens League was formed to block the change and the British League was set up by those favoring it.

The division was not exclusively along nationalistic lines. Some of British descent were in the Citizens League and some of German descent backed the British League.

The Citizens League campaign failed. The provincial cabinet announced on Aug. 23 that Berlin would become Kitchener on Sept. 1.

The change went off on schedule but that wasn't the end of the argument. The following Jan. 1 a slate of men supported by the Citizens League won every seat on council.

And in a final act of violence on election night a group of soldiers made two raids on the News Record office, damaging a monotype casting machine and breaking every window. The trouble ended only when 100 troops from Galt arrived with fixed bayonets and formed a cordon around the building.

Able to publish next day, the newspaper didn't blame the soldiers. It said they were merely tools of a group of high-handed individuals "who would brook no opposition in their plans to ruin the city and its inhabitants."

The result of this unhappy period was described several years ago in the Kitchener-Waterloo Record by columnist Alex O. Potter.

"When the mists of civic battle cleared away," he wrote, "we no longer were a German community. But we had not become English or Scottish or Irish or French. We had become Canadian."

some 14,000 men qualified and recommended for promotion to the rank of corporal in the army and the RCAP and is leading seamen in the navy.

—Reduction in military trades from 350 to approximately 100.

—Introduction of regulations permitting single officers and men to live out of barracks if they choose, except for men in their first year of service and officers and men required to live on base for operational reasons.

—Equal pay for single and married members of the regular armed forces, affecting approximately 21,000 persons.

—Incorporation of marriage and subsistence allowances into basic pay. The last two features will cost the defence department $23,600,000 over the next fiscal year.

—"Substantial raise" built in near end of first five years of service, allowing for cessation of re-engagement bonus next June 30.

Mr. Hellyer said at a press conference that single men living in barracks now will have to pay for room and board. He did not give an amount.

He also said that rents for married quarters provided by the defence department will be raised "in due course." Again he did not state any amount.

Mr. Hellyer said the pay increase in the current fiscal year ending next March 31 will cost $42,000,000 on top of the $330,000,000 already allocated for armed forces pay.

He said he doesn't yet know whether the department will need a supplementary appropriation from Parliament to cover the pay increase. This would depend on other factors such as savings in other defence fields.

to emphasize Argentina's claim to the bleak islands, 300 miles east of Tierra del Fuego.

The nationalists radioed from the plane that they are determined to remain in Port Stanley—"either we secure our future or we die for the past."

But later reports from Port Stanley said British authorities quickly took control of the situation and there was no violence.

Argentine and British officials had not decided early today how to get the nationalists and other passengers, including three children, back to Buenos Aires. They may come on a British ship which sails Monday on a monthly voyage from Port Stanley to Montevideo. Uruguay, or smaller planes may be sent to get them.

The seizure coincided with the presence in Buenos Aires of Prince Philip who arrived Monday to attend the world horse jumping championships as the guest of Argentina's military president, Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania.

CONDEMNED ACTION

Gen. Ongania strongly condemned the seizure and said those involved would be put on trial.

Prince Philip played polo as scheduled Wednesday, protected by 100 policemen and six patrol cars. Demonstrators supporting Argentina's claim to the Falklands pelted him with eggs during a visit to Buenos Aires in 1962.

The airliner, owned by the Argentine government, was flying from Buenos Aires to Rio Gallegos, 1,730 miles to the south, when it was seized. The plane landed on the racetrack because Port Stanley has no airstrip.

A few hours later, Argentine Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Mendez told the UN General Assembly his government is confident its dispute with Britain over the islands will be settled soon. He said the two governments are to resume talks on the issue next month.

Britain has held the Falklands since 1833 and rejected all Argentine demands that they be relinquished. They represent a refuelling station for the British South Atlantic fleet and a staging post for Antarctic surveys.

About 2,000 persons — most of them of British origin—live on the two main islands, which have a total area of 2,700 square miles.

increase of 22½ per cent over 30 months.

The union nominee, Fernand Daoust of Montreal, submitted a minority report favoring an increase of 31.3 per cent over the same period.

His report also claimed that agreement had been reached on three 9½-per-cent raises over the 30 months but that board chairman Judge R. W. Reville of Brantford changed his mind on the eve of the settlement of the national railway strike.

The CBC announced two weeks ago its acceptance of the majority report.

Most of the union members now earn between $70 and $120 a week.

Award Plan Is Challenged

TORONTO (CP)T—About 1,200 University of Toronto students marched to Queen's Park Wednesday, demanding changes in Ontario's new student award program.

They won a pledge from University Affairs Minister William Davis that an advisory committee of students, faculty members and university presidents would be convened soon to review the program and recommend changes.

been like this. To me, this isn't a raise — it's an adjustment bringing our wages up to par with the civilian equivalent."

Reaction from housewives in service Middleton Park subdivision was similarly straight forward.

One woman thought the men would be unhappy with an overall raise.

"Tradesmen had hoped for an additional trade pay increase to bring their salaries in line with those paid on civvy street", she added.

Said another: "I think the men were expecting more, but I told my husband he'd be lucky to get more than 10 per cent".

Negro youth by a white police man. The patrolman, Alvin Johnson, said the youth, Matthew Johnson, 16, fled from a stolen car and refused to halt despite warning shots.

Police controlled the Tuesday rioting after guardsmen moved into the city armories. They called for help Wednesday as gun-swinging, rioting, arson, looting, beatings and brick throwing continued in the Hunters Point-Bayview area in the city's southeast corner and in the Fillmore district, five miles to the northwest.

Police said 42 persons were injured Wednesday, including three policemen.

MOROCCAN TEA—Mayor Jack Ellis and Mrs. Gwyn Black enjoy traditional Moroccan tea at Treasure Van display with Albert Sabbah of Morocco at YMCA.

More than 80 persons were arrested and many stores, including several selling liquor, were looted.

Sniping was "almost continuous" although no policeman was hit by a bullet.

Guardsmen moved in after one policeman was injured by a bottle. His nose was broken.

More than 20 police cars, two California highway patrol cars, eight fire department vehicles and two buses were damaged.

As guardsmen sealed off the Negro districts, forcing everyone from the streets, police patrols concentrated on nearby areas against hit-and-run attacks by Negro youths in cars.

Guardsmen halted cars at bayonet point, yanked out the occupants and shook down the cars for looted goods.

Settlement Seen Probable In Rhodesia

LONDON (Reuters) — Commonwealth Secretary Herbert Bowden returned from Rhodesia today and declared a settlement is possible if Premier Ian Smith makes a "major political decision."

Bowden went to Rhodesia to spell out a last-chance offer to negotiate the crisis over Smith's seizure of independence last November M before Britain asks the United Nations for compulsory economic sanctions against the white-minority regime.

"I think there is a prospect of a settlement," he told a press conference at London airport. "It depends on Mr. Smith taking a major political decision."

Bowden did not spell out what the major political decision would be.

Among Britain's requirements for a settlement are a commitment to unimpeded progress toward majority rule by Rhodesia's 4,000,000 Negroes' and acceptance of any settlement by the people as a whole.

The Commonwealth secretary said there has been "very little move at all" toward agreement with Smith.

"I think he wants a settlement," he added. "Whether he is prepared to take this hurdle is a different matter." He said Britain has left the door open to further negotiations.

Ten Invaders Shiver Around Abducted Plane

PORT STANLEY, Falkland Islands (Reuters) — Blue and white flags of the Argentine fluttered on a bleak racecourse here today while the "invading army" that planted them Wednesday stood around shivering in the cold.

The "army" consisted of 19 armed Argentine men and a woman who landed here Wednesday after seizing a plane in their own country and ordering the pilot to fly to this lonely British colony on the edge of the Antarctic.

It has been a bloodless invasion—as far as anyone knows—and a source of wonderment to the 2,100 people of these islands where nothing much ever happens except the arrival of the mail boat Darwin from Montevideo several times a year.

On arrival, the invaders descended from the DC-4 airliner and formed a cordon around it with rifles at the ready.

They stuck their flags in the grass, which in this poor earth grows white and not green, then issued a proclamation declaring the locally-born population were Argentine citizens.

There was no invasion battle. The Falkland police force numbers seven and the local defence force, a voluntarily recruited troop of sheep farmers and oxhands who make up the bulk of the population.

Five people who were around when the plane landed or had gone along to see what was happening were seized as hostages.

But then Father Rodolfo Roel, a Dutchman and one of the two Roman Catholic priests in the Falklands, walked determinedly across the muddy racecourse to intervene. The invaders let him say mass on the plane for the 26 innocent passengers and six crew members who were seized along with the plane.

Then the hostages were freed.

PALS GO TO JAIL

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—John Arthur Goodhead, 43, and John Atamanchuk, 48, were told to leave town when they pleaded guilty to charges of drunken-ness. They were arrested next day for the same offence and Atamanchuk followed Goodhead to jail for seven days when he said they wanted to stay together.

possible because it is not acceptable to the British people.

He also believed that the policy of demanding unconditional surrender from Smith would alienate the white moderates in Rhodesia.

FAVOR PROGRESS

Sir Stephen criticised blanket denunciations of the Rhodesian whites. There were many of them who favored progress towards rule by the African majority and the British government should do its best to secure their support.

Sir Stephen said he doubted the wisdom of turning the Rhodesian issue over to the UN, since some UN members who advocate forceful action are not willing to put up the money and manpower to back it.

Britain was also mildly reproached by a New Zealand delegate for staying out of the Viet Nam conflict.

James B. Gordon of the National party said New Zealand troops "engaged in the defence of freedom" in Viet Nam were doing so for the first time without British comrades-in-arms.

Mr. Gordon defended the Australian and New Zealand participation in the Vietnamese war after two members of Australia's Labor party attacked participation as unjustified interference in South Viet Nam's internal affairs.

B.C. Move

came from the New Westminster and District Labor Council and the Vancouver Island Building and Construction Trades Council.

DIDN'T OPPOSE MOVE

Industry officials, while not overly enthusiastic, did not strongly oppose the move.

R. K. Gervin, spokesman for the Associated Construction Association, representing most major B.C. contractors, said nooverture can be interpreted in some situations, particularly in road-building and other development-all work where weather is a factor.

"In pouring concrete, for instance, they've got to do it in the summer under favorable weather conditions," he said. "They can't do it in the winter and sometimes overtime work is required."

He said, however: "Nobody wants overtime, the construction companies, the owners of the projects or the workers."

Forest industry spokesman refused to comment until they have studied the premier's order.

B. F. Gimbel, Former Head Of Stores, Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard F. Gimbel, retired chairman of the board of Gimbel Bros. department stores, died early today after a long illness. He was 81.

Gimbel took what had been a small family business, begun as a frontier trading post in Indiana and turned it into one of the great merchandising chains in the United States.

He became a merchant prince of a $300,000,000 domain, but he continued to act much like the country storekeeper.

A big - handed, gregarious multi-millionaire, Gimbel spent a half century cultivating good will as well as a department store empire. His philanthropies were widespread.

Round-faced, white-haired, a man who was forever giving away toys to children, Gimbel was asked to play the role of Santa Claus in the movie, The Miracle on 34th Street.

The expression, Does Macy's Tell Gimbel's, has become a national by word. Macy's is a block away, where it is presided over by Gimbel's close friend, Jack I. Straus.

"We don't talk business," Gimbel said. "He doesn't give away much information. Neither do I."

Segregationist Wins Primary For Democrats

By DON McKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Lester G. Maddox, a segregationist running a shoestring campaign, has captured the Democratic nomination for governor—upsetting a moderate establishment and Georgia's middle - road racial course.

Maddox, a furniture merchant who quit the cafeteria business rather than serve Negroes, decisively defeated Ellis G. Arnall, a former governor, in Wednesday's primary runoff to pick the party candidate in the November elections.

"God and the people are my campaign managers," said Maddox, 30, after pulling off a major upset without big-money backers or the support of high-ranking politicians.

With 1,742 of 1,808 voting districts reported: Maddox 419,537, Arnall 356,078.

AGREES WITH WALLACE

A fiery opponent of the federal government, President Lyndon B. Johnson, liberalism, socialism and communism, Maddox says he shares the racial views of Alabama's Governor George C. Wallace. But Maddox said little about racial issues in his campaign.

Arnall, 50, who scored a major upset 20 years ago to win the governorship over the popular Eugene Talmadge, had changed in the runoff fight that Maddox was radical and extremist, a man whose symbols were axe handles and pistols.

Maddox, in resisting integration in 1954 and 1965, once waved a pistol to chase Negroes from his place and provided axe handles for white patrons. When ordered by a court to serve Negroes, Maddox quit the cafeteria business.

Taking on Maddox in the first Georgia two-party contest for governor since the 1870s will be Representative Howard H. (Bo) Calloway, the state's lone Republican congressman, a conservative former Democrat who helped carry the state for Barry Goldwater in 1964.

coast of Haiti toward Jamaica during the day.

The storm's death toll reached 25 as latest reports from the French island colony of Guadeloupe, hit Tuesday, came in. About 200 persons were injured there and 10,000 are homeless.

Havana Radio warned residents of Cuba's southern coast, north of Jamaica, to be wary of the storm, whose highest winds increased from 150 miles an hour to 160 during the night.

Thunderous waves smashed against Santo Domingo's seawalls as the hurricane swirled across the water 75 miles out from the centre, far enough to hit the port of Barahona, 50 miles northeast of the peninsula's tip. The city of 20,000 is snuggled in a jungle valley with steep mountains on each side forming a natural funnel for flooding.

About 200,000 persons live on the peninsula, an area of coffee, sugar, cotton and banana farms. Police evacuated families from along the shore and thousands of others boarded up their homes and shops.

The last major hurricane to strike the southern coast of the Dominican Republic, in 1930, left 2,000 dead and all but levelled Santo Domingo.

The hurricane levelled the Lauricisque district of Pointe-a-Pitre, Guadeloupe, where 10,000 persons lived.

SCENIC BUT DEADLY TERRITORY—Soldiers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division move up a mountain with a helicopter toting the heavy gear. The troops were conducting Operation Thayer last week, a mission through Viet Cong-dominated villages in the coastal hills of central South Viet Nam. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Casualties in South Viet Nam Set New Record

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. forces suffered more casualties in South Viet Nam last week than in any week of the war, the U.S. command announced today. The high toll apparently resulted from the hard fighting south of the demilitarized zone, where American marines are battling North Vietnamese regulars.

American casualties during the week totalled 970, the U.S. command said, including 142 men killed 825 wounded. Three Americans were reported missing in action or captured.

The previous highest number of American casualties occurred during the week ending last May 21, when 146 U.S. troops were killed and 820 wounded for a total of 966.

American casualties last week were nearly three times as high as South Vietnamese losses. South Vietnamese dead numbered 96, the wounded 220, the South Vietnamese command said.

The highest American death rate in one week came last November when 240 were killed, most of them in the battle of the Ia Drang Valley. In that week, 470 others were wounded.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese dead last week totalled 1,165. There were, 722 the previous week.

Many of the American and enemy casualties apparently were suffered in Operation Prairie, the U.S. marine operation just south of the demilitarized zone separating North and South Viet Nam at the 17th parallel.

HELD GROUND

In hard fighting there Wednesday a company of marines seized a heavily fortified hill, killing 50 North Vietnamese, and held their ground against three counter - attacks and heavy mortar fire through much of the night.

The casualty report for last week was the fourth this year in which U.S. casualties exceeded South Vietnamese losses.

Other Allied forces in Viet Nam reported eight men killed and 28 wounded. The week before there were three killed and 13 wounded.

The strength of U.S. armed forces in the country increased to 315,000, the U.S. command said, just 2,000 less than the strength of the regular South Vietnamese forces. Estimated enemy strength in South Viet Nam remained at 283,000.

The marines suffered "moderate casualties," meaning they were hard hit, in the day-long battle with enemy forces entrenched about three miles north of the craggy mountain known as The Rockpile. The Americans sustained further casualties in the mortar attack during the night.

The marines, taking part in Operation Prairie, made contact early Wednesday with an enemy outfit they had been stalking for several days.

The defenders poured automatic-weapons and mortar fire into the ranks of the marines as they tried to get into position to take the hill. But with air and artillery support, the marines finally took the high ground.

Operation Prairie has been going on in the jungle hills south of the demilitarized zone since Aug. 3.

In air action over the North, U.S. Navy bombers launched rockets at suspected torpedo boat base 25 miles southeast of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. Pilots said they hit the installation and set off a large secondary explosion.

Hanoi claimed one U.S. plane was shot down Wednesday over Thanh Hoa province, south of Hanoi. There was no confirmation from U.S. authorities.

Expert Says Ontario Needs 175,000 Acres of Additional Parkland in Next Generation

HAMILTON (CP)—Prof. Norman Pearson of the University of Waterloo says Ontario will need an additional 175,000 acres of parkland to meet the recreational needs of the next generation.

Speaking to the Ontario Conservation Authorities Convention, Prof. Pearson said Wednesday the great bulk of the land will be required around an axis from Ottawa to London.

Prof. Pearson told 300 delegates that $86,000,000 will have to be raised within the next decade for land purchases.

"In the light of our expenditures for miscellaneous luxury items and cars, the sum does not seem so astronomic," he said, "but it will make the difference between the ability to undertake long - term planning for urban areas and regional resources."

Prof. Pearson said 100,000 acres are needed to meet future needs and 75,000 acres for present deficiencies. Th key to the program is regional planning, encompassing the needs of urban areas.

Another professor, John Farina of the University of Toronto's school of social work, said recreation should be given the first-class status accorded other aspects of conservation.

The demand for recreation, space and intelligent programming of its year-round use will increase radically, he said, and conservation authorities are best prepared to meet these demands.

Prof. Douglas H. Pimlott of the University of Toronto's zoology department criticized the provincial government, saying it shows an almost total disregard for the preservation o primitive natural environments

As an example, he said, Algonquin Park is subject to long-term logging and no plan for the park's preservation and development has ever been drawn up.

If you are not happy about the fact the term park is meaningless in Ontario and are disturbed because your children and grandchildren are being left a fourth-rate heritage, then I urge you to take the time to deeply probe yourself."

Speaking at the conference's opening luncheon, Dr. Norman High, dean of arts at the University of Waterloo, said conservation authorities should not become bogged down with the straight physical aspects of conservation programs.

Pioneers of the conservation movement had vision and faced almost insurmountable aspects of conservation programs, he said.

J. R. Simonot, provincial energy and resources minister, said the province plans to extend the important role being played by conservation authorities in Ontario.

He said a select committee of the legislature has been reviewing the field of conservation work and "I am hopeful that it will provide my department with a plan of action for the effective support of conservation authorities by the province."

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Mitchell, Wooler, visited Mrs. Cora Bateman and Mrs. Fred McKeown.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Burkitt spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Burkitt, at Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Don McKeown and family, Foxboro, Mr. and Mrs. Mel McKeown, Campbellford ,and Mr. and Mrs. Les McKeown and family of Marmora, spent Wednesday evening with Mrs. Fred McKeown on the occasion of Mrs. McKeown's birthday.

Steven Cracknell is undergoing treatment in Belleville General Hospital.

Harvest Home service was held at St. Mark's Anglican Church on Sunday morning with a good number in attendance. The minister, Mr. Stewart delivered an inspiring sermon.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Laton, of Stoco celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, September 25th, at the home of their son Paul and Mrs. Laton. Several of the family were in attendance. A dainty lunch was served and a beautiful wedding cake in the 50 design and trimmed with roses and bods was cut by the 'bride' and served to the guests. Friends were present from Stoco, Madoc and Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Eggert are visiting friends at Thompson Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. James Legge, were involved in an accident on Sunday, evening when their car, skidded on the gravel road and went into the ditch hitting a pole. Mr. Legge has his face cut and Mrs. Legge, a bruised hip. Both were taken to Campbellford Hospital where Mr. Legge received stitches in his face, while Mrs. Legge was xrayed and no bones were broken. They were allowed to return home.

The Women's Institute held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Cyril McKeown on Tuesday afternoon.

Eugene Forsey Gives Warning On Strikes to Labor Leaders

By BEN WARD

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the sterner statesmen of the Canadian labor movement warned union leaders Wednesday that they soon may face "a fairly stiff demand" for some method of avoiding strikes that injure the public interest.

Dr. Eugene Forsey, 62, told Canadian Labor Congress conference on labor law that many "reasonably decent and sympathetic people" are becoming worried about what has been happening in certain key industries.

Stressing that he was speaking personally and not in his official role as CLC research director, he said labor must face up to this issue and search for a solution or find itself saddled with new labor legislation "formed by our enemies."

It was not enough to say merely that unions oppose compulsory arbitration of disputes. Labor must put forward alternatives designed to do as little harm as possible to the economic strength of workers.

FORSEY CITES RAILWAYS

The railways were a prime example of the situation.

"I have been convinced for some years that no government will allow a railway strike to last more than a few days," he said. It was practically certain that some continuing form of compulsory arbitration would be devised for rail disputes.

Some of the 125 union leaders in the audience appeared a little startled when he said it has become apparent that some union officers are no longer in a position to speak for their members.

He cited the incident during the recent railway strike in which leaders had difficulty persuading members to continue essential ferry services to Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

The two-day conference, which ended Wednesday, dealt chiefly with labor's complaints about court injunctions that limit strike picketing and compulsory arbitration.

No specific recommendations were made. CLC President Claude Jodoin said comments and suggestions made by the delegates will be considered when the 35-member executive council of the CLC meets here Oct. 25-28 to draw up a plan of action.

At one point in the closing discussion there was conflict over whether workers in such essential services as hospitals should have the right to strike.

LEWIS SPEAKS

David Lewis, deputy leader of the New Democratic Party, said no responsible person in the union movement would demand that policemen, firemen or hospital workers be given the right to strike.

But society had a moral duty to protect such workers and assure them of rates equal to those paid to workers armed with the strike weapon. It was a "shameful fact" in Canada that this wasn't done.

Stanley Little of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, said members of his group are becoming increasingly frustrated and angry because of compulsory arbitration.

Several delegates criticized the long procedures now required under law to settle labor disputes, often running to six months and more.

George Burt of Windsor, Ont., Canadian director of the United Auto Workers, said workers should be allowed to strike legally the day after an old contract expires.

Mr. Lewis said it might be easier to persuade legislators to set a time limit on bargaining, perhaps 60 days after the expiry of a contract.

But Mr. Burt contended that every day of delay makes it more difficult to write retroactive features into a new agreement.

FIND MOTHER INSANE

TORONTO (CP)—Jacqueline Frances Morton, 26, of Toronto, Wednesday was acquitted by reason of insanity on a charge of non-capital murder in the strangling of her two children last January. The court was told Tuesday the slayings were committed two days after the woman was refused admittance to the Ontario mental hospital in Toronto.

Rattlesnake Gives Warning Only 4 Per Cent of the Time

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In a doubtful world most people believe the rattlesnake is at least one creep that gives fair warning. . . . Well, he usually doesn't. . . . In a recent experiment only four per cent of a group of these snakes shook their rattles before striking.

The cheetah long has been thought the fastest animal on earth, and may be. . . . But he has been scientifically clocked at only 36 miles an hour, whereas the American pronghorn antelope has exceeded 60.

Might help at that: A radio network reports seeing the billboard appeal: "Help beautify junkyards . . . throw something lovely away today."

Researchers say it takes about three years of steady smoking to become hooked by the habit. . . . They've found that about about 15 per cent of new smokers start in the sixth grade. . . . And, despite all medical warnings of possible health hazards, only 15 per cent of regular smokers have quit.

Self-improvement tip: It may help you to take the whistle out of your new set of false teeth if you will repeat the following sentence over: "Sarah, in a shawl, shovelled soft snow softly."

Worth remembering: "By the time a man is old enough to watch his step, he is too old to go anywhere."

Feminine: It is bad luck to count the cars in a funeral procession. . . . Friends will have a falling out if they try to kindle a fire together or wash hands in a basin at the same time. . . . A mole on the chest is a sign you'll be prosperous. . . . To cure whooping cough, saw a live fuzzy caterpillar in a cloth sack and wear it around your neck.

Will Return Men Charged To Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — City police said Wednesday that two men picketing the United Nations building in New York on behalf of the Quebec Liberation Front have been arrested on warrants issued for non-capital murder.

A spokesman said Charles Gagnon, 27, and Pierre Vallieres, 28, will be returned to Montreal within the next few days.

They were arrested by New York City police Wednesday while walking up and down across the street from the United Nations building carrying placards for the Quebec Liberation Front.

Valliers and Gagnon were found criminally responsible in absentia last week at a coroner's inquest into the death of Jean Corbo, a 16-year-old student who died July 14 when a bomb he was carrying apparently exploded prematurely outside a Dominion Textile plant here.

Five other young men were also held responsible for the death.

Tuesday, Valliers and Gagnon walked into the United Nations press gallery and told reporters they were going on a hunger strike to obtain special status for imprisoned members of the Quebec Liberation Front.

MONTREAL (CP) — Serge Demers, 21, of Montreal testified Wednesday that a bomb which exploded July 14 at a Montreal textile plant was intended as a harmless gesture aimed partly at pressuring management into settlement of a strike.

Jean Corbo, 16, was killed when the bomb exploded at the plant operated here by the Dominion Textile Co-Ltd.

Demers and four other persons are charged with manslaughter in connection with the death.

The Montreal plant was operating at the time of the blast but facilities of the textile company in other parts of Quebec were strikebound.

Demers gave his testimony under protection of the court in the preliminary inquiry ordered for one of the five charged youths, Marcel Faulkner, 21.

Judge Emile Trottier said he will hear further arguments today before rendering his decision.

Demers, Faulkner, Rheal Mathieu, 19, Gerard Laquerre, 24, and Claude Simard, 19, all of whom face the manslaughter charge, are also charged with conspiring to plant the bomb.

IT ALL TAKES TIME

MONTREAL (CP) — An article in The Canadian Sailor, published by the Seafarers' International Union, says Montreal harbor is still waiting for a fire boat although it was recommended 36 years ago that one be put to work at once. The recommendation followed a disaster that took 32 lives.

Archbishop Joins Pope In Appeal for Peace

VICTORIA (CP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. Arthur Michael Ramsey, joined Pope Paul's appeal for peace in Viet Nam at a communion service Wednesday.

He told worshippers in crowded Christ Church Cathedral he has joined his voice "with the voice of the Pope and with Christian people everywhere who pray for peace in Viet Nam.

"If the war continues, it may grow into something still more horrible."

Outside the cathedral, members of the Victoria Peace Action League carried placards reading "How can you in any way support this immoral war in Viet Nam?" and "War is the ultimate blasphemy."

One marcher explained there was no specific point to the march but "we just hope to make people think more about this war."

The archbishop, who saw the pickets as he entered the cathedral, said they were "carrying coals to Newcastle" when he spoke at a press conference after the service.

"A few minutes later I was pleading for the utmost support for peace in Viet Nam."

THE STAND

The archbishop explained he had stated previously on his trip across Canada that the Americans had gone into the war with a conscientious motive—that of halting Communist aggression.

"I also said that I agree with Prime Minister Wilson's deploring of the bombing of the North," he said.

"And both sides, and I include China with the North, must contribute to a peaceful solution if there is to be one."

The archbishop said the Anglican communion is a family of churches "but these days we must look beyond our Anglican boundary and greet other churches."

The word "peace" in the Greek bible means a binding, he said, and may be interpreted as a binding together by love.

He said men should be bound to God in reconciliation and forgiveness and they should also be bound to each other.

STUDENTS MAY SING

HALIFAX (CP) — Dalhousie University is giving local singers a chance to develop operatic talents by running an opera workshop as a non-credit evening course. The director, Philip May, will be working in co-operation with the Dalhousie Drama Workshop.

Moira

MOIRA — Moira anniversary service was held on Sunday morning with a good number in attendance. The minister, Mr. Aylmer Smith delivered the sermon and the choir under the leadership of Mrs. Gordon Foster, with Mrs. Doug. Farrell as pianist, sang three anthems. Baskets of autumn flowers and foliages graced the front of the church.

Mrs. James Lake, Stirling, is spending a holiday with her daughter, Mrs. Ross Ketcheson and Mr. Ketcheson.

Mrs. Joe Kellar has been a patient in Belleville General Hospital for the past week.

Mrs. Archie Jones of Tweed spent the past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Farrell.

Miss Linda Ketcheson spent the weekend at her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ketcheson.

Surviving Twin Is Progressing

TORONTO (CP) — Crystal Ann, the surviving McGee siamese twin, was reported steadily improving Wednesday but still on the critical list.

The Hospital for Sick Children here said Wednesday that they are quite satisfied with her feeding. She is being bottle-fed a milk formula.

The twins were separated in a 6½-hour operation Sept. 17. The other twin, Sherri Lee, died eight hours after the operation.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

MONTREAL (CP) — Local teen-agers report their favorite of a long list of Beatle-browed rock-and-roll music groups, is a combo calling itself Stark Naked and the Car Thieves.

Latta

LATTA — Several members of the community attended the centennial services held at Carmel United Church on Sunday.

Several friends and neighbors of the community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skelly to honor them on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy James of Toronto were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Skelly. Mr. and Mrs. Dorval Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lawerson of Rochester were also callers at the Skelly home.

Several neighbors of the community called on Mrs. J. Bolrick of Belleville on the occasion of her 80th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Treverton attended the Parks—Bath wedding at the Presbyterian Church in Picton recently.

Experienced Officers Scarce In U.S. Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Navy has a critical shortage of experienced officers for surface ships and is looking for ways to interest them to stay in uniform longer, officials said today.

Naval statistics show that the over-all retention rate among officers has fallen to a low of 38.7 per cent, meaning barely one in three officers decides to stay on in the service.

As a result, there is a shortage of 4,200 officers—about 45 per cent — among the commander, lieutenant - commander and lieutenant ranks of the submarine and surface services.

To make up for this shortage, the navy has about 2,500 more ensigns than authorized serving at sea.

"The navy may be sailing at full strength quantitatively, but qualitatively most assuredly not," one naval officer said. "We just don't have enough experience aboard destroyers, cruisers and minesweepers."

The navy is considering a series of retention-boosting plans, including proposals that would provide for added sea pay, one the - job educational programs and more opportunities for family life.

SPORTSLICES

It had to come sooner or later — in fact I'm surprised it didn't happen some time ago.

Anti-Dodger huffs looking for chinks in the ex-Bums near-perfect pitching staff armor are beginning to voice doubts that Sandy Koufax "artistry" is not as bad as it is yukked up to be.

ROBERTO CLEMENTE
Brooklyn-born southpaw whose fastball was worth $125,000 this year to the L.A. front office is the greatest "head-swinger" baseball has ever seen.

Every same-minded baseball addict knows that Koufax is one of the best pitchers — if not the best — left or right to tickle-toe a rubber.

If this is so, the Brooklyn-born southpaw whose fastball was worth $125,000 this year to the L.A. front office is the greatest "head-swinger" baseball has ever seen.

One of the most outspoken unbelievers is a baseball star in his own right, who, not a pitcher, gives out with a sour-grapish line.

He is Roberto Clemente an Irish Pirate whose Latin blood hobbles when Koufax whips that third strike past him.

When Koufax five-hitted the Pirates for his 24th victory, Senor Roberto went to the plate four times — and four times he returned to the dugout with nary a clout to his credit.

As outspoken as a mother-in-law Roberto didn't pull any verbal punches after the game. Instead, in his inimitably to connect with the Koufax slants, the senor had no words of admiration for the Dodger lefty.

"Sore elbow, my eye," he snorted in his Anglo-South American-ese, "the throw as hard as he ever had. I don't say his arm isn't sore after he pitches — but he couldn't pitch like that if he hurt very bad."

And Roberto went further than that. He claims that baseball fans with constant press rehashings of the Koufax arthritic arm are being duped by stories of the agonies the pitcher suffers.

Clemente is bothered at times with pains in his back. "When I tell that," he says, "they call me a $50,000 gold brick. But when Koufax yelps his arm hurts they make him a hero."

"Does he think the National League is a joke?" the senor replied. "That year he won 28 games. This year so far he has won more than 20. Is that supposed to mean he could win 50 games if his arm is all right?"

What irked the senor is the fact that Sandy was not up to his usual masterly form. Another Pirate agreed that he didn't throw as hard as he usually does, "in fact," he said, "compared to the Koufax I have seen he had nothing."

As most National League and other batters know, Koufax has a fast ball that would make Bob Feller's lightning ball look like a soggy grapefruit. His assortment of curves would make a corkscrew writhe in jealousy.

But Old man Arthritis gnawing away at a vulnerable elbow has caused Sandy to do his throwing on the fast one instead of the pain-provoking twisters.

Many a curve-hitting specialist has stood at the plate looking like the Statue of Liberty to watch that blazing wind-splitter zip past them. That it has paid off is seen in Sandy's 26 wins at this writing. And after a peerish start at that.

Well, that's baseball biz.

Meanwhile if the Dodgers did not wrap up the flag last night it was an exercise in futility as to be the first National League team in some time to grab the confusion two years in a row. But Giants and Pirates die hard. As of right now both have a mathematical chance, slim as it is to snatch the flag from L.A. But don't hold your breath.

Down Baltimore way, a flag-winning covey of Orioles has sent the Maryland city into the throes of a fiery world series fever. Reports have it that you can't get accommodation in hotel, motel or even fence corners with your weight in gold.

The series should be a battle of the best. Opposing the finest pitching staff in either league will be the thundering bats of Frank and Brooks Robinson, Curt Blefary and Boog Powell who have already paced the 106-home-run mark set for them by Hank Bauer, ex-Yankee manager.

The limit? The Dodgers in six!

Bower Bats; Breaks Baun's Beak

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs downed New York Rangers 3-2 in a National Hockey League exhibition game at Kingston Wednesday night without the services of three veteran defencemen.

The Leafs learned from doctors earlier in the day that Bob Baun and rookie Jim McKenny will miss the next few days of practice.

Baun suffered a broken nose when he fell into goaltender Johnny Bower's stick during a scrimmage at the Leafs training base in Peterborough. It isn't known how long he'll be out.

McKenny had an abscess on his foot lanced and will be off skates three or four days.

The pair joined veteran Allan Stanley, out with an injured knee, and Kent Douglas, who will miss two weeks with a shoulder separation.

The injuries reduced the Toronto defensive corps momentarily to three but coach Punch Imlach drafted rookie Doug Dunville for Wednesday night's contest. Dunville, trying out with Tulsa Oilers of the Central Professional League, joined Tim Horton, Larry Hillman and Marcel Pronovost.

Also stabilized is forward Brit Selby, who suffered a groin injury Tuesday night in Toronto's 3-2 victory over Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League.

Ron Ellis and Frank Mahovlich scored for Toronto while Phil Goyette got the New York goal Wednesday.

The Rangers, who earlier in the day announced the signing of defenceman Rob Plager and centre Earl Ingarfield, were without team captain Bobby Nevin for the game. Nevin, in hospital in Kingston with a stretched knee ligaments, will be released Friday and can resume skating Saturday.

SCORERS GO WILD

In London, Ont., Boston Bruins went through routine drills but in Montreal, defending Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens went on a scoring binge in exacting games. Leo Thiffault from Houston of the CPHL scored four goals, Dave Balon and Yvan Cournoyer three each and Jean Beliveau and Henri Richard two each.

"They've all been scoring goals," said coach Toe Blake, "but none of them seemed interested in backchecking today. It looks as if they had a deal going today: "You let me score and I'll let you have one."

The Canadiens scored during the Cards' two-run fourth.

The Pirates capitalized on a pair of scoring errors by each team-mate Dick Groat in the nightcap against the Phils after Don Cardenas's homer and a fielding gem by Jose Pagan beyed the first-game victory.

In tonight's only other game, Chicago Black Hawks take on Portland Buckaroos of the Western Hockey League in Portland, Ore.

Defeats Cats 8-5, Lead 3-1

Picton Eyes League Title

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

PICTON — Fans who expected a continuances of Tuesday night's fireworks here last evening were disappointed in that respect but they did see the Picton Kinsmen move a step closer to the Belleville and District Softball League championship.

The Kinsmen tamed the Bobcats 8-5 to grab a commanding 3-1 lead in the four-of-seven set. The fifth game is scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) night at Picton. Game time is 8.00 p.m.

A couple of disputed calls and a stray elbow provided the closest things to an eruption but the officials had no serious trouble.

Each side scored twice in the first and the Cats jumped into a 4-2 lead in the third. Picton whittled the margin to 4-3 then won the game with four runs in the fifth.

Guernsey singled off losing pitcher Bob Lott's hand to ignite the explosion. MacDonald bunted for a single and an overthrow on the play tied it.

The hottest dispute came when MacDonald tried to score on Weese's infield ball. Bobcat catcher John McEachern got the ball in time for the tag but bobbled it just for a second and the runner was called safe on the error. Ostrander boisted a two - out blast to deep right centre that deflected off a light wire, chasing home the sixth run with the triple. The losers' third error of the frame made it 7-4.

C. Stacey singled and scored later on Guernsey's base hit for the final Picton run in the sixth. Whyte got that back on a base hit and a throwing error in the eighth but that was as close as the Bobcats came.

A walk, Locke's triple and a wild pitch shoved the visitors two up in the first before Picton tied it on a walk, error, Gray's single and Ostrander's hard triple.

Temple's error threatened to run away in the third. T. Lesage tripled, Locke singled, Mowat doubled and McEachern singled, scoring two runs, with none out. Winning pitcher Elden Gray struck out the next three. He got one back himself with a double, followed by an error on R. Stacey's single.

Gray and Lott each gave up 11 hits and Clair Leahy threw the final frame for the losers. Gray struck out 14 and walked two. Lott fanned three and passed one while Leahy whiffed one.

Warren Ostrander hit a pair of triples, Elden Gray a double and single, Jim Guernsey and Keith Stacey two singles each for Picton. Marvs Stacey, Carl Stacey and Keith MacDonald split the others.

Rick Locke starred in defeat, with a triple and two singles, while Terry LeSage had one of each. John McEkbon singled twice, Lem Mowat doubled, Billy Mitts, Jim Whyte and Gary Duggan added singles.

Guernsey threw the story at bow, clipping Paul Merraw as they passed in mid-diamond at the end of a fielding, but the feud fizzled out with verbal exchanges.

Los Angeles Dodgers are certain there's life in the Pittsburgh Pirates. They can feel the heat on their backs again.

Larry Jaster, St. Louis Cardinals' angelight left - hander, blanked Los Angeles 2-0 Wednesday night, running his string against the Dodgers to five games and stalling their National League pennant drive.

The Pirates, meanwhile, scraped their way to a 9-2, 4-2 doubleheader sweep over Philadelphia Phillies and inched within 1½ games of first place in the stretch race.

The third-place Giants kindled their faint pennant hopes with a 5-2 victory over Atlanta Braves Wednesday night, while Chicago Cubs beat New York Mets 4-1 before losing 1-0 in their doubleheader nightcap and Cincinnati Reds divided a twin bill with Houston Astros bowing 4-3 after taking the opener 7-1.

Ed Grabski's two-run double with two out in the fourth inning backed Jaster against the Dodgers, whose best shot at the Cardinal southpaw was a baseloaded threat in the fourth that died when Lou Brock struck out.

LOST ON ERROR

Jaster, who has not yielded an earned run in his two Dodger starts all year, outpitched rookie Don Sutton, who was a victim of Dick Schofield's error during the Cards' two-run fourth.

The Pirates capitalized on a pair of scoring errors by each team-mate Dick Groat in the nightcap against the Phils after Don Clendenon's homer and a fielding gem by Jose Pagan beyed the first-game victory.

Willie Stargell's triple and Groat's errant throw gave the Pirates a 2-0 lead in the second inning of the nightcap and they scored the deciding runs in the eighth on Matty Alou's single, a sacrifice, Roberto Clemente's double and another error thrown by Groat on Clendenon's infield hit.

Harvard Perry, winless in eight previous starts after becoming the majors' first 20-game winner a month ago, finally won No. 21.

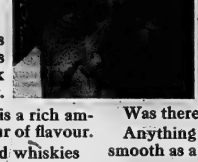
The Pirates smashed a two-run homer, sending the Giants ahead 3-2 in the fifth, and Jim Hart added four hits for San Francisco, now three games out of first place with four to play.

Ron Santo drove in two runs with his 30th homer and a double in Chicago's victory over the Mets but New York rebounded with a second game behind the six-hit pitching of Bob Shaw.

EARNS SPLIT

Ron David's run-scoring double in the ninth earned Houston a split with the Reds after Don Pavletich's three - run homer and Art Shamsky's two - run blast helped Jim Maloney - breeze past the Astros in the opener.

Baltimore Orioles have the pennant wrapped up in the American League but second place is still up for grabs and it looks as if Detroit Tigers and Minnesota Twins will be battling for the runner-up spot right down to the final day.



The third-place Twins sent the Tigers to a California's top winner, Jim Kaat, after his 20th victory Wednesday, but Cleveland Indians, however, spoiled the plan with Luis Tiant's six-hit 4-0 shutout.

Detroit, hanging on grimly to the runner-up spot, got a pair of home runs from Al Kaline and a bat California's Angels 5-4 in 10 innings at Anaheim.

New York Yankees' doubleheader at Washington against the Senators and Kansas City Athletics' twinbill against Baltimore Orioles were both postponed by rain.

The pro-am was actually a best-ball affair with each playing professional teamed with three amateurs.

Knudson and his team of Del Sinclair of Toronto and William Hill and Aldred Heaslip, both of Vancouver, finished with a 58 total to win the tournament.

Billy Martindale of Dallas, Tex., and Jim Ferree of Savannah, Ga., tied for first place in the individual honors with 68s. WON $800

Knudson won $400 as a member of the low team and an additional $275 as third low professional in individual scoring. Martindale and Ferree split first money of $300 and second of $425 into $462.50 each.

Knudson's showing was good enough to have many Canadians predicting a native victory in the Open for the first time in 12 years.

LAST Canadian to win the open was former Saskatoon pro Pat Fletcher with a four-under-par 280 at the neighboring Point Grey Golf Course in 1954.

Fletcher now is pro at the Royal Montreal Golf and Country Club.

The 134 pros are shooting for $50,000 in prize money in the five-day Open. The winner's share is $20,000. Ten amateurs fill out the entry.

Fire Vancouver - area golfers and amateur Mike Reasor of Kenmore, Wash., will be the first to move off at 8 double-tee start scheduled for 8 a.m. PDT.

The golfers will go out in groups of three, spaced eight minutes apart. Half the 144 golfers will start on the first tee and the other half on the 10th, alternating on the second day.

Empeys, RCAF Seek Trenton Softball Title

Empey Realty edged Quinte Machine Jrs- 6-3 last night to capture a berth in the Trenton Softball League championship series.

Empey's won the semi - final set three games to two and meet the pennant - winning Air Force Jrs in a four-of-seven battle for the title.

Kaye Elliott pitched the victory and Paul Wannemacher the loss. It was the third complete game in as many nights for both pitchers.

Austin Scott's two - run homer was the big blow for the winners. It got Empeys headed to stay and, while the Juniors threatened several times, they could not get the equalizer.

The titular set opens Monday night at 7.30. All games are played at Trenton's Bay Shore Park.

Brewer's Next Step-Campbell

WINNIPEG (CP)—Carl Brewer's next step in his bid to regain amateur status—and sign with Canada's national hockey club—will hinge on what happens when his lawyer talks to president Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League.

"I'm not sure what my next move will be," the former Toronto Maple Leafs defenceman said Wednesday.

"I will be in contact with my counsel, Alan Eagleson, in due course, probably after he sees Mr. Campbell later this week.

"If this meeting proves unsatisfactory, I would think that we will have to pursue another course of action.

"Just what this will be, I'm not certain at the moment. . . . I just hope this entire matter is settled soon as I am anxious to get into uniform for Canada's national team."

Brewer's prepared statement at a press conference followed one by Nationals coach Jack McLeod, who said:

"We feel certain that with the support of Toronto and Montreal and earlier indications from other NHL teams and their affiliates, the way will soon be made clear for Brewer to join the national team."

The question of Brewer's reinstatement as an amateur was to have been on the agenda Tuesday at a New York meeting of the NHL board of governors. However, the meeting was called off when Campbell was unable to attend.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Jackie McLeod, coach of Canada's national hockey team, reported Wednesday that defenceman Jack Bownass has been reinstated as an amateur and is skating with the club.

"We hope his employer will allow Jack to play," McLeod said. Bownass, 26, who spent 34 years in professional hockey, is a sales representative for a brewery.

A native of Winnipeg, he last played amateur hockey in 1953-53 with Chicoutimi Saguenenns. His professional career was spent primarily in minor leagues but included 80 games in the National Hockey League with Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers.

Last season he coached Winnipeg Rangers to the Manitoba junior championship.

Dodgers 'Love That Wes'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The way Maury Wills figures it, Los Angeles Dodgers' secret weapon this season has been Wes Covington, who has collected only four hits but leads the National League in needling.

"This club has always had spirit," Wills said Wednesday, "but from year to year you need another force. Covington is the new leader."

Los Johnson was the target Tuesday night before the Dodgers went out and extended the league lead by whipping St. Louis Cardinals 2-0. As announced stuff in the bus scheduele, taking the club from the hotel, had left Johnson without transportation.

When he finally got to the ball park, Covington threatened to leave Johnson without any loose change.

"That'll cost you," Covington bellowed across the dressing room. "That's an automatic fine. You miss the bus, it's gotta cost you—even if you're a star."

JOHNSON DOES ROUTINE

Johnson then went into his heart-throbbing routine, portraying himself as the completely innocent who had just been seriously wounded by his roommate's derision.

"Johnson is perfect for the target," Wills explained. "He takes it well. He's a good actor and he can really act like he's mad which gets everyone laughing and keeps us relaxed.

Covington brought a new dimension when he joined the Dodgers from Philadelphia Phillies in late May, bringing with him the needling that has spiced the Dodgers' drive to a second straight pennant.

"I think you not only have to be relaxed on the field but off the field—before you even get to the park," said Wills, the Dodgers' captain.

"Some times the needling gets real strong—it's a wonder we don't have more fights—but I think if the guys on the team can take this kind of ribbing we can take anything."

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—Mary Tell, ridden by Jim Fitzsimmons, won the third race of his career at Woodbine race track Wednesday by flashing home in front of Arctic Canuck and Judge Burns in the sixth race. Mary Tell paid $26.50, $6.10 and $4.80.

The daily double of Blue China and Double Bounce paid $250.30. The exactor of Aberfoyle and Either Or or in the fifth was worth $41.30.

TO PICK PLAYER

NEW YORK (AP)—Plans for selecting and rewarding a tennis Player of the Year, beginning with the 1967 season, were announced Wednesday by the National Tennis Writers Association. A point system will be used for ranking the world's tennis players based on five major tournaments — Wimbledon, United States, French, Italian and Australian.

Romeo Dares Bret

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Owners of Romeo Hanover, outstanding three-year-old pacer, issued a challenge Wednesday to Bret Hanover, harness racing Horse of the Year the last two years, for a match race to be held either Nov. 11 or 12 at Roosevelt Raceway.

Al Weil, president of the raceway, said the track would put up a $50,000 winer - take - all purse for the mile race.

Romeo Hanover, owned by the Lucky Star Stable and Morton Pinder, has won his last 15 starts and has an over-all record of 28 victories in 32 starts for earnings of $561,637. He has paced a mile in 1 minute in two minutes or faster.

Bret Hanover, owned by Richard Downing of Shaker Heights, Ohio, is the world's leading money-winning harness horse with a bank account of $707,182. He has lost only four of his 63 starts with Frank Ervin driving and has paced the mile in two minutes or faster 39 times.

With victories in the Cane Futurity and the Little Brown Jug already to his credit, Romeo needs only the Messenger to wrap up pacing's Triple Crown. Bret won the Triple Crown last year.

The Trots

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Ron Feagan of Hamilton, Ont., continued his winning ways Wednesday night at Garden City Raceway, driving winners in both halves of the daily double.

He scored with Donetia Storm in the first and came back in the second with Eddie's Pride for a $53.30 daily double.

OTTAWA (CP)—Timber Tone led all the way to win the featured $200 Lucerne Pace at Rideau Carleton Raceway Wednesday.

The eight-year-old gelding, owned by Henry Feller of Ottawa and driven by Ken McElroy of Lansden, Sask., won in 2:06 3-5, to pay $5.10.

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method
by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

FIND AN ADDRESS
STANCE THAT SUITS
YOUR OWN SWING

In a proper stance your feet should be spread far enough apart to provide a firm foundation for your swing. However, too wide a stance will restrict leg action and body turn. Guard against them.

I personally like to feel that my feet are spread to the extent that the distance between my inner soles equals the spread between the outer edges of my shoulders (see illustration). I think this might be a good guide for most players.

However, if you seem to have trouble making a full turn, try a narrower stance. If you have trouble maintaining balance during your swing, try a wider stance.

Headed For Batting Crown

Matty, Top Alou Brother

PHILADELPHIA (AP) Matty Alou always was "the other Alou" until this year.

Now he is No. 1 among the three brothers from the Dominican Republic playing in baseball's National League.

Unless Matty runs into an 0 for 20 slump this week, he will win the league batting championship.

Brother Felipe, 31, has been an established big leaguer since 1958. Brother Jesus, 29, came to San Francisco Giants with the trumpets proclaiming him as the greatest. Matty, 27, always was just another ball player. There was a day in 1963, when the three brothers were together in the San Francisco outfield.

Felipe, now with Atlanta Braves, is chasing Matty of Pittsburgh Pirates for the batting title. Jesus is having a so so season with the Giants. Matty, a .321 flop with the Giants last year, was hitting .344 in games through Tuesday.

Pittsburgh manager Harry Walker exchanged Matty from a swinger to a smart hitter. He showed him how to bit the ball to left field.

The Pirates got him from the Giants last Dec. 1 in a deal that sent pitcher Jos Gibbon and outfielder Ossie Virgil to San Francisco.

Alou gives Walker credit for changing his batting style. He batted .342 in Pittsburgh's farm system before Walker took over.

Hot Time In Old Town Friday Night

If you notice local construction workers heading toward Memorial Arena anytime this week, don't panic.

Its likely just for the purpose of re - enforcing the wrestling ring there.

And with good reason.

This season winds up here tomorrow (Friday) night with what amounts to an "arena wrecker". (Maybe then we would get a new one).

Headlining the show is a fourman bout, featuring all top grapplers, plus two referees. Yes, Aunt Martha, that adds up to six men in the ring at once.

The hero team of Whipper Billy Watson and Billy "Red" Lyons tackles a pair of the game's roughest mugsies, Hans Schmidt and Sweet Daddy Siki.

Its a grudge - challenge match after they tangled in separate affairs to weeks ago. Just about everything will go and a more colorful show could not be arranged for a season opener. Siki, the colored villain from Greenwich Village is a show himself but Lyons and Watson will give Daddy and Hans quite a go.

A special semi - final has one regular and one midget wrestler going against another team of the same. There will also be one preliminary bout.

The show starts at 9:00 p.m.

Postpone Racing Probe

NEW YORK (CP)—A Brooklyn grand jury's investigation into New York harness racing has been postponed until Oct. 31 ostensibly to give authorities time to study testimony already received.

Grand jury sessions are closed to press and public, but local newspapers have published whatever they could find out about the investigation into allegations of race fixing by racketeers. The racing industry has protested that the probe smears innocent persons and demanded quick action against any guilty parties.

The fact that District Attorney Aaron Koota of Brooklyn is investigating Roosevelt, Yonkers and Monticello racetracks came to public attention Aug. 26. The Daily News ran a story saying reporters at Yonkers raceway had seen drivers being served with subpoenas to appear before the Brooklyn grand jury.

Koota then confirmed the investigation was under way.

"It involves every aspect, including the suspected fixing of races," he said, adding that subpoenas have been served on drivers, track secretaries and professional gamblers.

Koota said he had the co-operation of Governor Nelson Rockefeller, the state attorney-general, the harness racing commission and the prosecutors of Nassau, Westchester and Sullivan counties, where the tracks are located.

JOHNSON RESIGNS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Frank Johnson, British Columbia Lions' assistant coach, Wednesday submitted his resignation for health reasons. He joined the Lions in 1962 and suffered a serious bout of hepatitis this January.

ALS SEEK HELP

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes, fresh from their 25-38 win over B.C. Lions Tuesday night, used no time in calling in reinforcements for their game in Calgary Saturday against the Stampeders. Als had fullback Art Baker and defensive halfback Dave Bowman in camp when they resumed practice Wednesday.

Attention Bowling Secretaries

Due to the many leagues operating, it is necessary for The Intelligencer to place a deadline on bowling results. All league statisticians are asked to submit results within 48 hours after league play for publication. Place league results, followed by the top six (6) individual scores, (i.e.: in a mixed league, the top three women and the top three men.) Results may be dropped in The Intelligencer mail slot on Bridge St. or mailed, providing they arrive within 48 hours. Results will be published as soon as possible after arrival. Date of league play and if 5-pin or 10-pin must also be included. Results will not be published otherwise. Your co-operation is appreciated.

FREE PARKING!

Chrysler is offering many attractive styling advances for 1967, plus improved performance, increased passenger comfort and new aids to provide even more pleasurable driving. Four distinctive series make up the Chrysler range for 1967 —New Yorker, 300, Newport Custom and Newport. Above is shown a Newport Custom. Also avilable is the spacious Town and Country wagon series.

A finely delineated body, particularly the front and rear end treatment, sets Chrysler apart as a style leader for 1967. While a strong family resemblance is maintained throughout the whole Chrysler line, each series has accents that make it separate and distinct. Of special appeal is the new semi-fastback roofline for two-door hardtops.

Many standard safety features are incorporated into the 1967 Chrysler line. Included are the dual braking system, the hazard warning system and the impact-absorbing steering column.

Little Change In Prices Next Month

OTTAWA (CP)—The October Food Outlook published by the federal agriculture department predicts little change in prices next month.

Eggs: Prices may ease slightly as production rises.

Turkey: Prices have adjusted to plentiful supplies.

Broiler Chicken: Firm prices will continue as supplies decline seasonally.

Potatoes: Supplies are plentiful and quality good, with prices expected to hold steady at levels slightly below last fall.

Apples: Supplies are ample and prices above those of last year.

Other vegetables: Seasonal vegetables are generally available at prices slightly above last year.

Jack Valenti Says Capital Is Hub of the World

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Man on the move: Jack Valenti.

Early each Monday, leaves his Washington, D.C., home for the airport and takes the plane to New York, where he boards quarters until Wednesday at his Fifth Avenue office as president of the Motion Picture Producers Association of America. Then he flies home and spends the rest of the week at his Washington office.

Valenti does he keep his home in Washington when the film business is centred in New York and Hollywood?

"Washington is a gracious and fascinating town," he explains. "It is the hub of the world. Since so much of our business comes from foreign countries, it's important for me to remain in touch with the embassies."

Once a month Valenti flies to Hollywood — "to try to blot out the resentment against a president of the producers association" — and jets to the East. Next week he leaves for a tour of Europe; he plans to visit South America in December, hopefully Asia in January.

"During this first year I expect to be putting in double time so I can learn the business thoroughly," said the onetime Houston advertising man. "But it's not so bad, really. When I was working in the White House, I left home at 7:30 and got back at midnight." Valenti was a special assistant to President Johnson before he took the movie post.

So far his travels have been solitary. His wife, a secretary to President Johnson when he was senator, gave birth to a son, John Lyndon, July 30. Later he hopes that Mrs. Valenti will accompany Mm on some of his trips.

The Valentis, who also have a four-year-old daughter, chose Lyndon B. Johnson as godfather for the baby, and it is apparent that the warm relationship between the two men continues.

FIND PILOT'S BODY

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—The body of pilot Frank Hern of Fairbanks, Alaska, killed last spring on a flight to Tallahassee, Fla., was brought to Whitehorse Wednesday. His plane, which crashed April 26, was found Sunday.

Film Star Ronald Reagan 'Box Office' in Politics Too

By RELMAN MORIN

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Politically, as in his celluloid days, Ronald Reagan is demonstrating that he is box office.

The erstwhile movie actor, Republican candidate for governor of California in the November election, has been drawing crowds, stirring applause and laughter in speeches, fielding tough questions about government, and generally waging a strong campaign.

This is his first try for elective office, although he has been around the fringes of politics for years, and he turns out to be something of a phenomenon.

Reagan won the nomination last June in a primary contest with former San Francisco mayor George Christopher, carrying 52 of the state's 58 counties and taking a towering 65 per cent of the Republican vote.

Now, campaigning up and down the 750-mile length of California, Reagan is drawing well. He makes a smooth speech, seldom using a text or pausing to reach for a word. He says he writes all his speeches himself. They are punchy, articulate, a blend of humor, serious discussion of issues, and satirical potshots aimed at his Democratic opponent, Governor Edmund G. Brown.

Reagan's looks bring a wrapt, dreamy expression to women's faces. At 56, he looks much 'less old in his full flame. He has a pretty wife, actress Nancy Davis, and two children, Patti, 15 and Ronnie, 7—all political assets.

A recent poll, regarded by analysts as reliable, gave Reagan a nine edge over the current governor at this stage, but showed Brown gaining.

Reagan worked hard for Senator Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate in 1964.

He started all "a bleeding-heart liberal, a New Deal Democrat"—to use his own words. Today, he accepts the label conservative.

The final step in Reagan's transformation came with the discovery of Communist infiltration of the motion picture industry. Reagan, then president of the Screen Actors Guild, plunged into that fight.

Other leaders oppose Reagan, although he says "I have spent half my life" as a union member. He was president six times of the Screen Actors Guild, and once led a successful strike against the studios. He says that in collective bargaining "government should never be more than a referee, not a participant, and that's our greatest danger today."

Lord Thompson Will Launch 2 New Papers

LONDON (CP)—Lord Thomson, Canada's born publisher, will launch two new evening newspapers in London's northern suburbs as a next spring, invading territory long held by two mass circulation London dailies, the Evening News and The Evening Standard.

Estimated to cost about $6,000,000, the new papers—to be known as The Evening Post and The Evening Echo—will be published from a plant at Hemel Hempstead, 20 miles north of London. The plant will use computer - controlled, web - offset equipment, similar to that now in use at Thomson's Evening Post in Reading, 40 miles west of London.

There has been speculation that Thomson, who now owns about 14 newspapers in Britain and, scores in Canada and other countries, plans to entrench the big London dailies with small papers located in key fringe areas.

DENIED REPORT

Thomson denied he has an encirclement plan, but predicted in an interview that he would establish new dailies in other areas, possibly in the Midlands and in northern counties.

"We want to get new local evening papers into markets which have a need for them and can support them."

The Thomson organization believes there are about a dozen U.K. regions where new papers could be established, according to local needs.

The Evening Post will circulate in East Luton, Bedfordshire and North Hertfordshire areas. The Evening Echo will serve Watford and adjacent Hertfordshire.

Thomson said country the opportunity to increase advertising is terrific," Thomson said. "Look at the shops which never advertise at all. This would be unheard of in Canada."

The new papers will have separate editorial staffs but share production facilities. About 350 persons will be employed.

After Thomson launched his Reading newspaper last year, soon would achieve a 40,000 circulation that would make it profitable.

Thomson said his company is prepared to lose money to get new papers on their feet.

Bob Hope's Comedy Special Parades Many Former Stars

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope's first comedy special of the season Wednesday night seemed to be more a demonstration of show-packing than an exercise in comedy.

The NBC hour got off to a star-studded start even if the weak jokes just laid there. Hope's guests were 15 of the 35 actresses who have been his leading ladies during his nearly 30 years in Hollywood. It took considerable ingenuities to give each one her brief moment in the spotlight.

This was accomplished with a dream sequence in which Hope was able to dance and sing a song with Marilyn Maxwell, Rhonda Fleming and Arlene Dahl. Next came a comedy sequence that took cars of Virginia Mayo, Jane Paige and Joan Collins. Finally, with nine still to get on, a stretch format was introduced.

This had Hope planning a musical version of Gone with the Wind, and announcing that the "favorite leading lady" would play Scarlett O'Hara. All nine popped out to grab the part, among them Lucille Ball on a chauffeur-driven bicycle, Dorothy Lamour led by an Afghan hound and Signe Hasso in a high trenchcoat looking every inch a spy.

TAINT SO FUNNY

It wasn't a very funny show and you can't expect to get all jokes when there are so many celebrities around. And it was interesting to see how badly, or unkindly, the years have treated some of Hope's feminine leads of the pre-television days.

After that it was a relief to go on to Beverly Hillbillies and find that nothbut-ever on the jokes—have changed. The folks still use ropes to hold up their jeans.

Nobody has ever claimed that the long-running Beverly Hillbillies or even Gilligan's Island are the best shows on television. At one time both were held up as prime examples of what was wrong with television. But utter exposure to some of the new comedy entries, they begin to look as slick as a Noel Coward play.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Mrs. H. A. Montgomery and Miss Alice Armstrong of Toronto spent the weekend with the former's sister, Mrs. Raymond McConnell and Mr. McConnell at Mount Rawdon. On Sunday they all attended a birthday party in honor of their father, Mr. Bert McCoy of Queensboro. Mr. and Mrs. Craig Watson and Jimmie of Wellman's were also in attendance.

Irvin Potts has returned home from Toronto General Hospital, where he underwent surgery last week.

Mrs. Kenneth Weever and Mrs. Norton Sharpe attended a U.C.W. retreat at Bird Lodge during a recent weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Hoard (Wad, and Mrs. Hoard spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tamlin, Woodville, and attended Lord's Fair.

Fred McAdam attended Barnstorm anniversary on Sunday and was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thomas.

Rev. Irvine Johnston, minister of Trinity United Church, conducted the two anniversary services at Carmel United Church in Rawdon. Townsend, Mrs. Arthur Fraser was in charge of the music and the choir sang special sections.

FREE COFFEE ENDS

TORONTO (CP) — The Fish Net, the only free coffee house in Toronto's bohemian quarter, Yorkville Village, will close for good Friday night. Rev. Kenn W. Opperman, the United Church minister who opened the coffee house last January, said Wednesday the landlord had given notice to vacate.

Uneasy Peace Reigns Over Politics in Northern Ireland

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

An uneasy peace reigns over the political front of Northern Ireland where Prime Minister Terence O'Neill challenged and vanquished party critics who threatened his policies and his leadership.

But though the forward-looking O'Neill has won his day, there's still a hint of unrest and the prospect that in Northern Ireland, at least, change won't come easy.

There apparently remains some suspicion about O'Neill's quiet efforts to increase cooperation with that other forward-looking leader, Prime Minister Sean Lemass of the Irish Republic. And there is gnawing fear that the six northern counties somehow may be torn from the mothertsrigs of Britain.

Perhaps for this reason O'Neill found it necessary to state publicly—after his Unionist party gave him a vote of confidence—that his party is rededicated to Ulster prosperity "as an integral part of the United Kingdom."

LOYALTY PLEDGED

Undoubtedly he has pledged to his party that, come what may, there will be no break-away from the Crown and Whitehall. That of course, contributes sharply to Lemass's revisions of greater co-operation with Northern Ireland and, finally, the day when a federation could be formed.

When Lemass and O'Neill met for the first time last year, there was a feeling in the air that old wounds soon would be forgotten in favor of the phrase "let's remember we're all Irishmen." Hope was stirred that unprecedented cross-border co-operation might even bring the staunch southern republicans into closer alliance with London.

But the troubled border not only divides political loyalties, it marks the separation of religious faiths. The north is predominantly Protestant, the south strongly Roman Catholic. And when politics and religion mix, they make a heady brew. The ironies of all shades and varieties exist on both sides. Intahmen on both sides face economic difficulties, more so in the north since that country must conform with the economic realities of the British government.

The lack of economic opportunity can only add to impatience and unrest.

"Brain Drain" To United States Being Reduced

TORONTO (CP) — Stanley J. Randall, Ontario minister of economics and development, said today the provincial government's research centre at Sheridan Park is playing a key role in reversing Canada's "brain drain" to the United States.

He said 1,130 researchers already are at work at the $100,000,000 centre in Peel County, west of Toronto. And 6,000 scientists and technicians will work there by 1970.

He spoke to an "industrial night" gathering of county residents at the research centre.

Mr. Randall described the centre as "one of the biggest, brightest and boldest thrusts forward in the history of research and development."

Madoc Junction

MADOC JUNCTION — Those from the Eggleton appointment service at Moira United Church on Sunday morning were Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Slapley and Lisa; Mrs. Carl Bridges; Mrs. W. Hanlow; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett; Mrs. M. Reid; Mrs. R. Chambers.

Mrs. Forde Stapley spent the weekend visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Summers in Ottawa.

Mrs. Clarence Fitchett was among those who attended the shower, given in honor of Miss Carol Ross (an October-bride-to-be) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker in Stirling last Thursday night.

Mrs. Harlow, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett were dinner guests of Mrs. Carl Bridges on Sunday. During the afternoon they visited Mr. Bridges, who is still in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Yake of Oshawa visited Mr. Carl Bridges in Belleville hospital on Sunday afternoon and later spent the evening with Mrs. Bridges at her home here.

HOLD PRESENTATION

A number of friends in the community gathered on Saturday afternon at the home of Mrs. Charles Stapley and children Sandra and Gary, who are moving to Frankford.

Mrs. Fitchett spoke briefly after which Mrs. Murray Kinney and Mrs. Ashley on behalf of the community made the presentation of a pole lamp and magazine rack on behalf of the Eggleton United Church Women.

Mrs. Harlow presented Mrs. Stapley with a china cup and saucer. Mrs. Bruce Stapley presented Sandra and Gary each with a Hymnary from Eggleton Sunday School.

Mrs. Stapley and children expressed thanks and Mrs. Stapley extended an invitation to all to visit them when they get settled in their new home in Frankford.

The new 1967 Volkswagen

The first sight of the new VW will leave you wondering what's new about it.

It has 23 new features, most of which you might not notice. Here are some of them.

Brighter headlights. And you won't notice the extra brightness until it's a moonless night.

Then there's a wider engine opening. You'll never notice it. Only your VW mechanic will notice because it lets him service your engine quicker.

And the new VW has retracting seat belts. You'll notice this new feature when you don't lose your temper trying to find them.

The new VW has dual brakes. If the front wheel brakes fail, the rear wheel brakes will stop you, and vice-versa. But then, VW brakes hardly ever fail, so you'll never notice this new feature.

Oh yes. The new VW has back-up lights which you'll only notice when you're backing up, naturally.

And in case you've ever noticed that it doesn't rain or snow at one speed, you'll notice the new VW has two-speed windshield wipers.

The new VW engine is faster than it's ever been before. You'll only notice that when you toss cars you'd never think of passing before.

And there are some sensational state quo features on the-new VW you'll be happy to hear about. The engine is still air-cooled so it will never boil over or freeze up. It is still in the back pressing down on the drive wheels for better traction in mud, snow, and sand.

Your new VW will still average 34 miles to a gallon. So if you won't get the new 1967 Volkswagen before for what's new, get it for what's old.

19 Men, Woman Leader Heed Priest's Plea, Yield to Falkland Authorities

PORT STANLEY, Falkland Islands (Reuters) — Twenty Argentine nationals who seized an airliner in an "invasion" of the Falkland Islands Wednesday, were under guard today in a Roman Catholic Church after heeding the advice of the local priest to surrender.

Nineteen men and a Nineteen woman playwright, Marta Chalabe Verrier, believed to be their leader, surrendered to authorities Thursday night after Father Rodolfo Roel convinced them to do so.

Father Roel, accompanied by the Argentine airliner's captain, went to the soccer racetrack where the nationalists forced the plane to land. There, he spoke at length to the nationalists, who at first wanted to hold out for another 24 hours.

The nationalists, members of the right-wing Condor group, seized the plane to give emphasis to Argentina's demand for control of the islands, administered for more than a 100 years by Britain.

The 26 passengers, who were on board the aircraft with the 20 nationalists, and three of the six - member crew, were expected to leave here Saturday night on the mail ship Darwin, due to arrive for its monthly visit from Montevideo, Uruguay.

There has been no indication so far what action Britain will take against the "invaders", but Argentine President, Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, a strict disciplinarian, has threatened them with the full penalties of the law.

While reaffirming Argentina's claim to the islands, known in Buenos Aires as the Malvinas, Ongania said the Condor group will face trial.

The passengers and most of the crew were sheltered in the homes of islanders since the plane was seized on a routine flight from Buenos Aires to Rio Gallegos, 1,750 miles to the south.

Meanwhile air control officers in Buenos Aires said two Argentine air force DC-3 planes with police on board were flown to Rio Gallegos, for an eventual flight to the Falklands.

Reliable sources said the pilots were awaiting instructions. They indicated the police task may be to refuel the airliner or to arrest the nationalists.

In Buenos Aires, Associated Press correspondent Oscar Serrat reported that the Argentine government and the British ambassador have agreed in principle on the return of all the passengers aboard the plane.

Foreign Undersecretary Jorge Mssinghi announced the tentative agreement after a meeting with Ambassador Michael Creswell. Massinghi gave no details but said the British government's approval was awaited.

The British frigate Puma sailed from South Africa for the islands in what Royal Navy officials described as a precautionary measure.

No Quick End Seen to Rise in Consumer Costs

OTTAWA (CP) — The joint Senate-Commons committee investigating the mounting cost of living has collected a mixed bag of fact and opinion about the problem, but no ready - made solution in its hopper.

Its two star witnesses so far have told it, for instance:

—Canada's record over the long term has been one of remarkable stability in prices and in the share of national expenditure going into personal incomes, despite the country's burgeoning growth and transformation into an industrialized economy.

—Led by higher food prices, there has been an upswing in consumer living costs recently for which there is no quick end in sight.

—The government has employed all its present powers of persuasion and influence, through tax, spending and tight-money policies, to deter further increases in prices, but will take additional steps with a supplementary budget later this fall.

—Direct price and wage controls are unconstitutional in peacetime, and would only hinder inflation' without curing it if they could be used.

Some proposals were put forward Thursday by E. P. Neufeld, economics professor at the University of Toronto, called on the committee's first witness outside the government service after an introductory appearance Wednesday by R. B. Bryce, deputy minister of finance.

Prof. Neufeld suggested a system of wage and price increase guidelines, a la Walter Heller, which proved initially successful in the U.S. He said they should be drawn up on the basis of an independent and expert study of what increases the Canadian economy can stand without precipitating further inflation.

New Democratic Party members of the committee have urged adoption of price controls imposed by Parliament on basic commodities, such as steel and copper. But Prof. Neufeld said he would prefer guidelines and more flexible nature, backed up by a quasi - judicial review board.

Price controls, he said, usually have three major defects—they don't get rid of inflation but "just hide it for a time," and can lead to black markets whereby they distort true relative price structures; and they are an anachronism in any system of free enterprise.

The Saskatchewan-born Toronto economist, who studied at the London School of Economics, testified strongly in favor of economic incentives in the free market economy. He preferred a flexible foreign exchange rate for the Canadian dollar, and said housewives' boycotts of consumer goods are futile.

"I can't see boycotts serving any useful purpose," he said. "They can't possibly produce any effect except in encouraging more discussion about prices, which is all to-do good."

The committee adjourned its hearings early Thursday afternoon to next Tuesday, when it will hear officials from the agriculture department. They are likely to be questioned closely about the cost factors at production, processing and marketing that go into retail food prices.

Ky Balks At Inviting Viet Cong

CAN THO, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said today he would never agree to have the Viet Cong represented at peace negotiations on Viet Nam.

"If he had not received any official word on the U.S. attitude on the matter.

North Viet Nam and China have demanded that the United States negotiate the Viet Cong as the sole representative of the Vietnamese people.

Ky, in the last months of talk about peace negotiations, the United States said it would not sit at a conference table with the Viet Cong. Later it suggested that the Viet Cong could be part of the North Vietnamese delegation.

In a new statement of U.S. policy issued by the state Department Assembly last week, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said if Hanoi wants peace, there should be no insurmountable problems in working out the Cong's views heard in the peace talks.

Ky was also asked his views about Goldberg's proposal for a mutual de-escalation of the war.

"I think it is too soon for us to make any decisions," he replied.

The premier said he was not consulted before the U.S. proposals were made at the UN.

North Viet Nam and China rejected the American proposals.

GUARD IS ALL BUSINESS — Two Negro occupants of this car are held at bay by California National Guard with fixed baynets in the Bay View Hunters Point riot area of San Francisco. Car was halted and searched for guns, ammunition and whiskey. (AP Wirephoto).

Volunteer Negro Peace Patrols Help Curb San Francisco Riots

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Volunteer Negro peace patrols, wearing armbands provided by police, walked the streets of riot-shaken Hunters Point today in an experiment to prevent a racial truce from erupting into renewed violence.

City police confined their augmented patrols to the community's commercial street.

City officials had the co-operation of federal authorities in their move to eliminate what they call the cause of the riots —Negro unemployment.

San Francisco Mayor John Shelley blamed racial discrimination by labor unions and merchants admitted of employer or management groups.

The mayor met with San Francisco Negro leaders and promised to talk with labor leaders and private businessmen in an effort to increase minority opportunities in the city's economic structure.

The jobless rate for Negro males in the five-county San Francisco Bay area is triple the white rate. The rate for Negro women is twice the Negro male rate.

Shelley's telegram to President Johnson, in which he asked for federal funds to attack the "critical unemployment situation" in the Negro areas, resulted in swift action.

President Johnson ordered a White House assistant, Joseph Califano, to work on Shelley's request with Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Sargent Schriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

About 1,200 national guardsmen remained on alert in encampments. Only sporadic violence was reported overnight.

Rioting broke out Tuesday night after a policeman shot and killed a Negro youth running from a stolen car.

An 8 p.m.-to-6 a.m. curfew was enforced in Hunters Point and in the Fillmore district, San Francisco's other major Negro community located five miles to the northeast.

There were no arrests reported in those areas to swell the total of 208 arrests. Six police and 29 juveniles picked up since the racial strife began. And there were no new injuries. The total stands at 42, including two policemen and a fireman.

Hope U Thant May Remain As UN Secretary on Rise

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—There was growing optimism at the United Nations today that Secretary-General U Thant will succumb to the expressed wishes of nearly all member countries and accept a second term.

The optimism arose in view of Thant's non-committal reaction to a statement of support from the Security Council Thursday. It was based on the fact he didn't use the occasion to reaffirm his intention to retire.

The 15-member council, which includes the big powers, said in a statement that the member nations all expressed their confidence in Thant and if he should express willingness to serve another full term, this "would fully meet the desires of the members of this council."

Thant's last explicit statement came Sept. 30, when he said he would remain in office until June 30, if this were necessary to give member countries time to find a successor. His term ends Nov. 3.

One of the Security Council delegates, Chief S. O. Adebo of Nigeria, said after the United Nations General Assembly, however, that there is still much doubt that Thant will change his mind for the reason for this is that member countries, including Nigeria, still feel they ought to put their own interests above those of all mankind.

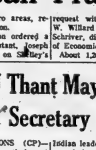
Earlier, the assembly heard Pakistan's now foreign minister, Syed Sharifuddin Pirzada, blame India for thwarting efforts to achieve better relations between their two countries.

The Tashkent declaration, signed in the Soviet Union last January by the two countries, had given rise to high hopes and could still mark a turning point in their relations, However, in recent statements by Indian leaders, "it is being asserted that Kashmir is not negotiable and that the accession of the state (to India) is final and irrevocable."

Pirzada appealed for Communist China's admission to the United Nations, arguing that the UN cannot promote world peace and security without it.

Wanted Man Slips Dragnet

LACHUTE, Que. (CP)—Andre Daoust, Quebec's most wanted man who has vowed never to be taken alive, has slipped through a police dragnet again.



Quebec Provincial Police said Daoust, 36, an escaped convict, slipped through their fingers Thursday following a gun battle which the three men were arrested. Daoust also shot his way out of a jam Aug. 19.

Police, on a tip from an informer, police surrounded Daoust and three of his companions who shared a summer cottage near this town 35 miles northwest of Montreal.

Police said the men opened fire with machine - guns and rifles and three men were captured, one severely wounded in the face.

Police originally thought the wounded man was Daoust but said later Daoust had escaped despite being shot.

Police identified two of the arrested men as Victor Veneau, 26, and Jean - Charles Martel, 33, both of Montreal, but did not release the name of the wounded man who they said had a police record.

"You're wasting your time. I'm a civilian!"

After 20 Years Two Nazi Leaders Emerge From Prison

BERLIN (Reuters)—After 20 years two former Nazi leaders emerge from Spandau prison at midnight tonight — one to live silently and nurse his broken health, the other to try to re-establish his career as a major German architect.

Only Rudolph Hesse, Hitler's top lieutenant until he flew to Scotland in a lone peace mission in 1941, was to remain in the 600-cell prison run by the four wartime Allied powers—Britain, France, the United States and Russia.

Baldur von Schirach, 59, Hitler youth leader who moulded a generation of fanatical loyalty to the Fuehrer's dictates, is a half-blind and shattered man.

But Albert Speer, 61, the Fuehrer's armaments minister and favorite architect, is eager to get on with his profession and put his Nazi past behind him.

Hesse, behind bars longer than the other two men, was reported by his lawyer as a man broken. His lawyer, Albert Seidl, says Hesse is suffering from schizophrenia and is unfit to continue his life sentence.

Speer designed the now-destroyed monuments of the "thousand year reich"—Hitler's chancellery in Berlin and the sprawling stand for the Nuremberg rallies.

Germans still generally regard him as the author of the autobahns — Germany's advanced system of highways. In 1964, Speer recognized that the war was lost for Germany and said so to Hitler's face.

In 1945, he planned to kill Hitler by putting poison gas cartridges in ventilation shafts into Hitler's bunker, but the plan failed when Hitler had the shafts sealed.

Von Schirach was expected to retire to a small house near Munich where his three sons and daughter hope he will have a restful evening to his life.

He was the youngest of the major war criminals sentenced at Nuremberg.

The Nuremberg tribunal confiscated the fortune he amassed as Hitler's youth leader and later as governor of Vienna, but his family is said to have since come into an American inheritance which has made him wealthy again.

Hurricane Inez Hits East Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez struck eastern Cuba today, hammered the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay with 90-mile-an-hour gusts, and aimed a disastrous blow at Fidel Castro's struggling economy.

With 63 known dead in her wake and probably many more lost in flood-ravaged Haiti and the Dominican Republic, Inez still packed a punch as she moved at 9 a.m. EDT across the Cuban coast.

The eye was centred 20 miles southwest of Guantanamo as winds built up to a screaming 90 m.p.h. pitch and rose steadily.

Torrents of rain pounded Cuba's ripening sugar crops in the mountainous province of Oriente and Castro went there himself to meet the storm and personally appeal for evacuation of the dangerous lowland areas.

As the full force of Inez strikes the island, tides of six to 10 feet are expected to smash over the coastline.

In 1963, hurricane Flora struck Cuba for five terrible days, killing an estimated 3,200 persons and destroying all the island's main crops.

In her raging travels across tropic seas, Inez is known to have killed 30 persons in the French islands of Guadeloupe and six along the Barahona Peninsula of the Dominican Republic.

With Haiti blacked out by loss of communications, there may be several days before it is known how many may lie dead in the Caash Basin that crashed down the steep mountainsides of the Negre-nation.

Hundreds of 500 persons were injured in Guadeloupe and 10,000 were left homeless when winds that may have topped 150 m.p.h. splintered the flimsy wooden homes of the residents. Many thousands more were less in Hispaniola, the island embracing Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

Small craft through the long island chain of the Bahamas recorded into safe harbors as Inez followed a northwest track in that direction.

The collision with the mountain ranges of Hispaniola robbed Inez of some of her strength. Earlier, she had built up to 120 m.p.h. fury as she thrashed across Guadeloupe and the warm waters of the Caribbean.

But she had plenty left for a blow at Cuba that could cause further belt-tightening in that food-rationed nation.

The weakening of a ridge of high pressure to the north caused Inez to swing off her westward track that Floridians who had looked fearfully to the east were able to relax.

Gordon Dunn, chief of the Miami hurricane centre, said Inez now has only "a slight chance" of hitting the U.S. mainland.

A hurricane hunter plane located the eye of Inez at 9 a.m. about 325 miles southeast of Miami, the nearest mainland city.

Briton Hits at Critics

OTTAWA (CP) — A British delegate struck back sharply Thursday after suggestions at the Commonwealth parliamentary conference that Britain is following a new policy of appeasement on Rhodesia.

"I wonder what experience they can have possibly have had who advise us to go into war in the modern connotation?" asked Labor MP Charles Pannell, Britain's minister of public works until April.

A few minutes earlier Shri Hanumanthaiya of India had called the Rhodesian case with the failure to halt Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopia and Hitler's invasion of Czechoslovakia.

He said he had "no hesitation in joining in the majority opinion which is that some sort of force must be used to ensure true democracy in Rhodesia."

Another speaker, L. J. Ngobeh of Sierra Leone, accused Britain of handling the Rhodesian situation "without honesty and without sincerity."

He said only the use of military force would succeed in bringing down the illegal white regime of Premier Ian Smith.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: Rain continues to fall over much of central and northeastern Ontario and strong winds with gusts to 50 miles per hour are blowing the Georgian Bay and northern Lake Huron regions. The high winds will gradually moderate today. But cool unsettled weather is indicated for the weekend. Crisis Shaping Up for West Over Germany's Defence Role

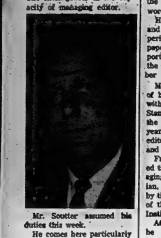
LONDON (AP)—A crisis is shaping up for the West over the defence of Europe and West Germany's role in it. A series of inter - related developments threaten withdrawals of Allied forces from the heartland of the continent.

In the view of British authorities this could bring instability to West Germany where Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's government already is in difficulties. It also could eventually shift the German policies closer to those of President de Gaulle of France.

Senior officials in Prime Minister Wilson's administration are looking to President Johnson, who has called for an early American - British - West German reappraisal of whatever military threat exists in Europe, the forces needed to meet it and ways of financing the allied effort.

Wilson has advised the president of British readiness to take part in the three-power talks.



The British insist they will reduce their $1,000-strong Rhine army of occupation unless West Germans supply the whole $250,000,000 foreign exchange cost of maintaining that force. This does not mean Bonn paying Britain's bills, but arranging somehow for the British to earn enough money in Germany to ease the strain on foreign money resources.

They Germans thus far have declined to offer more than about 40 per cent of the bill. If this is their final word, the British view the Rhine army will be cut so that it uses up no more than about $100,000,000 in German marks a year.

Officially the Johnson administration has set its face against reductions at this time.

Donald M. Soutter Named "Intell" Managing Editor

Donald M. Soutter, 30, a newspaper man with wide and varied experience, has joined the editorial staff of The Intelligencer in the capacity of managing editor.

Mr. Soutter assumed his duties this week.

He comes here particularly well-equipped for his new position. He has run the gamut of editorial room positions! Apprentice cub reporter to managing editor.

A natural aptitude for newspaper work has brought him to a high level in the profession.

Early editorial experience stood him in good stead. It brought him to the attention of people working beyond the perimeter of the printed word.

He was appointed chairman and secretary for a two-year period of an Ontario newspaper study group which reported on the liaison between the Canadian Press and member newspapers.

Mr. Soutter obtained much of his editorial experience with the Kingston Whig Standard. He rose through the ranks, so to speak, in 13 years, from a "cub" to sports editor, thence to city editor and news editor.

From there he was appointed the first professional managing editor of the Ryerson Idea, the newspaper produced by the journalism department of the Ryerson Polytechnical Institute.

At one time in his career he attended the American Press Institutes city editors' seminar at Columbia University, New York City.

He received his early education in Quebec City and Kingston public schools. He attended high school in Kingston and later Queen's University.

While in Kingston in addition to his newspaper duties, he taught night school under the provincial-federal retraining plan.

Prior to his appointment here, Mr. Soutter was working on the news desk of the Toronto Evening Telegram.

As his experience reveals, he brings with him a wide knowledge of all aspects of newspaper operation.

The Rev. J. M. G. Soutter, rector of St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Wellington, is a brother of Mr. Soutter.

Mr. Soutter, who has a keen interest in municipal politics, education and community affairs said one of the goals of the newspaper would be to increase coverage of the local scene and the surrounding district.

"The newspaper of today," he says, "must accept its responsibility of serving the public. It cannot be all things to all people, but it must not sidestep the basic premise which is its role to perform. In the years ahead it is my hope The Intelligencer will keep pace with community growth."

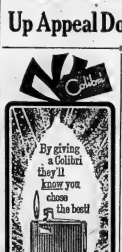
GIVING THE SHIRTS OFF THEIR BACKS—Employees at Deacon Brothers Limited raised their United Appeal contributions by 80 per cent yesterday. Putting the top on the in-plant campaign are Stan Sills, Carolyn Downes (sitting), Ferne Gibson and Stell Rushlow. Company president Fred B. Deacon thanked the employees and congratulated them on their community spirit.

Deacon Bros. Employees Up Appeal Donations 80 PC



Deacon Brothers in-plant United Appeal campaign speeded yesterday afternoon and closed about 30 minutes later with a total of 80 per cent over last year's.

The plant employees met in the company cafeteria yesterday to view the United Appeal film, "Something Personal."

The film outlines the work of the volunteer agencies and stresses the point that a few cents each week here everyone in all it takes to keep the agencies operating.

The employees organization at Deacons, the DY Club, voted unanimously to raise their United Appeal contributions, thus upping the coffers some 80 per cent.

In-plant industrial campaigns in most Belleville industries are expected to start early next week.

Schoolboy Will Shake 1,000 Hands

CHESTER, England (Reuters)—A 15-year-old schoolboy says he will challenge his teacher's statement that the Queen has a difficult job. He plans to parade through Chester in search of 1,000 people to shake his hand.

Peter Vickers, whose annual income is £30 ($30), believes that the Queen, whose income is £475,000 ($1,425,000) a year, has an easy life.

During a classroom discussion, the teacher mentioned royal tours and asked Vickers how he would like to shake hands 1,000 times a day.

The boy decided to prove that he could do it and placed bets amounting to 15 shillings with his classmates that he would succeed.

Obituaries

DELBERT JOHN CRAWFORD

A resident of Belleville for most of his life, Delbert John Crawford died suddenly yesterday at Belleville General Hospital, in his 54th year. He lived at 84½ Foster Ave. Mr. Crawford collapsed on the sidewalk near the Dominion store on Victoria Avenue.

Born at Bessemer (near Bracebridge) he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crawford. He had been employed at Hunt Brothers, Limited, Janitorial Services.

He leaves his wife, the former Mary Haley; three sons, Bryan and Wayne at home, and Donald, stationed with the Royal Canadian Navy in Nova Scotia, and two sisters, Winnifred (Mrs. Thomas Howard) of Welland and Merle, (Mrs. George Duffy) of Belleville.

He served with the Canadian Army overseas during World War II.

Captain June Dwyer of the Salvation Army will officiate at the funeral Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Thompson Funeral Chapel. Interment at Belleville Cemetery.

GEORGE LYNN McKINNON (Blake)

A retired farmer, well known in the Madoc area, George Lynn McKinnon died in Belleville General Hospital Thursday. He was in his 87th year and had been in ill-health for two years.

Born in Madoc township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McKinnon, he farmed there all his life before moving into Madoc 11 years ago. He was a member of Trinity United Church.

Mr. McKinnon is survived by his wife, the former Ethel A. Trotter; a son, Donald George, Madoc township; a daughter, Mrs. D. (Jean Anne) Bigney, Appleton, Wisconsin, and six granddaughters. He was predeceased by three sisters.

Resting at MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, until Saturday when the funeral will take to Hazard's United Church and interment in Hazard's cemetery.

JOHN VINCENT GALLIVAN

The funeral for John Vincent Gallivan was held from the Thompson Funeral Chapel to St. James' the Minor Church in Stirling on Thursday morning. Rev. James Mc-Garvey celebrated the Requiem Mass and also said the graveside prayers at the church before interment in Eggleton Cemetery.

The bearers were Robert Danford, Harold Detlor, Gerald Irvine, Gary Phillips, Harold Raby and Bruce Stapley.

Big Pay Differential Wiped Out

OTTAWA (CP)—The big pay differential between armed forces pilots and other officer ranks in effect only since February, has all but been wiped out in the pay increases announced Thursday.

Under pay scales effective Oct. 1, 1966, maximum annual pay for an RCAF flight lieutenant is increased by 6.8 per cent over two years to $13,364.

But the maximum pay for a flight lieutenant navigator or radio officer is raised by 32.4 per cent during the same period to $13,236.

To stem the exodus of pilots from the armed forces, especially the RCAF, the defence department last Feb. 1 increased their pay for a flight lieutenant by 30.5 per cent to a maximum of $13,064 a year. Pay for navigators and radio officers of the same rank continued at $9,996 a year.

At the time, there were complaints from navigators and radio operators that they were being discriminated against though undergoing the same risks.

Sentence Two On Charges Of Car Theft

Two men, each of whom had stolen a 1955 model car, which was left unlocked, were sentenced to terms of imprisonment in city police court this morning.

Serge Joseph Andre Rose, 19, of Cornwall, had pleaded guilty to the theft of a car from Front Street, Quinte, on September 21. The car, property of Lawrence Perry Hyde, 34 Bridge Street East in the town had been left overnight in the parking lot with its keys in the ignition.

Rose, whose lengthy police record included one previous theft conviction, was sentenced to one year in an Ontario reformatory on the charge, to be served concurrently with sentence on a charge of escaping custody from Brampton Training Centre in August. The year will be served consecutively to a nine month term remaining in Rose's original sentence at the time of his escape.

William Lawrence Smith, 21, of 21 Forin Street in the city, pleaded guilty to stealing a car September 18 which was the property of Mrs. Nellie Shandraw, 295 Pinacle Street.

Smith was arrested by city police while driving the car, which had been left unlocked in Mrs. Shandraw's driveway.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills sentenced Smith to six months in the Hastings County Jail for the theft.

In another court case Bruce Parsons, 30 Sidney Street, was fined $300 for failing to remit income tax deductions withheld from employees.

Key Personnel At City Hall Get Raises

Faced with the resignations of at least six key personnel at city hall within the past 12 months, city council this week authorized increased maximum salaries for department heads and their assistants.

The most recent resignation of a city hall department head was that of city engineer Harry Bender, who has accepted a similar position at North Bay. All key personnel resignations were made for financial reasons.

For most of the city hall staff covered by the ungraded salary schedule, new salary rates will go into effect on Saturday, Oct. 1st. Then on January 1st their next higher salary increase will apply.

Maximum salaries in some instances were increased considerably but with the exception of one instance will not be reached for periods of up to three years.

The ungraded salary schedule at city hall ranges from a low of $3,600 as the starting figure for the assistant director in the female division of the recreation commission to a maximum of $13,500 for the city manager.

IN MEMORIAM

FRIZZONE — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Martin Ernest who passed away a year ago today, Sept. 30, 1965.

You fell asleep without goodbye, But memories of you will never die.

Quietly remembered through the years,
With silent thought and unseen tears.

Lovingly remembered, Dad, Mom, Brothers and Sisters.

MORGAN — In loving memory of our eldest son, Everett Morgan who passed away on Nov. 30th, 1964.

You are gone but not forgotten,
Our memories of you are dear.
Please God just let him know,
We love him and will never forget.
We love and miss you,
—Ever remembered by Mother, Father and sister Margaret.

MORGAN — In loving memory of a dear son, Everett Morgan who was taken from us Nov. 30th, 1964.

We didn't know where he left home,
We didn't know he'd roam,
That he'd death so soon would meet,
And leave us here to mourn.
We only know he passed away,
And never more return.
—Ever remembered by sister Beatrice and niece Beverley.

'Containerization' Speeds Work At New CNR Express Terminal

"Containerization", a recent innovation in the shipment of "less than carload" freight by rail is facilitating the shipment of express freight at the Belleville CNR terminal.

The streamlined method of handling freight "smalls" is an important feature of the newly constructed terminal on Station Street East, which will be officially opened October 28.

The CNR at present has more than 600 road - rail containers of aluminum construction, built to meet an international standard in size of 30' x 8' x 8'. They are designed for easy transfer from truck to train, and vice versa.

In use by both the CNR and CPR for the past several years, there are now three containers employed in Belleville CNR freight operations. The CPR is not at present using any of the van - type units.

The containers, which ride three in a row on special 61 foot - long railway flat cars, are insulated, carrying propane gas heating equipment for the protection of the contents in cold weather. They are fitted with a door on each side so the container can be emptied and packed without removing it from its rail car. As well each has truck - type double doors at one end for use at freight shed docks and on the delivery route.

The first step in the transfer of a container from its flat car to a highway vehicle is the parallel parking of the truck alongside the railway car. Equipped with self-levelling hydraulic legs, or "stilts," the truck raises itself to the level of the deck of the flat car. A transfer device consisting of a hydraulic arm, easily operated by the truck's driver, reaches under the container and pulls it sideways until it locks onto the truck chassis.

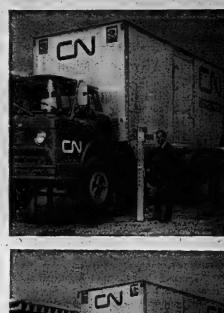
Following the transfer procedure, which can be accomplished in less than two minutes, the truck is then free to start its deliveries, and the train can move on without need for any time-consuming switching of cars.

Working in reverse, the loading apparatus can push a container from truck to flat car, where locking devices secure it for its journey by rail. The containers can also be removed from trucks and parked on detachable legs, for example, at a customer's warehouse, thereby freeing the vehicle for other work.

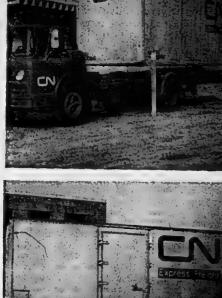
The method most similar to containerization employed in the past by Canadian railways was the "piggyback" system. Known as the T.O.F.C., or trailer on flat car method, it was a breakthrough in railroad operations when instituted in 1957. The great expense necessitated by stabilizing equipment and the lengthy loading time involved in the "piggyback" method have been eliminated with the development of the containers.

Insofar as the handling of less than carload traffic is concerned, the new program may eventually replace the familiar box-car that has been part and parcel of railroad express freight handling. Not only are the lightweight containers less expensive to purchase than standard boxcars, but their use helps reduce the cost incurred by the process of switching and cutting cars in and out of trains.

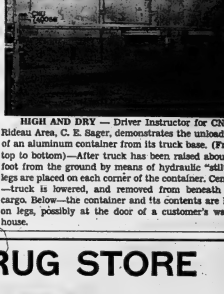
The instalment of heating in containers, and the passenger-type springs with which the container flat cars are fitted, give containerized express cargo a more "comfortable" ride than in boxcars.



Railway authorities appear to be convinced of the advantages inherent in the van-type system. The decrease in loss and damage in the handling of small freight, and the cheaper transportation costs, since heavier shipments can now be moved by fairly light equipment, are but two factors.



Equally important is the value of the new process in eliminating several time-consuming steps in the handling of railway less than carload freight. For example, freight traffic is ordinarily removed from rail cars to carts, which then take it to be sorted. After sorting, the freight must be moved in a delivery truck. By preloading a container in delivery order, however, the goods can be transported from origin to destination without being handled except as a unit.



Time is also conserved in the reduction of the number of transfers of the freight between various vehicles. Due to the complexity of such transfers, the cost to the customer amounts to some $5 per ton in any given shipment of express freight.

When containers are used, this figure is cut to half in some instances by 90 per cent.

As yet, the potential value of the new system has been only slightly exploited. Railway authorities foresee the day when, via the aluminum carriers, freight traffic will be as easily transferable from land to air and sea, as it is now from rail to highway.

HIGH AND DRY — Driver Instructor for CNR's Rideau Area, C. E. Sager, demonstrates the unloading of an aluminum container from its truck base. (From top to bottom)—After truck has been raised about a foot from the ground by means of hydraulic "stilts", legs are placed on each corner of the container. Centre —truck is lowered, and removed from beneath its cargo. Below—the container and its contents are left on legs, possibly at the door of a customer's warehouse.

Two Fatalities in Brighton Area Within 24 Hours

A hunting mishap and a car accident have claimed the lives of two men in their thirties within 24 hours in the Brighton area.

Early this morning, 32-year-old air force Corporal Robert Lawrence Hewer of Brighton, died instantly in a one-car accident on Highway 2, midway between Brighton and Trenton.

Alone in the car, Corporal Hewer was returning home from Trenton around 1.30 a.m. when his car went out of control near the English Settlement Road, rolled over several times, and pinned him behind the steering wheel.

It was more than an hour before his body could be freed from the wreckage.

Yesterday, while hunting rabbits some 12 miles north of Brighton in Percy Township, 35-year-old Carlo Triolo's 20-gauge shotgun accidentally discharged, fatally wounding the Weston man in the neck. He died with three other hunters at the time.

The mishap occurred shortly before 11 o'clock Thursday. The man was pronounced dead by Coroner Dr. W. O. Elliott, of Brighton.

Population Up Only 97 Over 1965

Population figures from the 1966 partial census released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics this week list Belleville as having 32,318 people, but the number doesn't jibe with the case count taken by city hall assessors.

City Assessment Commissioner G. Leighton Thompson said his department's count this year showed a total of 32,954 people to up 97 from the figure of 32,857 in 1965.

Mr. Thompson could give no reason for the comparatively small population increase in the city in the past year. Normally the increase has been running at about two percent per year, although the 1965 increase was close to four per cent over the year previous.

Harvesting of MacIntosh In Full Swing in District

It's apple picking time again in the Bay of Quinte District and the MacIntosh harvest is in full swing.

And until a few days ago district orchardists were reported finding difficulty in finding enough pickers to get the fruit off the trees.

In fact the situation was so desperate that employment service officials were placing advertisements and making radio appeals for pickers "able to climb a ladder."

Today however, employment officials say the crisis is over and there are no unfilled orders for apple pickers.

"We contacted the schools and the armed services and workers with regular jobs turned out during their off hours, said local employment office head H. W. Karn.

At the same time Mr. Karn says now that the apple picking crisis appears to be over, his office would appreciate growers calling in if they no longer require pickers.

UNUSUAL FEATURES

This year's MacIntosh apple crop has unusual features, one of which could affect the grade, and the other which will mean more dollars in orchardists' pockets.

It could be something to do with the weather, but the Macs this year do not seem to be coloring up as in the normal season — despite the fact that picking is now at least a week later than usual.

The other feature this year is the almost total absence of grounders with practically all the apples remaining on the trees until they are harvested. (Grounders are apples which fall before they can be handpicked and because of bruises are sold at a reduced price.)

Many Quinte district orchardists now have their own artificially cooled storage facilities to hold apples for later consumption.

But for orchard fresh fruit for sale next spring the ideal answer is controlled atmosphere storage, several of which are now in the Quinte area.

Rural View on Inflation

"It is not really worth anybody's while to ask for more money, except that if you do quit the race you'll be left behind," complains the Rural Co-operator in a penetrating editorial on inflation.

The Co-operator is published by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture Publishing Co. Ltd. We are told that the opinions expressed "are those of the editorial staff and are not necessarily shared by the Ontario Federation of Agriculture and its affiliated organizations." The Federation, we suggest, would have no reason to be ashamed if it embraced the opinions voiced in the editorial in question. These opinions, in the main, are eminently fair.

"One wonders how the union leaders are able to reconcile their consciences," the Co-operator says. "We presume they know that the policies they have followed the last few months must lead to action to increase unemployment. Not that they ever say so to their members when there is a vote on whether to strike for high wages."

After that criticism of union leaders, the Co-operator hastens to add: "But let's not yield to the temptation of putting all the blame for the present inflation onto the shoulders of trade unionists. They must accept some of it. But industrial trade unions are not the only bodies that have been demanding and getting more money."

Who else? Why farmers, of course.

"Oh yes, we know that the farmer has had a rough deal. We don't contest that many farmers desperately needed the extra money they have been getting lately," says the Co-operator. "Nevertheless," it continues, "we would not be honest if, in a discussion on inflation, we failed to record that one of the factors which started the present escalation of prices and costs and wages was the steady increase in the cost of living because the working man had to pay more for food. The working man, through his unions, has repeatedly said farmers can have a fair price. But, as the events of the summer show, he wants somebody other than himself to pay the extra cost. He demands it from his boss, who has to recoup himself and as the weary circus goes on it ends up that the improvement in farm prices is balanced by higher costs."

The Co-operator observes that "what we are really arguing about is not the creation of new goodies but the distribution of those actually available," and in a strike each one group higher wages, "what they are really doing is to take away a fraction from each of the rest of us."

This is not quite true. What happens is that strikers who get a pay increase benefit at the expense of somebody and who this somebody is depends on how this pay raise is met. It might be met out of increased productivity — and indeed recent graphs distributed by The Canadian Press underline this point — but more and contrary to popular belief, the rise in wage rates had lagged behind the rise in productivity. But if the worker in an industry insists on expropriating to himself all the benefits of increased productivity, there is going to be little or no improved machinery which, almost certainly, made this increase in productivity possible?

Unless something is left out of increased productivity for the investor, prices will be raised if this is feasible. In today's economy it almost always is feasible and the result is inflation, which may appear to be an effort to distribute the cost of wage increases evenly amongst all of us, in accordance with our ability to pay, since the purchasing power of each and every dollar is reduced. Actually, though, the burden falls heaviest on those with fixed incomes, as the Co-operator points out, and these are likely to be those people least able to pay.

The Co-operator has two solutions. "Maybe we could all get together and settle once-for-all how the national income should be shared," it says. But it admits it is not practical. Its other proposal is a national wage policy set by authority of Parliament. The Co-operator voices doubt that Parliament has such authority. To which it should be added that wages are but half of the problem. To control wages without controlling prices would not only be unfair to many but could also be completely ineffective in halting inflation. Are businessmen prepared to submit to price control as the cost of a law controlling wages? We doubt it.

I never deliberately use shock tactics. When people are shocked I'm always astonished. There's an element of shock in anything that is dramatic. You may say knocking on the door in Macbeth is shock value; it is simply theatre, it's drama. I think that anything that makes the theatre alive and vital is good for it. I don't think it has ever been as vital and alive as it is now. If people are moved to walk out or to yell out rude things, it means that they are responding; they are not just sitting there. I think it's splendid. — British playwright John Osborne.

New Badge Of Courage

Washington Star

The fetish of proudly flaunting the physical scars left by encounters with possible death is as old as the human race.

Throughout history primitive and "civilized" warlike man — the American Indian, the Spartan warrior and the Heidelberg cadet — have courted danger to prove manhood valor and have proudly worn the residual marks left by the resulting contusions and abrasions.

Prizefighters have their cauliflower ears, skiers their autographed casts, mountain climbers their frost-bitten noses, skaters their "toes," tennis players their "elbows" and baseball players their "fingers."

Now a new badge of courage proven has made the scene — "surfer's nodule."

Surfer's nodules appear in due course on the veteran surfer's knees, feet and toes as a result of kneeling on his surfboard while paddling out to catch the next comber.

Dr. J. Gordon Erickson, a California dermatologist who treats many of them, reports that the lumps are usually painless but sometimes grow to sizes that make it difficult to wear shoes. They disappear when a surfer gives up the sport, which he doesn't, of course, willingly do.

Dr. Erickson has persuaded some surfers suffering from, or rather basking in the glory of having developed nodules, to wear aluminum knee caps. But surfers, who are usually with it want their nodules to label them as the real McCoy. In the same world in which we live we concede that there have to be substitutes for the dangers that bred in our ancestors the instinct for survival also substitutes for the marks that once proved that a man had successfully confronted and bested the forces ranged against him.

But housemaid's knee! Gracious!

Need Action On Report

Hamilton Spectator

A special committee appointed by the National Research Council into the care of animals used in laboratory experiments has produced some wise and humane recommendations in its report. Whether action will follow is another matter.

The committee recommended that all animal dealers be licensed, that laboratories with subjects for experiment should be controlled by licence and inspected through the provinces.

Many people will be astonished that action has not been taken long ago to put these dealers right across the country under the most stringent rules. There have been some ugly cases of cruelty reported which have revolted the public conscience.

And then, some dealers have engaged in a shady traffic in animals in which family pets have been stolen and then sold to laboratories.

All this cries out for licensing and control.

When it comes to cruelty to animals, reason is apt to be swamped by indignation. This is not a bad thing; there is always too little compassion in the world and more of it for animals and humans is a good thing.

Licensing of animal dealers, their control and inspection, is a provincial concern. It is not much use unless all the provinces act together, but a start must be made.

The committee recommended that a Canadian council be set up to ensure national guiding principles for animal care. This is a task that should be done by up Ottawa. Such a council would have no powers of punishment; it would be reflective and advisory and so could fulfil a very useful purpose.

This is a subject on which no one can be entirely rational, while everyone claims he is. Often the crusading animal lover is not positively pursuing a better deal for helpless creatures so much as denying to his fellows the comfort of cruelty.

Compassion lies outside the realms of education, but consideration does not. Until the remote day when consideration for all creatures is part of the second nature of man, we shall need tough laws to deal with those who were born with steel jackets over their hearts. Let Ontario lead the way in this field of humane legislation.

LBJ Complicated Man

Christian Science Monitor

If President Johnson were not such a complicated individual, he would probably find his relations with the country's intellectual community warmer and easier. And they would probably be warmer and easier if his troubled and stimulating predecessor had not left behind a legend — or is it a myth? — of which many intellectuals find it easier to wed themselves than to the Texan dynamism now in the White House.

So to say is neither to denigrate Lyndon Johnson nor to dishonor the late John Kennedy. We are merely stating facts, as we see them. And we are prompted as to express ourselves by reports in the New York Times and the Washington Post that Mr. Johnson is about to lose the services of Eric Goldman, as Princeton professor whom he brought to the White House as "part-time intellectual-in-residence".

According to the New York Times, Professor Goldman is resigning "after deciding that he could not promote real cooperation between President Johnson and segments of the liberal intellectual community"

The impression that this could be of Mr. Johnson as a bigot is dead unfair. His record of achievement outmatches that of his predecessor — as must in whether or not one agrees with the impressive list of measures associated with the first three years of the Johnson presidency. And on Vietnam, the issue which has earned him some of the intellectual community's harshest strictures — we feel that Mr. Johnson cannot withdraw from the commitment to which he rightly remains loyal.

Harry Truman, the sometime Kansas City haberdasher, and Lyndon Johnson, son of the Texas sail, were both pitch-forked into the presidency when tragedy had removed from men with a palms of aristocracy and intellectual determination. The type of thinkers that he had rallied to Roosevelt stayed with Mr. Truman. Yet the type of thinkers attracted to Kennedy have not found themselves at home with Mr. Johnson. Why?

The answer, we think, is that Mr. Truman is an accomplished man without pretension who instinctively knew the right decision to make as the big issues — made it and stuck with it, and yet always made his associates feel they were parties to it and part of it. Mr. Johnson makes right decisions, too. But he does not have Truman's adroitness and latter North America.

The Closed Shop Army

Vancouver Sun

We are not surprised that the Canadian Government's decision to allow trade unions to organize the army is causing some restiveness in the high command.

The idea of card - carrying union soldiers will bargaining rights will cause generals far beyond the army of Good Soldier Schweik and Gunner Asch to think of revolt.

Consider The Charge of the Light Brigade as it might be executed by the Amalgamated Tankers, Iron Workers and Miscellaneous Helpers Union.

Balaclava loch.

The operation starts not half a league from the valley of Death and the mouth of Hellespiritedly within the jurisdiction of another union, in any case — but at the bargaining table.

Paytig of pay with the Cossacks; Retraining or retirement at full pay for soldiers displaced by cannon. Day off for annual picnic.

Time and a half for wild charges. Compensation for volleys and thunders. Longer aseries. Replacement for crazy killed balaclava.

The dispute goes to conciliation, then arbitration. There is a stiffle and a lockout.

Pickets appear at the jaws of Death and the mouth of Hell. No horse nor hero falls. No one blunders . . .

Perhaps there's something to be said for the closed shop army at that. Anyway, as long as a right-to-fight law doesn't prevail on the other side.

Water Worth More Than Oil

Detroit Free Press

It sounds like a real good way to ruin our tap water but those who know say it's far real.

Night club singer Toni Carroll has "witched" in a location for an oil well on a small, low-lying island in the St. Clair River. A drilling rig, guided by Miss Carroll's extra sensory perception, is now down some 400 feet.

If the drilling hits a pressure pocket, the well could "blow" just as they do in old movies, and oil or brine would spew off the island and into the St. Clair River, throughout Lake St. Clair and down the Detroit River.

In hours, the water supply of nearly half the citizens of Michigan would be polluted. The water supply for Detroit and all the suburbs using city water, which comes from an intake pipe at the northeast end of Belle Isle, could become undrinkable. Beer and soft - drink industries would be affected. Beaches would be fouled. Boats ashore. Wildlife injured.

"In one shot," said Corporation Counsel Robert Reese, "you would have the greatest job of water pollution that's ever been done."

State Geologist Gerald Eddy says it could happen. Miss Carroll's outfit, the Positive Mental Attitude Oil Exploration Ltd., is drilling in an area of potential pockets of natural gas, oil or brine.

Reese's alarm had been preceded by that of state agencies. Officials of the water resources commission and health department already had asked the international joint commission to intervene. They were supported last week by Gov. Romney.

The drilling, besides being a dangerous adventure in parapsychology, also denies the spirit of international co-operation.

The Ontario government is giving Miss Carroll a drilling permit has violated the spirit, if not the letter, of this mutual agreement.

The control of pollution in the St. Clair and Detroit Rivers will be impossible with out international co-operation. The pollution of Lake Erie and Lake Michigan by Detroit will clean only half the river as long as Windsor continues to dump untreated wastes into the other half.

It doesn't take ESP to see that it's not worth gambling the water supply of half Michigan's population on a wildcat drilling adventure.

Andes Plants Good Eating

Unesco Features

Quinoa, papalisa, oka, isanie are names that ring strangely on the Northern ear. But these commonspace plants of the Andean highlands of South America could eventually become like another Andean native, the potato - everyday items on dinner tables oceans away from their native soils.

Though little-known outside the Andes, some of these crops have long history and were grown even before maize. Its fecas ate not only the grain of the quinoa but also the leaves as salad. Most of the plants have a high nutritive value and a higher protein content than cereals as wheat, maize and rice. But nowadays not many farmers are growing these crops and those who are are raising them under primitive conditions and getting only about 1,100 tons a year.

A five-year program is now being started to select and breed better varieties of the plants, stimulate their use among farmers and distribute more and better seed. The $385,000 project is being financed for its first two years by the United Committee for Fundiel Relief (Oxfam) as a contribution to FAO's Freedom from Hunger Campaign.

The research work is being carried out at an institute built by the Bolivian government at Patacamaya, 12,500 feet up in the Andes. The institute will also train research and extension workers and the farmers themselves.

If these plants were produced abundantly, they could become an important food for the seven million Indians who live in the Andes. And eventually they might follow the path of the potato, which was spread from its native Andean soil and carried off across the Atlantic to become a staple food in Europe and later North America.

To Your Good Health

Not All Retardation Is of Hereditary Type

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am engaged to a boy whose brother is mentally retarded. This is the only case I know of in his family or mine. Where can I get information on this? Is either parent the problem? I fear having a mentally retarded child. — M. S.

First dismiss the idea that mental retardation is hereditary. Sometimes an illness of the mother during pregnancy can be involved. Sometimes a brain injury to a child can cause the retardation later in life. In either event, there is no reason to expect the brother's case to have any effect on other members of the family and their children.

Mental retardation is one of many problems of society and it will help if more people become familiar with the facts.

You might start a study of the subject in the public library. A good encyclopedia will give you substantial groundwork. "Mental Subnormality" by Maclland, Raymond Gladwell, is a nice, up-to-date and reliable book.

For other information, consult your state branch of the Mental Health Society.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter bites her nails, and I have failed in my efforts to break her of the habit. She is now 10 years old. Sometimes she doesn't believe me, but she reads your column everyday.

I have tried all kinds, but I quit in order to get her to quit, too. Please comment. — Mrs. R. M.

Well, the threat about infection doesn't really carry much weight, so maybe you used the wrong argument.

Chewed nails don't look good. To be nibbling constantly at them isn't very attractive, and all in all it's a problem nervous habit. It's plain messy.

If you, who obviously had the habit much longer, could quit, then your daughter certainly can if she makes up her mind to.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any new treatment for diabetic neuritis? We have tried Vitamin B in every shape and form, including twice-a-week injections of B. Complex and B 12, and brewer's yeast by mouth.

The doctor says it keeps the symptoms from getting worse, but I doubt it. I am hoping that someone has been working on a cure or help for diabetic neuritis.

This is a case that's been around for years ago as juvenile diabetes. — H. M.

Diabetic neuritis can occur early as well as in cases of long standing, and there is nothing new for treatment beyond what you mention.

One thing is certain: Meticulous control of diabetes continues to be an essential part of treatment, and it is one of many reasons why diabetes patient should be wary of being a bit "cheat" on their diets. Any way it is cut it, diabetic neuritis is stubborn.

Note to C. W.: There are various over-the-counter unmedicated hair: Electrolysis, shaving, plucking (whether with tweezers or depilatory), chemical depilatories. Of all, electrolysis is or was method), chemical depilatories. Of all, electrolysis is or was method), chemical depilatories. Of all, electrolysis is the only permanent way. I have no opinion as to the different specific electrolysis methods. Perhaps some reader who used it will create a minimum of scarring. Obviously some skin areas are more tender than others.

Strictly Personal

Art of Persuasion

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I had an uncle who was the most effective arguer I ever knew — and he never seemed to argue. Where other men, in a dispute would say, "I think there's wrong with that," he always say, "You're right as far as you go, but I don't think you're saying all that should be said on the subject."

He would then proceed to point out other aspects of the subject under discussion, in such a way that his disputant might retain the substance of his previous viewpoint. And he could do this without running the slightest risk of losing a point.

"In one shot," said Corporation Counsel Robert Reese, "you would have the greatest job of water pollution that's ever been done."

State Geologist Gerald Eddy says it could happen. Miss Carroll's outfit, the Positive Mental Attitude Oil Exploration Ltd., is drilling in an area of potential pockets of natural gas, oil or brine.

Make Gas Into Food

Unesco Features

Two British oil scientists, D.R. Hobson, have succeeded in converting methane, a prime constituent of natural gas, into edible protein. The protein is derived from a type of bacteria which feeds exclusively on methane, producing a white, flakey substance with a protein content of 40 to 50 per cent. This substance, which is odorless, has been fed to laboratory animals and been eaten in small quantities by the scientists themselves.

Two other oil companies have been experimenting for some years with the production of protein from waste products of the petroleum refining process

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP)—The Toronto Stock Exchange's industrial index climbed to another low in light morning trading today and analysts say the market is following the lead of the New York Exchange.

However, there has not been a rush to sell as only 300,000 shares changed hands by a.m. compared with 575,000 Thursday and 1,112,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Inco dropped ¼ to 53¾, Bell Telephone and Distacc ¼ each to a low of 47 and 39½ and Royal Bank ¼ to 65¼.

Home A moved up ¼ to 19¾ in western oils while Canadian Superior and Dome eased ¼ and ¼.

Denison fell ¼ to 36 in base metals and Rio Algom ¼ to 23¾.

On index, golds moved up .37 to 122.14, Base metals were off .21 to 87.37 and the TSE 30 is 136.42.

On Thursday the index turned in a 2½ year low.

The index fell 9.61 to 142.70, lowest since March 30, 1964.

It was the third consecutive daily decline. However there has been no panic selling as only 2,707,000 shares changed hands compared with 3,569,000 Wednesday and 4,743,000 Tuesday.

Inco tumbled 2 to 54. Rothmans slid 1¼ to 49¾.

Banks declined with Imperial-Commerce down 1¼ to 53, Royal ¼ to 65¾ and Montreal and Nova Scotia to each to a low of 40¾ and 49¾.

Golds bucked the trend and the index jumped 1.90 to 171.77 Dome advanced 1 to 46 and Kerr-Addison ¾ to 13.

On index base metals dropped .36 to 87.50 and the TSE 1.3 to 136.75.

Fire Prevention Projects Will Take 2 Weeks to Do

TRENTON — Fire Prevention Week in Trenton will be two weeks this year as the department will need that length of time, at least, to carry out its program. The projects are under the supervision of Fire Chief Cecil Ellis with inspector Robert Baker carrying out the details with the help of the men.

Factories, stores, service stations and warehouses will be checked for fire hazards. Fire drills will be held in all schools and safety films shown in all public and separate schools. Air cadets will be given a special showing of the films. Houses will be checked upon request.

Fire prevention literature will be mailed out to all householders next week. Householders will be asked to check their heating systems, rubbish in attics, basements, closets and garages. Warnings will be given to store inflammable liquids in safety cans, away from children or heat sources.

Regarding the use of electricity, home-owners are asked to check appliances, fuses, (15 amps for lighting circuits), and to see that their TV antenna is not placed so it would fall across power lines.

Warnings will be given about smoking in bed, about too many appliances on one outlet, about matches within reach of children and about poor wiring. The advisability of having fire-retardant roofing material and of having the heating systems cleaned before the winter will be stressed.

Directions for getting out safely in case of fire are given in one booklet.

At the fire hall, a special card with directions for baby sitters (for hanging in a prominent place in the home), is given out upon request.

A colorful illustrated booklet, "Fire . . . Friend or Foe", is to be given out at the schools and copies of this booklet will be placed in local stores in the near future.

WILL DEPORT NINE

TOKYO (Reuters) — Nine North Koreans who were brought to Japan at gun point by four defectors Sept. 17 will be deported to North Korea Monday aboard the Soviet liner Baikal, the Japanese justice ministry said Friday. The four defectors, who arrived in Japan in a fishing boat after killing seven fellow crew members and locking up the others in a cabin, flew to South Korea Wednesday.

Alkenback Opposes CPR Bid To Close Branch Line Stations

Vigorous opposition is in the offing to the proposed closing of four Canadian Pacific Railway stations in the Quinte-Kingston region.

Spokesman for the protest is Douglas Alkenbrack, MP Prince Edward Lennox, who already has informed the Board of Transport Commissioners he will fight the CPR proposal.

The company has sought permission to close and remove station buildings at Robindale, Kaladar, Tichborne and Sharbot Lake.

"Since the services rendered by all these stations are so vital to the economy of our area" said Mr. Alkenbrack, "I protest this plan and policy."

"Not only is it contrary to the terms of performance agreed to in a charter, but it is also injurious to the interests of the people in this area."

Mr. Alkenbrack has told C.W. Rumn, Board of Transport Commissioners secretary, that many of his constituents would "fight such a retrograde measure which would so adversely effect our economy."

Robindale station also is in the constituency of Norris Whitney, MPP Prince Edward-Lennox.

Mr. Whitney said he had received no representations on the issue but it was purely a federal matter.

"However . . . he added, "I would be unhappy to see the people lose this connection which in the future could mean a great deal more than it does now."

Meantime, J. H. Wright, of the CPR's law department, has written the board seeking a temporary delay in discussing the railway's applications.

The CPR, he said, needed an opportunity to prepare and make further submissions.

Property Owners, Tenants Get Assessment Notices

Belleville property owners and tenants are getting their 1966 assessment notices in the mail this week.

City hall officials say the forms are different in appearance, but contain the same information, although in a more understandable form.

One of the reasons for the difference in appearance of the assessment notice is that the city assessment roll is now being done by a data processing firm in Ottawa instead of at the local city hall. In making the change council felt there would be a cost saving to the city.

City Assessment Commissioner G. Leighton Thompson says the reason the new forms are more understandable is that they are not coded as was the case previously and assessment figures appear in columns under respective headings for land, buildings, and so on.

SOME PROBLEMS

Mr. Thompson said that a few problems were being experienced with the new forms. One of the problems is that in isolated cases double value figures are being printed. .

However, the duplicate forms are checked at city hall and where errors are noted corrected notices are being mailed out.

Most of the city assessment forms went out on Tuesday of this week and before being mailed were checked for ward and sub division.

Appeal forms are on the back of the new assessment notice instead of a separate attached card. Property owners are given 14 days from the date of mailing to make appeals. This can be done either by returning the assessment form or by giving notice in writing.

Cheese Virus in Area Brought Under Control

The cheese virus bacteriophage which earlier this season resulted in considerable financial loss in the Bay of Quinte district has now been brought under control but the actual loss to district farmers has not yet been determined.

Dr. E. W. Henderson of Belleville, dairy specialist for the Quinte area, said today there had been only a few outbreaks in the Hastings County area in the past month. He said the virus outbreak had apparently been brought under control by a program of culture rotation and strict sanitation.

A new type of culture imported from Wisconsin which is immune to the virus has not yet been used but is being held in reserve.

The virus destroys the lactic acid bacteria required to make favorable cheese, the major loss being lower grades of cheese.

The original estimated loss to farmers in the Hastings area, was $500,000, but Mr. Henderson said he planned to make a survey of all factories in an effort to determine the actual loss.

The virus is said not to be harmful to people and outside of the lower cheese grades has not affected the cheese market.

Public Hearings on Car Price Increases Delayed

OTTAWA (CP)—The parliamentary committee on living costs kept the door open Thursday to possible public hearings on car price increases.

The group's steering committee said announcements on prices of all 1967 models would be awaited before a decision is made.

Max Saltsman (NDP—Waterloo South) has asked that the heads of the auto industry be called automatically to explain any price increases.

But he was voted down by other members of the six-man steering committee Thursday.

General Motors, the first to reveal 1967 prices, announced Thursday that the difference in prices between U.S. and Canada on seven popular models of GM cars will be cut from $5 to $101.

Industry Executives Meet To Discuss United Appeal

Executives of all Belleville's major industries met last night in a private railway car near the CNR office to discuss their in-plant United Appeal campaigns.

Harry Fast, CNR Rideau Area Manager and United Appeal Industrial Division Chairman, said: "This get together actually can have many meanings and can serve many purposes. It is an attempt to get representatives from industry together to discuss their experiences in conducting campaigns of this kind.

"Many of us have changed and have been transferred to Belleville or away from Belleville, as the case may be, and the experiences are varied.

"By getting together in this way, we hope to contribute each to the other to see that information passed to the employees is comprehensive so that all employees will have a better understanding of the purpose of the United Appeal, what it stands for, what it's supposed to accomplish and so on.

"After having this information and a better understanding of what it's all about, then it is hoped the way in which we go about collecting funds for this worthwhile effort will be as efficient as possible."

He said that he believes every employee should have the chance to contribute to the United Appeal.

The executives all discussed their campaign experiences and thrashed out problems they have met with in the past. Most agreed that the payroll deduction system was the best method of collection as it is easier for employees to give small amounts with each pay rather than a larger amount all at once.

Some of the industrial campaigns have been completed, but most are expected to begin early next eek.

Canadian Nurse Grieves For Viet Nam Victims

QUI NHON (CP) — Sister Mary Raymond has been in South Viet Nam six years as a nurse at a small general hospital caring for the civilian victims of the diseases bred by war.

"I hate it," she said—speaking not of Viet Nam or its people, but the "unbelievable conditions" under which the refugees live.

The young Sherbrooke, Que., nurse is the only Canadian on a staff of 70 members of the Medical Mission Sisters of Philadelphia who operate a 45 - bed hospital at this South China Sea coast town, about 200 miles northeast of Saigon.

One of the sisters is a doctor, two are nurses and the others are aides. In their spotlessly white robes they are a striking contrast to the tragic victims of the war who are their patients.

"About 10,000 refugees live near the hospital with their animals," Sister Mary Raymond said. "They are crowded together in shacks, with no sanitation. It is terrible."

These conditions, common in most areas into which refugees have flowed to escape the guerilla war surging about their hamlets, have greatly increased the work of the all-too - few medical services in this country.

CHILDREN SUFFER MOST

The camps are only temporary for the government hopes in time to resettle the refugees in their original hamlets as they are cleared of Viet Cong or in new areas away from towns and cities already overcrowded by troops. But this is a vast and long-term program.

With no toilet or washing facilities, refugees' quarters are breeding places for diseases. Typhoid particularly is prevalent.

"And there is dysentery, and anemia that comes from malnutrition," Sister Mary Raymond said. "This is particularly so among the children who suffer most under these conditions. That is the tragedy."

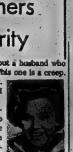
The little hospital is always full and outpatients come by the hundreds for treatment of their ailments. There are few battle casualties among them, for there are other hospitals for those, but the sisters have treated a number of civilians burned in fighting.

Patients pay what they can for treatment but there is little revenue from that source and none so far from the government.

"But the United States seizes help on a great deal," Sister Mary Raymond said. "Their assistance has been wonderful."

Daughter of Philippe Dion of Sherbrooke, Sister Mary Raymond joined the Medical mission Sisters in 1955 and served in India for eight months before coming here.

Ottawa Couple "Very Happy", Wed 70 Years



OTTAWA (CP)—A marriage of 70 years has made an Ottawa couple very happy. They agreed on their anniversary Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Desjardins celebrated the event surrounded by their eight children, 15 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Mr. Desjardins, 93, was formerly a farmer at Luskville, Que., about 30 miles west of Ottawa. The couple moved to Ottawa three years ago to live with their oldest daughter Helen, wife of the late Dr. J. J. McCann, federal revenue minister from 1945 to 1957.

Avidly interested in politics, Mr. Desjardins goes to the House of Commons "every day, if the weather is good." Mrs. Desjardins, 89, contents herself with following politics in the newspapers.

Ann Landers
Possessive Fathers Show Immaturity

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What can I do about a husband who tears down every boy his daughter goes with? This one is a creep. That one is a jerk and the next one is an idiot. His line had the girl in tears so many times I can't count them.

Maryanna is now in college and she carefully avoids reference to boys in her letters to us, but when we talk on the phone she tells me about several nice young men she has been dating. She says she has to lie to her father. He tells but she says, "No, I'd better not. Daddy would have them all ripped apart before he ever met them."

I'm afraid Maryanne one day will elope with a fellow we've never seen. Have you ever heard of a father behaving this way? —STUMPED.

DEAR STUMPED: Yes, but usually they manage to be more subtle. Some fathers compete with every male who comes within 60 feet of their daughters. They just hate to see another man taking over the Number One spot.

There's very little (like nothing) a third party can do about such daddy-creeps except hope they mature and let go. Please read the next letter, which by sheer coincidence arrived in the same mail:

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 20-year-old college sophomore who used to think your column a bundle of laughs. I never dreamed I'd ever be writing for serious advice, but here I am.

My mother is a wonderful person but she has a clever way of putting down every girl I take out. She doesn't come right out and say it, but what she says to me and her girl is good enough for me. If she can't find fault with the girl she finds something wrong with the family.

The girl I am going with now is a wonderful person. She is bright and attractive and she has such a great personality that even my mother can't find anything to criticize. So mother dug around and learned that the girl's father has been in a mental hospital. She keeps warning me against getting involved with someone who has "insanity" in the family?

How can I cope with this?—ADDLED.

DEAR ADDLED: Did you read my reply to the previous letter? Well, the game is the same. Only the players are different. Good luck—to both of you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the stinker "Fourth Floor Fillies" wrote to you about. And I plead guilty. I do indeed smoke cheap cigars and further intend to continue to smoke them. In the interest of justice I would like to explain why.

I do not actually smoke the cigars. I merely light them up in self-defence. Three women who sit within fifteen feet of me use sickeningly sweet perfume that makes me physically ill. One scent is like cinnamon which I have hated ever since my mother used to sprinkle it on boiled rice. Another scent is a gardenia mix which I despise because it reminds me of my ex-wife.

I am not writing for advice, Ann Landers, so please don't give me any. I have been reading your column long enough to know that you would suggest I buy these biddies some Chanel and believe me I am not in the mood.—POLECAT JOHN.

DEAR POLECAT: O.K. So don't buy 'em perfume, but could you at least buy yourself some better cigars?

Determine Sex of Babies By Test Prior to Birth

BOSTON (AP) — A team of physicians report they have correctly predicted the sex of babies prior to birth 39 consecutive times using a new test.

But the doctors warn that the test is not meant to "satisfy the curiosity" of expectant parents.

The new test, developed at the Albany (N.Y.) Medical College, is based on cells that are taken from the amniotic fluid surrounding the unborn child in the womb by needle.

A series of chemical tests is then made on the cells to find a tell-tale female chromosome.

Each female cell contains a pair of X-chromosomes. Males have an X-Y pair.

In the female cell, one of the chromosomes is found, by staining, lightly rolled at the side of the cell's nucleus.

When it is found, the prediction is "girl," without it, "boy."

The doctors reported their findings in the current New England Journal of Medicine. They conducted the tests in connection with studies of women with an RH factor problem, an incompatibility between the mother's and child's blood.

MR. AND MRS. ANGUS T. JOHNSTON

Johnston — Wood

Henrietta Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wood of Millbrook and Angus Totton Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston of Stirling, were united in marriage by Rev. W. W. Harpur in St. Thomas Anglican Church, Millbrook on September 24, 1966, at 2:00 p.m. Mr. Ashton Carter of Millbrook was organist and Mr. Robert H. Aspinall of Peterborough was soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of antique white whipcord in A-line style with a sleeveless Empire bodice accented with a tailored fringed bow. The matching overskirt was completed with a princess-style chapel coat with long sleeves and rolled stand-up collar. Her headdress was a crown of matching fabric holding a pouffe veil of white illusion, and she carried a cathedral cascade of white cluster carnations, golden acapture roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Bev Gray of Port Hope was matron of honor. She was dressed in a floor - length gown of apple green whipcord, styled similarly to the bride's gown. Her beadpiece was a green velvet bow with an apple green petal veil. The bridesmaids were Miss Judith Wood of Millbrook, niece of the bride, and Miss Barbara Sine of Eldorado, niece of the bridegroom. Their gowns were styled similarly to that of the matron of honor but were in Sierra gold linen-weave, with green velvet accents. Their headpieces were matching gold bows and veils. All attendants carried cascade bouquets of gold and bronze poms and trailing ivy.

Mr. Burton Sharpe of Stirling, cousin of the bridegroom, was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Melville Wood, brother of the bride, and Mr. James Bailey, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Glenn Wood, nephew of the bride, was ring - bearer.

The reception was held at Rockhaven in Peterborough. For travelling the bride chose a plum colored double knit tunic dress with matching accessories and a corsage of Golden Children sweetheart roses.

On their return, the couple will live at 36 Scott Street, Frankford.

Many Attend Dance Group 'Open Nights'

The popularity of the ever growing recreation of square dancing was in evidence at the two open nights held earlier this week.

The married couples danced at Trues County Gardens on Monday night and Young Single Adults at Prince Charles School on Tuesday night. Jim Ketcheson was the M.C. at both dances, while Mrs. Ketcheson was in charge of registration.

These classes are sponsored by the Belleville Recreation Commission and are held in public school auditoriums from October to April inclusive.

Registrations for the married couples class will be accepted on the first and third Monday nights of October at Queen Elizabeth School from 7.30 p.m. Young Single Adults can register at Prince Charles School on the first three Tuesdays in October from 7.30 p.m.

Registrations are limited by the capacity of the school auditoriums. It is hoped that no one will be disappointed by necessitating to register early. The slogan for all is "Square Dancing is Fun."

Honor Parents On 45th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lott, David and Brenda entertained at their home, 24 Bleecker Street, on Sunday on the occasion of the 45th wedding anniversary of Mr. Lott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lott.

The home was decorated with colorful floral arrangements of bronze and gold 'mums, snapdragons and dahlias. David presented his grandmother with a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses, while Brenda presented her grandfather with a white 'mum boutonniere.

A highlight of the event was the presentation of Mrs. Edith Munn of Stirling who is 90 years of age. Mrs. Munn is an aunt of Mr. Ross Lott and many pictures were taken with the four generations present.

A number of lovely gifts and cards were received by the honored couple.

The buffet supper was served by Mrs. Edwin Lott assisted by Mrs. Lena Wright, Mrs. Freda LaRue, Mrs. Reta Winstanley. The dining table covered with lace cloth was centred with a beautifully decorated double-ring anniversary cake flanked with tall tapers.

Roddy's Oatmeal Cookies

QUESTION:

At a social gathering a little while ago we were served a delicious dessert, which we enjoyed. The first layer was a crust, baked in a square pan and seemed to be made of cookie crumbs, butter, sugar and finely chopped nuts. The second layer was made of strawberries or raspberries, pureed and thickened, possibly gelatin, or beaten egg white. It appeared to be cooked. Topping — whipped cream, white miniature marshmallows, in it. Sprinkled with crumbs (probably a portion of the crumb mixture saved before baking the remainder). On finish chopped nuts and finely crumbled corn flakes. Could it be that the first two layers were put in the pan and baked?

— Miss M. P.

ANSWER:

I cannot locate this recipe so I go to our last court of appeal — our readers. M ary of you recognize the recipe Miss M. P. describes and for which she wants details would you please write it out and mail it to me in care of this newspaper?

QUESTION:

I am hoping I can have a copy of Roddy's Oatmeal Cookies. It was in the paper a couple of years ago. I loaned it but I did not come back and I cannot remember the quantities. They were good.

— Mrs. W. R. L.

ANSWER:

It is high time this recipe appeared here again for it has been popular for 4 years.

RODDY'S FAVORITE COOKIES (repeated from June, 1962). (½ lbs. 2¾" cookies or 2¾ doz. when made into cookie sandwiches).

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour,
¼ teaspoon salt,
3 tsps quick-cooking rolled oats,
1 cup shortening (half butter,
1 teaspoon soda,
½ cup buttermilk,
1¼ cups dark brown sugar.

In a large bowl measure flour, salt and rolled oats. Work shortening into them with your finger tips (or use pastry blender). Stir the soda into the milk and add this mixture and the sugar and mix well. Pack into 3 firm balls between your palms, flatten somewhat, and wrap well and chill until firm. Roll out ¼ of dough at a time (that is, half of a chilled ball) on lightly floured board to ¼" thickness. Cut with 2½" plain or fluted cookie cutter. Bake on buttered cookie sheet at 375 deg. Fahr. 8 to 10 minutes. Do not overbake.

Variation: For dainty tea party cookies roll to 1/16" thickness, cut out with 1¾" cutter and bake as directed. Cookie sheet at 375 deg. Fahr. for 5 or 6 minutes. Cool. Put together in pairs with one of the following fillings:

1) Date (or Fig) Filling: (Note: This filling is the regular date filling to be put between oatmeal cookies, but has the addition of chopped nuts. They may be omitted). Use for "regular 2¾" cookie oatmeal-cookies or for thinly rolled oatmeal cookie sandwiches.) One-and-one-half cups chopped dates or figs, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ cup finely chopped walnuts or almonds (optional). Mix all ingredients together, stir over medium heat until boiling, then reduce heat and stir 3 minutes. Cool before spreading between cookies. This amount fills 3½ to 4 dozen.

Fiancee's Confession Haunts Upset Suitor

DEAR DORIS — A year ago I began going out with a student nurse and as the months rolled by we fell very much in love. After I was going with her for about six months she told me that she had a baby when she was 17.

DORIS CLARK

She told me that she didn't love the father of her child and never told him about the child. I would surely marry her if this hadn't happened, but I just can't understand how she could have sex relations with a person whom she didn't love, and worst of all wasn't married to.

She has been very loyal to me. I feel I can't leave her because I love her so much, but I feel that I cannot keep going with her either. I would truly appreciate your professional opinion. I just can't keep this to myself any longer. — HEARTACHE.

DEAR HEARTACHE — So your dear idol toppled off her pedestal! And you were shocked and hurt and bewildered. Getting used to the idea that even our ideal people have human failings is not easy.

She has shown her love and loyalty in wanting to confess to you. This must not stand between you. One quality of love is forgiveness; another, acceptance. You will need some of both, or it's no good.

Many young people have found to their sorrow that one can be drawn hopelessly into love without loving. Add a little liquor or excitement to the picture — along with extreme youth — and you may have tragedy.

Take your time. Don't make up your mind. I'm sending you my list of recommended books on sex and dating and would suggest you learn a little more about this whole subject.

* * *

DEAR DORIS — I am one of your fans. Even my two grown up and post-teen-age sons enjoy your column, so you can be assured that your advice is often discussed in our living room and we agree with you.

My problem is weight: 47 years of age, am five-foot six and weight 175. Have tried all these fad diets without much success. Was under doctor's care for nerves and hypertension so he says not to worry about weight but to try and get it down.

Am enclosing 20 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope for your Low Calorie Menus and Simple Reducing Diet, and hope that will help.

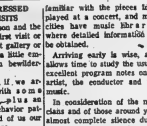
At the office I do not get hungry but am famished when arriving home. If you have any suggestions to cut my hunger pangs, please send them along too. — POUND FOOLISH.

DEAR POUND FOOLISH — It's the Twentieth Century Lament. I'd suggest:

1. Take the edge off your appetite with a glass of tomato juice in mid-afternoon.

2. Be sure both breakfast and lunch include their share of protein food; it gives you staying power.

3. Don't let yourself get in a martyr to the cause; if you want a sweet, merely reduce the calories in a previous or subsequent meal to allow for it.



4. Satisfy yourself with losing two pounds a week. You can do this with the dieting helps I am sending you. Keep a written record to encourage yourself.

5. There is a TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) Club near you. I'll put you in touch if you fail off that diet-wagon and want this moral support.

Susanna's Family Fair

PREPARATION STRESSED FOR CULTURAL VISITS

For the young person and the adult beginner, the first visit or two to a museum, art gallery or concert hall can be a little embarrassing and even bewildering.

On the other hand, if we arrive there armed with a few pertinent knowledge-plus an awareness of the behavior pattern that is expected of us our visit will be a pleasure.

The three magic keys are preparedness, good manners and consideration of others.

AT THE ART GALLERY

The director of a gallery I know spoke stressed the value of becoming acquainted beforehand, as much as possible, with what is being shown. A little prior knowledge of the art work and the artist will help the viewer to feel more relaxed and at home, and far greater benefits will be reaped from the visit.

She praised the conduct of most children, but did feel attentions should was important. Even at grade five level she suggested 20 minutes or so of concentrated viewing is enough. Beyond that, young people often become bored and might build up a dislike for galleries, thus defeating the purpose of trying to teach them a love of art.

Paintings must never be touched. They are fragile, easily damaged and even almost hundreds of years old. This is why umbrellas are never allowed beyond the check room — it is too much of a temptation to use them as pointers. On occasion, however, some galleries will allow certain sculpture to be handled — to convey the feel of the art piece.

It is only good manners to keep voices low so as not to disturb those around you. While attempting to focus on a picture, try not to unthinkingly back up — someone else's toes often get the worse of this manoeuver. Also in the vein of consideration for others it is wrong to walk between people and the painting they are studying. They are communicating with it, and their train of thought will be broken.

IN THE MUSEUM

Museum personnel expressed the importance of preparation, and advised that bibliographies are often available, and many museums are glad to send them out beforehand. They felt that groups should be kept small. Large groups were overwhelming with military marches where any feeling of intimacy with the fascinating displays, or concentration, is impossible. Be enthusiastic but keep a check on exuberance.

When little folding stools are carried in setting, while listening and viewing, they should be carried in the hand hanging down at the side. If carried under the arm, the feet of the stool protrude and endanger the glass enclosures as well as other people.

ATTENDING A SYMPHONY

Listening to recordings beforehand is an ideal way to become familiar with the pieces to be played at a concert, and many cities have music libraries where detailed information can be obtained.

Arriving early is wise, as it allows time to study the usually excellent program notes on the artist, the conductor and the music.

In consideration of the musicians and of those around you, almost complete silence during the concert is expected. Try for a minimum of shifting and shuffling and no eating.

Regardless of a person's age when he attends his first symphony, his enjoyment will be increased if he is relaxed and confident and doesn't find himself shushed by someone, or clapping at the wrong time. In this regard it was pointed out there is usually more than one movement to the number the orchestra is playing, and there will be short pauses between these movements. There should be no clapping during these pauses — not until the conductor lowers his baton and turns around. If you are ever in doubt, do wait until those who are familiar with the score start the applause. Then, if you enjoyed what you heard, don't be afraid to clap loud, long, and lustily. — Susanna.

The Canadian Centennial Library

A Lasting Reminder of Canada's Centennial to be read and enjoyed again and again!

1967 Now no longer a date in the future, marks the anniversary of the first hundred years of Canadian Confederation — a century of adventure and challenge. It is an opportunity for each one of us to look back with pride and at the same time to look ahead to our own and our nation's future.

What better way to commemorate this great occasion than to invite Canada's foremost authors, artists and photographers to examine our Distinctively Canadian Way of Life, both past and present. This was the idea that sparked creation of The Canadian Centennial Library — a series of exciting new books, under the editorial direction of Pierre Berton.

These superb volumes, highlighting the most dramatic moments of our first hundred years are mailed to subscribers at six week intervals. Covering our history and achievements, thoughts and actions, they will make a permanent and handsome addition to your home library — a lasting reminder of our Centennial to be read and enjoyed again and again.

Opposition Voiced to Defoliation Program

DONG HA, South Viet Nam (AP)—Senior U.S. military officers want to defoliate the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam but they are encountering obstacles.

The officers want to use chemicals to kill the leaves of trees and other plants along the zone, depriving North Vietnamese infiltrators of natural cover.

The advocates apparently have not cleared the hurdle of defense department permission.

The U.S. now claims 6,000 men a month are moving into South Viet Nam from the north. Many use the direct route across the demilitarized zone. Others take a longer, more difficult journey through Laos and Cambodia.

Reconnaissance teams working from observation posts on the ground try to keep a watch on the demilitarized zone's traffic, but lack of mobility and need for concealment hamper them.

The argument is that if all the leaves were killed, small planes could take over the job in the daytime. If equipped with infrared spotter scopes, they could even do it at night.

The 1954 Geneva convention which divided Viet Nam into two countries made the demilitarized zone a no-man's-land where no military activity is to take place.

Last July 31 the United States began using B-52 bombers to strike the zone, explaining this was necessary to stop Communist infiltration to the South. The clandestine movements did not stop, and bombings continue.

The man running the war are hesitant to approve defoliation of the zone because of bilarmistocal criticism such a move is likely to evoke.

An alternate plan, known to be popular with top U.S. officers in Viet Nam, is to defoliate a wide strip of countryside just south of the zone's southern boundary.

Mounties Seize Drugs Worth Five Million

MONTREAL (CP) — RCMP and Montreal police Thursday night reported the seizure of drugs valued at between $9,000,000 and $5,000,000 on the black market.

The series of raids in north-end Montreal were said to have capped two years of undercover work. The haul was described as one of the largest in the city's history.

About 60 members of the RCMP and 20 Montreal detectives took part in the raids.

Police said a number of arrests were made and more are expected today and Saturday.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1966

SHADES OF DACHAU — Nurse checks pulse of a 23-year-old emaciated Vietnamese after he and nine others had been liberated from a Communist prison camp in the mountain jungles of Phu Yen province about 200 miles northeast of Saigon. An American officer of the 1st Battalion, 101st Airborne Division, which rescued the prisoners last Saturday, said the camp "looked like Dachau (inmates Nazi camp of World War II) all over again." An escaped South Vietnamese soldier led Americans to the camp, but before it was captured the Viet Cong rushed an estimated 40 to 60 prisoners away. This man was reported to be a former Viet Cong who defected and was captured. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Saigon).

Bishop Called Heretic

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Auxiliary Bishop James A. Pike of California has been charged with heresy by the Rt. Rev. Henry I. Louttit, bishop of South Florida.

Bishop Pike, once cleared of a similar accusation, was asked by Bishop Louttit to renounce the Episcopal ministry or stand trial before a church court. He charged the churchman with violating ordination vows and committing heretical acts.

Bishop Louttit said he had received backing from bishops in Albany, N.Y.; Long Island, N.Y.; Tennessee; Montana; Georgia; Dallas, Tex.; upper South Carolina; Kentucky, and northern California.

Bishop Pike was unavailable for comment.

Charges of heresy were filed against him by 14 Arizona priests but were dismissed by the church in 1965. The new accusations were the first brought against Bishop Pike by a fellow bishop.

RESIGNS AS BISHOP

Bishop Pike resigned as bishop of California last May to take a post at the Centre for Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calif. He retains the title of auxiliary bishop.

The accusations were made known in letters to Bishop Pike and the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines of New York City, the presiding bishop of the 3,500,000 Episcopalians (Anglicans) in the United States.

Bishop Louttit said he and the other bishops agreed Bishop Pike should surrender his bishopric for the "good of the church."

"For the past several years," he said, "(Bishop Pike) held and taught publicly and advisedly doctrine contrary to that held by this church set forth in the creeds, the catechism and offices of Confirmation and the Book of Common Prayer. This teaching has confused, not to say bewildered, many of the faithful laity of the church."

Canada UN Plan Endorsed

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The one opinion common to almost every policy speech in the current General Assembly session is that U Thant should remain in office as secretary-general.

But Canada's external affairs minister, Paul Martin, - who knows the Burmese diplomat well, has warned that any attempt to draft him for a second five-year term would be the wrong way to approach this man." He has made this point during two trips here in the first two weeks of the assembly session.

It seems that Martin's advice is being followed, and is likely to produce the result Canada wants — unqualified acceptance by Thant of a second five-year term.

An expected Asian movement to draft Thant has failed to materialize. While delegate after delegate rises in the blue and gold assembly chamber to praise Thant, there is no evidence of any plan to confront him with a united appeal or request to remain in office.

The pressure on Thant is taking quite a different form. It is the absence of any serious effort to find a successor.

Late Thursday, the Security Council issued a statement to the effect that its 15 members, which include the big powers, have confidence in Thant and "it would fully meet (their) desires" if he accepted another term.

Shortly afterward, Thant said through a spokesman he appreciated this expression of support and "will, of course, give this matter serious consideration.

There can be little doubt that if Thant sticks to his decision to retire Dec. 31, the world organization will be plunged into a struggle over the succession and many fear it would find the Soviet Union and the United States on opposite sides. Quite possibly, the Soviet proposal for a three - headed leadership, raised at the time of Dag Hammarskjold's death in 1961, would be revived again. It would still be as unacceptable to the United States, Canada, Britain, the majority of African countries and others as it was then.

Thant's first term ends Nov. 3 but he has said he will stay on until the end of UN's 119 member countries haven't found a successor. Unless a totally unexpected candidate emerges from the vast corridors and comfortable delegation lounges, he is likely to be told, in effect, that he is leaving the world organization in a mess which he made by his decision to retire.

He has been a distinct leave - if - you - like - but - we - cannot - win - without-you figure, had something to do with his decision. In particular, he cited lack of progress towards ending the Viet Nam war and towards resolving the dispute over how to authorize and finance UN peace forces.

More Funds for Weapons, Equipment Seen Unlikely Due to Recent Pay Increases

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer's attempts to bring down housekeeping costs of the armed forces keep getting frustrated..

In the last fiscal year, Mr. Hellyer had cut these costs by a fairly crabby amount until a sudden need arose to pay re-engagement bonuses to encourage trained men to stay in the services. This cost $27,500,000 in the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1966.

Undismayed, Mr. Hellyer had planned to reduce housekeeping personnel, operations and maintenance costs by some $33,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

Along came Thursday's pay increases for the armed forces—13.8 per cent over two years—and most of this saving went out the window.

For the 1967-68 fiscal year starting next April 1, Mr. Hellyer will have to find $85,300,000 more than if pay and allowances had not been changed.

The corollary of all this is that Mr. Hellyer's compassion objective—more funds for weapons and equipment—is getting dimmer.

With the pay increase, 20 per cent of this year's $1,572,000,000 defence budget goes on housekeeping. That leaves well under 80 per cent for weapons, because there are other items such as NATO mutual aid and research and development.

Mr. Hellyer said Thursday there will be no increase in the 1967-68 defence budget beyond what is already planned.

He didn't elaborate, but this was taken to mean the government won't allow an increase apart from the two per cent permitted annually to cover the defence department's highest cost of living.

Only 23 per cent of last year's defence budget went for new weapons and equipment. The intended proportion this year is 17 per cent. Mr. Hellyer said there will be no postponement or reduction in current weapons programs.

Mr. Hellyer's stated objective is 20 or 25 per cent of the defence budget on new weapons.

This objective is clearly out of reach, informants say, unless there is a fairly large increase in over-all defence spending or a reduction in manpower and defence commitments or both.

Finance Minister Sharp has already said the defence budget will be held down, without specifying whether this means a cut, no change or a small increase.

Cuba's Sugar Shipping Centres Bombed by Plane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A plane, apparently from the United States, dropped bombs on one of Cuba's important sugar shipping centres but Havana radio said there was no damage.

Militant anti-Castro groups in Miami with a record of previous raids on Cuba claimed they did it. A spokesman said substantial damage was done.

Havana radio said residents of Nuevitas, on the north coast of the central Cuba, reported the bombs fell early Thursday, held a meeting to condemn the piracy act committed by imperialism."

A Cuban armed forces ministry communique said one of three bombs exploded. The ministry said the bomb landed more than 1,500 feet from its apparent target—an electric power plant under construction.

The other two, the communique said, were recovered at nearby Port Tarafa. They were reported found in two houses, presumably sugar storage buildings.

In Miami, spokesman for two allied organizations—the Insurrectional Movement for Revolutionary Recovery (MIRR) and Comandos L—said it was their commandos who dropped the bombs.

MIRR, alone and together with Comandos L, has made repeated raids on Cuba sugar installations.

In a 1964 raid on a sugar mill in Las Villas province, a plane was shot down. The pilot was killed and his two companions were later executed.

Communal Rioting Spreading

LAGOS (Reuters) — Serious communal rioting has spread over large areas of northern Nigeria bringing heavy loss of life, reliable reports reaching Lagos last night said.

First reports said at least 30 persons were dead and many hundreds injured in clashes between northerners hunted down members of the IBO (eastern) tribes.

At least 30 persons were killed in Kaduna, the northern capital, and many more in Zaria and the Ibo quarters, looting and killing

An eyewitness report from Kaduna said gangs, including women and children, armed with clubs, knives and bottles, scoured the town calling and shouting slogans.

BURN IBOS' HOMES

They burned and looted hotels and stores, overturned cars and destroyed property thought to belong to Ibos.

Renewed strife between the northern Hausas of the north and the Ibos of southeastern Nigeria —the great rival tribes of Africa's most populous country—followed a recent government coup organized by the Hausas in the army.

Broken windows and interior damage at Milford United Church resulted from last night's severe electrical storm which hit the lower portion of Prince Edward County.

Milford United Church Sustains Extensive Damage by Lightning

PICTON (Staff) — It's been a week of action in Picton what with fires and last night's bad storm followed by high winds today.

Trees and large limbs are reported to have fallen in many places throughout the county with a considerable amount of damage done in the town of Picton. Large limbs have fallen on rooftops and over cars, however there have been no injuries reported as a result of fallen branches.

At about 10.10 last night during a violent electrical storm which passed over the southern part of the county caused much damage to Milford United Church, which was struck by lightning.

According to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Moore, who live opposite the church in the village the lightning seemed to strike two or three places at the same time. Flues were blown right out of their sockets in their own fuse box and the television and an electric clock were damaged. When Mr. Moore went outside to see what happened he discovered his front yard and the road in front of the house were covered with bricks, some which had landed on the family car causing minor body damage. The Moore residence is a good 100 yards from the church.

The church itself received most of the damage to the steeple and the west side of the structure where stained glass windows were blown out, some board sliding and trim were torn off by the force of the bolt. Damage to the ceiling in one part of the church was quite extensive with lathe and plaster being ripped off and debris littered the one aisle and some of the pews.

The church erected in 1885 at the present time, has no minister the Rev. Dr. W. Tyson having left recently. The church is a county landmark, situated on the top of a hill on the East side of the village — the church hall and barns are losing labor soon after the Milford Fair one of the two county fairs.

Workmen are already cleaning up the debris left by the storm and Hydro both local and rural are busy today repairing fallen lines. Power services were off in Picton for some time this morning.

Says Union, Business Heads Not in Touch With Workers

MONTREAL (CP) — Henri Joly, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said Thursday if union and business leaders had kept in touch with employees the current wave of labor unrest and lawlessness might not have developed.

He told a meeting of the association that if many people believe pay raises of 20 and 30 per cent can be granted without passing the charges along to the consumer, "then we must pass at least some of the blame at our own doors.

"In a sentence, it can only mean that we have to educate our own people to the fundamental facts of economic life."

Mr. Joly attacked one "leading labor spokesman" as valid long as "invalid and meaningless" comparison between profit increases and wage increases.

The figures compared total profits and average weekly wages. Mr. Joly said a valid comparison would be between corporation profits and labor income, both before taxes.

Area PCs Resent Public Feuding Among Party Leaders

The whirlpool of controversy eddying around the national Conservative leadership has caused local ripples on Quinte district political waters.

A canvass of comment from area politicians reveals some stout defence of party leader John Diefenbaker and distaste for present public feuding among the party hierarchy.

Two MPs were as blunt in criticism of national party president Dalton Camp as they were bold in defence of Mr. Diefenbaker.

It was Mr. Camp's call last week of reappraisal of party leadership that touched off the present controversy.

A. Douglas Alkenbrack, MP Prince-Edward-Lennox, called Mr. Camp's move "a low blow."

"It's more than a coincidence that Mr. Camp should make these statements a scant two days before the release of the Munsinger report," he said.

He believes, along with Rodney Webb, MP Hastings-Frontenac that the party "already has a good leader" in John Diefenbaker.

"There is a proper time to talk about leadership conventions", said Mr. Webb, "but the time is not when the party still has a good leader".

Mr. Webb feels Dalton Camp spoke out of turn in calling for review of national leadership.

In Belleville, Lee Grills, MP Hastings South, also disapproved of the controversy.

"I don't approve discussing our party's affairs in public as much as they have", he said.

"As far as I'm concerned I'm loyal to the leader of our party as long as he's the leader.

"But", added Mr. Grills, "I see no reason why a political party should not do the same as a sound business organization — that is to analyze the situation and take a look at it".

"I've a great deal of admiration for Mr. Camp, but I still think we should analyze — and I think we should consider-the public at large as well as ourselves.

Comment from Norris Whitney and Elmer Sandercock, local Conservative members of the Ontario legislature, also revealed dislike for the controversy.

"I think that some of the Conservative people at the federal level should use considerable more restraint," said Mr. Whitney, MPP Prince Edward - Lennox.

"As far as I'm concerned I've an open mind on the matter. But before changing from Mr. Diefebaker I would want to be assured they have a leader in sight who could achieve the same support."

Mr. Whitney said the announced support yesterday for Dalton Camp by Ontario Economics and Development Minister Stanley Randall, was "a personal decision."

"It's not something that represents Ontario government policy," he added.

"The possibility is that since Mr. Camp is a Toronto man he might be expected to get support in the Toronto district."

"I don't know whether you can beat the old chief," said Mr. Sandercock, MPP" Hastings West. "I know a party must have strong leadership."

Mr. Alkenbrack also criticized the Specre- report on the Munsinger case which he said "dumps a pall of stop on Mr. Diefenbaker's head."

"The Judge (Mr. Justice Spence) says Mr. Diefenbaker should have discharged Mr. Sevigny," noted Mr. Alkenbrack.

"Mr. Diefenbaker tolerated Mr. Sevigny for the same reason Mr. Pearson tolerated former Justice Minister Favreau after the Rivard case: he would have had a French revolution on his hands and so would have had Mr. Pearson."

He isn't "roster nother" pitcher — he's Baxter, that's all.

Down around St. Louey, Louey, they call him "The Creeper" because he's as quiet a mouse galloping over the broadloom would sound like a stampede.

He won born Larry Jaster and has made the Dodgers lay so many eggs, St. Louis businessmen are thinking of naming a chicken production feed after him.

In fact he has draped five huge horse collars on the necks of the galloping ex-Bums.

He has muffled, baffled, stifled and choked the Dodger hindgoons each time out, in 66 innings of effort, the L.A. ball weapons still are silent. They have yet to score a run off him.

The name "Los Angeles" seems to inspire the 23-year-old rookie to sensational feats on the mound. It appears a Dodger uniform has the red-rag-to-a-bull effect on the youngster. To him the LA cloating corps is just a parade to and from the plate. He has tossed two three-hitters one seven-hitter, and two five-hitters.

The strange thing is Marsa Larry has not pitched a shutout against any other team in the National League. In fact once he had a 5-0 earned-run average against the rest of the loop.

Jaster has tied the record of five shutouts against one club — but he won't get the chance to break it, unless he can find a right in a relief role. The Cards played their last game against the Dodgers yesterday with Al Jackson in the starting role.

The only other hurlers to perform the feat since the turn of the century are Tom Hughes of the Senators against Cleveland in 1906 and Grover Cleveland Alexander of the Phillies against Cincinnati in 1916.

Even the remarkable Sandy Koufax hasn't pitched four shutouts against one club in one season although Juan Marichal did blank the Mets four times last season and Milt Pappas held the Angels scoreless in four times in 1964.

BASEBALL NOTES AND QUOTES

Stan Musial of the Cardinals has the most career extra-base hits with, 877 including 725 doubles, 177 triples and 475 homers.

The lowest winning percentage for a pennant winning club is .564 (88-68) by the Dodgers in 1950.

Sheldon Lajeune an Evansville outfielder threw a baseball 426 feet 8½ inches at Centralia on Sept. 13, 1918. The record stood for 44 years. The current mark is 445 feet 10 inches by outfielder Glen Gorbous of the Omaha clubin the American Association.

Speaking of time-assassed veterans, Early Wynn, Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon played in all four decades, 1930's, 1940's, 1950's and '60's.

To J. B. M.: — Sandy Koufax never pitched in the minors.

W. M. N.: — A runner can leave the base immediately after a fly ball has been touched by a fielder. This is to prevent the fielder from juggling the ball at his mitt in toward the infield in order to hold the runner on base.

And here's the answer to a number of queries, asking, how many times has the league leader on July 4th gone on to win the pennant?

Since,1901 the July 4 leaders have won 44 of the 65 American League pennants, a .565 percentage and 37 of the National League races .569. The front runners on July 4th this year were the Baltimore Orioles and the San Francisco Giants.

When Jim Lefebvre of the Dodgers hit his 20th homer of the season, he became the fourth switch-hitter in history to turn the trick in one year. The others are Mickey Mantle who made a habit of it; Roy Cullenbine and Rip Collins who did it three times.

ONE'S A CROWD

Speaking of the upcoming world series a friend of mine telephoned the manager of a large Baltimore hotel asking for accommodations.

"I think that can be arranged, sir" said the hotelman.

"Where will they be?" asked the friend.

"Washington" came the reply.

ADJOURN COKE CASE

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The lottery trial of Cock-Cola Ltd. of Toronto was adjourned to Oct. 27 in magistrate's court Thursday. The company was one of four charged with operating a lottery through bottle cap contests. Two of the four were found guilty of the charge Wednesday.

BAUER GETS RAISE

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hank Bauer, who directed Baltimore Orioles to their first American League pennant this year, has been given a new two-year contract, Salary terms were not disclosed, but estimates placed Bauer's new contract at about $50,000 a year, an increase of $10,000 to $12,000.

Denies Player Filch

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Kane, a Toronto lawyer who manages North York Varsity Grads of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series, today denied he is taking players from other clubs.

He was replying to a charge made Thursday by Gus Mortson, manager of Oakville Oaks, that the Grads have more financial backing and are offering more money to players than most clubs in the series. The Grads are a new entry.

Mortson, a former defence-man with Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, said Kane tried to entice players from the Oaks rather than build a club.

Kane said he has signed three former Oakville players, Grant Moore, Moe Galand and Carl Hymers "and they're all living in Toronto.

"They were released hockey players before I talked to them. The only players we're interested in live in Metropolitan Toronto.

"If Mortson wants to say I'm not trying to build a club, he's wrong. I have 20 players who never played hockey in the senior OHA before."

Sandy Koufax, the Dodgers' arthritic southpaw ace, tamed St. Louis 2-1 Thursday night and set another strikeout record as Los Angeles inched one closer to its second straight National League pennant.

The Dodgers lead second-place Pittsburgh Pirates by two games, with three to play, and can nail the flag tonight if they beat the Phillies in Philadelphia while the Pirates stumble against the Giants in San Francisco.

Koufax checked the Cardinals on four hits and struck out 13 to become the first pitcher ever to hit the 300-strikeout mark in three different seasons.

The 26 - game winner then dipped his pitching arm in ice —his regular post-game routine —and said he'll be available to pitch with two days rest against the Phillies Sunday if the pennant hasn't been wrapped up by then.

Koufax struck out the first two men he faced in the ninth before Curt Flood, who had put the Cards on the scoreboard with a seventh-inning homer, lashed a double to centre. Manager Walter Alston then told Sandy to walk Orlando Cepeda intentionally, putting the potential winning run on.

The strategy paid off when Mike Shannon flied to centre for the game-ending out.

In Thursday's only other action, Houston Astros nipped Cincinnati Reds 3-2 on homers by rookie Chuck Harrison and Aaron Pointer. The Kansas City-Baltimore and New York-Washington doubleheaders in the American League were cancelled because of rain.

Koufax finished the game with a season total of 307 strikeouts.

Washington Senators' Waller Johnson and Rube Waddell of Philadelphia Athletics were the only other pitchers who had struck out 300 or more in two seasons.

The Dodgers broke through against loser Al Jackson in the second inning, taking a 1-0 edge on singles by Tommy Davis, Jim Lefebvre and Wes Parker. They added what proved to be the winning run in the fifth on singles by John Roseboro, Maury Wills and Willie Davis.

Flood closed the gap with his 10th homer leading off the seventh, but the only other hits off Koufax, 26-9, were singles by Cepeda in the second and Tim McCarver in the fifth.

Harrison's two-run homer in the sixth and Pointer's first major league blast in the seventh made Houston reliever Don Wilson a winner in his big league debut. Wilson yielded five hits and fanned seven Reds during his six-inning stint.

Board Backs Skrien

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coach Dave Skrien, leader because B.C. Lions have won only two of 16 games this season in the Canadian football League, has received a vote of confidence from the club's board of directors and players.

There were reports that Skrien would be let go. Skrien, coach since 1962, has another year to go under contract.

Alan M. Eyre, club president, said in a statement Thursday the directors are neither happy nor satisfied with the team's performance but feel the club has the coaches and the players that will get the job done.

He said a delegation of players also appeared before the board to express confidence in Skrien.

Orr Scores

Bruins Jolt Wings; Hawks Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks took an easy 4-0 victory in one pre-season National Hockey League exhibition game Thursday night, but Detroit Red Wings were rudely jolted by Boston Bruins, who dumped them 4-2.

The Wings, playing without star right winger Gordie Howe who injured his knee in a workout last weekend, couldn't hold on to an early one-goal margin.

Rookie defenceman Bobby Orr, centres Murray Oliver and Pit Martin and winger Wayne Connelly scored to give the Bruins their second win in three games.

While the Bruins were fifth to the Wings' fourth in NHL standings at the end of last season's regular play there was a 24-point spread between the two teams.

And while Boston watched the Stanley Cup final, Detroit humiliated second - place Chicago in the semi-final and went on to take a two-game lead over Montreal Canadiens in the best-of-seven final before losing 4-2.

CAPTAIN GIVES LEAD

Detroit captain Alex Delvecchio gave the Wings an early 1-0 lead with Dean Prentice closing the gap to 3-2 before Connelly put it out of reach for Boston with 20 seconds of play remaining.

In Chicago's victory over Portland Buckaroos of the Western League in Portland, Ore., goals by Pat Stanfield, Stan Mikita and Wally Boyer scored in the first two periods before rookie goalie Gary Smith shut Chicago out in the third.

Tonight the Bruins will take on New York Rangers at London, Ont., while Toronto Maple Leafs meet Rochester Americans of the American League in Rochester.

The Bruins and the Rangers will meet again Saturday at Kingston, while the Canadiens make their first public appearance of the year against Detroit in Montreal.

ADDS TWO MEN

Montreal coach Toe Blake has 28 players in camp, but says only two additions will be made for Saturday's game from the team that won the playoff title last year.

They will be winger Leon Rochefort and defenceman Noel Price.

The Bruins and the Rangers meanwhile started pairing their rosters, the Rangers cutting eight players and the Bruins three, with centre Bob Dillabough off to Boston for assistment of an injured knee.

To take up the slack, Boston announced signing of forwards Tom Williams and Dick Cherry.

Williams, a native of Dolrith, Man., and a five-year Bruin veteran, is the only U.S.-born player in the NHL.

Hugh Royer Putts 68 To Lead Open

Seven Shoot Par

By DOUG MARTIN

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., Thursday used a putter that could fall apart on him any time to carve out a three-under-par 68 and the first - round lead in the Canadian open golf championship.

Using a "sort of corroded putter" with great reluctance, he needed only 25 putts to take the lead and surprise most expected Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club's long—6,907 yards —fairways to give the advantage to the big hitters such as Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper.

But Royer, who had not led a previous tournament this year and whose best previous finish was a tie for 13th in the Cleveland Open, didn't think he could have trimmed his score much more.

"I rimmed one eight foot shot on the 16th that would have given me a birdie, but other than that I don't think I could have cut my score down any," he said.

Only seven of the golfers in an international, 143-man field, which included the cream of the touring pros, could manage to finish below par 71. Nicklaus, Casper, Gene Littler and Doug Sanders were among those who missed.

Tom Weiskopf, 22, of Bedford, Ohio, looked like a strong threat in the four - day 72-hole tournament after his first nine holes Thursday but announced at the end of the day he was returning home because "my health is worth more to me than the $20,000 first prize."

He said a stomach infection and bad nerves have caused him to lose 30 pounds in three weeks on the "gold trial."

Alone in second spot was Rex Baxter Jr., of Houston, Tex., with a 69. The other five golfers to break par were Dick Crawford of Eldorado, Ark., Randy Glover of Florence, S.C., Tommy Aaron of Gainsville, Ga., and Don Messengale of Jacksboro, Tex., all tied with 70s.

George Knudson of Toronto, the low Canadian, was bunched with seven other players with a par 71. Knudson was the third low par winner in the six-person tournament Wednesday and his team won the best-ball competition.

Weiskopf also had a 72 on a four-under 32 on the first nine and a four-over 36 on the back nine. He lost three strokes on the last two holes.

Shaughnessy—and two days of rain 4- took a toll of the big names when Tom Venturi of San Francisco, 1964 U.S. Open winner, going 10 over par to an 81.

Casper, from Peacock Gap, Calif., was five over with 76. Sanders, from Ojai, Calif., had a 75. Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez of Dorado Beach, Calif., and Nicklaus were two over with 73s.

Damion Gauthier of Montreal and M. C. Little of Tuscaloosa, Ala., failed to turn in cards and dropped from the tournament with Weiskopf, reducing the field to 140 including 30 Canadians, 10 of them amateurs.

John Johnston of Vancouver shot a 72 to lead the 10 Canadian amateur entries. Two strokes behind was another Vancouver entry, Bert Thetford. Gary Cowan of Niflen, Sask., and John Russell of Vancouver shared third place among the amateurs with 75s.

BENT PUTTER, STRAIGHT SHOT—Former PGA champion Bobby Nichols demonstrates form using his bent and inside-out putter at the Pro-Amateur Tournament preceding the Canadian Open in Vancouver Wednesday. Orthodox golfers scoffed when Bobby started using the putter, but Nichols got the last laugh—and a good share of the top money on the professional circuit. (CP Wirephoto)

Williams Manager Of The Year

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (CP) — Dick Williams, appointed manager of Boston Red Sox of the American League Wednesday, has been named the International League's Manager of the Year. During his two-year stay as manager of the Leafs, the team won the Governor's Cup twice.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (CP) — Mike Epstein, 25-year-old Rochester Red Wings' first baseman, Thursday was named the International League's Rookie of the Year. He hit 29 home runs and knocked in 102 runs to lead the league in both categories.

Softball Roundup

While the ball season is on the wane, there remain a few important games to be played before spikes are traded for skates.

This district's only representatives in an Ontario championship senior, the Point Anne Cementmen, have a "must" game on tap tomorrow.

Point Anne plays host to Whitechurch in the second game of the OASA Junior "C" finals. Game time is 4:00 p.m. at the Point Anne ball park.

The Cementmen lost the series opener, in Wingham, 3-1 and must win Saturday in order to extend the series to its limit. If a third game is necessary it will be played on neutral grounds next weekend. District fans are expected to support the Cementmen with their largest crowd of the year.

On Sunday afternoon, the City Firemen and the Belleville Minor Baseball Association Coaches will play a benefit "mixed" game at Park Dale. Game time is 2.00 and the money will go to the B.M.B.A.

The Firemen have a softball team in the Departmental League so half of the game will be softball and the other half baseball. It's all in good fun for a good cause.

And last but far from least is the fifth game of the Belleville and District Softball League finals, between Picton Kinsmen and the Bobcats. That game is tonight, at the Alemite at 8:00.

Picton holds a 3-1 games lead and can wrap up their second consecutive crown with a victory tonight.

Blues, Mustangs In Opener

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The teams will be back where they left off last year when the Ontario-Quebec Athletic Association's Intercollegiate Football Conference opens another season Saturday.

University of Toronto Blues and University of Western Ontario Mustangs, who clashed in last year's final game by the Blues, face each other again in the opener at Toronto.

They remain the league powerhouses.

Queen's University Golden Gaels of Kingston are in Montreal in the conference's other opening game against McGill University Redmen.

Both games start at 2 p.m. EDT.

All four coaches say they haven't added much strength to their lineups.

Redmen coach Tom Mooney has only 10 experienced players this year. "If we can get a couple of breaks early in the season we might just overcome those factors," he said.

VETERANS LEAD WESTERN

Western coach John Metras says his lineup is solid with veteran quarterbacks Bob Israel and Rich Hawkins and passcatchers Dennis Winker and Roger Robblins. Metras has so much backfield talent that he is considering shifting ace Bob Campbell to defence from offence.

Ross Nicholson, a stalwart on the line who had a tryout this year with Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference, is recovering from a knee operation but is expected to play.

The Blues have lost some veterans, but the offensive unit will be back except for Gerry Sternberg, who turned professional with Montreal Alouettes of the Eastern Football Conference.

Defensively, the Blues have Mike Sadkin, Ray Reynolds and Bill Chernoff and end Mike Bulger. Mike Raham, a defensive back, has a bruised chest and may be replaced Saturday by freshman Paul Mckay.

Linebacker Al Gischino is a doubtful starter for the Blues because of a recurring knee injury.

QUEEN'S HAS ROOKIES

Queen's will unveil two promising rookies in Bruno Cranci, a tackle, and Don McIntyre, an end. Theron Craig, the team's top rookie last year, cracked a vertebrea in an exhibition game and may be replaced at right defensive end by Bill McCarthy, a utility-man.

Also back in Queen's lineup is halfback Heino Lilles, high scorer for the team last season.

Don Bayne, understudy for the last three years to Cal Connor, will be Queen's first-string quarterback.

Rookie Robin McNeil will start at quarterback for McGill with Alan Schreiber at flanker and Don Destonis at halfback. John Fleshers will back up McNeil at quarterback. The Redmen will be trying to break a six-game losing streak against Queen's.

"We've no injuries," says Mooney. "But we have youth and inexperience against us."

Meet Saturday Night

Rough Riders, Argos Eye Injury Lists

"Rearguard" Action Case Delayed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rudy Reschke, British Columbia Lions linebacker, applied in county court Thursday to have a civil contract action against him thrown out. Decision was reserved.

Waltresa Paulette Russell claims she was bitten on the posterior last Labor Day while working in a Vancouver hotel. A writ filed by her lawyer Clifford Jessiman claims assault and malicious actions which resulted in injury to her right lower dorsal region.

Allan McEachern, counsel for Reschke, said the writ is defective and the case should not be permitted to proceed. He said the waitress could issue a new writ.

Charles A. Drozdzik, lawyer for Miss Russell, indicated he would file a statement of claim.

HITCHCOCK REHIRED

ATLANTA (AP)—Billy Hitchcock, who sent Atlanta Braves on a late-season surge after he was hired as manager Aug. 9, was rehired Thursday for the 1967 National League baseball season. He was given a one-year contract.

TORONTO (CP) — First-place Ottawa Rough Riders take on last-place Toronto Argonauts in a Eastern Football Conference game Saturday night and coaches of both teams are taking long looks at their bench strength.

Bob Shaw of the Argos had hoped to have two of his pre-season injured back in action but tackle Billy Shipp won't be able to join fullback Larry Fergason.

Schipp went on the 15-day injured list early in the week to make certain a damaged knee will get better. Doctors have told him that further injury to the knee could leave him crippled for life.

Ferguson fractured an ankle in pre - season play but is expected to join Dave Thelen and Billy Martin in the Argo backfield.

Ottawa coach Frank Clair has injury problems, too. Fullback Jim Dillard pulled a hamstring muscle late in Monday's game against Saskatchewan. Rough-riders in Ottawa and isn't expected to dress.

Nick Black, normally Dillard's backup man, aggravated a knee injury in practice last weekend and is listed as a doubtful starter.

"We may have to wind up with Jim Conroy at fullback," said Clair.

But Shaw said Friday he'll wait and see who starts for Ottawa Saturday before counting on any injuries in the Rider backfield to help his club.

The Riders, with eight victories against one loss, have a four-point lead over second-place Hamilton Tiger - Cats who play Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference in an interlocking game Saturday in Edmonton. An Ottawa victory coupled with a Hamilton loss would just about clinch first place for the Riders. They would then have a six-point lead with four games to go in the regular EFC schedule.

The Argos, with two wins against seven losses, could pull within two points of third place by upsetting the Rough Riders. Toronto trails Montreal Alouettes by four points and the Alouettes play Calgary Stampeders Saturday in Calgary.

The Ottawa - Toronto game starts at 8 p.m. EDT.

Radio Stations Ban New Album by Stan Freberg

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Puck-ish Stan Freberg is feeling good these days. The reason: He has been banned again.

"Extremism in the pursuit of comedy is no vice," says Freberg, who wears the permanent air of a small-town kid who has just dumped a box of detergent in the city hall fountain.

Radio stations in San Francisco and elsewhere have put the thumbs-down on a selection from the latest Freberg album, Freberg Underground. It features a fantasy called Season Meets Flackman, which the stations apparently consider too sensitive to play during the governorship campaign in California.

HAS WRONG ANSWERS

The action features an actor-turned-politician, identified as Ronnie Reagan, who is advised by his publicity man to shield his former connection with show business. But on a Meet the Press show Reagan gives the wrong answers to a Mary Craig-like questioner:

Q. What about the unrest at Berkeley?

A. . . as far back as Naughty but Nice and right up to She's Working Her Way through College I had first-hand knowledge of student problems of one sort or another, I straightened out Betty Grable in that one . . . of course it's important that a governor has a sense of humor. Did you "catch me in Bedtime for Bonzo?

Q. Bedtime for Bonzo? These are violent times, Mr. Reagan. How are you equipped to handle a major crisis?

A. In King's Row I lost both my legs! How's that for a crisis, lady?

HITS HARD

Reagan doesn't get all the lumps from Freberg, whose approach to the campaign is more of a sledge-hammer rather than a stiletto technique. He depicts incumbent Edmund G. Brown as an unsmiling drudge who explains: "You'd look crabby too, if you were governor of a state full of hooks like this one."

At his baronial office on the Sunset Strip, Freberg admitted that he leaned toward Brown in the election, but ever so slightly. "What a choice!" he complained. "It's like choosing between Guy Lombardo and Lawrence Welk for governor of California."

Freberg Underground is the satirist's first album in four years, the last being his monumental Stan Freberg Presents the United States of America."

"Forces From Bay Street" Behind Move Says Member

HALIFAX (CP) — Conservative MP Robert C. Coates said Thursday night that "forces from Bay Street" appear to be behind the current agitation for a Conservative leadership convention.

He told a party meeting that the same forces in the Toronto financial community promoted party strife in 1963 that led to the downfall of the Diefenbaker government.

The campaign led by Dalton Camp, party president and Toronto business executive, for a leadership convention could only lead to "blood-letting" among Conservatives that would benefit the Liberal and New Democratic parties.

Mr. Coates, MP for Cumberland since 1957, said John Diefenbaker twice saved his party from disintegration and gave it an attractive political philosophy.

SUPPORTS DIEF'S POLICIES

The policies of the 1957-63 Conservative administration had met the challenges of the day, but had displeased Bay Street.

"There was always the pressure during this period a concern over Mr. Diefenbaker's leadership, a concern that he move the party too far to the left, but this same attitude was not in evidence with the public."

Mr. Coates said his party held an average of only 49 seats in the Commons between 1935 and 1957 because it adopted outdated policies emanating from Bay Street.

He asked Mr. Camp to name a Conservative who could produce the same results as Mr. Diefenbaker had done in winning Commons seats.

SET 30TH BLAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. nuclear weapons-related test to be announced this year was set off Thursday at the Nevada test grounds of the Atomic Energy Commission. The AEC said it was of low yield, the equivalent of less than 20,000 tons of TNT.

Canada Being Pushed Toward Recession--Hees

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — George Hees, trade minister in the former Conservative government, said Thursday night Canada is being pushed towards a recession by the Liberal government's anti - inflationary measures.

"Figures indicate we are moving that way and it can develop into a serious problem," he said in an interview.

Mr. Hees, member of Parliament for Northumberland, was in Peterborough to address a PC student club at Trent University.

In the interview, he blamed government - encouraged curbs on production for what he said would be "a turndown in the economy."

"The Liberal government should have seen first signs of inflation two years ago and taken remedial steps to head it off."

He suggested manpower training programs should have been stepped up and the money supply expanded.

He told the students that the federal government should increase its incentives to private industry to carry out more research and development work.

He said governments should be disbound to contribute to industrial research and even to deny government help in any form to firms that do not undertake research.

TV Series Losers Killed Off Sooner Than Usual

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The losers among this season's television entries are being killed off sooner than usual.

In previous years, network customers of program destinies have given programs several weeks in which to find audiences. Normally, the national Nielsen reports published Nov. 7 indicate whether a series would be cancelled or renewed.

"But this year," a network program executive predicted grimly, "the Nielsens released on Oct. 10—a week from next Monday—are the big ones. I predict that the result will be the biggest explosion of cancellations we've seen in a long time."

The Tammy Grimes Show had "a final broadcast — Sunday," reports an ABC Thursday night. And the industry is burning with rumors about the fate of six or seven others which have shown poorly in early ratings.

LISTED AS CRITICAL

Among those reported on the critical list are NBC's The Here and Roger Miller Show; CBS's Jack Arthur Show and Dick, Buddy, Run, as well as ABC's Milton Berle Show and 13 O'Clock High, returning mid-season in a new time spot.

Network spokesmen usually protest that ratings are not the only cause of program death. It is true that a number of programs will be survived with low ratings — CBS Reports and NBC's Telephone Hour are two that come to mind. But these are prestige shows and the usual rules don't apply.

Most regularly scheduled entertainment shows — comedies, spy stories and westerns—live and die by the ratings. Each season roughly one-third of all the season's programs are lower third on the Nielsen ratings.

This viewer is convinced that the season's early period will shapes up as a little more slick, a little better produced and considerably more hi-s and cliche-filled than that of last season.

I find it curious that amid the welter of new programs, no single series has shown any signs of becoming a real hit as did, in other seasons, shows like Bewitched and Get Smart.

ATTITUDE CHANGED

Some of the trouble may lie in the living rooms. Our relationship with television has changed since it was a magic window on a world that we view with gratitude and awe.

It has become another household appliance, no more awesome than a refrigerator or furnace. We have all seen so much entertainment that we are no longer as easy to amuse or move.

Networks heads must realize a change in audience response. That may account for TV's willingness to spend millions of dollars to broadcast feature movies of a quality that can't be turned out on a production-line basis.

AGREE ON OFFENCE

LONDON (Reuters)—An all-party parliamentary committee agreed Thursday that homosexual behavior should continue to be an offence in Britain's armed services. The homosexual question was considered because of a non-government bill now going through Parliament which would legalize homosexual acts between consenting males in private in civilian life.

Negotiations Narrow Areas Of Differences

OTTAWA (CP)—Non - stop talks for almost 12 hours today narrowed the areas of disagreement between the CBC and its strike - threatening technicians union.

At 5:35 a.m. EDT, negotiators reported that talks would resume at noon EDT.

Representatives of the CBC and the National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians met at 6 p.m. EDT Thursday in an effort to reach a decision on a wage and contract dispute with the help of Bernard Wilson, assistant deputy labor minister.

A breakdown of the talks would trigger a strike by the 1,850 - NABET members employed by the CBC. The union had announced a strike for 36 hours after talks failed.

A strike could cripple radio and television broadcasting across the country.

The night - long session followed a four-hour break in the talks Thursday afternoon. They talked for two hours Thursday after 5½ hours of negotiations which Wednesday night.

Mr. Wilson entered the talks Wednesday at the request of both parties after they failed to make headway during day-long sessions.

NABET is seeking a 30-per-cent wage increase over two years for its members. A conciliation board report, accepted by the CBC, recommended a 20-month contract calling for an increase of 22½ per cent.

The new, five-passenger, front wheel drive Cadillac Eldorado, while in the Cadillac tradition, has its own exclusive design. It features crisp, tailored lines, long hood, distinctive roof, and short rear deck. This new, personal, luxury car offers a youthful, yet dignified, appearance, with roof design reminiscent of a formal opera coupe and full-wheel openings that give it a sporty appearance. The basic Cadillac engine — 429 cu. in., 340-hp, V8 — adapted for front wheel drive, powers the Eldorado. Eldorado also incorporates outstanding new safety features standard on all new Cadillacs. The luxurious Cadillac line includes, besides Eldorado, three series of cars — Calais, De Ville and Fleetwood — in twelve body styles.

Stamps, Bombers Hard Hit

Injuries Oust Top Quarters

By JOHN SHORT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Randy Kerbow of Edmonton and Winnipeg's Kenny Ploen will be at less than peak efficiency during Canadian Football League games this weekend because they were careless in recent games.

Kerbow cracked a bone in his thumb Sept. 19 when he allowed his right hand to land on the head of Billy Joe Booth of Ottawa Rough Riders. Ploen suffered a bruised kidney when he fell in the way of a knee belonging to linebacker Gerry Campbell of Calgary Stampeders.

As a result, both Winnipeg and Edmonton could enter important games without their starting quarterbacks. Kerbow will move to flanker Saturday when the Eskimos meet Hamilton Tiger-Cats in an interlocking game and Ploen could be replaced by either Dick Thornton or Rich Bader Sunday for Winnipeg's game with Saskatchewan Roughriders, first in the Western Conference.

Bill Redell, who started the season as Edmonton's ranking quarterback, will move from the defensive backfield to command the offence.

WILL WEAKEN UMBRELLA

Redell leads the WFC in interceptions with five, so his loss certainly will weaken the pass umbrella. However, Kerbow is expected to play flanker despite a light cast.

Ploen's No. 1 replacement is Thornton, who was not effective Tuesday when he took over in the second quarter of a 16-8 defeat by Calgary. But Thornton went to hospital Wednesday with a virus and is not expected to be in top shape even if he can play.

Behind Ploen and Thornton is Bader, who carried an impressive reputation out of Indiana University but has not played since last year when he was in the Continental League.

Montreal Alouettes visit Calgary for an interlocking game Saturday. Stampeders' injury problems are well known, but the gritty Cowboys are only two points out of third spot in the WFC and three points behind second-place Edmonton. Week end activity concludes Monday when Hamilton visits Vancouver for a game with British Columbia Lions.

Montreal coach Dave Skrien received a reprieve from rumors of pending unemployment Thursday when directors expressed a vote of confidence. He has a year to go on his contract.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

Well, I have said it every year and this year I said it again, this is the last year I will go duck hunting on opening day.

The "Sky Busters" were out in full swing shooting at everything that flew, regardless of distance, or where, if they happened to hit a duck, they fell, most of the time making no effort to retrieve a bird.

These crakpots are one day shooters who buy a single shot shotgun and 4 boxes of shells and just like to hear the gun go off. Opening day of duck season is the only day these people go out, thank goodness.

Then there is the out of town "poacher". These fellows, usually from the old country, are pretty good shooters who have the best of equipment, expensive shotguns, fancy clothing, good retrievers, and very good cars. They have everything to hunt with and no place picked out to hunt.

They drive from Toronto or Hamilton in gangs of two or three cars loaded with four to five hunters per car. When they reach the hunting areas such as Prince Edward or Hastings counties, they start driving the side roads looking for a place to hunt. No Trespassing signs, although they claim they cannot understand them, are an invitation to stop and go hunting.

On opening day, these fellows look for a group of cars, stop, listen, and if some shooting is going on, head in that area, regardless of signs. If a rabbit, squirrel, or any kind of bird shows up these poachers promptly shoot this game, they retrieve it and put it in their game bag. None of this game is saved, mind you, they take it home and eat it.

This year our gang leased a pot hole north of Tweed, built good blinds and put up "No Trespassing" signs, signed by the owner of the land. These signs were put up at 50 yard intervals completely surrounding the property. Fifteen minutes after we reached our blinds we heard the opening day we were surprised to hear voices all around us.

On investigating these voices we found no less than 12 Toronto hunters moving in in hunt our pond. They claimed they did not see any signs and had been hunting here for the last three years but had never asked permission to hunt as "they could hunt any place there was game.

We told them they were on private property and could not hunt here but we gave them directions on how to reach another pond over the hill on "our" property where nobody was hunting and where there would be a few ducks. With this they took off or so we thought.

All the ducks started to fly and a flock of them we were surprised to hear shooting on a hill overlooking our pond and bullets were falling all around us in the blind.

Instead of going to the place we told them to go these jokers had decided to sit on top of this hill and shoot at the ducks coming into the pond where we were hunting and to stop us from having a good shot.

After a lull in the shooting we were fortunate to have a few ducks make it past the boys from the hill. I started to retrieve our ducks and was having a time finding a mallard drake we had knocked down when a big black Labrador retriever came off the bank and picked my bird up from in front of me and headed back up the hill with me right behind him on the fly. I came face to face with the owner of this dog and proceeded to let him off. My hunting buddy was right behind me and I had to restrain him from striking this man; who with his friends had rulsed our hunt.

We had a short, hot talk and they finally cleared out.

Our hunting party was not the only gang that had this trouble. We talked to quite a few of the boys who have had the same experience this year and are up in arms. It is time to do something about this now before there is no ducks left for our local hunters.

A county licence sue has a non - resident of the county must purchase and specify the area where the bearer is going to hunt might be one way to stop this.

Anyone having any thoughts on this please contact me in care of this paper.

PLAN NHL MEETING

MONTREAL (CP) — The board of governors of the National Hockey League, which cancelled a Sept. 19 New York City meeting "for lack of information in some areas scheduled for discussion," will convene in the U.S. city Thursday, Oct. 20. While no agenda has been established for the meeting, it is expected that the case of Carl Brewer, the suspended Toronto Maple Leafs defenceman, will be discussed.

THE ARNOLD Palmer Method
by GOLF'S 4-TIME MASTERS WINNER

FOR LONG DRIVES, MAKE THE BACKSWING ARC WIDE

Remember, too, that your head and your body must not sway left or sway to the right on your backswing. Swaying will destroy all benefits derived from the wide swing arc. Sawing the clubhead straight back, then around and up, with a straight left arm — but don't sway to the right.

A wide swing arc produces a longer clubhead path than does a narrower swing arc. Normally, a long clubhead path produces more clubhead speed at impact and thus more distance. A wide swing arc, if properly produced, also encourages a full shoulder turn, another major source of power.

My wide backswing arc results from maintaining a fully extended left arm throughout. Also, I take the clubhead straight back from the ball.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching—Sandy Koufax, Los Angeles Dodgers, stopped St. Louis Cardinals on four hits and struck out 13, becoming the first pitcher in history to reach the 200 strikeout mark in three different seasons, as the National League leaders edged the Cards, 5-2.

Batting—Aaron Pointer, Houston Astros, hit his first major league homer for the winning margin in a 3-2 victory over Cincinnati Reds.

Nicholson Defeats Albert 6-0

Nicholson Catholic College chalked up its second Bay of Quinte Senior "B" football victory in as many starts yesterday, clipping Albert College by a 6-0 count.

Nicholson had defeated Tweed 16-1 in the club's first game.

Thursday's battle was evenly played with the only scoring coming in the second quarter.

Quarterback Doug Meagher hit Bradley Mann on a 25-yard pass and run play for the 6-0 score.

Three other Nicholson scoring plays were called back because of rule infractions.

St. Mark's WA Plans Events

DESERONTO — Mrs. William Crabbe of Thomas St. was the hostess for the September meeting of St. Mark's Woman's Auxiliary, with Mrs. Robert Tucker, the president, in charge of the meeting.

Plans were completed for the deanery meeting to be held in St. Mark's church October 18, beginning at 10 a.m. with a Holy Communion service. Rev. A. F. Dowdell, the rector, will be the celebrant.

Announcement was made that the annual Little Helpers party will be held Saturday, October 29, at 2 p.m. and that the juniors will be invited. The parish bazaar date was announced as December 7.

A letter from the Rev. Kenneth Coleman described his missionary work in India, and was of special interest since he is the son of Rev. Stanley Coleman and Mrs. Coleman, both well known in Deseronto as Mr. Coleman is a former rector of St. Mark's.

The next meeting will be held October 25 in the rectory.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

Dear Mr. Meltzer: A question arose as to whether a fence was inside or over the property line. The title company insisted on a survey. I thought this a big sense. But the nonsense arose when the bill was sent to me for payment. I am buying. Isn't the owner supposed to deliver a property with good title?
Mrs. F. T.

ANSWER: The question is logical, but unfortunately real estate practice is different. If a survey is necessary, it is customary for the buyer to pay the surveyor.

A purchaser can avoid paying for the survey, however, if he will see to it that the sales agreement contains a condition that the seller will be required to furnish a survey, if necessary.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I am a recent bride and am buying furniture for the first time, but it will have to last for a long time. As I shop, it appears that many stores are asking high prices for poor quality. I have heard that there are certain telltale marks by which experts can tell at a glance if the furniture is of good quality. What are they? — Mrs. A. N.

ANSWER: The following, although not always infallible, usually indicates to the layman if a piece has quality workmanship. First take out a drawer. In quality construction, the joints will be dovetailed and glued. In budget construction the joints are rabbeted and nailed or stapled. Another test, pull out a drawer about halfway and then move it from side to side. There should be no more than 1/4" of play.

Also examine the inside face of the doors and look into the interior of the piece. If it is sanded and stained or waxed, it is a good indication of careful workmanship. If the inside is rough and unfinished, you should be guard. Then look at the back. If it is screwed to the frame, well-sanded and finished, it is a good sign. In poor construction, the back is not sanded or stained and is nailed or stapled to the frame.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I live in a $35,000 range house, but it smells like a sewer. There is nothing I can do about it.

Several times a year, something happens and water seems to be running uphill. When this happens, sewerage comes flowing up through my sink, the laundry tub and the bathroom. It runs all over the floor. It takes weeks to get rid of the odor. Have you ever heard of a similar situation? — Mr. L. S.

ANSWER: The trouble is not in your house but in the sewer lines outside your home. Apparently the sewer mains in your area are of an inadequate capacity or of poor design. The trouble you are experiencing is due to a backing up of the sewerage flow.

Since you can't do anything about the sewer mains, however you can get rid of your problem if you install a check line in your sewer line just outside the house. A plumber will have to do the work. It is not too expensive a job. The check valve will allow sewerage to flow out but will prevent sewerage from flowing back into your home.

* * *

Mr. Meltzer welcomes your letters and comments. Unfortunately he is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will attempt to answer as many letters as possible through his column.

Sunday School Lesson

A Spiritual Eye Chart

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

On January 6, 1850, Charles Haddon Spurgeon, one of the greatest of the 19th century preachers, trudged through a snowstorm to a church in Colchester, England. Because of the severity of the storm, he turned into a little near - by church called the "Artillery Street Primitive Methodist Church." The storm had prevented the minister from coming. A layman tried to preach on Isaiah 45:22, "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth." (KJV) During his brief remarks, he looked at young Spurgeon and said, "Look to Jesus Christ! Look! Look!" The young man did look and his life was changed. He felt God's hand being laid on him that morning, and he went on to become one of England's greatest preachers.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for October 2: "Isaiah, The Willing Prophet," — Isaiah 1:6.

John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, came to be a Christian minister, and gave himself to a life of self-discipline and service. But being a man of genius he found he was afraid of death. On May 24, 1738, in Peterson's Lane, he attended a prayer meeting held by a Dissenters' group on Aldersgate Street. As the leader read from Luther's "Preface to the Epistle of the Romans," Wesley felt his heart being "strangely warmed" by the assurance of God's love, an assurance that never left him.

These experiences reflect the experience of the great prophet Isaiah. "In the year that King Uzziah died," Isaiah went to the temple. He had been there many times before, but this time was different. This time something happened to open his spiritual eyes, and he said, "I saw the Lord." (Isaiah 6:1 RSV)

SEEING SOMETHING EXTRA

The King James' Version quotes the prophet as saying, "I saw also the Lord." He had seen the altar, the seraphim, the smoke from the sacrifice many times before, but this time he saw something else. He saw also the Lord.

What gave him this added vision, we do not know. Was it King Uzziah's death, and the question, "Who will take his place?" Whatever it was, the temple symbols took on new meaning. The smoke was no longer merely smoke. Now it was the train of the Lord's garment. The seraphim was no longer just a gold statue, but it was a vivid reminder of God's presence. The fire on the altar was no longer just a fire. Now it was the symbol of God's purging, purifying presence.

Many people see everything else but God. When they see flowers and trees, that is all they see. Others see the hand of God who made them. Many look at history and see only history. Others see history as "His story." Some people look at the circumstances of life and see nothing else. Others see a Guiding Hand that can help them to meet their circumstances triumphantly. Many writers today see only the squalor and degradation of life. Others see also the Lord calling men to repentance and brotherhood.

STILL MORE TO SEE

Isaiah not only saw the temple. He saw also the Lord. But that was not all he saw. He saw himself, and the vision was not pleasing. In the light of God's perfection, he saw himself as "a man of unclean lips." Being in the midst of a people of unclean lips." (Isaiah 6:5)

Some years ago, a pianist of local fame went to a hall in Youngstown, Ohio, to hear the Polish pianist, Ignatz Paderewski. After the great musician had finished one of his numbers, the local pianist turned to a friend, and with tears in his eyes, he said, "And I thought I could play."

Peter's life and language did not seem so bad until he recognized the moral significance of Jesus, then he said, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord." (Luke 5:8 RSV) In the light of Jesus' perfection, his own imperfections stood out in glaring contrast.

But Isaiah still saw something more. He saw what God could do with his unclean life. The assurance of divine forgiveness came to him. Also, Isaiah's imperfect humanity of his life being burned away by a burning coal taken from the altar. Isaiah (6:6-7) Isaiah saw he did not have to remain what he was. With God's help, he could be made fit to serve in God's kingdom.

Isaiah saw one more thing. He saw that God had a work for him to do. (Isaiah 6:8-9) In his case, it was not altogether pleasant, but someone had to warn Israel of the consequences of its evil ways. And God calls men to be His servants today whose eyes have been opened to His love and purpose for the world.

9/30/66

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For October 1

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): No time to deceive yourself concerning values, possessions. See situations, persons as they actually exist. Avoid wishful thinking. Determine true objective . . . then follow through.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Cycle moves up. You can get attention, aid required. Realize you do have allies. Act in manner to inspire confidence. Older individual can offer sound advice. Listen!

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Look behind the scenes. Be skeptical. Don't accept second-hand reports. Find out for yourself. Day to spread influence. Expand horizons . . . shake off petty thoughts.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): New friends could guide you constructively. Be cooperative. Keep mind open to new ideas. Don't be afraid to express yourself. If confident . . . gain is indicated.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Solid results indicated from past endeavors. You begin to realize potential. Fine for advancing standing in community. Learn by teaching. Share knowledge — exchange ideas.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Favorable lunar aspect highlights journeys, communications from afar. Day to push pet theories, projects. Don't be discouraged by one who lacks imagination.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Check accounts. Be sure of credits and debits. Key is to be thorough. Later, relax with individual you trust. Have frank talk. Exchange suggestions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Stress on partnerships, public appearances, legal agreements. Need advice offered by one who is quick, versatile. Important to pay special attention to messages.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Attend to specifics. Don't create unnecessary delays, problems. Praise co-workers, associates. Accent harmony. Guard health — check diet. Get sufficient rest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Relax with loved ones. Share hobbies, special interests. Personal magnetism rating roars. You get what you desire. Choose the best and day glows with accomplishment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): You get chance to evaluate possessions, property. What you have could represent long-lasting security. Find out by making thorough investigation. Don't be sidetracked.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Neighbors, relatives may pay surprise visits. Day to round out projects. Means leave no loose ends. If in doubt . . . ask questions. Answers today apt to be valid.

• • •

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTH DAY . . . you are a combination of the artistic and the practical, but you often have inner doubts about direction of your life. Take greater advantage of chance to expand horizons.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Cycle high for Taurus, Gemini. Special word to Scorpio: Change for the letter is due. Be ready.

OIL FIND 'IMPORTANT'

REGINA (CP)—Discovery of high-quality crude oil in the Minton area 85 miles south of Regina was termed "highly important" by Resources Minister A. C. Cameron of Saskatchewan. He said at a press conference the discovery is in a wildcat area not previously explored.

We are glad to inform you that we have expanded our services. No job is too small or too large to receive management's personal attention — Our Prices are really modest and our workmanship the BEST.

We can plan your remodelling job or your new home — and can help you finance and will build to please you.

We know that the greatest advertising our firm can receive is the SATISFIED CUSTOMER and believe us, our CUSTOMERS are SATISFIED . . .
